Legislation Slowly Strangling Labor Young Liberals Told

BRACEBRIDGE (CP) — Legislation is slowly but surely strangling organized labor, Douglas Hamilton, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Federation of Labor said Sunday.

"If Ontario's labor laws were thrown into Lake Ontario, organized labor would be able to make more progress than it has been able to do in the last 10 years," he told the summer conference of the Ontario Young Liberal Association at Milford Manor, 10 miles northwest of this Muskoka Lake town.

Mr. Hamilton was a member of a panel on labor-management relations. Other panelists were Elmer Sopha, Liberal member of the legislature for Sudbury, and Myer Brody, a Toronto executive.

Mr. Brody said Mr. Hamilton's statement sounded like a big businessman screaming about unemployment insurance.

Mr. Hamilton replied "I resent being compared to a business baron."

RAPS LAWYERS

He criticized lawyers, with their technical objections, for tying up the labor board and hamstringing unions. He said it takes from six weeks to 14 months to get a certification application processed by the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

"We've every right to holler," he said.

Labor had no alternative to taking a more active part in politics because of the way it was being hampered by legislation. Discussion of a possible new party is under way between the CCF and the Canadian Labor Congress.

Mr. Hamilton said there was no intention of turning the CLC into a "political party per se.

"It would be utter folly to turn the labor movement in Canada into a political party."

TWO DISCUSS STRIKES

He called a suggestion to outlaw strikes nonsense. "Human beings being what they are, there will always be conflict in our daily lives and there will be strikes."

Mr. Brody said "we haven't yet reached the stage where we can outlaw strikes" but some method would have to be found to settle disputes without them. The whole country suffers when an industry is strikebound.

Mr. Hamilton said the question of strikes, like those of racketeering and communism in unions, had been blown out of all proportion in newspaper stories.

"It is also nonsense to say labor leaders have a vested interest in industrial strife . . . we have a vested interest in industrial peace."

Resolutions passed Saturday by the conference included one which criticized the monetary policy of the federal government.

The resolution condemned "the persistent refusal of Fiannce Minister Fleming to accept his public responsibility to adopt a consistent monetary policy to deal with the current chaotic monetary situation."

Also adopted was a resolution which asks the Liberal party to "pursue a policy designed to convince the Canadian labor movement that their political fortune lies in continued support of the Liberals." Tabled was one which asked the party to set up a committee to study the possibility of a merger with the CCF or its successor.

Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer told delegates the Ontario government was guilty of "negligent do-nothingness' after the federal government cancelled the Avro Arrow jet interceptor program last February, throwing thousands out of work.

David Greenspan, 22, of Toronto, who resigned last week as assistant secretary of the Ontario Liberal Association, was elected president of the Young Liberals. He succeeds John O'Flynn of Belleville.

Mountains May Trouble Some People

Q. I am past 60. I moved to Colorado about one year ago. While here I am bothered by pressure in my ears, headache, exhaustion, and at times, difficult breathing and rapid heart beat. Could it be the altitude? —H. M.

A. Most people can go from sea level or a little above to altitudes of 5000 to 6000 feet with only minor difficulty. There is usually some ear fullness and perhaps some slight shortness of breath but adaptation occurs quite rapidly. Others may be affected to a greater degree and may have difficulty in making adjustments. Persons with certain conditions, notably coronary heart disease, should consider the possible ill-effects of residing at high altitudes. Specific advice should be obtained from your physician.

Rockefellers Arrive in U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Steven Rockefeller, the millionaire's son and the family maid he wooed and won, arrived from the bride's native Norway today to start an American honeymoon.

The newlyweds and the groom's parents, Governor and Mrs. Nelson A. Rrockefeller, flew to Idlewild Airport at 9:52 a.m. — two hours late because of plane trouble in leaving Europe Sunday night.

They were greeted at the airport by about 50 reporters and photographers, plus a scattering of spectaters.

On the plane with the bridal couple were more than 60 other passengers.

Immigrations and public health officials went aboard the craft in order to expedite the formalities necessary for them to re-enter tre U.S. and be on their way to an unannounced honeymoon spot.

Negro Girl Slain As Manhattan Gangs End Truce

NEW YORK (AP)—Police said a 15-year-old boy has admitted firing a volley of bullets that killed a Negro girl and felled two of her companions.

The shooting was one of a series of violent outbreaks Sunday night as street-gang violence flared again in Manhattan's lower east side after a three-year truce.

Two other youths were stabbed and two more shot in other incidents, which police said were part of a chain reaction set off when one gang invaded another's territory.

Both gangs, police said, were made up of Negroes and Puerto Ricans. One was called the Sportsmen and the other the Forsyth Street Boys.

The trouble started, police believe, when the Sportsmen moved into the other gang's territory.

LEADER'S GIRL FRIEND

The girl who was shot, Theresa Gee, 15, was said to be the girl friend of Frank Boyd, described as the leader of the Sportsmen. The boy who says he did the shooting was a member of the Forsyth Street Boys, police said.

The boy was not identified.

The first incident came when some Forsyth Street Boys met the Sportsmen as they entered the territory. Julio Rosario, 14, and Victor Gonzalez, also 14, were stabbed in the back and Manuel Cintron, 11, a bystander, was shot in the face.

Half an hour later and 13 blocks away about 20 youths and girls lounged on a street corner.

REPRISAL RAID?

A car, bent on what police say was a reprisal raid by the Forsyth Street Boys, cruised by and six shots rang out.

The Gee girl fell dead on the sidewalk, shot in the head. Another girl, Ernestine Singleton, 15, was shot in the leg and Robert Combs, 16, was wounded by another bullet.

ROUGH UP GIRL

Soon after that, police said, a group of Sportsmen found Luis Morales, 15, said to be a former member of the Forsyth Street Boys, walking with a Negro girl.

He told police the five Negro youths slapped the girl around, then dragged him into a hallway and slugged him repeatedly. He was taken to hospital.

It was the first serious gang violence on the lower east side in three years. That was when the gangs agreed to a truce, arranged by an Episcopalian (Anglican) minister.

Two guns were found near the scene of the fatal shooting. One was a toy gun converted to fire real bullets, the other a seven-shot .22-calibre rifle.

Violent Storm Lashes Windsor Area, Heavy Damage Seen

WINDSOR (CP) — A violent thunderstorm with winds up to 50 m.p.h. lashed the Detroit-Windsor area Sunday night causing extensive property damage across the city.

The storm followed an easterly path up the Detroit River and then turned inland about three miles from downtown. It flipped over a moored seaplane, knocked down trees, ripped off awnings on houses, and carried lawn furniture with it.

Worst damage was done to a building supply company where a wooden roof on a large outdoor shed was torn off and thrown 40 feet.

Streets were flooded across the city, reaching depths of three feet at some viaducts. In suburban Riverside, hundreds of basements were flooded up to four feet deep. Streets were completely submerged.

EXPRESSWAYS CLOSED

In Detroit, the more than two inches of rainfall swamped the multimillion - dollar expressway system, stranding thousands of motorists in water up to four feet in depth. A weather bureau spokesman described the storm as a "100-year rain."

Detroit police closed botr the Edsel-Ford and John C. Lodge expressways.

Tow trucks were worked to clear the thousands of stranded cars from the expressway system which cuts through the heart of the metropolitan area.

A golfer and two caddies were struck by lightning as they stood under an umbrella at the fashionable Detroit golf course waiting out the rain.

Harold G. Woodruff, 6, of Detroit, was reported in good condition. The caddies, George Welch, 14, and John Stabnick, 15, were recovering in hospital.

No one in Windsor was hurt.

Fifth Convict Is Recaptured

DALLAS CITY, Ill. (AP)—The fifth of six convicts who escaped from Fort Madison, Iowa, prison was captured today.

Three of the men who broke prison Sunday held a minister's wife and her three children hostage for more than two and a half hours. They were held at knife-point but were not hurt.

The man seized today is Charles Robert Wallerick, 25, who police believe crossed the Mississippi into Illinois in a raft or boat. He was returned immediately to Fort Madison.

It was the second time in less than three months that convicts—armed with home-made knives—had cut through the bars.

Cottage Owners In Haliburton Area Hard Hit

HALIBURTON (CP) — Owners of cottages on lakes in the Haliburton area have been hit by low water levels, leaving boathouses stranded and some docks high high and dry.

A 10-foot drop in the level of Big Hawk Lake and a 10 - foot drop in Little Hawk Lake have affected some 200 cottagers. Another 200 are said to be affected by eight - foot drops in other lakes.

The Trent Valley Canal Authority at Peterborough, 50 miles south of here, sets a water level that must be maintained during the summer.

W. D. Bennett, superintendent of the authority, said little could be done to help the cottagers.

"We draw water as required," Mr. Bennett said. "Although this happens every year, the levels are a little below average this year due to the dry summer."

Prices in Chile Sound Like Poor Man's Paradise But Per Capita Income Only $340

By TOM STONE

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — In this narrow country hugging the west coast of South America you can rent a house for $35 a month, buy a pound of thick, juicy steak for 30 cents and a bottle of red wine for 22 cents.

You can see the best movies for 30 cents, ride the trolley-buses for three cents and be waited on by a full-time maid for $15 a month.

Sounds like a poor man's paradise—but it's not. Chile is struggling to overcome a severe economic crisis.

The cost of living seems low to a visitor. However, in this poverty - stricken country per-capita income is only $340 a year and prices that seem low to a foreigner are sky - high for Chileans.

PESO DEVALUATED

The poor wear rags, live in shacks and go hungry much of the time. The middle class must skimp and scrape to make ends meet. The Chilean peso, in the old days worth about 25 cents, now exchanges at more than 1,000 to $1. Unemployment is estimated at 400,000.

But the worst now may be over. Since Jorge Alessandri took over as president last November and began applying sound remedies, the economy seems to be improving. And there are no outward signs of any Communist threat.

One of Alessandri's first achievements was to get through a bill that gives him for one year vast powers to take measures he thinks necessary to put the country back on its feet.

The president is taking steps to put the country on a paying basis. He hopes to streamline the civil service system, make the import laws pay the country more dividends and improve the monetary system and banking laws.

One of his big battles is against the rising cost of living. There is one estimate that it has increased 50 per cent in the last year.

Historically, about 70 per cent of Chile's economy has depended upon the exports of copper and nitrates. Its economic ills have become serious since the nitrate market collapsed and the copper market weakened.

Alessandri has promised that his government will make vigorous use of its extraordinary economic and administrative powers to fight the economic ills, demagoguery and politics which he says have brought "hunger and despair to thousands of our people." He lists foreign capital investments as one important requirement.

Ike Says Purpose Of European Trip To Pledge Unity

Will Oppose Aggression By Force if Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today one purpose of his trip to Europe is to pledge Western unity "in opposing, by force if necessary, any aggression" against the allies.

The president also told a press conference that on his trip, starting Wednesday, he wants to pledge once again "America's devotion to peace with honor and justice."

Eisenhower met with reporters about 14 hours in advance of his scheduled departure for conferences with leaders of West Germany, Britain and France.

His talks with them will be a prelude to his discussions with Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Washington starting Sept. 15, and to his own planned visit to the Soviet Union later in the fall.

BONN FIRST STOP

On the trip to Europe, Eisenhower will meet first in Bonn with West German Chancellor Adenauer; in London with Prime Minister Macmillan, and in France with President de Gaulle.

At the outset of today's session with reporters, Eisenhower announced he wanted to read a statement.

Reading from it, he then said his trip to Europe has several purposes, and added that one is:

"To pledge, once again, in the several capitals I shall visit, America's devotion to peace with honor and justice."

Next in clear words of caution obviously directed to the Soviet Union, the president said a further purpose of his journey is:

"To support Western unity in opposing, by force if necessary, any aggression; and to preserve the defensive strength required for our common security."

Besides their caution to Russia, the president's words seemed intended also as reassurance to Adenauer and de Gaulle—both of whom are reported to have misgivings about the president's forthcoming talks with Khrushchev—that under no circumstances will he make any deals behind their backs.

In his statement, Eisenhower said further that he intends to suggest to the Western leaders that the allies "restate our readiness to negotiate realistically with the Soviets on any reasonable and mutually enforceable plan for general or special disarmament."

President Eisenhower also called for "a real beginning toward solving the problems of a divided Germany," and new efforts to ease world tensions.

Justice Not Very Happy With Sample

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—Philip Lombardo, 65, was charged with creating a public nuisance. He sang operatic arias—too many and too loudly, said his neighbors.

Said Lombardo: "I sing because I am full of happiness."

"Good?" he asked.

"No," said Grady.

He gave Lombardo a four-month suspended sentence.

Alderman Gets Bomb Threat From Soccer Fan

TORONTO (CP) — Alderman Philip Givens, who promised Monday he will seek to have Fred Hamilton Park closed to soccer, said Monday night he received a threat he will be bombed in his car if he supports closing the park.

Violence broke out at the park Sunday following a National Soccer League game when fans swarmed onto the field and then clashed with police.

Alderman Givens, who witnessed the riot, said later he would lead a deputation of residents to board of control Wednesday to demand the park be closed or expropriated.

THREAT ON PHONE

Monday night, he said he received the threat over the telephone at his home about 10 p.m. He said the voice was "male, strong, and had a foreign accent —a European accent."

He said he answered the telephone once and it went dead. The second time the voice spoke up and said: "I have a team playing at Fred Hamilton playground. If you do not vote to keep the park open I will bomb your car with you in it."

The alderman said he was not taking the threat seriously "but I locked my garage door for the first time in years."

He said he will still appear at board of control and recommend the park be closed.

Youth Killed Accidentally

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Jeffrey Johnston, 15, was killed here Monday when a rifle he was examing accidentally discharged.

Provincial police said the boy and his brother, Laird, 16, had taken the rifle from a car in the family garage. The rifle was owned by John Bain of Toronto, a cousin, police said.

This Tom Dooley Holds Head High Though of Cancer He's Going to Die

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Thomas Dooley is the sort of man who thinks treating 100 patients a day in a remote hospital in Laos is more important than the treatment of one cancer patient named Thomas Dooley.

He seems angry at his own condition only because it may cut short the mission.

Five years ago Dr. Dooley was a medical officer on a U.S. navy ship assigned to help refugees fleeing from Communist North Viet Nam. Touched by the sufferings of the Indochinese, he made up his mind to do something to help.

When he left the navy he helped found Medico — medical international co-operation — and the organization built a three-building hospital at Muong Sing, near the China-Laos border. The thirty-mat hospital — "we don't have beds"—now is handling 100 patients a day "and babies day and night."

In recent weeks the Communists stepped up their offensive in Laos and intermittent action broke out near Dr. Dooley's hospital. The U.S. ambassador sent a message to the doctor suggesting he leave. This failed to budge the 32-year-old physician.

But two weeks ago a surgeon visited his hospital, and Dooley asked the visitor to remove a lump on his chest. A sample of the tissue was flown here and analyzed. It was malignant. Dr. Dooley received an order he couldn't ignore, from Dr. Peter D. Comanduras, secretary - general of Medico.

Last week Dr. Dooley flew to the United States. He went to St. Louis to visit his mother, then flew to New York for further diagnosis and treatment.

This morning, he said, the surgeons will "go in and take a look and see what's there"—the first in a series of surgical procedures.

As a doctor, he has estimated he may have five or six years to live with this "capricious type of cancer."

As a missionary, he has decided that, whatever the other doctors say, he is going to spend the time he has left at the hospital in Laos. He plans to return there in November.

NFLD. TO DELAY SCHOOL OPENINGS BECAUSE OF POLIO

Quebec Authorities May Follow Suit

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Newfoundland announced Monday it will delay school openings next month because of the province's polio epidemic.

Quebec education authorities meet today to discuss a similar move.

The two provinces have been the hardest hit in a summer surge of polio across the country, in which the total number of cases now exceeds 500.

Three children have died in Newfoundland since the polio outbreak began there in June and 13 youngsters now are being treated in iron lungs.

SEPT. 14 OPENING

Dr. G. A. Frecker, Newfoundland minister of education, said the scheduled Sept. 1 school opening has been postponed until Sept. 14. A further delay may be ordered, depending on the situation.

Two new cases were reported at St. John's Monday, both boys, running the provincial total for 1959 to 48.

Health officials in Montreal said 32 new polio cases had been admitted to Montreal hospitals since Friday to bring the total this year to 444. There have been 28 deaths.

INCIDENCE DROPPING

Weekend figures showed a 30-per-cent drop from the previous week and authorities said the epidemic may be starting to ease.

In Quebec City the civic health director called Monday for a postponement of schoolopenings until Sept. 14. Roman Catholic schools are scheduled to begin classes Sept. 2 with Protestant schools starting Sept. 9.

Hospitals in Quebec City have admitted 33 polio patients, all from out-of-town points, in recent weeks. Three have died.

British Columbia reported its first polio death, a 23-year-old mother of two children. Mrs. Marguerite Gibbs of Duncan died in an iron lung at a Victoria hospital 24 hours after she was admitted. Her sister lay nearby in another lung.

Besides Mrs. Gibbs and her sister, only one other polio case has occurred in B.C. this year.

IRON LUNG CASE

At Ottawa, where free Salk vaccine clinics are to open this week, the first iron-lung case occurred Sunday when a five-year-old girl was taken to hospital. She is the seventh polio case in the capital this summer.

The most tragic case in the new reports across the country was that of a Montreal family in which four of eight children have come down with the crippling disease. Two have died. Authorities reported the case Monday without identifying the family, which moved into the city two years ago.

"These children had always been in the fresh country air and never exposed to the diverse germs so prevalent in big cities," a doctor said. "As a result their resistance to the polio was low."

None of the children had received Salk vaccine shots.

Charge Reds Kill Children, Float Bodies Down Rivers

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters)—Communist rebels filtering through the mountainous jungles of northeast Laos have almost encircled the province of Sam Neua, Laotian military leaders said today.

A senior army officer also said that the Communists had smashed a counter-attack by Laotian government troops in Luang Prabang province.

He charged that the guerrillas were committing atrocities in an attempt to spread panic through the area around the city of Luang Prabang, where the Laotian royal family lives.

The Communists cut the throats of children and sent their bodies floating down the Seng and Suong Rivers which flow into the Mekong above the royal capital, he said.

Some 50 families were reported to have fled Luang Prabang as the Communists gained ground and probed to within 30 miles of the city.

The army officer said government forces were regrouping in the southwestern part of Luang Prabang province after their counter-attack against the Communists was smashed.

Laotian army units also were hitting back at the rebels in Sam Neua with guerrilla tactics.

Communist guerrillas were reported to be within 50 miles of Vientiane, the country's administrative capital, and in a position to cut communication lines between the northern and southern part of the country.

Today's account of the rebels' progress by the senior army officer broke a news blackout in effect since last Thursday.

Military sources here said the panic in Luang Prabang probably had been caused by rumors started by the rebels themselves. They doubted that the number of guerrillas in the area was large but said Luang Prabang is very sensitive to rumors because it has been attacked several times in the last 20 years.

The Laotian government has accused Communist North Viet Nam of playing a leading part in the revolt in this country. Laotian officials claim that regular units in the North Viet Nam army took part in attacks last month in the northeastern provinces of Sam Neua and Phong Saly.

A statement by the North Viet Nam government today charged that the "slanderous allegations" were being made by the Laotian government "on American orders."

Ease of Producing Biological Weapons Menaces Security

PUGWASH, N.S. (CP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today expressed concern over the dangers of chemical and bacteriological warfare in a telegram to international scientists meeting here to discuss the problem.

Khrushchev's message was received by Nova Scotia-born industrialist Cyrus Eaton, sponsor of the week-long conference.

The Soviet Communist party boss said "... we share the concern of scientists, who justly point out that the use of these weapons may have no less horrible a consequence than the use of atomic or hydrogen weapons."

He said the Soviet Union strongly supports the prohibition of all types of weapons of mass annihilation.

"We hold that their use runs counter to humane principles ... and the conscience of all peoples," the cable said.

British philosopher Bertrand Russell said Monday there is a possibility of small countries resorting to such weapons because of their cheapness and ease of production.

"This represents a threat to world security," he said.

Lord Russell delivered his opening address to the 25 scientists, representing nine nations including Russia and the United States, by a tape recording. He said he regretted he was unable to make the long journey here from his homes in Wales.

The meetings are the fifth in a series initiated in 1957 by Mr. Eaton and held at the financier's "Home for Thinkers." Earlier meetings were concerned with nuclear war.

Mr. Eaton urged the delegates to give the world the facts "however terrifying they may be."

He said the United States should take particular interest in the conference for ethical reasons.

"It is inconceivable," he said, "that a nation nurtured in such high moral standards, and so strongly dedicated to the alleviation of human suffering should ever for a moment consider embarking upon a lunatic campaign to ravage and destroy defenceless women and children with monstrous disease."

Vatican Advised To Withdraw Haiti Prelate

By HAROLD K. MILKS

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) A spokesman for President Francois Duvalier says the Vatican can end the rift between the Haitian government and the Roman Catholic church by withdrawing Archbishop Francois Poirier, head of the church in the Caribbean Negro republic.

Presidential Secretary Clement Bardot told an interviewer Monday he thinks the Vatican will relieve the 86-year-old French-born prelate, who has openly criticized the government.

The government is holding a suspended arrest order over the archbishop's head while putting the issue of his removal up to the Vatican. Vatican sources have warned that Haitian government officials face excommunication if the order is put into effect.

Bardot said the prelate is "free to go where he wishes." But the archbishop says he regards himself as being under house arrest until the arrest order is cancelled. He did not appear at Sunday's service in Notre Dame Cathedral.

The presidential secretary said the Haitian government has no quarrel with the church but only with "certain French priests who have involved themselves in internal politics, contrary to the concordat between Haiti and the Vatican."

The archbishop's arrest was ordered after he publicly criticized Duvalier for expelling two French priests without consulting the prelate or giving specific reasons.

Duvalier, a Catholic, said the priests were ousted for "reasons of internal security."

Most of the Catholic clergy in Haiti are French or Canadian, Bardot said some French priests "refuse to recognize that this country liberated itself from French rule many years ago"

Johansson Signs Contract to Meet Patterson

The revised contract, agreed on after three days of negotiations between the heavyweight champion and his Swedish advisers and a six-man American delegation headed by Jack Dempsey, gave no definite date or site for the return match.

Basher Resigns Over Criticism Of Prison Policy

TORONTO (CP)—The resignation of Col. G. Hedley Basher, 68, deputy minister of the department of reform institutions, was announced today by Reforms Minister Wardrope of Ontario.

Mr. Wardrope said Col. Basher is leaving officially because of his age, but Col. Basher himself said his resignation was prompted by criticism of the department.

J. A. Graham, 54, executive assistant to the deputy, becomes the new deputy minister. Five other department members are involved in changes.

Col. Basher, who has been deputy since 1952, said his department has been given too much advice on reform matters from too many sources.

"Everybody feels they know better than those responsible for such matters," he said.

NO TIGHT MONEY POLICY DECLARES PRIME MINISTER

Loan Money Short Due to Big Demand

KITMAT, B.C. (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Monday his government has no tight money policy and is not responsible for the recent decision of Canadian chartered banks to curtail supply of money for loans.

The prime minister told central British Columbia business men the shortage of loan money is due to the greatest demand in Canada's history for loans, the result of a great economic upsurge.

Mr. Diefenbaker's comments came when he departed from his prepared address to the Central B.C. Associated Boards of Trade convention to "say a few things which need saying" about the loan situation and the recent increase in the Bank of Canada discount rate.

He denied a contention that the Bank of Canada's action in raising its rate to a record 6.41 per cent meant the chartered banks could not advance loans at six per cent, the legal limit.

HAVE HUGE RESERVES

The chartered banks do not borrow from the Bank of Canada except on rare occasions to hold up their reserves, he said. Today the chartered banks had the greatest reserves in their history, a figure in the neighborhood of $7,000,000,000.

"What has happened is the result of unprecedented development and the demand for money to keep it going. There has been no freezing of the money supply by the Bank of Canada."

There was a tight money policy three years ago, under the former Liberal administration, he said, "but there is none today."

VSUALIZES POWER GRID

The prime minister spoke of the possibilities of a great power grid being linked up across the country to provide an unceasing flow of energy for national development.

Interchanges of power already are taking place between Ontario and Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba and Saskatchewan and Manitoba, he said. In December a vast power pool would go into operation in the Atlantic Provinces.

"I can visualize a national energy grid anchored at one end on the Hamilton River in Newfoundland and at the other end on the Columbia and the Taku," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

Six Injured, Train Hits Car

BRANTFORD (CP) — A level-crossing accident 11 miles west of here Monday night sent six persons to hospital, two of them with severe injuries

Warren Jackson, 43, of RR 1, Simcoe, driver of the car which was struck by a CNR freight train, suffered head, chest and undetermined internal injuries. Both are reported in critical condition.

The other occupants of the car suffered less serious injuries. They are the couple's two daughters, Patty, 13, and Vicky, 9; John W. Craig, 42, of Port Dover, and his 12-year-old daughter, Mary.

Queen's Great Aunt Chats Happily About Anticipated 'Blessed Event'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone, great aunt of the Queen and widow of Canada's Second World War governor-general, had a rare and animated chat with reporters Monday night—mainly about the Royal Family's anticipated happy event.

"The family knew nothing about it until they read it in the papers," said the 76-year-old princess when asked if she had advance news that the Queen was expecting a baby early next year.

"We're all delighted of course," she said. "Oh! It was a delightful surprise."

Had any names been decided on for the royal infant?

"Good heavens, no," said Princess Alice.

The princess met reporters at the home of her host, Hon. E. W. Hamber, former British Columbia lieutenant-governor, after a tiring train journey from San Francisco. She chatted also about her love for travel and her interest in youth.

"China is the only large country I have not visited," she said. "It has always been a dream of mine to go there, but I suppose I shall not realize it now".

Her present trip started nine months ago in London and included a five-month stay in Australia with her daughter, Lady May Abel Smith, wife of Sir Henry Abel Smith, governor of Queensland.

She will stay 10 days in B.C., making a trip to Kitimat Thursday to see "my friends up there."

Then she will travel across Canada by train on her way back to London to catch up on work on several social welfare and educational organizations of which she is head.

"Education is my real interest," she said. "It helps me keep in touch with young people and I like young people."

Princess Alice, a granddaughter of Queen Victoria, lived in Canada for five years from 1940 to 1945 when her husband, the late Earl of Athlone, was governor-general.

Nehru Promises India To Defend Bhutan, Sikkim

China Warned to Leave Himalayan States Alone

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru promised today to defend Bhutan and Sikkim against any intrusions. His statement was interpreted as a warning to Communist China to keep hands off the little Himalayan states.

Nehru told Parliament that India is responsible for the defence of Bhutan and Sikkim under treaties with the two remote states on the Tibet-India border.

Increasing Communist pressure has been reported on Sikkim and Bhutan since the Chinese crushed the March rebellion in Tibet.

INVASION DANGER

Prime Minister Jigme Dorje told a Times of India correspondent in Calcutta Sunday that there was a definite danger of Chinese incursions into this country.

He said Chinese troops often had come close to the border while pursuing Tibetan refugees.

"If there is any violation of the border we will certainly fight," he added.

Dorje plans to visit New Delhi soon to discuss the situation with Nehru and other Indian government officials.

Sikkim, covering only 2,818 square miles, has a population of 140,000. Bhutan covers about 18,000 square miles and has a population of 700,000.

REPORTS FROM TIBET

Nehru said reports have reached the government oı Chinese statements in Tibet that the Bhutanese, Sikkimese and Ladakhis "must once again be made a united family under China."

The Chinese were reported to be distributing pamphlets calling for the "liberation" of these people from their "capitalistic oppressor"—India—but Nehru said the government has no information about the validity of the reports.

Earlier, Mrs. Lakshmi Menon, deputy minister for external affairs, told the House the government was not aware of any Chinese plans for the formation of a Himalayan federation of the states bordering Tibet.

But, she added, the Indian government is "fully alive to its responsibility for the preservation of the security of India."

CLEAR — CUT WARNING

Diplomatic observers here said Nehru's clear - cut statement of India's responsibility for Bhutan's defence represents a major policy declaration and a warning to China to take no liberties with the Himalayan state.

Under a 1949 treaty Bhutan agreed to accept India's guidance in external relations while India undertook not to interfere in Bhutan's internal affairs.

The treaty does not specifically say India is responsible for Bhutan's defence — as in the treaty with Sikkim—but Indian officials have said that it is implicit.

In the past Bhutan has adopted a strongly independent attitude and rigidly excluded any closer contact with outsiders—including India—than that provided for in the treaty.

Jury Decides 70 Cats in One House Too Many

GLENDALE, CAalif. (AP) Seventy cats in one house are 67 too many, a jury decided.

Dr. Aura Hardison and Miss Marian Martin were convicted Monday of violating an ordinance limiting the number of cats to three for a single residence.

Sentencing was postponed until Oct. 5, pending a motion for a new trial

Two Children Feared Abducted By Transient

NORTH BAY (CP)—About 100 police, RCAF personnel and others searched during the night in vain after a brother and sister failed to return home from a candy store.

Police said the children, Nancy Caster, 4, and Orven, 7, may have been abducted by a transient They were last seen with a man wearing a corduroy sports jacket and carrying a suitcase.

Fearing foul play, police have spread the alarm across the province. The children haven't been seen since 6 p.m. Monday when they went to a corner store with some soft drink bottles to exchange for candy.

Mrs. Caster reported them missing about 10 p.m. Their father is believed to be living in a Toronto suburb but police have been unable to get in touch with him.

Nancy is fair, has blue eyes and a round face. Her brother has light brown hair with a brush cut.

Homemade Bomb Brings Arrests At Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark (AP)—A homemade explosive held in a glass jar blew up Monday night outside Hall High School, which recently admitted Negro students for the first time. There was no damage and no one was hurt.

Two young white brothers were taken into custody. They were grabbed by police as they ran up a hill from the school, where three Negro girls have attended since Aug. 12.

Area residents called police when they heard a loud boom and saw a flash at the north side of the building.

One boy, 17, told police he and his brother, 13, made the bomb from aluminum sulphate they had purchased at Taipei, Formosa, where they lived while their father was stationed there with the U.S. Air Force.

"Noise is all we wanted," the 17-year-old youth said.

He and his brother said they were not aware of Little Rock's integration crisis. They were held for questioning.

CITY and DISTRICT NEWS

SMALL AMOUNT OF CASH TAKEN IN BREAK-IN

For the second time in recent months thieves last night forced their way into the Dundas St. East premises of Arthur A. Sills and Son and escaped with a quantity of petty cash from the safe.

Only petty cash had been left in the unlocked safe, police said and not all of this was taken by the thief or thieves.

Modern Building To Replace Those Razed by Fire

A modern new store with three apartment units on the second floor will be erected on the site of the former Kellaway West Side Market at the corner of Bridge and Everett streets.

During the summer months the debris left from the fire which destroyed the Kellaway store, Livesey's Meat Market and a Chinese restaurant, along with the Kellaway home, has been cleared away and within the past few days construction work for the new building has commenced. Late last week excavation for the foundation was done and this week footings are being poured.

General contractor is the Sehauf Construction Company of Peterborough which now has a Belleville office.

The new building will take up almost the entire corner lot formerly occupied by the several premises which burned in the fire.

Bowling Notes

Bruce Miller and Gordon Watkin, in search of the doubles championship of Canada at the Boulevard Club in Toronto, got away on the right foot when they defeated the Quebec pair, 22-17, on Monday afternoon. The boys play two games today and two on Wednesday with points to count. The winners get two points for a win and one point for a tie. This combination will be hard to beat in the tourney as both can draw or run, which ever the occasion demands. The members of the local bowling club will be anxiously awaiting the results of each game and, of course, the pressure will build up as the teams enter the final stages, but neither Bruce nor Gordon will get panicky. They will be tough to beat and here's hoping for success.

Phyllis Graham and Thelma Fitzgibbon was one of six women's doubles that journeyed to Trenton on Friday last for the annual tournament at that club and came home with the three-game high score and the trophy. Other rinks that went up were: Myrtle Smith and Marie Bell, Reta Lloyd and Elsie Humphreys, Edna Jackman and Reta Coleman, Carm Mott and Marg Fairbairn, and Millie Smith and Grace Clapp. Mrs. Beatty and Mrs. McMillan of Peterborough were second, while the two-game winner was Mrs. Horace Ormshaw and Mrs. Robert Hakker of Trenton. Mrs. Hepburn and Mrs. Wilson won the one-game high, while Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Topping took the no-game high score.

The women of the local club held their Brading tournament on Thursday last with Mrs. M. Trudeau, Mrs. J. Boyle and Mrs. Charles Hyde winning the Brading Rose Bowl, and accompanying prizes. Mrs. Don Hurst, Miss Winnie Smith and Mrs. C. Argue won the two-game high and Mrs. H. Pickard, Mrs. A. Wardhaugh and Mrs. L. Gerow the one-game high. The weather was hot and humid but the greens were lightning fast.

McFarland Given Contract Of Over Million Dollars for Work at Trenton Station

The H. J. McFarland Construction Company of Picton has been awarded a contract in the amount of $1,282,077 for alterations, repair and replacement of facilities at the Trenton Air Station, it has been announced by Mr. Lee Grills, M. P. for Hastings South.

Actual work on the project will commence in the fall with local labor, materials and services to be used wherever possible. The McFarland Construction Company was the lowest bidder for the job.

The contract covers a variety of items at the big air station which is being transformed from Training Command to Air Transport Command.

Preliminary construction work on a new $6,000,000 hangar is already underway at the base, while the McFarland contract will cover major alterations necessary due to the changed type of operations which will be carried out under the new setup.

The contract covers water and sewer services, an electrical distribution system, landscaping, paving and associated services.

Mr. McFarland has assured that wherever possible local labor and materials will be used in the contract.

In making the announcement of the contract, Mr. Grills said he was glad to see the contract come to the McFarland Company.

"It will be a real boost to employment in the Quinte area and will benefit suppliers, industry and labor in the area," he said.

Mr. Grills went on to say that the expansion at Trenton Air Station was proof that the changeover in the function of the air station would not adversely affect Trenton and district, as had been rumored during the last Federal election campaign.

He noted that the magnitude of the work to be done proved that operations at the air station actually were to be expanded and that the expansion would be stable and permanent which would not have been the case under the previous arrangement.

Belleville Entry In Bowling Finals Wished Success

Gordon Watkin and Bruce Miller, of Belleville, provincial lawn bowling doubles champions, won their first match against the Quebec entry 22-17 in the Dominion Lawn Bowling Finals in Toronto yesterday.

The Belleville pair won the provincial championship at Oshawa several weeks ago, thus becoming eligible for play in the Dominion finals.

"The citizens of Belleville extend their best wishes to you for success in your efforts to bring the Canadian doubles championship to this city during the tournament play being held this week and we know that regardless of the outcome of the tournament you will be excellent representatives of this city", the mayor's telegram read.

The event, which was organized by the Peaceful Pacers' Club of Kingston, was well attended by about 2,000 "drag" enthusiasts and competitors from eastern Canada and the United States. Several local entries placed well during the day-long event.

Plan Ceremony For Filtration Plant Opening

TRENTON — The official opening of the new addition to the filtration plant in Trenton will take place on September 16, it was decided at the last meeting of the Trenton Public Utilities Commission.

The new filtration beds have been in operation for some time but the official opening has been left over until all the "clean-up" work was completed.

This addition to the plant increases the output of water through this source by 1,000,000 gallons per day and will service chiefly the east side of the Trent river. However, should the water from the wells on the west side of the river become too low, then the filtration plant water will also be used on that side too.

The addition was constructed by the Tatham Construction Company and work commenced last January.

At the official opening short speeches will be followed by an "open house" for interested citizens, who will be given a chance to tour the plant and see how it operates.

A plaque will also be unveiled to commemorate the occasion and the names of the men on the commission, along with that of Cliff Gunter, superintendent of the water works in Trenton, will be on the plaque.

A lunch of doughnuts, buns and coffee will be served following the official ceremonies.

Request Council To Increase PUC Members to Five

TRENTON — Town fathers will be asked to take the necessary steps to increase the Public Utilities Commission in Trenton from the present three members to five.

The matter was brought up at the last regular meeting of the PUC and the motion to recommend this to council was passed.

In asking for the change Clifford Baker, chairman of the PUC said he felt that the business of the PUC is now becoming so extended that it is hardly fair that three men alone should handle the responsibility. It also made it much more difficult when one of the members was absent. Then the responsibilities rested on only two. With five men on the commission theer would be some leeway.

The PUC has no power to increase the membership by itself but the issue must be handled through the town council and this body has the final say.

It was stated at the meeting that if the council should approve this measure then three new members would be elected at the end of this year. The member, Bert Atkinson, re-elected last year would also remain on for another year. He was elected for a two-year term last December.

The two members elected this year and getting the highest number of votes will remain on the commission for two years and the member getting the third highest number along with Mr. Atkinson, will serve until the 1960 election.

The mayor of the town is the other member of the board, or, in the present situation in Trenton, the third member.

CHOKES TO DEATH

NEW 1960 MODEL . . . NOT QUITE. The above is a specially-constructed vehicle for use in acceleration runs. It was seen at the Mohawk Drag Strip on Sunday when the National Drags were held. From a standing start this machine is able to achieve a speed of about 130 miles per hour at the end of a quarter-mile run! The "bald" tires are specially made for maximum acceleration.

Rotarians Move Opening Time Up 15 Minutes

Local Rotarians held a discussion forum to discuss club business yesterday afternoon at their weekly dinner meeting at the Quinte Hotel. Two major points affecting the club's meetings were discussed. In an effort to create a better attendance record and allow members to remain for the entire program it was decided to advance the weekly meeting time from 12.30 to 12.15 p.m. It was felt that this would be more convenient for businessmen since the meeting should conclude close to 1.30 rather than to 2.00 o'clock as has been the case frequently in the past. This decision was approved by all the members present.

President Fred Wilson announced that the board of directors had decided that closer attention would be paid to the attendance rules of Rotary International. These rules provide for an attendance record of 60 per cent of the meetings held in a six-month period. They also make it mandatory that a member not miss more than three meetings in succession.

Club member Jack Deacon suggested that the club bulletin "Rotopics" include a regular report on the activity of the various club committees so that club members would be better informed as to what their club was doing. This suggestion also found the approval of those present. Committee chairmen will be asked to submit a regular written report to the editor of the bulletin in the future.

A rousing sing-song was led by Jack Deacon with Edge Boyce manipulating the ivory keys of the piano. Ed Hutchinson introduced the visitors and Rotarian Wilson Haw of Toronto was presented with a carnation as the long distance visitor.

Birthdays of three club members were recognized — Harold Mott, Jay Sprague, and Mac Haig. Although none of these gentlemen was present at the time, Mr. Haig arrived during the discussion session and was treated to a spontaneous chorus of "Happy Birthday" and presented with a flower. Fred Wilson, club president, was chairman for the occasion and Roscoe Robson gave grace.

Local Entrants Win Classes At Drag Races

Several Belleville entrants won their classes at the Mohawk National Championship drag races at Deseronto on Sunday. Competing with cars which had come from as far as Calgary, Alberta, and many entrants from the United States, four local residents and a Trenton entrant placed first in the following classes: Super Stock — Don Gauthier, Belleville, in a 1959 Chevrolet; class A stock — B. McGaughey, Trenton, in a 1958 Chevrolet; class B stock — Evan Elliott, Belleville, in a 1957 Dodge; class C. stock — Marve Reid, Belleville, in a 1954 Oldsmobile; class G Sports — Ray Rockall, Belleville, in an Elva Mark I.

Over 2,000 persons were present for the event. This has been the largest attendance at the quarter-mile acceleration run events held at the Mohawk airfield since the "drag" strip was started by the Peaceful Pacers Rod and Custom Club of Kingston earlier in the year. The club's next event will be held on September 20th.

A new track record was set by an Oldsmobile-powered special driven by Don MacArthur of Chippewa, Ontario. It reached a speed of 138.36 miles per hour at the end of the standing start quarter-mile run. This car, and driver, also won the free trip to the National Drag Races at Detroit, Michigan, by winning the top eliminator class race. There it will represent Canada at the top American event.

Howard, Soden Win Quinte Tennis Titles

Dan Howard and Casey Soden captured top honors over the past weekend as the Quinte Tennis Club held its Junior and Intermediate tennis tournament.

Howard won the junior championship in the under 12 group while Soden took the intermediate title in the 12-16 age group.

Only a few players took part in the junior trials but they made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers. Howard outfought close competition from Paul Loder and Dan Courzon on the way to his triumph.

It was a different story in the intermediate play with eight players taking part. They were Bill Moffat, David Hurst, David Schwab, Scott Jameson, David Ross, Donald Brearley, Casey Soden and Kerry Soden. Two of the more promising players, Jim Hurst and Ernie Summers, were unable to participate in the trials.

The matches were highlighted by keen competition and a high standard of play throughout.

David Hurst lost only one match, to Bill Moffat 5-6, and Casey Soden also lost but one match, to Hurst by a 4-6 score, thus forcing a playoff. Soden defeated Hurst 6-4, 6-1 in the two-of-three set playoff to capture the intermediate title.

The promise shown by a number of the players indicated an early number of entries in the Ontario junior and intermediate net play next season.

Credit for the excellent brand of play turned in during this tournament must be given to Doug Grant for his coaching with the Quinte players this season.

Date of Judicial Enquiry Set for September 28th

Monday, September 28th, has been set as the date for the opening of the judicial enquiry into the financial affairs of the city of Belleville, it has been announced by Stanley E. Fennell, Q.C., counsel for the commission.

The enquiry will commence at 10.30 a.m. on September 28th, in the city hall council chambers. His Honor Arthur Roy Willmott of Cobourg, will conduct the enquiry.

The enquiry into the city's financial affairs was ordered by Municipal Affairs Minister W. K. Warrender after gross misspending of the city's money on behalf of the Belleville McFarland's hockey team was alleged.

A subsequent audit of city books revealed that the total city deficit, including that charged against the hockey club was in the neighborhood of $250,000. The hockey deficit over the three-year period of the senior club's operation by the Arena Commission was given as $110,000.

The misspending of city money in connection with the hockey team was revealed last May with the receipt of the 1958 auditor's report.

Subsequently City Manager Drury S. Denyes, who also acted as city treasurer and manager of the McFarlands' hockey team, was suspended by council.

The enquiry will look into the financial affairs of the city and its local boards and commissions, including the action of members of council, members of the Memorial Arena Commission, members of the parks board management, the recreation committee, parking commission and other local boards as defined in the Department of Municipal Affairs Act.

How Australia

The Toronto Globe and Mail laments the current drop in Canada's immigration, particularly from Britain, and points suggestively to Australia's increase in immigration from Britain. But The Globe and Mail does not mention several significant reasons for this disparity.

First there is the fact that Australia is in the sterling area. Hence an Englishman can dispose of his house and chattels and buy at better value in Australia than in Canada.

It might be imagined that the voyage from Britain to Australia, six or seven weeks, would cost more than a mere voyage across the Atlantic Ocean. It does not. It costs, tourist class, exactly the same.

Australians are much more British-minded than Canadians, largely because Australia has no United States powerhouse alongside and contains no French-speaking element which, very naturally, is increasing in influence in Canada and, very naturally, is not particularly interested in increasing immigration from Britain.

This is very obvious in London, where Canada House is overshadowed by Australia House. Canada House is a handsome old building on Trafalgar Square. Australia House, probably the finest office building in London, is by Bush House—a most "posh" business address—on The Strand. It is bright and lavish. Marble staircases, with black and gold railings, wind gently up on each side of a vast hall, about three storeys high and brilliantly lighted. Huge marble pillars, ornate with gilded decorations, glisten under fluorescent lights around the ceiling. Beyond the hall and under an arch, contrived of a big Union Jack and an Australian flag, is a lounge-reception-publicity room, also three storeys high and in itself in area greater than all Canada House.

This room is brilliantly lighted on all sides. In the centre is an oval counter displaying 40 or 50 books about Australia, not "publicity," but books comparable to Stephen Leacock's, Bruce Hutchison's, Donald Creighton's—well spread out on the counter and behind lighted glass cases. Two or three girls stand waiting.

Airmailed newspapers (six days old) are set up on slanting shelves at eye-level, each under a fluorescent light. One editorial suggests that "the Australian government contribute towards the operating expenses of Her Majesty's household . . . after all, Her Majesty is Queen of Australia . . ."

Dozens of young people prowl about, enquiring for jobs. Windows on The Strand present colored moving pictures of canoeing, kangaroos, housing, gardens bridges, trains, rivers. Posters state cheap fares to Australia, low rents, half-fares on railways, three weeks' holiday with pay. "If you are between 18 and 45 the Train Services offer you a job. Interested? Step up to room 21 or write . . ."

Beside all this Canada House is dull. It does embody a handsome hall, marble pillars, marble floor, great iron doors studded with Maple Leafs. And if you want to know anything about Canada the commissionaire will tell you or conduct you, certainly, and very politely. But other than a few tourists, young people do not swarm around, and compared to Australia House, it is a dismal place.

In view of these circumstances Canada, although it contains more people, more space and greater potential, as The Globe and Mail points out, is not likely to surpass Australia in luring immigrants from Britain.

SPEED NOT A FACTOR

Rail crossings used by slow trains are not necessarily less dangerous than crossings on an express track, says the Ontario Safety League. Reporting on accidents in Saskatchewan the C.P.R. comments: "It is self evident that the speed of the train or engine had no bearing on the frequency of highway crossing mishaps. In fact, 71.4 per cent of the mishaps occurred when our equipment was moving at 25 m.p.h or less." A C.N.R. official adds: "It is my opinion that the practice of restricting the speed of trains at public highway crossings has actually resulted in more crossing accidents."—(Stratford Beacon-Herald.)

THE FAWNER

By EDGAR A. GUEST

When others are getting the credit
For the work that you do,
When others are playing the toady,
Get favors denied unto you,
Don't waste time in bitter complainings,
But still struggle on;
You'll be high in the seats of the mighty
Long after the favored are gone.

Denounce not, in malice or hatred,
The brother who does not his share;
Don't waste time in telling what you do
The while he is lazying there.
Let him fawn as he will. His employer,
In time, will discover that you
Are worthy of praise and promotion;
He will judge by the work that you do.

For fawning and toadying never
Win out in the race that is long.
The wreath of the laurel rests only
On brows of the brave and the strong.
So, toil by the side of the shirker;
Be true, though unfavored today;
The indolent fawner and shirker,
In time, you will pass on the way.

Strictly Personal

Why Some Professionals Seem Cynical

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I had taken a friend to lunch at the Press Club, and as we were finishing our coffee he couldn't help overhearing a party of newspapermen and criminal lawyers at the next table discussing a particularly messy murder case.

"They're so cool and detached about it," he said to me as we left. 'Don't they have any feelings about the defendant or the victim?"

What my friend failed to understand is that all professionals quickly learn to discuss cases without reference to the personalities involved.

Some tasks are so upsetting emotionally that unless we can approach them in a impersonal manner we cannot do our jobs well. A doctor called in to handle tragedy. in a poignant personal way, he is no longer able to operate at peak performance.

When lawyers discuss a gory murder trial, they consider the persons in the case only in regard to their credibility as witnesses. They're concerned with legal and technical points, and don't speculate as to whether the defendant is innocent or guilty.

Likewise, when a surgeon refers to a 'beautiful ulcer,' he is talking as a professional ,and his relationship to the patient is not a personal one, but a clinical one.

The doctor is no more "hardened" to disease than the lawyer is "hardened" to crime or the reporter to disaster. He just knows it is necessary to place a certain distance between himself and his work in order to keep his sense of balance and perspective.

Even an actor soon learns that his profession — which seems to call for deep emotional involvment — requires a cool objectivity. An actor who "throws himself" into a role almost always give a bad and hammy performance. It is when he is most detached that he gives the impression of passionate intensity.

Reporters so often seem to be cynical on the surface because they are protecting their emotions from being flicked on the raw. To do a competent and conscientious job while observing 90 dead children being carried out of a burning schoolhouse calls for a thick layer of protective gauze over the heart and nerves.

Some professionals, it is true, remove themselves at too great a distance from the objects of their practice, and forget that they are fundamentally dealing with persons and not with wounds or warrants.

But this is the danger inherent in any calling where a man in his daily life is surrounded by grim reminders of our tragic mistakes and our fragile mortality.

Teachers, Attention!

Kingston Whig-Standard

A release to the press by the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Ontario has gone out to the waiting world with this heading today: "Women Teachers' President calls for more attention on Canadian methods of teaching, less attention on Russian education claims—"

We are not quarelling with this contention. But ". . . more attention on . . ." and ". . . less attention on . . .?" This is a fine example to emanate from a federation of teachers even if it did come through a public relations firm in Toronto.

We suggest to the Federation that they pay more attention to the form in which their messages reach the public.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

Mr. William A. Jones of Peoria, Ill., whose father Windsor W. Jones, was one of the city's leading dry goods merchant thirty years ago, is visiting his friends after an absence of thirty years. By a happy coincidence, his brother Mr. Owen Jones is also visiting in town. Mr. W. A. Jones is busy looking up old friends, and as his grandfather was the late Owen Ketcheon of Huntingdon township and thereby related to all the Ketchesons in this county, he will have no difficulty in filling in his time for the next few weeks.

Canadian PLACE NAMES

BANFF, ALTA.

This town, at the edge of the great national park in the Rockies, had little or no romance attached to the choice of its name. Lord Strathcona, then president of the CPR, named it Banff for his birthplace in Scotland. The park adopted the name of the town in 1930.

Matter of Regret

Winnipeg Free Press

It is regrettable that Mr. Watson Sellar should be forced to retire at a time when government and government service in Canada are growing and changing as they are.

Canadian taxpayers will hope that the Government will be able to find a successor to Mr. Sellar with the same incisive qualities of mind and independence of character.

Add Million A Week

Vancouver Sun

Human birth rates must be brought into some rough balance with modern death rates. Call it by any name — family planning, family spacing, family limitation — it means birth control.

And it has become essential to man's survival.

Compassion and reason impel us to take this stand.

The most dramatic modern achievement is the power of deferring death. But this power has thrown out nature's balance.

The facts are not disputed. Not even by those who would look the other way, pass the problem on to our children.

Today there are roughly 2.8 billion people in the world. Population experts of the United Nations figure it took man some 200,000 years to reach that total.

But in the next 40 years, at least 3.5 billion more will be added.

Today about 165,000 people will die, including newborns.

But today another 300,000 humans will be born and will live.

The net increase — 135,000 humans every 24 hours.

Every three days a population the size of Vancouver's is added to the world. And every 10 days, the equivalent of British Columbia's.

Both the total number and the rate of increase are in surge. So much so that even as the estimates are written or read, the geometric growth from unbalanced and unchecked human fertility make them obsolete.

The danger lies not only in how many are born, but in where they're born.

Seven out of every 10 new lives are coming into a world of poverty and misery. Their inheritance is the right to go to sleep hungry every night.

In Asia, Africa, Latin America — in all the underdeveloped and underprivileged areas of the world — there are more mouths than there's food to feed. Economic help provided by the "have" nations is being gobbled up each year by uncontrolled human breeding.

Such areas are wide open to communism and its conscienceless promises.

World leaders who recognize the cold, scientific facts of human reproduction consider the problem far bigger than the threat of H-bomb or biological warfare.

Yet governments, individually and collectively — with a few Asian exceptions — remain silent. They receive United Nations surveys and reports. The findings cry out the need for a population policy, for global birth control. But even the authors daren't make recommendations in such terms.

Such is the grip of superstition, dogma, taboos and obsessive emotionalism where human fertility is involved, even discussion is forestalled.

This is the challenge to every responsible, intelligent citizen.

Where governments bow to political expediency, the cumulative effect of responsible individual concern must take over.

Whether birth control comes "naturally" as urged by Roman Catholics, or "unnaturally" as did the drop in death rates, the process must be speeded.

India's women need our help to control their fertility. Their leaders want that help. "Have" nations can't continue to withhold help simply because enlightened action is politically inexpedient.

Not it they're to survive.

Inaction to date guarantees that our grandchildren will curse our devotion to political expediency.

The Sun in clear conscience, with compassion and reason as its references, takes its stand beside the Huxleys and Toynbees, the Chisholms, Cooks, Hands and Spencers of the world.

We're confident that effective, intelligent action will come. We pray it will come in time. But as in all great humane movements, we know it will come from the bottom up, stirred by an accumulation of individual concern by free, intelligent, responsible people.

People who, given the facts, will press for world-wide education and dissemination of the information and practices they use in their own homes, their own lives.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

MEDICAL X-RAY REQUIRES ONLY SHORT TIME OF EXPOSURE

More and more I hear of concern about X-rays, even to the extent of parents refusing to let their children have them to detect whether tuberculosis is present.

Let me go on record: The world of the future obviously is going to depend to a greater extent on materials and machines which emit X-rays. Likewise atomic bombs (tests and, it is possible, explosions for warfare, although we hope not) are adding to the amount of radiation all around us.

We have always had radiation: cosmic rays, radium and other ray-emitting materials in the earth have been causing it for millions of years. In the last half century we have had X-rays from tubes.

If we are wise, we will see to it that the world does not let the total level of radiation rise too high.

But let us not refuse to drink a glass of water because we know that too much of it might drown us! Let's not be afraid of a "Thimbleful of radiation just because a bushel might harm us!

In Hiroshima and Nagasaki people were exposed to immense radiation and survived. The dire predictions of future children being born monsters has not materialized. True, some victims were terribly harmed, but others were not. The amount was important.

Now let me use another example. In the early days of X-ray, before the danger was known, doctors worked with it day in and day out, with their hands and bodies exposed to the rays.

Some of these pioneers lost fingers as a result or developed leukemia. But it took years to happen, and the total time of exposure amounted to scores of hours — more likely hundreds of hours.

Now what is the exposure involved in taking a medical X-ray? About 1-20th of a second for an X-ray taken to see whether TB, cancer or pneumonia is present.

Let's say you have 40 such X-rays — and that's a lot. The total exposure is still only two seconds. Two seconds against several hundred hours!

I say never think twice about a necessary X-ray. Have it done! But as a general principle, never have an X-ray taken unless there is a purpose.

In a school, discovering one case of TB would over-balance by far the total risk of years of X-raying, if, indeed, any harm could be demonstrated from the rays. I've never seen any.

Under certain circumstances X-rays should be used only when absolutely necessary. An important instance is an abdominal X-ray in the early months of pregnancy, although X-ray of a tooth, broken arm, etc, would not be harmful.

Later in pregnancy, there is no reason to worry about X-rays to determine the size or position of the baby, or learn whether there are twins.

X-rays of children in general should be kept at a minimum, and no doubt we have reason to be extra cautious (because of the aspect of altering the genes) when the X-rays reach the abdominal or genital regions. But how often is that required with children? Rarely indeed! X-raying the chest, an arm, leg, etc., is not going to affect future generations. We will all have taken all the precautions we need to if only we follow this rule: When an X-ray is needed, take it. If it isn't useful, don't.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Some mothers tell me their children have had measles six and seven times. This I doubt. — Mrs. P. H."

So do I doubt it.

Mrs. J. K.: I've been asked th same question time after time, but my answer remains: I do not know of one solitary reason why drinking vinegar and water would help anyone reduce. If helped, I'd recommend it.

Going by Boo Was Foolish

Winnipeg Free Press

Sometimes the law is inde an ass; as, for example, th other day when Canadian customs officials refused to let a specially chartered U.S. bu cross the border from International Falls to Fort Frances.

The bus was needed to carr passengers from a CNR train around a rail wreck to a speci train on the far side. Railway officials tried to hire a Canadian bus, but none was available. One was available just acros the line in International Falls; but it became enmeshed in red tape at the border and had to turn back. Finally the railway hired taxis in Fort Frances to carry the passengers around t tie-up.

The customs officials who refused to let the bus enter Canada were on sound enough ground legally. The bus was to be used to carry passengers from one Canadian point to another, and foreign carriers ar not permitted to do this.

But this was an emergenc and no Canadian bus could b had. In the circumstances it i hard to believe that the customs officials would have go into trouble if, for once, they had forgotten the rule book.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

For the fraction of what it costs to build and furnish a summer cottage, you can buy a small cabin cruiser. And in this recent era of crowded summer resorts, a great many people are realizing that a mobile summer home has its merits. Instead of being pinned down by the possession of a summer cottage, they are free, on vast areas of Canada's connecting waterways, to sample a different resort every day or two. Since the waters are free to all, these holidayers in boats can drop in at any time on any summer resort however exclusive, and make themselves at home in the kind of company they prefer, whether the lively, water-skiing, juke-boxing, whoop-de-doodle sort of resort, or the aloof, elegant type of resort in which everybody pretends there is nobody else in sight. Indeed anchored a hundred yards off the beach of a millionaire's summer chalet, approach to which by road is marked "Private, Keep Out," the boating enthusiast can revel in the immediate proximity of the aristocracy.

Economically, boating is so much cheaper than cottaging. There are no taxes to pay to the local township, no school rates. The problem of garbage disposal which is such a nuisance at cottage resorts is no problem at all to the owner of a cruiser. He just chucks it overboard. Sanitation which is a constant worry to the cottager, never so much as enters the head of the cruiser. Into the drink with it, that's the stuff.

And if, as the result of such little things, he becomes unpopular in one resort, all the cruiser has to do is up anchor and shuffle off to another one. It's carefree holiday, sure enough.

TODAY'S TALK

BEAUTY

It is inspiring to note how great and important is that place where beauty lies hidden in the human heart. We all miss Christopher Morley. I knew and loved the man for half my life-time. He was a most interesting writer of poems and essays. I like this line which he wrote: "In every man's heart there is a secret nerve that answers to the vibration of beauty."

The Creator put beauty into every living thing. He enriched all life that there might be this magic appeal to the heart, the mind, and the soul. He put perfect designs into everything, making it all immortal. Few seem to get the significance of this inbred beauty that smiles and plays its part in all the activities of human endeavor.

We are greatly influenced by beauty, whether we realize it or not. Wherever beauty is, people are, for this love of beauty is born with us. It's what beauty does that makes it so important and compelling, as we view it from many a hidden place. Beauty is so full of wonder! It is medicine, too. Even a child discovers and dotes over it.

Beauty is so universal. It can be found everywhere — if you will only look for it. No matter how seemingly insignificant a tiny flower is, if you will examine it carefully you will be examining a miracle! Every important event in life is influenced by beauty whether we make note of it or not. Famous is that line by Keats: "A thing of beauty is a joy forever."

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE NATURE OF GENIUS

Our Lord's disciples were very much concerned — as we are — about the presence in the world of so much evil in the midst of a considerable amount of good. Why allow this evil to mar this good? Why not get tough? Why not use the knife or the ax or anything else necessary to rip things apart, tear out the evil, and cast it aside?

When the disciples asked Jesus what to do about the problem of good and evil abiding side by side in the world, He told them a parable of a man who had sowed good grain only to have it fouled by weed seeds strewn at night by a hateful enemy. Of course everyone advised pulling up the weeds at once. But the wise householder said "Let both grow until the harvest". Then there would be a separation. Then would the weeds be bound into bundles and burned. Then would the good grain be threshed and stored in granaries.

No matter how much better the world in which we live may become, it will never be good enough to give us real justice. There must be a place of divine judging. There must be the separation of the wheat from the tares. A certain responsibility rests on us for the proper and just out-come of affairs — but the ultimate responsibility is in hands higher than ours.

Leave it, therefore, in the Lord's hands. "Let both grow until the harvest." For we can be certain there will be a harvest.

Loyalists Want Documents for New Museum

By E. CLAUDE YOUNG

Three recent events in the Quinte district appear to have aroused an increasing interest in the plans of the Bay of Quinte United Empire Loyalists to bring about the opening next spring of a Loyalist period museum and reference library in the historic old D. W. Allison home, now surrounded by the U.E.L. Memorial Park.

The events contributing to this conclusion are: 1) an auction sale late last month just south of Picton during which vast quantities of articles, books, etc., were readily purchased by antique dealers from a wide area; 2) the display, covering almost every facet of pioneer life with articles of priceless values, in the Brighton Masonic Temple during the centennial anniversary early this month; 3) a necessarily much smaller display of historic articles, documents, etc., arranged by the Hastings County Historical Society, which attracted considerable attention during the four days and evenings of the Belleville District fair last week.

Comments arising of the latter two items, coming to the ears of this writer, might be summarized as, 'isn't it too bad the articles our forebears were obligated to improvise from limited resources of materials and finances, that are now all too rapidly disappearing could not be preserved for the benefit of generations to come."

Our young folks cannot learn from presently used school books an infinitesimal part of what our ancestors manufactured to take place of the things they were obliged to leave behind when coming to Upper Canada in those pioneering days beginning with 1783. The knowledge gained through the visit of an hour or two in a Loyalist period museum would without any doubt help to make better citizens of our present day youth.

Bay of Quinte Branch U.E.L. members invite the co-operation of all citizens of the Quinte district to contribute books, papers, deeds, documents, pictures and photographs of their ancestors, on the assurance that all such articles will be safely maintained and available to inspection and examination through the years to come.

Mr. E. John Chard of Stirling, chairman of the museum committee, has named the following members to solicit and obtain contributions: D. D. M. Peebles, Colborne; Miss Hazel Farley, Trenton; Mrs. Marjorie A. McCaw, Erle Denyes, Belleville; Harold Martin, Stirling; W. Allan Dempsey, Rednersville; E. Blake Young, Carrying Place; Warner McFaul, Consecon; Dunam Foster, Bloomfield; Harry G. Blakely, Picton; E. Claude Young, Wellington; Miss Edith Allison, Adolphustown; Dr. H. C. Burleigh, Bath; Miss Nora Valleau; Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Amey; Donald Ross, Kingston.

They are required to report by September 2nd. So please help them now.

TORONTO (CP)—Alyer Desroaches, 23, of Oshawa visiting friends here, was attacked Sunday by a teen ager with a broken bottle who cut his face so badly it required eight stitches.

Desroches was talking with his friends outside their house when three teen-agers approached. The one who struck him first asked for a cigaret which Desroches, a non-smoker, was unable to give him.

William K. Budway, 16, has been chargee with assault causing bodily harm.

TAKES OVER BIG STORE

LONDON (AP) — Scot millionaire Hugh Fraser claimed victory Sunday in his campaign for control of Harrods—the big London store where society goes shopping. The £34,000,000 ($95,200,000) offer by his House of Fraser Co. appeared to have won out against offers by the rival Debenham's concern.

Conservative Leader Trying To Oust Liberal Govt. in PEI Also Win Seat for Himself

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Walter Shaw, Progressive Conservative leader in Prince Edward Island, is trying not only to oust the Liberal government in the provincial election Sept. 1, but also to win a legislature seat for himself.

Since Mr. Shaw, a retired civil servant, became head of the party in 1957, he has directed their four-man legislature group from a chair on the floor provided by Liberal Premier Alex Matheson, but he could not speak in debates.

Since the Conservatives have swept all Prince Edward Island seats in the last two federal elections, he feels the chances of defeating the provincial government are pretty good, although the Liberals have been in power here for 24 years.

Until 1954, Mr. Shaw was deputy agriculture minister. Why this retired civil servant entered politics has never been answered directly He calls it "destiny."

The former Conservative leader, lawyer R. R. Bell, quit after the Liberals swamped the opposition 27-3 in the 1955 election. The Conservatives picked up one seat in a 1957 byelection.

Mr. Shaw won the leadership at a party convention by a margin of only two votes over a 42-year-old doctor.

He didn't ask for the nomination. He had retired from the civil service three years previously with apparent intentions of enjoying life on the spacious farm he built into a showpiece.

Mr. Shaw, father of three, says he is 70 years old. Some of his opponents say he is 73. He tried to win a House seat in the last election, but was defeated in the Liberal sweep.

The husky, six - foot, 200-pounder holds a Bachelor of Science degree from the Ontario Agricultural College, and most things he preaches were practised on his modern farm at nearby St. Catherines

Agriculture is a field in which he is expert, and before he retired from the civil service his speech - making was confined mainly to agricultural topics. He was a popular speaker at dinners and conventions, both in this province and on the mainland.

He is a former president of the Dominion Horticulture Society, and was deputy minister of agriculture for 30 years.

Economy's Thirst for Funds Increases Demand on Supply

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's money supply—more in demand than ever—has been edging upwards in the last couple of months. But the rise has been only a drop in the bucket when compared with the booming economy's thirst for funds.

The money supply, according to latest available figures, reached a peak of $13,403,000,000 on Aug. 5 and then dipped to $13,380,000,000 in the next week. That's the amount of currency and bank deposits held by Canadians.

The Aug. 5 level represents an increase of $185,000,000 from the average in May. But that rise is only a fraction of the jump of $1,424,000,000 that occurred in the first 10 months of last year before the Bank of Canada clamped the lid on.

(The Canadian Press erroneously reported Aug. 14 that the money supply had risen by $400,000,000 from May to Aug. 5.)

CAN'T MEET DEMAND

Despite the recent increase, however, there is not enough cash to meet all the demands of would-be borrowers even in the face of steep interest rates. The chartered banks, limited by law to charging six-per-cent interest, are rationing loans. Last week the government paid an average 6.04 per cent to borrow $91,554,000 in treasury bills for three months.

The recent rise in the money supply apparently has two causes. The Bank of Canada has made a modest increase in its holding of government securities, and the chartered banks have stretched their lending facilities to the limit.

The Bank of Canada, central monetary authority, has power to increase the money supply by buying government securities on the open market. This has the effect of increasing the reserves of chartered banks, and hence their ability to lend money to the public.

SMALL RISE FROM MAY

On Aug 19, the central bank's holdings of government securities stood at $2,671,300,000—a relatively small rise of $67,800,000 from the average for May.

The chartered banks, however, have increased their general loans from $4,682,000,000 at the end of May to $5,083,000,000 on Aug. 12—a rise of $401,000,000.

By law, the chartered banks must maintain a minimum cash reserve, on the monthly average, of eight per cent of their deposit liabilities. In May their reserves averaged 8.2 per cent. But in the first three weeks of this month the banks have been cutting it finer, expanding loans until their reserves were an average of 8.1 per cent. In fact, in the first 12 days of the month the average reserve was down to 7 9 per cent.

Indonesia Cuts Big Bills' Value By 90 Per Cent

JAKARTA (CP) — Riot police stood guard around foreign and domestic banks today as Indonesia began a drastic overhaul of its economy, including a sharp devaluation of its big bills.

The value of the 500 and 1,000 rupiah bills was slasred by 90 per cent, virtually wiping out the cached fortunes of many millionaire speculators, businessmen and black marketeers.

Long lines of customers formed outside banks early today, although the banks were closed to the public. Many of those waiting clutched cheques they hoped to cash.

POLICE KEEP ORDER

Rifle-carrying police kept order outside and others stood guard inside the banks, where account books were being closed before witnesses.

Jakarta businessmen—particularly the Chinese—were hard hit by the new devaluation. They opened for business today but there were no customers. Stockmarkets appeared paralyzed by the reform.

LIVINGSTONE — MARTIN

Standards of pink and white gladioli, interspersed with ferns, formed a lovely setting on Saturday, August 22nd, at 3.00 p.m. for a very pretty wedding in Frankford United Church, Frankford, when Carole Emily Martin, of Frankford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Martin, became the bride of Douglas Edward Livingstone, of Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Livingstone. The Reverend Charles Judd officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiantly lovely in her pure white silk organza bridal gown, featuring softness of the neckline and youthful sleeves, emphasizing the beauty of the gown, with its full skirt appliqued in lace motif with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. She wore a seed pearl tiara matching the embroidery of the gown, and tulle illusion veil. Her flowers were in cascade form of white Fuiji 'mums centred by a mauve orchid.

She was attended by Miss Barbara Williams, of Belleville, as maid of honor, and the Misses Wanda Martin, her sister, and Jean Caldwell of Frankford. The maid of honor wore porcelain pink, with matching headdress, gloves and shoes, and carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of deep pink gladioli with wine colored satin leaves. Both the bridesmaids were in romance blue, pure silk organza with matching blue accessories, having cowl necklines, circular skirts and self flower-accented waists, and carried crescent-shaped bouquets of yellow gladioli with deep blue satin leaves.

Mr. Lee Barrie of Oro Station, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Bill Hicks of Toronto, and Mr. Bob Hudgins, of Toronto, cousin of the bride, ushered the guests.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Rose Lowery Hall, Frankford, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, who wore a gown in sheath style of deep romance blue embroidered organza, having a side drape of matching silk, and softly pleated neckline, with matching shoes, blue gloves, and variegated pink feathered cloche hat, with corsage of pink Sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted in the receiving line, wearing moss-green shirred crepe sheath, with three-quarter sleeved thimble jacket, and taffeta cummerbund; large beige velvet picture hat, with beige accessories and corsage of Golden Beauty roses.

An all-white three-tier wedding cake, adorned with bluebirds and pink roses, centred the white damask bride's table, and tall pink candles in white holders, and bouquets of pink and white gladioli added additional nuptial accents.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Livingstone will reside at 360 Fennel Avenue, Hamilton, Ontario.

Guests were present from Ottawa, Peterborough, Frankford, Belleville, Kingston, Toronto, Napanee and Port Hope.

The bride, previous to her marriage, was the honored guest at miscellaneous showers held at the home of Miss Barbara Williams, of Belleville, with guests attending from Port Hope, Frankford and Belleville; at the home of Miss Joan Freeman of Port Hope, and also at the home of Mrs. Laura Storey, grandmother of the bridegroom, in Peterborough. JOHNSTOWN — The Johnstown W.A. held its meeting for August on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Smith of Trenton, with a nice attendance.

The president welcomed the CGIT girls and their leader, Mrs. Douglas Harry, and thanked the hostess for the use of her home.

At the business session, Mrs. William S. Harry informed the W. I. that it had cleared $153.81 at the tea and sale. All the ladies were asked to come on Wednesday to give the church a fall cleaning.

It was arranged that Missionary meeting be at Mr. E. Stickle's on September 3rd with Mrs. Ralph Hill as guest speaker. All members are asked to bring a guest.

A contest was won by Mrs. E. Clapp.

The theme of this service was "Understanding His Way." The Scripture, John 4: 7-18, was read by Mrs. G. A. Puttenham, and the lesson thought and prayer were given by Mrs. E. Stickle.

The CGIT girls sang "Do Lord" and "Rocka My Soul." Several poems were read "Keep on Keepin' On," by Mrs. E. Clapp; "It May Be " by Mrs. A. Meyers. Mrs. Brunt gave a reading called "The Last Hymn" with illustrations by Mrs. Clayton Curtis singing hymns at certain times.

A fine lunch ended an interesting afternoon.

Reactions to Doris Winter Fashions Sharply Divided

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters) — Reactions to the hobbled skirts and knee-short hemlines of the House of Dior's winter fashion line are sharply divided.

The house's 23 - year - old designer, Yves St Laurent, successor to the late Christian Dior, showed the most controversial silhouette of all the Paris winter collections. He is reputed to have designed this collection almost alone, without the collaboration of his "three godmothers," the trio of assistants who constantly advised the late master and continued to guide St. Laurent after Dior's death in 1957.

Today this young creator is being called everything from "the greatest genius in Paris" to "an insecure and amateurish designer" willing to go any length to make the headlines.

LILY LACKING

Another sign of St. Laurent's new independence is the absence of the perennial trademark, a sprig of lily of the valley, which hitherto always has appeared like a kind of signature in every Dior collection.

Whatever the influence, great or small, of the revolutionary new Dior silhouette in adaptations of mass-produced, ready - to - wear clothes, any house which is capable of creating such a controversy is still top news. A collection which receives little publicity and is generally ignored by the press and buyers can at best be only mediocre.

After the initial excitement of collection week subsided, three other designers were found to have made headlines in the overall fashion pictur.

The Nina Ricci collection, designed by Belgian - born Jules Francois Crahay, scores a direct hit with the feminine and subtly curved silhouette emphasizing dresses with big fichu collars, hour-glass waistlines, cape and bell sleeve princess coats and moderately short hemlines.

Pierre Cardin leads the designers who endorse trends towards a more elongated silhouette with lower waistline or bloused, hip-length bodice. Suit jackets are belted at the hipbones like a Russian blouse and hemlines have dropped to a graceful, top-of-the-calf length.

SKIRT NEWS

Skirt lengths are as much in the news everywhere as emphasis at the top of the silhouette by means of big cape collar treatments and wider shoulders

When the majority of Paris designers had voted in longer skirts, the Dior collection exploded the unbelievably short hobbles tipped up in front to show the knees as the mannequins walk. These very short skirts are in the minority, but they made all the headlines. Actually, about 90 per cent of the Dior daytime clothes feature hems set neatly below the kneecap.

Paradoxically, several evening dresses are shorter than daytime lengths, and are cut undeniably above the knees—the first time that skirts ever have shortened as the hour grows later. Yet these models, too, are the exception rather than the rule.

Other houses feature a wide range of lengths, from moderately short, 18 to 19 inches off the ground, at Ricci and Guy Laroches, to longer, about 15 to 16 inches, at Desses, Balmain and Lanvin.

RUSSIAN INFLUENCE

Reviewing the new collections, the following ideas emerge as beacons to chart the course of daywear:

1. Asiatic influence is strong everywhere. It is found in tunic treatments in coats and suits; voluminous cape coats; hooded shepherd's cloaks; and variations of the kimono.

2. Longer, belted, suit jackets are cut like Russian overblouses.

3. Millinery derives inspiration from Russia in toques, pillboxes and tambourines, and Laroche's new cowled hoods.

4. Afternoon dresses often recall ballet costumes, while lavish brocades and metallized damask fabrics feature paisley or oriental designs.

Fabrics are dramatic and different from anything seen before. But they have rarely been more expensive. Cardin features a vicuna coat fabric costing narly 100,000 francs a metre (about $200 a yard) and cashmeres at 35,000 francs a metre (about $70 a yard). In fact, it is almost cheaper this winter to buy a fur coat than a wool one.

STORING POULTRY

Cooked poultry should be cooked, then well wrapped in waxed paper or placed in a covered dish and refrigerated immediately.

Mr., Mrs. Everett Heath Happily Wed for 50 Years

BONARLAW — Today Mr. and Mrs. Everett Heath celebrate quietly the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day. Saturday they will celebrate again — surrounded by their ten children, their twenty grandchildren and a host of friends and neighbors.

It was on August 25, 1909, that Anna Neal became the bride of Everett Heath at a ceremony at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Neal, in Marmora. The official celebration of their golden wedding, however, will be held this Saturday to enable all members of the family to be present, from as far distant as Utah. Grandchildren range in ages from two years to 21.

Mr. Heath is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Heath, Harold. He took his bride to a farm west of Springbrook, on the 10th Line of Rawdon Township, and there they resided until this spring, when they moved to Bonarlaw. Mr. Heath is 73, his wife 70.

Despite the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Heath raised nine sons Mr. and Mrs. Heath did much of the farm work themselves after their family grew up and departed from the farm.

"They were not always home," noted Mr. Heath who said he had given up active farming only this spring when they moved to Bonarlaw. The farm is now being operated by their son Murray, who also acts as cheese maker at nearby Rylstone factory.

During his active years as a farmer Mr. Heath also acted as a hog drover, purchasing market hogs from district farmers for shipment to packing plants.

AT HOME TO FRIENDS

On Saturday they will be home during the afternoon and evening to their many friends while at 6 p.m. a dinner for members of the family and for invited guests will be held in St. Mark's Anglican Church, of which they have both been active members for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Heath have nine sons and one daughter. Their sons are Charles of Delhi, now secretary-manager of the Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Board but for many years secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board in Belleville; Thomas, a cheesemaker at Wilton, north of Odessa; Alvin, a farmer at Bonarlaw; Russell of Rochester; Cecil, a Marmora feed dealer; Melvin of Orillia; James, a policeman in Marmora; Murray, a cheesemaker at Rylstone and Cecil, better known as Bud, who is a university student at Logan, Utah. Their daughter is Helen, Mrs. B. C. Case of Kingston.

This weekend they will be "at home' during the afternoon and evening to their many friends while at 6 p.m. an anniversary dinner for family members and invited friends will be held at St. Mark's Anglican Church at Bonarlaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Heath have been active in the church for many years with Mr. Heath acting as church warden for 12 years.

Had Hard Time Keeping Mum About Hubby

MONTREAL (CP) — Mrs. Pierre Sevigny says she still shudders when she thinks how she had to keep mum about her husband's appointment last week as associate defence minister of Canada.

Here's how she told the story in an interview:

"We arrived in Ottawa and were led into the prime minister's office where he was awaiting ou rarrival. We sat down feeling nervous but trying not to show it."

"'You know, Pierre,' the prime minister began, it appears that you have learned a great deal since coming to the House and we feel that you deserve consideration for higher duties.'

"Well, it seems that he went on like this for hours, when it was actually about a minute. Then he sprang it on us: 'We would like to name you to the cabinet, as associate defence minister.' My husband just paled. For a long few seconds he said nothing. Then quietly: "This has been my ambition all my life."'"

Mrs. Sevigny said the prime minister cautioned them not to disclose the appointment until it had been officially announced by his office.

"Well, you could just imagine me!" she said. "How would I ever keep a secret like that until Pierre was officially sworn in?

"For the rest of that day and the next morning, we talked to almost no one for fear of letting the cat out of the bag. But, as it turned out, we were able to contain ourselves until the announcement was released Thursday morning.

"Thinking about it still makes me shudder."

GOOD MANNERS

HOW BRIDE SIGNS THANK-YOU NOTES FOR GIFTS

ar Mrs. Beeckman:

We have just returned from our wedding trip, and I have found several wedding presents addressed to me in my maiden name and sent by my husband's relatives and family friends. My husband is devoted to these kind people, has spoken often of them, but I have not met them. Although the gifts are addressed to me only, wouldn't it be the sensible thing for him to write the thank-you letters for these? Or should I write the notes, and sign both our names? If you advise that I should write the notes, what form of signature should I use? In this special case should I sign, for example, "Mrs. John Robinson"? — D. R.

Since the wedding presents were addressed to you (just as they should be when sent before the wedding) you are the one to rite the thank-you notes, even ough you do not know the senders. But naturally, in the body of your notes, you should include your husband's enthusiastic appreciation of the present and, if possible, your and his plan for using it in your home-to-be.

The proper and sensible form for your signature to these notes is your first name, your maiden surname, and your married surname. For example: Dorothy Smith Robinson. (Never, never write "Mrs." before your name in your signature to a letter of any kind. And never sign a letter "Mrs. John Robinson." Your signature to a letter should always be your informal name.)

MOTHER AND SON THANK FOR SPECIAL HOSPITALITY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My 16-year-old son was invited o go on a trip to Quebec by a an friend of ours who was riving there to bring his wife home from a visit with her family. Now his wife's family most cordially have invited my son to remain with them two more weeks. Although these kind people are strangers to me, I gave them my permission by telephone, since they are close relatives of the man with whom he drove to Quebec.

When my son comes home I would like to know my obligations to the people with whom he is staying. Is it necessary for me to write a thank-you note, or perhaps send a gift, or perhaps flowers? Also, what are my son's obligations? I will so very much appreciate your advice. — B.

When people, and particularly strangers, are so extraordinarily hospitable and so generous in their kindness, you should put on your thinking-cap to do whatever ou can to show them that you and your son have a real appreciation of such special goodness. When your son returns, you should, as soon as possible, write a letter to the woman who is the hostess of that home, thanking her first for the wonderful invitation to your son, and then thanking her and her family for all their friendly hospitality, and for the many charming plans they made for his happiness and comfort. (These plans you should mention in detail as your son so enthusiastically reported them to you: for example, "Peter told me what thrilling plans you made for delightful picnics and cook-outs, and his eyes sparkled as he told us about them!)

Your son, too, must write a very complete and enthusiastic letter of thanks for the hospitality so generously given him. A skimpy, superficial thank-you note won't do. Talk over with your son about his sending a gift he thinks the entire family will enjoy: perhaps a gadget to be helpful on picnics, perhaps, for example, a supply of initialed paper accessories, napkins of various sizes and so forth, or some convenient plastic items. And I think that you, too, with your thank-you letter, should send an interesting gift (not flowers, in this circumstance). Also, if it is convenient to you, it would be gracious for you to invite these thoughtful people to come to visit you, now or later.

BRIDE'S PARENTS ARE SEPARATED BUT NOT DIVORCED

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are separated, have been for several years. But we are not divorced. We have only one child, a daughter dearly loved by both of us, and now she is to be married in several months. She lives with me, and her father is to pay all the expenses of the wedding, and of course is to give her in marriage at her church wedding.

We three are trying to make all plans as amicable as possible, to make her wedding, and all her memories of it, happy and joyous.

Our first problem is the wording of the invitations. It has been suggested by the engraving department of our jeweller that, because we are not divorced, these correctly should be worded "Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Robins" (for example). But to me this form seems misleading, and I'm not enthusiastic about it. However, I want both our names on the invitation. I still use the form "Mrs. John Paul Robins.) Have you any suggestion of a possible alternative that would be correct ?— Reader

Yes. In your circumstances, and according to your wishes, this form is a correct one to use:

Mrs. John Paul Robins
and
Mr. John Paul Robins request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Elizabeth
to
Mr. Thomas Clark etc.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Charles J. — My wife has developed a roving eye.

Edna J. — I want to enjoy life while I'm young.

Charles J. — My wife and I are in our mid-40's and recently became grandparents. We have a boy at college and a teenage daughter in high school.

The last problem I could have expected has suddenly arisen to create trouble between us. My wife has developed a roving eye. After a lifetime of being a rather strait-laced, introverted person, she has suddenly become a social butterfly who is particularly fond of the attentions of men.

I never thought I was the jealous type but I must admit I don't exactly enjoy it when I see Edna looking at men in a way she no longer looks at me. I have reason to believe some of the wives in our set don't like it either.

Edna J. — It's all true. I plead guilty. I've suddenly become a flirt. The important thing is that I know it and I have no intention of letting it go anyfurther. There is no reason for Charles to be jealous.

I never enjoyed the attentions of the opposite sex in my girlhood. I wasn't pretty. I was shy and awkward. I married young and devoted myself to my family.

Now I suddenly find that I'm as comfortable with men as with women. I find that I enjoy men's company better. Is that a crime? I want to enjoy life while I am still young enough. It gives me a lot of pleasure to see that I can interest men and they can interest me at my age. Why put a lid on myself?

The Council: We are all for the expansion of the individual at all stages of life. We merely wonder whether Edna has really emerged into a larger life or has stepped into a box leading to nowhere but trouble.

Whatever way you look at it, flirting has one essential purpose — arousing sexual interest. A moderate amount of it in everyday life seems to keep everyone happy. Like humor, it adds a bit of bubble and spice to routine things and brightens the day in a humdrum world. We certainly wouldn't abolish it.

But when a woman sees herself as a flirt and takes pleasure in this fact, she means business of some sort. She may very well be without any intention of following through seriously with the flirtation, but in that case she is more or less bent on teasing some male or males and thereby merely gratifying her own ego.

Such teasing is taken for granted among teenagers and single persons on the lookout for a mate because in moderate doses it serves a useful purpose. In Edna's case the only purpose we can see is that she is trying to gratify the ego of the girl she was some 20 or 25 years ago.

We think Edna will soon find this "kick" is a dead end. If she doesn't want to do anything to endanger her marriage she will have to start drawing limits. Yet she can go on for some time amusing herself and irritating her husband by seeing how far she can go without stepping over the danger line.

In short, we think Edna ought to find some other game to play — something in line with her real potentialities at this stage of her life.

Comfort For Reducers

by Mary Moore

The reducers will be interested in a few words of comfort and wisdom I have for them today.

In the majority of cases those of us who should reduce more for health reasons than for vanity are past middle years. We eat because we like to and are used to it — and the amount that we eat in excess of what we need accumulates in layers of fat on our abdomens and around our waistlines. Does this description fit you?

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

TUESDAY
(Guests)

Chilled Honeydew Melon Wedges with Lime Juice; Devilled Ham Slice Baked in Milk; Baked Squash or Baked Squash Souffle; Quick - cooked Shredded Cabbage; Tossed Greens; Lime Sherbet de Luxe (see Monday); Iced Tea.

If so take hope and comfort in this obvious statement. You can lose that excess fat if you just eat a little less than your body requires for its functions and your activities. When it has used up all the food-fuel you have consumed it will draw on that fat for fuel.

Sounds simple doesn't it? — but our eating habits are our enemies.

Try to change those eating habits by buying and having on hand only those foods that you know you can have. Do not have cake, cookies, pastries and candies in the house so you will not be tempted. For instance all lean meats, fish, fowl, almost all fruits you can have unlimited. Allow yourself not more than one ripe banana, medium-size, per day however. Most vegetables, with the exception of potatoes and corn and dried beans are unrestricted too.

Recently nutritionists have announced that those on high protein diets (which they are advocating) require fat for good liver function and this fat is preferably vegetable in order to avoid cholestrol accumulation in the arteries. Quote: "Protein alone tends to constipation; fats alone tend to diarrhea. So take enough fat to overcome constipation." Dr. Daniel C. Munro, Internist, Faxton Hospital, Utica, New York.

So that means we can put fat back into circulation in the delicious form of French Dressing combined with such valid reducers' items as lime or lemon or grapefruit juice. See Health French Dressing below. It will revive your interest in raw salad.

Some sample menus for reducers follow:

1) Boiled chicken (6-oz. serving without skin); boiled spinach chopped and mixed with raw egg and lemon juice and salt; baked Hubbard squash mashed with a little skim milk powder, nutmeg and salt; finely shredded red cabbage and green pepper salad with health French dressing; fruit cup of sliced peaches, or apricots, melon balls, seedless white grapes, sweetened with a little liquid sucaryl and flavored with a dash of Angostura bitters.

2. Broiled ground beef cakes (4-oz.) wrapped in a strip of bacon; steamed eggplant cubes and sliced Italian onions in tomato sauce; shredded green beans sprinkled with a little grated Parmesan or Romano cheese; sliced tomatoes and unpeeled cucumbers; blueberries and milk. Tea.

3. Broiled salmon steaks or salmon trout fillets with lemon; vegetable marrow rings or cauliflower with parsley white sauce; paper-thin carrot slices; relish tray of green pepper, celery and cucumber strips; ripe bartlett pear; iced tea with lemon (sucaryl sweetened).

HEALTH FRENCH DRESSING:

1-2 cup corn oil, 1-4 cup citrus juice (fresh) such as lime, 1-2 teaspoon each prepared mustard, salad, lift powder, Worcestershire Sauce, salt, paprika.

Shake well before using.

For good measure take a walk or work in garden one hour per day. A wonderful dividend will be your feeling of well-being.

Versatile Coat

Rain doesn't only fall in Spain. It has a way of coming down without notice almost everywhere — certainly in many sections of our own fair land. So why not a rain coat with a personality and a purpose, one to be worn with style and aplomb, come rain or shine? Why not, for instance, a water-repellent greatcoat of white moire, belted in trench-coat fashion and available with matching beret.

Pinch Hitting

JUNIOR HOCKEY

Along about this time of the year, young fellows around town begin asking the question: "Are we going to have a junior hockey club here this winter?" It happens every year and already, even though the city is sweltering in the heat, we have been asked the same question a couple of times.

So far the kids have never been let down. You get the usual hard-working crew, fellows like Mel Richards, Bill Brennan, Vic Morris, Moe Rollins, Charlie Lambert, to mention a few, who always come up with the money and time to get a team rolling.

While we have had no official word, we expect Belleville will have a junior "B" club for the 1959-60 season. It may take a few meetings, some bickering, a lot of digging, but the usual minority will be there as usual, doing the work to give the other fellows' kid a chance to play hockey.

Belleville is not alone in this respect. Junior "B" hockey is not a money making proposition nowadays; in fact any club that can break even on a season's operation, is pulling off a small miracle. When the organization starts each fall the same "We don't know yet" comes from Kingston, Picton, Trenton, Cobourg and others — as well as from Belleville.

However, things are looking pretty good for the coming season, at least in a couple of district centres. Trenton has decided to operate a junior club only, dropping its intermediate team. They have already started a fund-raising campaign.

Now we see by the printed word in Kingston that the new pro group down there has given a $250 gift to that city's junior "B" club. It sounds encouraging. Peterborough "B's" have a working agreement with the Junior "A" squad which will likely continue this winter.

Belleville came up with a fine club last year, the Lambert-Rollins, after getting away to a shaky start. The boys played an entertaining brand of hockey, under the handling of Eddie Plata, beating the best the loop had to offer on occasions.

The players liked Coach Plata, and, for the most part, did what he asked of them. This is one of the key points in running a junior team of any type. We look for Eddie back at the reins again this season if there is a club.

There should be little trouble in obtaining the material for a team. There are any number of boys who want to play. We will admit that they are not all of Junior "B" calibre, but there should be enough to form a contending team.

And so, for the guys who have asked and the others who are wondering, we cannot say that Belleville will definitely have a Junior hockey club. But don't bet against it.

NO HERO HERE

Two of the most hated men in the big-money wrestling game should get exactly what they deserve come Friday night of this week on the weekly Memorial Arena card.

Gene Kiniski and Hardboiled Haggerty are the "gentlemen" of whom we speak. And the reason for the above statement is simply because they will meet as tough opponents as one can think of. Each other.

Yes, Haggerty and Kiniski are the main bout contestants in a one-hour, two-of-three falls brawl that should bring the roof down at Walt Gerow's ice palace.

Neither man has ever heard a cheer in his honor since joining the game. And we doubt if the faithful will change that Friday night. Our guess is that the fans will be rooting for blood, preferably that of both men.

Another giant will make his seasonal appearance in the semi-final bout. The Mighty Ursus will pit his brute strength against the cunning Jack Laskin. This should be one for the the books.

The opening bout finds Don Jardine tangling with Joe Christie. Undoubtedly Jardine will be hoping that one "Bunny" Dunlop stays in Toronto.

WHAT A SERIES!

Before the Bobcats and Trenton get through the Belleville and District Softball League final series and then a two-of-three OASA series, the poor umpires may be slightly out of their minds, not to mention yours truly.

Last night's thriller in Trenton was not good ball by any stretch of the imagination but it had everything to keep the fans happy. As a matter of fact some of them just about tore the place down.

Two monstrous homers by Bobby Hull, one from each side of the plate, two grand-slammers by Howie Cole, neither of which travelled as far as Hull's but proved more valuable, a total of 28 runs, 21 hits, 13 errors, 20 walks, not to mention a couple of fine plays by Lamirande and a terrific catch by Smrke that robbed Cole of his third homer, provided most of the action.

On Cole's first homer, the runners hesitated a minute to see if Smrke would catch up with the ball. Then they all started to run at once and the 'Cats argued that one of the runners actually passed the man ahead of him and went all the way from second out of order. But none of the three umpires or this scorer caught it if it did happen, so all four runs counted.

Fans threw coke at the Bobcats and the 'Cats threw water back. Insults were flying left and right, tempers were high. It added up to excitement plus and there should be lots more at the CNRA Park Wednesday at 6.30 and back in Trenton Thursday at 8.15.

Word came through yesterday that the Sports Centre team of this city will meet Peterborough in the first round of the OASA Intermediate "AA" series. They play in Peterborough Wednesday night and back here Saturday at 6.00 p.m.

Meanwhile Bobcats and Trenton will go a two-of-three with the winners to meet either Sports Centre or Peterborough, that is if they ever get this league championship settled.

It means just one thing, plenty of action-packed ball for the fans.

White Sox Shortstop Setting Base-Stealing Record

Luis Aparicio Collects 42, Highest in Majors for Past 15 Years; Pirates Not Dead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Hey! Maybe those Pittsburgh Pirates ain't dead after all.

Sure, they're still fourth, seven games shy of first in that National League race, but Bob Friend, the ashen ace, is back in business and the Bucs are blowin' up a storm.

They've lost only five of 20 since shelving a 1-12 skid, and they've won 11 of their last 13—including a perk-up 7-2 record against the three clubs they trail.

After taking three of four from both Los Angeles and Milwaukee, the Pirates made it four straight Monday night, knocking off first-place San Francisco as Friend gave up a dozen hits but won his third in a row with a 6-0 decision over the Giants in the opener of a three-game series.

DODGERS PASS BRAVES

That ended the Giants' streak at four and trimmed their lead to 3½ games over Los Angeles. The Dodgers regained second place with an 8-2 breeze against last-place Philadelphia while Chicago Cubs beat Milwaukee 3-0 behind Bob Anderson's six-hit pitching, slipping the Braves to third four games back, in the only other National League game scheduled.

The Pirates got to righthander Sam Jones (16-12) for eight of their 13 hits and the first of Rocky Nelson's two home runs for a quick 3-0 lead. Rocky's other home run, his fifth, was off Bud Byerly, fourth Giant pitcher.

Friend, who shared the major league lead with 22 victories a year ago, put together his longest winning streak of the season for a 7-15 record. He put it away by whiffing Willie McCovey after the Giants had loaded the bases with two out in the ninth.

BRINGS IN FIVE

Gil Hodges drove in five runs for the Dodgers, singling home a pair in a four-run first inning and then counting three in the second with his 20th home run. Norm Larker also homered for the Dodgers.

Southpaw Sandy Koufax (7-4), pitching his first complete game since June 27, checked the Phillies on four hits, one Joe Koppe's home run.

Young Bob Anderson (11-9) gained his first major league shutout for the Cubs and beat the Braves for the first time in three decisions during his short career.

First thing you know, the Chicago White Sox won't even have to work to get Luis Aparicio home with singles or sacrifices. Little Luis will steal his way home all alone.

The thin kid who gets the fat lead on harried pitchers has put away 42 stolen bases—the top total in the majors in 15 years—on 52 tries. And he does it even though everyone knows he's going to go almost everytime he gets on base.

A cinch for his fourth straight stolen base title, Aparicio was at his usual best Monday, stealing second and third after getting a walk and then scoring on an infield single for an extra cushion as the White Sox beat New York 4-2 and padded their American League to two games over idle Cleveland.

That gave the White Sox a 12-8 record against the collapsed champs—locking up their first winning season against the Yankees in 34 years.

ORIOLES REPLACE TIGERS

Baltimore regained fourth place from Detroit in the only other AL game scheduled, rapping the Tigers 11-0 as Gus Triandos walloped a pair of homers and drove in seven runs.

The White Sox broke a 1-1 tie and handed Don Larsen (6-7) his sixth straight defeat when Aparicio collected a pop-fly double in the third inning and scored on Jim Landis' single. Landis scored the clincher in the fifth with a two-out single ahead of Sherm Lollar's double for a 3-1 lead.

Reliever Turk Lown then came on and blanked the Yankees on three hits over the last 3 1-3 innings, saving it for Ray Moore (3-6).

It was the seventh time this year Aparicio's stolen two bases in one game and he now has pulled off more thefts than any major leaguer since George Stirnweiss stole 55 for the Yankees in 1945.

Hoyt Wilhelm (13-8) won his third in a row for the Orioles. Triandos, who had two singles in addition to his 24th and 25th home runs, singled home two runs in the third for a 3-0 lead against loser Don Mossi (11-8).

He walked one, struck out five while beating Lew Burdette (17-13) who gave up Tony Taylor's seventh homer in the third.

Canadian Boat Ready for Race On Detroit R.

DETROIT (AP)—Miss Supertest III gives the United States its first Harmsworth Trophy challenge in three years today on the Detroit River.

The Canadian boat, two feet longer and 1,000 pounds heavier than the U.S. defender, Maverick, is expected to provide the stiffest challenge in a quarter of a century. The owner is James Thompson of London, Ont. Bob Hayward will drive.

Not since 1913 has the coveted Harmsworth Trophy, emblem of world power boat supremacy, gone outside the U.S.A. Detroit's Gar Wood challenged after a lapse of seven years, and in 1920 reclaimed the Harmsworth for this country.

It has been here ever since, enduring 11 subsequent tests. The last was in 1956, when Bill Waggoner Jr.'s Shanty took two of three races from Miss Supertest II, also owned by Thompson.

Howie Cole's 2 Grand-Slammers Give Trenton Wacky Win Over Cats

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The Bobcats, paced by Bobby Hull's two tape-measure homers, had the power but the Garretts had the timing, led by their slugger, Howie Cole, and it paid off with dividends last night as Trenton won a weird 15-13 marathon over the 'Cats to even their B. and D. softball titular series at two games each.

Cole entered the game in the top of the fifth, going into right field. He came to the plate in the fifth with the bases loaded and hit a grandslam homer to pull Trenton within three runs of Belleville. They still trailed 8-5.

Cole drew a walk in the sixth, came to bat in the seventh with the bases loaded again, two men out and his club behind 10-9. He popped a pitch down the right field foul line that fell in front of a racing Lou Smrke and bounced high over his head for Cole's second grand-slam of the game. That opened up a 13-10 lead. Cole was robbed of a third homer, this time with only two men on, when Smrke pulled a terrific running catch in the eighth on the hardest ball Cole hit all night.

Fifth game in the four-of-seven set is slated for CNRA Park here Wednesday night at six o'clock with the sixth back in Trenton Thursday at 8.15.

HULL HOMERS TWICE

Bobby Hull had a great night for the losers at the plate. He lined a Maroney pitch close to 300 feet with one mate aboard while batting left handed in the initial frame. He got on by an error in the third, rapped a double and scored in the fifth, then switched to a right-handed swing to hammer another tremendous two-run homer well over 300 feet to dead-a-way centre off Ron Wannamaker in the sixth. He got an intentional walk from Howie Cole in the eighth.

Walks were prominent in the Bobcat defeat too with Green giving up nine and Hull six after taking over mound chores in the sixth. They allowed nine hits between them but only Cole's homers and a single by Bobby Burns ever left the infield. Green whiffed four and Hull three while the 'Cats bobbled seven times.

Gord Maroney started for Trenton with Ron Wannamaker taking over in the fifth and Howie Cole relieving him in the eighth. Wannamaker got the decision. They fanned seven and walked five. They were tagged for 12 hits.

Strange as it may seem, Belleville left only eight men on base while Trenton saw no less than 14 of their base runners wasted. The game lasted two hours and 27 minutes.

The Bobcats had built an 8-1 lead before Cole's first circuit clout. Two fourth-frame runs came on an error and hits by Lamirande and Smrke. Hull's double, Cousins' triple, two errors and another pair of back-to-back safeties by Lamirande and Smrke got four across in the top of the fifth.

Green had walked in Trenton's first tally but a couple of smart plays by Lamirande had pulled him out of holes twice. Three Walks chased Green and scored two in the sixth.

SEVEN-RUN SEVENTH

Alexander's infield single with two out started the seven-run seventh, topped by Cole's second homer with four walks and two errors mixed in. The 'Cats fought back for three in the eighth on an error, Brown's single and Faulkner's two-run double. That made it 14-13 but a pair of errors gave Trenton a final run in the bottom of the inning.

Bobby Burns and Roger Drake had two singles for Trenton, one each to Guy Austin, Doug Alexander and Ron Wannamaker.

Bert Faulkner doubled and singled while "Wiener" Brown, J. P. Lamirande and Lou Smrke had two singles each in defeat. Earl Cousins tripled.

The line-ups:

Idol of Spain's Bull Rings Will Continue Fighting

MADRID (Reuters) — Luis Miguel Dominquen, idol of Spain's bull rings, sat up in his hospital bed Monday night and reaffirmed his determination to go on fighting.

"Bullfighting is the only thing I can do in my life," he said.

Despite being badly gored last Friday, the playboy matador continued to ignore the pleas of his wife, beautiful Italian actress Lucia Bose, that he give up the ring.

The handsome friend of Hollywood actresses and pacesetter in the European social whirl has been competing throughout Spain this summer with his brother-in-law Antonio Ordonez to decide who is the top matador.

Ordonez himself was among the ranks of the convalescing matadors Monday. A bull trod on his foot Sunday in France.

Calgary Stamps Head Loop With 29-17 Win Over Lions; Eskies Trample Roughies 55-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Calgary Stampeders scrambled to the top of the Western Interprovincial Football Union heap Monday night by lacing British Columbia Lions 29-17.

Edmonton Eskimos, meanwhile, trampled Saskatchewan Roughriders 55-0 to leave the ailing Roughies winless and in last place.

Stamps, sparked by California quarterback Joe Kapp, swept to their third victory in four starts. Lions and Winnipeg Blue Bombers are deadlocked in second place with two wins each. Eskimos won their first game in two starts.

OUTCLASSED

Roughriders, with 14 players on the injured list, never had a chance.

About 14,000 fans in Edmonton saw their club take full advantage of every Saskatchewan lapse to score eight touchdowns. Quarterback Jackie Parker, who tossed two touchdown passes, missed only one of eight convert attempts.

Fullback Johnny Bright plunged for two touchdowns. Ends Jim Letcavits, Freddie Meyers and Vic Chapman, fullback Normie Kwong and halfbacks Joe-Bob Smith and Rollie Miles shared the others.

Esks rolled up 562 yards passing and rushing as Parker and Canadian quarterback Don Getty, who took over in the last quarter, completed 17 of 25 tosses.

Duke quarterback Bob Brodhead went three quarters for Riders, then Don Allard took over. Allard sparked two strong drives into Eskimos territory with long passes, but Parker made two brilliant interceptions.

Defensive halfback Oscar Kruger of Esks was ejected from the game in the first half after throwing the ball at referee Bill Irving. The halfback thought he had intercepted a pass which Irving ruled incomplete.

KAPP FITS

A capacity Calgary crowd of 17,000 saw Kapp toss two touchdown passes and score a TD himself on a one-yard plunge. His payoff throws were taken by halfback Gene Filipski and end Bill McKenna. Fullback Earl Lunsford also had a touchdown. Tackle Doug Brown booted a field goal and a convert and Filipski added a convert.

Fleet Iowa halfback Willie Fleming scored both B.C. touchdowns in the last quarter and Vic Kristopaitis converted them. Kristopaitis also kicked a first-quarter field goal.

Stamps intercepted three of quarterback Randy Duncan's passes, two of which led to Calgary touchdowns. Stamps held a 29-3 lead before Lions came alive in the final quarter with 14 points.

Calgary had a 21-19 edge in first downs and was ahead 199-148 in yards rushing. Lions passed for 271 yards against 179 by Stamps.

Juvenile Bobcats Down Kingston By 10-5 Score in Playdown Tilt

By PETER CARVER

Belleville Juvenile Bobcats defeated Kingston Juveniles 10-5 in the first game of a best-of-three O.A.S.A. Juvenile "A" playdowns here last night

The game was loosely played with the Bobcats scoring five runs in the third inning, two in the first and fourth and adding a singleton in the fifth. Kingston plated all their markers in the third frame.

Doug Ellis threw four hit ball for the homesters, striking out seven and passing six. Reg Leonard, toiling for Kingston, was touched for 11 hits whiffing two and walking five.

The Junior Tabbies took an early lead when Stuart Muirhead's single, Clapp's double on errors and Bob Duggan's base hit produced two runs.

Back to back singles in the third by Leonard and Bryant and a walk loaded the bases. Ellis walked two men across and three more scored on Dave Horst's extra base knock to give Kingston the lead 5-2.

Belleville bounced back in their half of the inning for five runs. Muirhead singled and Clapp walked, both scoring on Bob Duggan's two-bagger. Kellar drew a pass and scored on Moreau's triple. Ellis doubled in another run to make the score 7-5.

Two walks, an error, and Zakos' double made the final score 10-5.

Ron Bryant and Dave Horst smashed doubles for Kingston with Leonard and Taylor also hitting safely.

Stu Muirhead led the Bobcat Juveniles at the plate, collecting three singles. Bob Duggan and Paul Zakos claimed a double and a single each with Moreau getting a triple. Ellis had a double and Gary Duggan a one-bagger.

Tito Francona Cannot Win Batting Title

NEW YORK (AP)—The American League, claiming "there is no leeway in the rules," struck out Tito Francona Monday in the Cleveland outfielder's bid for the batting championship.

"The rules are explicit. If Francona doesn't qualify there is nothing that can be done," said Joe McKenney, the circuit's publicity director.

Under the rules which were in effect three years ago, Francona would almost certainly qualify for the title with 400 official trips. However, under the current regulation which fixes a minimum of 477 total appearances, the Indians' star is a certain ineligible.

Total appearances include official times at bat, bases on balls sacrifices, hit by pitches and times reached base by interference or obstruction. Francona has 21 walks, 5 sacrifices and 1 hit by pitcher which gives him 325 total appearances.

To compile 477 total appearances this season, Francona would have to average five appearances in the Indians' 30 remaining games—about one more than the average for most players. He bats third in the batting order.

In Montreal, the International League, which has a similar situation to the one in the American, took exception to the existing regulation.

"The rule is unfair. We're not going to go along with it if the situation remains the same," said Harry Simmons, the circuit's publicity-director and secretary-treasurer."

The International League batting leader is Foster Castleman, former infielder for New York Giants and Baltimore Orioles. Castleman, playing for the Miami Marlins, is hitting .336, six points higher than runner-up Bob Wilson of Toronto. Castleman has batted 348 times officially, and with 17 games remaining, will probably reach the 400 mark.

"If Castleman gets 400 at bats and has the highest average it would be foolish to deprive him of the championship," said Simmons.

Bill Rosensohn Ends His Bout With Attorney

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Rosensohn, who promoted the Ingemar Johansson - Floyd Patterson heavyweight championship fight, is finished with the district attorney, but the investigation isn't over.

A New York county grand jury and the district attorney's office is trying to find whether there were any underworld influences in the promotion of the fight last June 26.

A spokesman for the district attorney's office said there were no further plans to call Rosensohn "but this could change."

Asked whether the grand jury had found any underworld influence in the promotion, Rosensohn said Monday:

"I can't answer as to what Hogan (District Attorney Frank Hogan) will say he found. I should think, though, that Hogan will have a statement."

Rosensohn said he knew there was "something unsavory" in the promotion but denied that there was any professional gamblers' money behind it.

Going before the grand jury today were Charles Black, a former boxing promoter; Harry Davidow, who was installed as Johansson's American manager at 10 per cent of the profits by Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager; and Herman Taylor, a Philadelphia promoter.

DEMPSEY WITH JOHANSSON — Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, left, and the current champion, Ingemar Johansson, walk to plane at London airport en route to Sweden. Later, in Ingemar's home town of Goteborg, they talked in a closed conference about a return bout with Floyd Patterson. Johansson Rules Out Bout With Patterson Next Month

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—The return match between heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson and former champ Floyd Patterson will take place early next year, Jack Dempsey, promotional director of Rosensohn Enterprises, announced today.

No definite date has been set and no site has been chosen, Dempsey added, "and all speculation concerning the date and site are meaningless."

The former heavyweight champion, acting as spokesman for the six - man American delegation here to close the fight, said the decks had been cleared for Johansson to sign a new contract, probably today. He and his group spent Monday drafting a new contract with the help of attorneys for the promotion group and Johansson.

ACCOUNTING FIRST

The return bout originally had been set for Sept. 22 in New York but Johansson ruled out that date, primarily because he had not received a financial accounting of the June 26 bout which he won.

Although Johansson is known to prefer Los Angeles as the site of the return bout, Edwin Ahlquist, his adviser, said emphatically that no definite date or site had been agreed upon.

"Our demands have been met," he said. "The new contract takes into consideration all demands made by the champion for an absolutely clear picture of the distribution of the incomes of the return match." He added:

"We regard the first match as settled. We have been shown photostatic copies and given exactly the accounting we wanted."

$122,766 BEING HELD

Ahlquist was referring to a wire Johansson received from the New York State Athletic Commission to the effect it is holding cheques totalling $122,766.17 as the Swedish fighter's share of the June bout. The money is being held subject to provisions concerning a return bout.

The total includes $52,532.17, representing Johansson's share of the gate less taxes, and $70,234 from ancillary rights, including television and radio.

Richmond Takes Over Second Place in Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Richmond Virginians have taken over second place in the International League with an eight-game winning streak—and Glenn Cox.

Cox was the pitching and batting hero Monday night as the Vees swept a doubleheader from Columbus, 3-2 and 9-7, and moved into the runner - up spot, 6½ games behind league-leading Buffalo.

In the first game, Cox drew a walk in pinchhitting role as the Vees rallied for all their runs in the second inning. He took over mound chores and pitched perfect ball, retiring 15 consecutive Jets.

In the second game, Cox pitched two innings of perfect ball in a short relief stint, and slugged a three - run pinchhit homer.

The Virginians have 14 games left in which to overtake the first-place Bisons, who dropped a doubleheader to Montreal, 9-3 and 2-1 in 11 innings.

Tim Burgess had staked Columbus to a 2-0 first inning lead in the opener with a two-run homer. But Tony Asaro's two-run single (after Cox walked) brought in the winning run for the Vees in the second inning. In the nightcap, the Vees also had to come from behind A hit-and-run double by Billy Shantz drove home the deciding tally.

Mike Goliat and reliever Billy Harris led Montreal's 11-hit attack on five Bison pitchers in the opener with homers. Goliat's single with the bases loaded scored the tie-breaking run in the nightcap marathon after three consecutive singles had filled the bases.

The Marlins won in the ninth as Fred Valentine started things rolling with a two-out double. Sugar King reliever Luis Arroyo walked Woody Smith and Leo Burke intentionally. Then he hit Bert Hamric with a pitched ball to force in the winning tally.

The Red Wings banged 11 hits off starter Don Johnson but scored only three earned runs as the Maple Leafs made four errors. Rookie Jim McCarver, 17 and just out of high school, caught for Rochester and went 3-for-3. His single in the seventh drove in what proved to be the winning run. Stan Jok's home run drove in three Toronto runs.

Belleville Mare, Betty Abigail, Wins Race

HULL, Que. (CP)—A Belleville entry, Betty Abigail, won the fourth race at Connaught Park Monday night, winning the mile D. pace with a time of 214 1-5. Driven by Morley Fleet, the winner edged second-place Rob Ric from Battersea and Star Direct from Durham to pay $7.70, $5 10, $4.00.

Duck Limits Reduced for U.S. Hunters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of wild ducks which U.S. hunters may kill in Canada and import into the U.S. has been reduced to conform to new Canadian regulations.

The interior department said Monday the Canadian reductions recognized a serious depletion in the duck population and the poor breeding season this summer.

Last year American hunters could bring home 16 ducks and 10 geese a week from Ontario and Quebec. The duck limit now is 12 while the limit for geese is unchanged.

In Manitoba and other western provinces the duck limit was 25, the geese limit, 10, a week. This year, 20 ducks can be imported from the four western provinces while the geese limit is unchanged.

Great Cornwall Teams From War To Hold Reunion

CORNWALL (CP) — When staff members of Cornwall's wartime basic training centre gather here Saturday and Sunday, chances are the talk will be as much about hockey as the war.

For three years Cornwall's basic training centre No. 31 had a hockey team that could have won the Stanley Cup hands down in normal times.

The team was made up of top National Hockey League performers and star amateurs who found their way on the staff of the centre.

A lot of names still rated high in hockey circles were around at the time. One was Punch Imlach, now manager-coach of Toronto Maple Leafs. In those days he was a player.

The team was coached by Les Cook, now chief scout for Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League. His captain for most of the team's heyday was Jack Church, of Toronto Maple Leafs fame.

The reunion is the second since the camp closed in 1944.

Wren Blair's Job Placing Players Not Ready for Pros

MONTREAL (CP) — Wren Blair, general manager of the former world amateur hockey champion Whitby Dunlops, has joined the Montreal Canadiens organization, it was announced Monday.

Blair's chief job will be placing Montreal's senior amateur players not yet ready for the big jump to pro play in the National Hockey League.

Sammy Pollock, Canadiens' farm club director, said Blair will continue with the Whitby Dunlops, last year's Allan Cup winner, and also as general manager of Clinton Comets of the United States Eastern League.

Pollock said the appointment was needed to fit Canadien players into senior amateur play for pre - pro seasoning. Last year, Montreal sent its up-and-coming stalwarts to the Hull - Ottawa Canadiens of the OHA senior division. But with the Junior Canadiens moving into the new Eastern Professional Hockey League, Pollock had to look around for a new outlet.

"In securing Blair we believe we have the top man in senior amateur hockey today," he said.

He also announced that Peterborough Petes of OHA Junior A will be affiliated with the Whitby club.

REPLAY SET

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sunday's rained out doubleheader between Philadelphia Phillies and San Francisco Giants will be played here Thursday afternoon, weather permitting. The announcement was made Monday by Warren Giles, National League president.

Bobby Layne Could Have Had Laryngitis

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Bobby Layne's lawyer said Monday Austin police may have mistaken "extreme hoarseness" for drunkenness when they arrested the Pittsburgh Steelers quarterback at 530 a.m. Sunday.

Charges against the former University of Texas all-America mounted. Police added complaints of driving without a licence and leaving the scene of an accident to a previous charge of driving while nitoxicated.

Frank Erwin, long-time friend of Layne, said in a written statement that three other professional footballers with Layne at the time told him Layne was not drunk.

Layne was so hoarse with laryngitis he could barely speak and that was one reason he did not play during the second half of the game, Erwin said.

Judge John Allen said the next call of the docket in his court is Sept. 9. He said the case could be set forward at Layne's request

Sao Paulo May Get '63 Games

CHICAGO (AP)—Sao Paulo, a booming Brazilian city of more than 3,000,000 population, today seemed certain to get the 1963 Pan-American Games

The selection of the site of the fourth Western Hemispheric games will be made today by the congress of the Pan-American Sports Organization.

Both Sao Paulo, which lost out to Chicago for the current carnival, and Winnipeg, a city of 255,000 persons, made formal bids and presentations Monday for the 1963 games.

Dunc Campbell Leading Driver At Old Woodbine

TORONTO (CP)—The integrity and driving - skill of reinsman Dunc Campbell are renowned wherever harness horses pace in Ontario, particularly in Toronto where he has driven every summer since the early days at the Thorncliffe Raceway.

That's why owners and fans were gratified Monday night when Campbell pulled into the lead in the driving competition for the trophy and $100 cash prize.

Dunc had 24 wins when the evening began, tied with Cec Coke in second place, one win behind leader Jiggs McFadden, the 1958 champion. Campbell tied McFadden in the fifth race when he brought down his own three-year-old filly, Argyel Florence. Then he came right back in the sixth with Honey Bun, owned by fellow-townsman Ervine Barnes of Ailsa Craig.

That was the 59-year-old Campbell's 26th win with two evenings remaining on Old Woodbine Park's 49-dates of racing.

Dr. G. Chief, Clarence Lockhart's six-year-old gelding, fell at the clubhouse turn in the eighth race. Both driver and horse were uninjured.

Latta Defeats Read to Even Titular Series

Latta evened their four-of-seven South Hastings baseball league finals at one game apiece last night by handing Read an 8-4 setback on the losers' home diamond.

The third game is slated for Latta Wednesday night with the fourth at Read on Saturday.

Latta grabbed a 5-0 first-frame lead last night and never looked back.

Stan Read toed the rubber for Latta, allowing six hits, whiffing six and passing a pair. Baz Hanley hurled seven-hit ball on the Read mound, fanning nine and walking four.

Errors played a major part in the scoring with the winners bobbling five times while Read was charged with six miscues.

Ross Parks led the victors at the plate with three singles. Cam Buskard doubled with the other base knocks going to Frank Ray, Wayne Gow and Don Harris.

Hanley and P. Milligan topped the Read batters with two singles apiece. Tom Callery had a two-bagger and Dick Walsh a single.

Capt. Kangaroo Wants to Give Classical Music to Moppets

By HUGH MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Captain Kangaroo, the portly, bewhiskered grandfather who presides over the good ship Treasure House on CBS, is about to unlock the treasure house of classical music for millions of moppets.

"I'm not cutting in on Leonard Bernstein," insists 32-year-old Bob Keeshan, who while neither portly, bewhiskered nor a grandfather created the role of Captain Kangaroo four years ago and built it into a top kiddie show. "I'll be working with a different age group, children from four to eight, the pre-school set mostly".

If all goes well, he hopes to inaugurate his kiddie concerts, still under the auspices of Captain Kangaroo, as a separate television show, probably on Saturday afternoons.

TRIED IN HOUSTON

"The project has generated a lot of enthusiasm around here," says Keeshan. "The way it worked in Houston and other cities is we would bring the children into a concert hall, show them a good time and at the same time try to give them an appreciation of what a symphony orchestra does.

"For instance, as Captain Kangaroo I have them sing Row, Row Your Boat or Merrily We Roll Along or some such familiar song and then have them go through the motions of rowing a boat or driving a car while the orchestra plays the tunes.

"Next we show them what each instrument does and from there progress to something a little more advanced, like the triumphal march from Prokofiev's Peter and the Wolf.

MUSIC IS FUN

"The idea is to show the children through little games that music is fun and that there is nothing dull or forbidding about a symprony orchestra. As you can see, it's far removed from what Leonard Bernstein does with an older group. We don't get into the complexities of style and composition. We just want to break down barriers.

"I have a feeling that if children can learn to appreciate good music at an early age then perhaps the coming generation might turn to something better than rock 'n' roll."

Keeshan has spent nearly half his life in the broadcasting business, starting at 16 as a page at rival NBC and making his debut before the cameras as a clown on the Howdy Doody Srow.

He got the inspiration for his kiddie concerts from his own children—Michael, 8; Laurie, 6, and Maeve, 3.

Marlene Streit Survives First Tourney Round

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I've forgiven my putter completely."

Defending champion Anne Quast relented after beating par by three strokes through the last six holes for a 5-and-4 decision over Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., in the first round of the U.S. women's amateur golf championship Monday. She was one under par for the 14 roles.

Six Canadians, led by Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto who recently won the Canadian title for the sixth time, survived the first round. Eight others were eliminated.

Anne, 21, a brunette from Marysville, Wash., was one of two in the field of 128 to better par at the Congressional Country Club's 6457 - yard, 37-37—74 course.

After early loose putting, Anne one-putted five of the final six holes sinking one 15-footer, birdied three and won the last four in a row.

TOUGH OPPOSITION

Mrs. Streit, the winner of the U.S. Amateur in 1956, eliminated Alice Gray of Ardmore, Pa., in the comfortable margin of 5 and 3. Today the little Canadian is pitted against 16-year-old Judy Rand, the new U.S. girls' champion from Ohio. It promises to be one of the day's feature matches.

One of the big blows to Canadian hopes at this tournament was the defeat of Calgary's Rae Milligan by Phyllis Preuss of Pompona Beach, Fla. Miss Preuss had to carry the battle to the 19th hole before gaining her 1-up victory.

The five who made it into the second round with Mrs. Streit were Mrs. Gordon A. Cole of Edmonton, the open champion of Canada two years ago, Judy Darling of Montreal, Mrs. John A. McDougald of Toronto, Mrs. John H. McCarter of Toronto and Janet McWha of St. Lambert, Que.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Steve Parker, husband of Shirley Maclaine, tells why he left Hollywood to become a producer in Japan:

"I felt I was a second - class citizen here. I was beginning to be called 'Mr. Maclaine.' It was a situation I couldn't accept, so I left. Shirley understood, and she let me go."

Steve went to Japan three years ago with little more than a briefcase and high hopes. Today, his hopes have borne fruit and he one of show business' success stories.

He has had two lives in his life: Shirley—and Japan. His romance with the latter began in 1936, when his father helped build a Japanese hydro - electric project. The family stayed three years.

He returned briefly after the war with the occupation forces, later made a survey of the Asian theatre as part of a team for ANTA (American National Theatre and Academy). And he went back again when Shirley was making Around the World in 80 Days.

"I recognized that Japan was a great untapped field of entertainment," he said. "I thought perhaps I could find something to do there. I had tried acting, but I guess I was pretty lousy at it. I felt that my future lay in directing and producing."

Steve did a lot of talking and persuaded the U. S. government to sponsor a documentary film he proposed to make. It was a prize-winner and Steve managed so efficiently that he had enough budget left over for another film. That was Geisha, which won even more honors.

NBC signed him to bring over a troupe of Japanese performers for a TV spectacular. It was such a hit that he's due to bring two more shows over this season, including one from other parts of Asia. This summer, he imported to Las Vegas a show called Holiday in Japan.

Parker's other plans: a possible Broadway run of Holiday in Japan; an all-Japanese film now shooting in Tokyo; a film My Geisha to star Shirley and Dean Martin next year; purchase of a studio in Tokyo.

His marriage?

"It's better than ever, despite all the time we've been apart. Now Shirley wants to quit her career and come to live in our new Tokyo home."

CARROLL RIGHTER

Wednesday, August 26

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — If you converse at length with certain comrades, you will then know better how to assist mutual friends. However, guard against making any unkind remarks, though they may be only in jest. Nerves are pretty taut right now.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — A day for using good judgment where financial matters are concerned and for impressing others with your good sense. Make whatever improvements are necessary to own property. Set up a good working budget for yourself.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — While you want to dash out and have a good time at all cost, the wisest course of action is to put behind you whatever personal affairs are pressing right now, and certainly all practical matters. Await a day when you have free time.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — A private anxiety cannot be assuaged now by fretting over it and wasting valuable time. Sincere prayer can be very helpful, and if you get out and assist good friends with their worries, you will soon be able to handle your own. Be good.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Steer clear of comrades who are upset today, since your mind is concerned with practical problems of considerable seriousness, and they could get you off the right track. See those who can back you. Smile and be affectionate.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Avoid being anywhere near that [illegible] today since he, or she, is in quite a tither over something and could use you as a whipping boy. Tend strictly to business of own affairs in any sphere. Be precise and you are ahead of the game.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Do not refrain from doing that necessary research work because you want to condition yourself with worry over something that cannot be helped. Impress others with your good sense.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You are wrong in your conception of what other individuals are thinking today, and do not understand their actions properly. Go into things carefully with them and you can restore harmony and prosperity into your life.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — You can lose much prestige and material benefits today if you have any altercations with those who are important in your life. Be the soul of tact and remain diligently at your particular labors. Smile.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — This is one of those days when many small things happen that could disturb your equanimity, but if you keep a tight rein over your emotions, all will be well. Then the day is most productive.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You can certainly have a ball today, provided you are not too extravagant and do not give vent to any personal grievances. Particularly, do not show any degree of jealousy and keep your temper at all times.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Home life can be quite disturbing now, if you permit it. It is best to be out a good part of the day and get things accomplished constructively. This should be a very efficient workday, since the aspects are beneficent.

If your child is born today ... The child born today can be quite a great success if you early teach to curb any temptation to overspend on the frivolous and artificial things of life that leave no lasting pleasure. The innermost nature, however, is that of the humanitarian and professions where this trait can be expressed should be followed. Also good for the dentist, doctor, nurse, designer.

Russians Still Want to End Regime in Berlin

BONN, Germany (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has told Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a personal letter the Russians still want to end the occupation regime in Berlin, authoritative informants reported Sunday.

These informants said Khrushchev made the same point in similar messages to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle.

Informants said the tone of the Khrushchev letter was moderate but firm. The Soviet leader repeated the line taken by his foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko and rejected by the West at the Geneva foreign ministers conference.

President Eisenhower is due to travel to Bonn, London and Paris for consultations before the Sept. 15 arrival of the Soviet premier in Washington.

"It's an old Soviet tactic," one informant reported. "Khrushchev always sends messages just before important international events are due to take place."

RECORDS STOLEN

NEW YORK (AP)—A German ornithologist parked his car for 15 minutes outside the American Museum of Natural History Sunday. He returned to find the records of two major expeditions stolen. Dr. E. G. F. Sauer reported to police that thieves had taken a suitcase filled with manuscripts, film, slides and field notes on a 12,000 - mile trip through the United States and a two - year expedition in Africa.

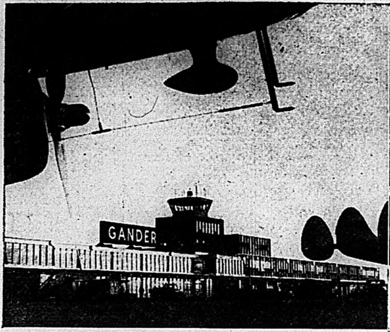
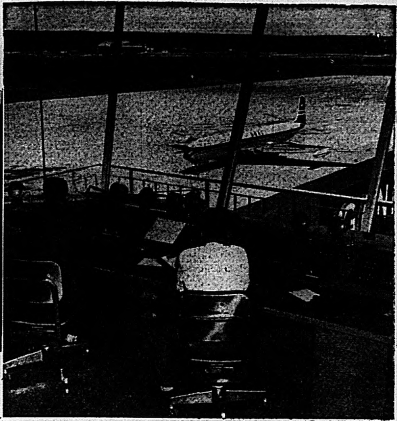
Half-way House for Trans-Atlantic Flights

Gander Geared to Jet Age Travel

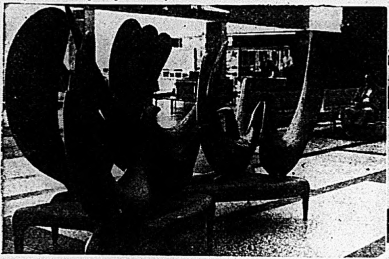


Newfoundland's airport at Gander links the North American continent with Europe. For hundreds of years nations have sent their fishing fleets to the Grand Banks off Newfoundland. Today, in this age of jet travel, Canada's newest province welcomes a quarter-million passengers annually.

Electronic eyes and ears reach half-way across the Atlantic to contact aircraft on overseas flights. Each year Gander handles 26,000 scheduled flights and supplies an additional 12,000 non-stop intercontinental ones with navigational and weather data.



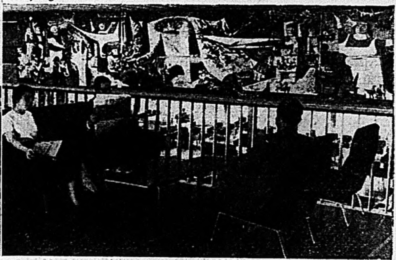
Around the clock, 20 air traffic controllers are on duty to handle takeoffs and landings. Two instrument landing systems and the world's most modern ground control approach system bring aircraft down safely in foul weather. Canada's Gander airport welcomes the jet age!



In the main lobby, striking aluminum and bronze "Welcoming Birds" by Ottawa artist Arthur Price greets passengers from Europe and the United States. This sculpture is one of a number of works of art commissioned especially for Canada's new air terminals.

National Film Board of Canada Photos by Gar Lunney.

A well-equipped nursery for travelling tots plus two restaurants and sleeping facilities serve stop-over passengers. Similar facilities are planned for other terminals such as Montreal's ultra-modern building at Dorval, Que.



Gander boasts a spacious international lounge where passengers on short stop-overs may rest without going through "entry into Canada" formalities. In the background can be seen part of the 69 foot mural, a tribute to flight by Saskatchewan artist Kenneth Lochhead. Gander airport sets a bright new trend in Canadian air terminals.

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Premier Alexander W. Matheson, 56, is fighting his second general election as leader of the Liberal government when Prince Edward Islanders vote Sept. 1 for a new legislature.

Canada's tallest government leader, the lanky six-foot-six veteran of island politics became premier of Canada's smallest province in 1953. In the last election in 1955 his party swept 27 of the 30 seats in the legislature. The Liberals have enjoyed handsome majorities in the provincial house since 1935.

After the last election Mr. Matheson said he was not especially pleased at the extent of the landslide. "An opposition as small as this doesn't make for the best government," he said. "The best government we ever had here were with 10 or 12 in opposition."

MET CHALLENGE

The Progressive Conservatives met this challenge by defeating the Liberals in a 1957 byelection, raising their strength to four. And Conservative stock soared when that party swept all four of the Island's federal seats in the 1957 and 1958 federal general elections.

Premier Matheson last winter predicted the Liberals would lose some seats in the next provincial election, "but we'll still win enough to form the government."

He said he would like to see Conservative leader Walter R. Shaw win a seat "so we can hear what he has to say." Mr. Shaw for a time directed his four-man group from the spectators' seats after becoming party leader in 1957, until Mr. Matheson surprised them by providing a desk for Mr. Shaw on the floor of the chamber near the Opposition benches. He never held a member's seat and of course could not speak in debates.

Premier Matheson grew up on s father's farm at Belleone, 25 miles from Charlottetown. After finishing college he taught school for several years and then studied law, starting his law office in 1935.

He was first elected to the legislature in 1940, was defeated in 1943, elected in 1947 and subsequent elections. In 1948 he was named minister of health and welfare, and when Premier Walter Jones was appointed to the Senate in 1953 Mr. Matheson became premier.

He married the former Helen Farquharson of Charlottetown in 1937, and they have four children.

Plan to Develop New Fuel Cell

NEW YORK (AP)—Two companies announced Sunday night agreement to work together in the development of a new fuel cell that may mean smokeless, noiseless power plants of the future.

The cell was described as a new type of power-producing unit that converts the chemical energy of hydrogen and oxygen directly into electricity without conventional engines and electrical generators.

The process is the reverse of what occurs in a conventional storage battery, and the companies say the new cell is vastly more efficient.

Involved in the agreement are a research division of the Universal Winding Company of Cranston, R.I., and the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Division of United Aircraft Corporation of Hartford, Conn.

Stormy Weather For Eisenhower Seen by British

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers has forecast stormy political weather for President Eisenhower during his pre-Khrushchev trip to Western Europe later this week.

The Guardian, Manchester daily, says that after his Bonn-London-Paris swing, Eisenhower may find Khrushchev's American visit "something of a rest cure."

Eisenhower's allies "are in fractious moods," it says. The Guardian editorial says West German Chancellor Adenauer is "distrustful of the British and uneasy over the growing isolation of the French."

French President de Gaulle "continues to feel that France is not so fully consulted on world strategy as she should be" and that "there may be virtues in building a European third force to stand between the two giants" — the Unitde States and the Soviet Union.

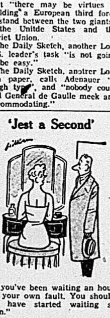
The Daily Sketch, anotrer London paper, calls Adenauer "a tough type", and "nobody could call General de Gaulle meek and accommodating."

'Jest a Second'



"If you've been waiting an hour it's your own fault. You should not have started waiting so soon."

Canada Outdoors

WEDGEPORT, N.S. (CP)—Old-timers in this colorful fishing village peer out to sea every day, hoping to see a flag flying at the masthead of the small craft that go after the big fish.

If a flag is up, the village stirs with excitement. It means the boat has landed a tuna, the pride of this sport-fishing centre.

Capt. Israel Pothier, one of this area's best-known tuna-men, is doubly happy when the flags fly. "They're striking like mad," he says. "They're striking again."

He emphasizes the "again." That's because Wedgeport was written off as a promising tuna area last year, when the annual international tuna-fishing tournament failed to get a fish. Discouraged officials called off this year's match. Last September the four international teams fishing the famed Soldier's Rip and Lobster Bay didn't get even a strike, although a 692-pounder had been landed just before the international teams started.

FISH ARE BACK

But the masthead flags are flying again. So far this year five of the big bluefins have been landed, and another 11 fish were hooked but escaped.

Excitement here hit its peak July 13 when the two-year tuna fish famine—in which only one fish had been landed—was suddenly snapped. Robert E. Frye of Toledo, Ohio, landed a 500-pound tuna after a battle lasting an hour and 15 minutes.

Then for almost two weeks the old-timers watched in vain for the catch-signalling flags. There were reports of bites and lost fish.

But on July 27 three U.S. anglers reaped success. From the waters of Soldier's Rip at the mouth of the Tusket River came fish for William J. Davidson of Clifton, N.J., and Larre Fine of Oak Park, Ill. Farther down the coast Howard Schwartz fought nearly four hours before landing a 745-pounder, biggest of the three. Davidson's weighed 580 pounds, Fine's 520.

With the tuna "rising for the bait" more catches were expected, but it wasn't until Aug. 10 that another tuna boat hoisted the flag.

Fishing on Soldier's Rip, Cpl. Alfred Barker of Annapolis Royal, N.S., became the first Nova Scotian to land a tuna with rod and reel since Sept. 13, 1956. Barker's tuna weighed 497 pounds.

Most old-timers feel tuna will come back in great numbers only if there is plenty of bait available. Herring are the favorite dish of the big bluefins. Veteran skippers here feel that an abundance of herring will mean an abundance of tuna.

PHOTO UNPOPULAR

LONDON (AP)—The unusual official photograph of Princess Margaret shows her sitting with a wistful smile between two wooden rocking horses. The British press, which dotes on pictures of the pretty princess, refused to go for this one. They ignored or panned it, except for The Sunday Times. Margaret, 29, last Friday, has owned one of the rocking horses since childhood. The other belongs to the Queen.

Cunard Fires Veteran Skipper

LIVERPOOL, England (AP)—The Cunard Line has fired the skipper of its 27,000-ton liner Britannic.

Capt. James D. Armstrong, 55, confirmed his dismissal from the line he has served for 30 years.

"It's all because of an alleged incident at the captain's table during an Atlantic crossing," he said, adding that he had turned the matter over to his lawyers.

A friend was more explicit:

"It is the captain's duty to entertain passengers at his table," he said. "This of course includes women passengers.

"It is not easy to know when you are overstepping the mark in some people's view. I understand there was a complaint following the Britannic's crossing from New York to Liverpool in June."

Armstrong, a grey-haired Irishman, was summoned to the general manager's office in Liverpool and given the choice of resigning or being fired.

The captain, who had eight years to go before retirement was due to take over command of either the Queen Mary or the Queen Elizabeth next year.

Earl Mountbatten Describes Seaway As Magnificent

Enters Toronto Harbor, Will Open Exhibition

By BOB EXELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Earl Mountbatten of Burma, chief of Britain's defence staff, sailed into Toronto harbor aboard the frigate HMS Scarborough today flying the Union Jack as his own personal flag.

Lord Mountbatten met the press aboard the Scarborough and his comments ranged from the St. Lawrence Seaway and the Russian navy to freight-carrying submarines and to why he was allowed to fly the Union Jack as his personal flag although he no longer is first lord of the admiralty.

Lord Mountbatten described the seaway as "absolutely magnificent" and said "the whole conception of it has thrilled us in the United Kingdom from the beginning."

He is to open the Canadian National Exhibition here this afternoon.

The West's navies "would want to have their heads examined if they weren't concerned about the Russian navy," he told reporters.

Asked if submarine merchant shipping was the coming thing, he replied "possibly" because the same horsepower developed to drive a freighter could move a submarine freighter "at much higher speed."

Lord Mountbatten is an uncle of the Queen and was active in the navy for 46 years. Since the invitation to open this year's CNE was extended to him before he took over his new duties July 16, he was allowed to represent himself as first lord of the admiralty here and fly the Union Jack.

Weather Will Continue Hot And Sticky

TORONTO (CP) — Hot, sticky weather, punctuated by scattered thunderstorms, will continue unbated in southern Ontario today and Thursday.

At Toronto, the thermometer was expected to hit 90 degrees by early afternoon with temperatures in the near - 90s in other south-western areas.

Cooler and drier air which moved across Northern Ontario Tuesday night will bring comfortable 70 - degree temperatures to North Bay, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie and Kapuskasing areas.

The hot spell in southwestern Ontario will be relieved temporarily by thunderstorms expected late this evening. But the weather office in Toronto forecasts a return to humid weather Thursday.

Sir Winston To Dine With Eisenhower

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill will meet President Eisenhowere here Monday night, authoritative sources said today. They will be the dinner guests of Prime Minister Macmillan at 10 Downing Street.

Churchill is on vacation on the French Riviera and is flying here Sunday. He will spend 48 hours in London and then return to the Riviera.

It is considered likely that Sir Anthony Eden also will be invited to Monday's dinner. Eden last met Eisenhower in Mexico late in 1958.

Another wartime colleague Eisenhower may meet is Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, who has voiced criticisms recently of some of Eisenhower's second World War strategy.

Segregationist To Be Governor

JACKSON, Miss (AP)— Ross Barnett, 61-year-old lawyer and militant segregationist, will become Mississippi's next governor.

Barnett, who publicly approved the tactics of Arkansas Governor Orval Faubus in fighting school integration, rolled to a solid victory over Lieutenant-Governor Carroll Gartin in primary voting Tuesday to decide the Democratic contender.

As Democratic nominee in this deep-south state, Barnett is assured of election. Republicans offer no opposition and the general election is a mere formality to taking office for a four-year term.

Barnett will succeed Governor J. P. Coleman, who backed Gartin. Mississippi law prohibits governors from succeeding themselves.

Today's Chuckle

Natives who beat drums to ward off evil spirits are objects of scorn to smart motorists who blow horn to break up traffic jams.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Hot and humid weather will continue in most of southern Ontario today and Thursday. A series of fast moving disturbances is responsible for rapid day to day changes across the north. Cool drier air will dominate the weather from Muskoka northward tonight and Thursday and some of this air might bring temporary relief from the heat wave around Lake Ontario Thursday. There will be scattered showers, and a few thunderstorms in central and eastern Ontario this afternoon and the odd one over hilly sections of southern Ontario.

3,000 French Police, Firemen Will Guard Ike

PARIS (Reuters) — Nearly 3,000 French police and firemen, many recalled from vacation, will form a tight security ring around President Eisenhower during his visit here next week.

Whenever Eisenhower and President de Gaulle drive together through Paris streets, they will be escorted by 90 motorcycle police. When the American president drives alone, the escort will be 40 motorcyclists.

The security steps will be the most intensive here since the 1947 peace conference.

Careful planning has been under way since the visit first was announced. Screening of undesirable persons and scrutiny of the routes where Eisenhower will drive and the places he will visit is in progress. De Gaulle's office is in charge of the preparations and the French president himself is checking all details.

Armed French police will line the broad Champs Elysees and other avenues along which Eisenhower will drive. They also will guard residences where he will stay.

CHINA LOWERS YEAR'S TARGETS IN PRODUCTION

Admit '58 Estimates Of Harvest Too High

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Communist China today announced the lowering of the targets for its 1959 economic development program. The central committee of the Chinese Communist party also acknowledged that estimates of last year's harvest in the country had been too high, because of lack of experience in assessing crops.

The communique, reported by the New China News Agency, was issued following a plenary meeting of the central committee at Lushan, in Kiangsi province, from Aug. 2 to Aug. 16.

The committee decided that the four main targets for 1959—steel, coal, grain and cotton — should be readjusted. It assigned the state council to submit revised proposals for this year's development plan to the standing committee of the National People's Congress.

FARM LABOR SHORT

The communique also appeared to put a damper on the productioh of steel by peasants in crude backyard smelters. It suggested that the production of steel by local methods should be determined by local authorities in accordance with local conditions because of a shortage of farm labor.

It said harvesting, threshing and storing all had been done hurriedly last year because an inadequate labor force had been allocated to agriculture.

The committee reported that the Chinese economic continued its "leap forward" during the first half of 1959.

In view of achievements last year and in the first half of 1959, it would be possible to fulfil by the end of this year the main targets for major industrial and agricultural products originally fixed for 1962, the last year of the second five-year plan.

COMMUNES TAKE ROOT

The communique said the rural people's communes had taken firm root and were demonstrating their advantages.

The principal danger to the achievement of another leap forward this year lay in the growth of "right opportunist ideas among some cadres," the communique said.

These cadres underestimated the people's great achievements in the "leap forward" movement and in communes "and over-emphasize the seriousness of certain defects which occurred in the two movements owing to lack of experience and which have been overcome quickly."

The communique expressed full support for the efforts made by the Soviet Union at the Geneva foreign ministers conference and welcomed the forthcoming Eisenhower-Khrushchev exchange of visits.

Two Fishermen Find Body

ORILLIA (CP) — Two fishermen Tuesday found the body of Joseph Maxwell Hall of North Bay, floating by a shoal near the Orillia motor camp on Lake Couchiching.

Hall toppled into the lake from a boat early Sunday after he and his brother ran out of gas on Lake Couchiching. Coronor Dr. J. K. Strathearn, who will perform an autopsy, said it is thought Hall suffered a heart attack.

U.S. Willing to Sell to Russia Many Items in Moscow Exhibition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced today it is willing to sell the Russians a vast array of products displayed at the American exhibition in Moscow.

Commerce Secretary Frederick Mueller described the offer as a goodwill gesture. Such a sale also would save the cost of shipping the goods back to the United States.

There was no immediate word whether the Russians were approached in advance about the proposal, or whether they would be interested.

The U. S. sales offer covers about 1,800 American - made items, including the $200,000 closed-circuit color TV unit before which Vice-President Nixon and Premier Khrushchev last month held their impromptu debate on the cold war. Also on the list is the medium - price prefabricated house.

About 1,000 items covered by the offer normally would require U.S. export licences before they could be sold to the Russians.

Mueller said these goods, in this case, can be sold without licence if American manufacturers and the Soviet government can make the necessary arrangements. This seemed to indicate the American government would have no direct role in any sales negotiation.

When the United States sponsors an exhibit abroad, it borrows products from American industry and pays for shipping them to the site. Unless the goods are sold on the spot after a fair, the government also pays for shipping them home.

ÇLC Wants Action

Urges Commonwealth Oust South Africa for Apartheid

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Canadian Labor Congress Tuesday suggested that South Africa should be expelled from the Commonwealth unless it renounces its racial segregation policy.

In a statement issued by CLC President Claude Jodoin, the Congress urged the Canadian government to "speak up bodly and unequivocally on this issue."

It called on Prime Minister Diefenbaker to raise the matter "of apartheid and the slave laws and regulations prevailing in South Africa" at forthcoming meetings of Commonwealth statesmen.

"Should such efforts fail, the Canadian Labor Congress will call for the exclusion of South Africa from the commonwealth of nations," the statement said.

The CLC executive council is meeting privately here prior to a political seminar of CLC and CCF leaders to consider the proposed formation of a new political party, built around the CCF. The seminar opens Friday and continues to Sunday.

In its attack on the South African government's apartheid, or racial segregation policy, the congress said it had received in recent months documented reports describing "inhuman conditions" suffered by the native population of South Africa.

It cited "the introduction of whipping as a compulsory punishment for a whole range of minor offences, the mass trials and imprisonment of the native population, . . . pass laws, and residential restrictions. . . ."

Such policies, it said, "constitute a system of forced labor, repeatedly condemned by the UN and ILO."

The CLC also announced it had deferred decision on an application by the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) to affiliate with the congress. The statement said the CLC will await developments at the Mine-Mill union's annual convention, scheduled at Toronto Sept. 14.

Seafarers' Union Has Been Taking Whipping on W. Coast

OTTAWA (CP) — Hal Banks' Seafarers' International Union has been taking a whipping on Canada's west coast.

Informants returning to the capital from British Columbia say that the normally-peaceful Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC) has been clobbering the brass-knuckle brigade of the Banks union.

The brotherhood, according to these informants, has picked up about 400 seagoing members that the Seafarers were looking for.

It could mean that the SIU, recently thrown out of the Canadian Labor Congress, is finished on the B.C. coast.

This is part of a muscle-flexing contest going on between the two hefty unions in the East and the West.

The fight could break out anew on the St. Lawrence Seaway, depending on who wants to get tough first. The SIU is strong on the St. Lawrence River and Great Lakes.

The two powerful unions—the brotherhood has about 40,000 members and the SIU some 12,000—started tangling when the Seafarers began picking on the little Marine Engineers' Union with some 1,500 people. The upshot of United States-born Banks' raiding tactics was that his SIU was dropped from the CLC for violating the constitution.

After being tossed overboard from the CLC, the Seafarers made a pitch on the west coast for the engineers, trying to break up a strike of the Engineers' Union. They lost out on that.

There were charges during this battle that the SIU had imported some blackjack specialists from the west coast of the U.S., where Banks got his upbringing on the San Francisco waterfront and did a small hitch in San Quentin Penitentiary during his younger days.

The immigration department looked into the charges and Immigration Minister Fairclough later reported to the Commons that no brass-knuckle men from the U.S. could be found in Vancouver.

She was really trying, too, because she has been attempting to catch Banks off base for years. When she was in opposition she tried to get him deported. Now he has Canadian residence, but, thanks to the lady minister, cannot get Canadian citizenship.

Gov.-General Designate, Gen. Vanier, Returns Home

MONTREAL (CP) — Maj.-Gen. George P. Vanier returned to Canada today as the Queen's designate for governor-general.

The 71-year-old soldier and diplomat came with a prayer, a quip and a quote.

"We pray He may give us help and guidance to carry out this great task," said the white-haired general when he met reporters aboard the Cunard passenger liner Ivernia here.

"I believe that Providence does take a hand in the affairs of men."

And then he quoted Shakespeare:

"There is a divinity that shapes our ends, however we hew them." He paused, reflected on the quote and asked "lovers of Shakespeare" to forgive him if he misquoted the English bard.

He did amend the Bard slightly. The quote, from Hamlet, is: "There's a divinity that shapes our ends, rough-hew them how we will."

Asked by one reporter how he should be addressed, Gen. Vanier replied:

"Just call me General, or if you know me well, call me George."

He was to go ashore later today—stepping on Canadian soil for the first time as governor-general designate. He left about a month ago amid rumors of his appointment to the vice-regal task. It was announced in Halifax while he was abroad that he would succeed Governor-General Massey, 72.

"I count it a very great honor, indeed, to be appointed by Her Majesty the Queen of Canada to be governor-general of Canada, this great country of ours," he said.

He said he has no immediate or long-term plans.

"At the moment," he said, "I have no plans of any kind."

Gen. Vanier, who retired in 1953 after a long career as lawyer, soldier and diplomat, left his wife in France with her ailing mother. He said it was a "great comfort" to learn that his mother-in-law's health has improved since he left Europe.

"I have come back from Europe after spending a month seeing our friends in London, Paris and other cities."

He also visited three of his children, grown up now and living in Europe. He said he hopes some of them will return to Canada in time for his installation as governor-general. The Vaniers have four sons and a daughter.

Asked about his health, Gen. Vanier replied:

"I only feel it is in the hands of Le Bon Dieu (The Good Lord). If we believe the Lord is our strenth, why not act as if it is true. He will signify his assent or otherwise of the decision we have taken."

Mrs. Vanier is to sail from England aboard the liner Carinthia Sept. 2.

SPIKES REMOVED SHORTLY BEFORE TRAIN DERAILED

Section Foreman Tells of Accident

TRAFALGAR, Ont. (CP) — A CNR section foreman told an inquest Tuesday night that he had spikes removed from a section of track shortly before a passenger train derailment last month in which two women died.

James Buttaro, who testified under the Canada Evidence Act, said the spikes were removed to push a twisted rail back into alignment. The train arrived before the job was done.

The July 21 crash killed Mrs. Lillian Moore, 65, of Acton, Ont., and Mrs. Gertrude Doran, 73, of North Bay. A section of broken rail pierced the coach in which they were sitting. About 30 other passengers suffered minor injuries.

Mr. Buttaro said a section of rail about three feet long had developed a recurring depression since the installation of a pipeline under it by Cities Service Refining (Canada) Limited two years ago.

JOB TO INSPECT RAIL

It was his job to inspect and adjust the rail each day, usually correcting the depression by jacking up the rail and tamping stones under the ties.

On the day of the derailment, he said, he had completed normal repair on the rail shortly before the arrival of a CPR passenger train travelling about 12 minutes ahead of the CNR's Inter-City Limited.

After the CPR train passed he noticed the rail swaying and out of alignment. He said he decided to remove several spikes to loosen the rail before attempting to force it back into place. Two laborers were helping.

Crown Attorney Peter McWilliams asked: "Did you consider giving a signal to approaching trains?"

Mr. Buttaro replied: "No. I needed all the men I had."

WARNINGS AUTOMATIC

John F. Sinclair, CNR general roadmaster for the area, said the removal of spikes should automatically result in the posting of warning signals by a foreman. He did not agree, however, that the removal of spikes was necessary in this case.

"This sort of depression over a pipeline is normal and will gradually disappear," Mr. Sinclair said. "It is not dangerous."

The foreman, who now is under suspension by the CNR, said earlier he had been making regular repairs on the rail section for almost two years.

Engineer Frank A. Green, 59, said he was travelling at 70 miles an hour when he saw the track quivering about 200 yards ahead. It was impossible to stop in time.

The coroner, Dr. Russell Dingle, adjourned the inquest until Sept. 22 to hear new witnesses. Mr. McWilliams said he wanted to hear evidence of an independent engineer about the depressed rail.

No Foul Play

MORAVIANTOWN (CP) — Police said Tuesday night they have ruled out any possibility of foul play in connection with the death of William J. Evans, 29, whose body was found Monday night on Moraviantown Indian reserve. A rifle was found nearby. Police said an inquest is unlikely to be held.

Twin Girls Born Aboard Airliner Bound From London to New York

LONDON (Reuters)—The wife of an American serviceman gave birth to twins aboard a New York-bound airliner high over the Atlantic Tuesday night.

The airline, Pan American, announced today that the plane touched down this morning at Gander, Nfld., and that mother and babies — both girls — were "doing well."

A company spokesman said the mother is Mrs. Judy Stevens, 18, the English wife of an air force man. She was flying to New York to rejoin her husband at New York's Idlewild airport.

Mrs. Stivers was attended at the delivery aboard the plane by two fellow passengers, a husband and wife who both are doctors, and by the stewardess, a trained nurse.

In New York the airline said the pilot, Capt. Roland A. Bell of Massapequa, N.Y., radioed this message:

"Passenger aboard plane in labor. Plane has No. 1 priority to land at Gander."

Then another message crackled:

"Just been advised by stewardess that twins have been born."

Pan American said this was the first time twins had been born on one of its planes and possibly the first time on any commercial overseas airliner.

The doctor and stewardesses who assisted at the birth were identified as Dr. Clarence Ing, described as a missionary of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, and Ellen Mandzik and Yolanda Sisto, both of Manhattan.

The plane landed at Gander and the mother and babies were rushed to Banting Memorial Hospital here.

The hospital said later they were "doing fine."

Eisenhower Off To Tell Allies Fears Needless

Flying Trip to Europe Has Bonn as First Stop

BONN (AP) — President Eisenhower brought his person-to-person diplomacy to Germany tonight and received a hero's welcome in this land he helped conquer 14 years ago.

The presidential jet plane, a Boeing 707, landed at nearby Wahn Airport at 6:26 p.m. (126 p.m. EDT) after a flight of 9½ hours from Washington. This elapsed time included an hour spent in a Newfoundland stop for refuelling.

The sky was slightly overcast. The landing strip lights were switched on just before the jet approached

A crowd of 1,500 to 2,000 spectators waited in reserved places and others were scattered around the terraces.

On the eve of his forthcoming encounter with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Eisenhower is making this flying trip to Europe to seek to bolster the Western alliance and allay any fears over a new cycle in U.S.-Soviet diplomacy.

His U.S. Air Force jet left Andrews Air Force Base near Washington at 3.57 a.m. EDT.

The first stop on the filght to Bonn, Geramny, was Harmon Air Force Base in Newfoundland.

The landing time was 6:23 a.m. EDT, two hours and 26 minutes out of Washington.

The refuelling stop took one hour and six minutes and the presidential plane was back in the air at 7:29 a.m. EDT bound directly for Bonn.

The estimated time of arrival there was 6:30 p.m. local time (12:30 p.m. EDT).

PREPARES FOR RUSSIAN

As a prelude to trading official visits with Premier Nikita Khrushchev of Russia later in the fall, Eisenhower is travelling to Bonn, London and Paris.

He is prepared to lay down solemn promises that the U.S. will join in the use of force, if need be, to repel aggression.

While sounding this warning to the Soviet Union, he also proposes to say that the U.S seeks to be a loyal partner in advancing the cause of "peace with honor and justice."

These are two of the paramount purposes of a 10-day venture into personal diplomacy. Eisenhower listed them at a press conference Tuesday.

He will confer separately with Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany, Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain and President de Gaulle of France.

He will consult, too, on a more informal basis, with Foreign Minister Fernando Castiella of Spain in London. And in Paris he will see Prime Minister Antonio Segni of Italy and President Joseph M. A. H. Luns and Secretary-General Paul-Henri Spaak of NATO.

WANTS FIRM BACKING

The sessions may enable Eisenhower to head into conferences with Khrushchev with firm confidence of Allied support.

The Allies are eager for reassurances that Eisenhower has no intention of embarking on any hidden two - way deals with Khrushchev that would run

Queen Approves Awards to 31 British Troops

LONDON (AP)—The Queen today approved awards to 31 British troops who fought a secret war in the Arabian desert.

The airborne task force — 175 men of Britain's special air service regiment — flew to the British protectorate of Muscat and Oman last January. Rebels there had seized a seemingly impregnable position atop 10,000-foot Mount Akdar. They repulsed every attempt by troops of the sultan to dislodge them.

"By a forced night march up extremely difficult country, Deane-Drummond surprised the enemy and gained complete success," the official London Gazette related today. "At one stage the ascent was possible only by using ropes."

"The war was fought in secrecy and was completely successful," said Deane-Drummond at his home in Wales Tuesday night. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Order.

It was believed the operation produced the highest percentage of awards in British army history. One man out of every six got a medal or a special mention in dispatches.

Khrushchev May See Baseball, Football Games

WASHINGTON (AP) — Perhaps a football or baseball game but no atomic energy installations will be on the itinerary of Soviet Premier Khrushchev during his visit to the United States next month.

And, it is still not certain whether Mme. Khrushchev will come along to take in any of the sights.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshihov, after conferring with State Undersecretary Robert Murphy Tuesday night, told reporters that Khrushchev would not visit the atomic electricity generating plant at Shippingport, Pa., or any other atomic facility.

The ambassador and Murphy have been meeting periodically to iron out details of the visit which begins Sept. 15. Menshikov said he expected that firm details would be arranged soon.

Wealthy Prince Secretly Wed

The bride at a civil ceremony was Gina Egan, now 29. The Maharajah is 44.

After the wedding in September, 1956, the Maharajah went back to his bachelor apartment. His wife continued to live with her mother, five minutes walk away. The couple have lived apart ever since.

"I think I am the only person in the world they told," said Gina's mother, Mrs. Arthur Egan, who finally broke the secrecy. She did not say why her daughter kept it a secret.

The Belleville Public Works department has started construction of the footings for the traffic lights at the intersection of College and North Front streets today. It is expected that these, together with the installation of posts and lights, will be completed by the end of this week. The power supply is expected to be hooked up early next week and the lights should be operational by the start of the school term providing all parts for the installation arrive on time.

The ditching program in the east side of the city has been completed except for the tidying up process which is currently underway. Work in the northwest section of the city is continuing.

Kiwanians Taken To Convention By Tape Recorder

Local Kiwanians were treated to a trip to the Kiwanis International Convention at Dallas, Texas, via the medium of the tape recorder. Selected portions of the convention, which was attended by local president, Gerald Wishart, were played. A few speeches from the many discussion workshops which were held were heard by local club members as the convention's theme, "Build Individual Responsibility," was developed.

Particularly interesting was the speech of Ken Logie, Kiwanis' immediate past president. During this speech he urged Kiwanians everywhere to build for the future, but at the same time to make sure that they were building something permanent. He also paid tribute to the individual members as being responsible for the tremendous growth of Kiwanis International which now has a quarter of a million members.

Bob Brain announced to those present that the sale of tickets for the forthcoming travelogue series had started this Monday and that over 100 tickets had already been sold. This year's program will include films and speakers on Rumania (October), California mountains (November), Finland (January), Scotland (February), Holland (February), and Portraits of the Pacific (March), and promises to be one of the best which the Kiwanis Club has sponored over the past seven years.

This year Kiwanians are aiming for 900 ticket sales over a three-week campaign. A new format for the program has been arranged, Dr. Brain said, which will draw the travelogue patron's attention to the ads contained in it.

President Wishart announced that the inter-club meeting was being held this Wednesday at Cobourg in the Legion Hall and invited the members to attend this if at all possible. Phil Burton introduced the club's guests and Major Victor Greenwood gave grace.

Laotian Army Recaptures Post From Rebels

VIETIANE, Laos (Reuters) — Laotian government troops have reoccupied the army post of Sop Vieng, 50 miles northeast of Vientiane, which was evacuated last week after two successive days of attacks by pro-Communist rebels, a defence ministry spokesman announced today.

The spokesman also reported light skirmishes around Pakseng, 30 miles northeast of the royal capital of Luang Prabang.

The situation in harassed Sam Neua, in the northeast, the main centre of the fighting between the government and Pathet Lao troops, was reported quiet.

Defence ministry officials said the rebels are conducting a "campaign of terror" in Phong Saly province slitting the throats of children and committing other atrocities.

The recapture of the army post at Sop Vieng removed one of the Communist threats to communications between the southern and northern part of the country.

The top-level Laotian army leader said Tuesday night the Communists might be trying to cut the country in half in their stepped - up infiltration.

Parks Board Accepts Offer Of Land for Playground Use

TRENTON — Cliff Baker, manager of the Trent Cotton Mills in Trenton, has offered to lease about six acres of land to the Trenton Parks Board to make a suitable playground in that area for the children.

The land is just north of the company's mill and runs from Pelham Street back to Mount Pelion. The company offered to lease the land to the Parks Board for $1 per year.

The letter from Mr. Baker was read at last night's meeting of the Trenton Parks Board, held in the Board Room of the Municipal Building with all members present.

The board unanimously accepted Mr. Baker's offer and a letter will be forwarded to him thanking him for his interest and thoughtfulness.

The offer stemmed from the recent announcement that the town had taken an option on some property near the Victoria Park on the corner of Ford and Division Streets for the purpose of building a new police station. The area for the building would also take in the park and would leave the children in that area without a place to play.

However the board was informed that no official notice has been received from the town concerning the fate of the small park. Mr. Parker, chairman of the board, said he understood a letter on the matter from the town office would be forthcoming.

The board also considered the possibilities of taking over the Trent Cotton Mills land even if the town did not use Victoria Park for a building site. This will be discussed further by the board once it is informed officially on the future of the park.

PAY FOR SPRINKLER

The Board approved a payment of $1,200 to the Siddall Company for the sprinkler system which has been installed in the Fraser Memorial Park, the Library grounds and the Bay Shore Park.

The board had made a previous payment of $2,000 for the system and the balance, $180, will be withheld until the company have issued a corrected invoice for the final amount.

The board also approved the purchase from Bailey's Hardware of a crawler type sprinkler for use in the small parks, at a cost of about $38. This sprinkler will be used in parks not yet equipped with automatic sprinklers and yet too large to do with ordinary sprinklers.

It was also reported at the meeting that another glass globe on the entrance gate to the Fraser Memorial Park has been broken and the PUC will be asked to obtain another and install it. This makes the third globe broken this year, it was noted.

Ted Parker, chairman of the board, will contact the officials of the Community Centre with respect to gardening work in front of the building.

A letter from the town council was read at the meeting asking the board to give some thought to suggesting a local citizen to fill the post left vacant on the Parks Board by Claude Smith. This will be discussed further at the next meeting and a reply sent to the council.

Last night's meting was the first regular meeting held since July 14th. Two meetings had been called in the meantime but a quorum was not available, due to holidays and business pressure for some of the members.

Dismiss Charge Of Leaving Accident Scene

TRENTON — A charge of failing to stop at the scene of an accident, laid against A. G. Elliott of Trenton, was dismissed in court yesterday when the accused appeared before Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

Mr. Elliott was represented by Robert Temple of Belleville and John Pringle acted for the crown. Inspector Rutherford of the Trenton Police Department acted as court clerk, due to the absence of Police Chief Jack Taylor.

The crown called six witnesses to the mishap which occurred on the corner of King St. and Dundas Street West, with only slight damage caused to a parked car.

Three of the witnesses told the court they were riding in a car directly behind the accused on the night of the accident and had followed the car driven by the accused afterwards and had obtained the licence number of the car. They turned this information over to the local police department.

Another witness told the court he was sitting on the steps of the post office when the incident took place and had seen the parked car rock when it was hit by the other.

Staff Sergeant Walter Youmans and Constable Carman Schwager told the court of their investigation following the report of the mishap.

The accused man also took the stand and told Magistrate Wills that if he had hit the car he did not know it and would have stopped if he had.

The magistrate in giving his decision on the case, said the accident was such that he would have to give the accused the benefit of the doubt and dismissed the charges against him. The crown agreed.

FINE DOG'S OWNER

Dirk Vandercock of Bay St., was fined two dollars and ordered to pay three dollars court costs when he appeared in magistrate's court yesterday charged under a town by-law with harboring a dog and allowing it to run at large. He owns King, a large police and collie dog, which had apparently been chased home several times by the town's dog catcher, Leo Hogan, who had also warned Mr. Vandercock to keep the dog tied up.

The town was represented by the town solicitor, Roderick Campbell and Mr. Vandercock was defended by Gregory Butler, Trenton lawyer.

Mr. Hogan told the court that each time he chased the dog it went to the same house and the last time, on August 7, the dog had gone into the house. He said he knocked at the door but got no answer and went to the store where Mr. Vandercock was and told him of the incident.

Mr. Vandercock said he had immediately phoned his sister-in-law who had told him the dog was under the kitchen table and had not been outside. However, Magistrate Wills felt there was little doubt as to who owned the dog according to the dog catcher's testimony and that according to the evidence of the Vandercocks it was possible the dog was on the streets at the time in question.

Gordon Woodcock of Trenton appeared in magistrate's court yesterday charged with being in possession of stolen goods and was remanded until Tuesday, September 15. He had been in custody for the past week and bail was set at $500 cash or $1,000 property bond.

Jack Hill told the court he would like to get legal advice. He was charged with driving while his licence was suspended and driving without a licence. He was given two weeks' remand by Magistrate Wills.

Little Business For Aug. Session County Council

Hastings county councillors convened this morning for what is expected to be an abbreviated August session with little business of major importance appearing on the agenda.

County warden J. N. Brown of Bancroft is his welcoming address intimated that he did not expect the session to be too heavy and would possibly be an abbreviated meeting.

The morning session was taken up with the reading of correspondence and with discussion on collection of hospital indigent accounts and reference to Children's Aid Society costs.

Included in the correspondence read by county clerk-treasurer Erie S. Denyes was a resolution from Madoc village council requesting that No. 62 highway be continued from Madoc to Foxboro. This in effect would take over the county road between the two centres.

Madoc township reeve Earl Sager moved concurrence in the resolution noting that the question was not a new one in council. When it was learned however that additional correspondence on the matter would be before council, the Madoc reeve changed his motion to have the resolution laid on the table.

A breakdown of costs of the Hastings County Children's Aid Society as compared with those in Prince Edward and Frontenac counties, was read to council.

The cost figures were submitted by CAS superintendent Bruce Kerr in reply to the question of why Hastings costs were higher than in the two other counties.

Mr. Kerr noted that the Hastings county CAS per diem rate of $1.96 was higher than that in Frontenac at $1.51 and $1.19 in Prince Edward, but that the per capita cost in this county was lower.

Per capita cost of the society in Hastings was $2.14, as compared with $3.86 in Prince Edward and $2.89 in Frontenac.

The higher per diem rate for Hastings was to some extent attributable to a deficit in former years, and also to the fact that the number of children in care was continuing to drop due to an extensive adoption program.

A question from one councillor as to the ratio of administration costs to overall expenses was answered by Warden Brown, who noted that administration costs for the local society were approximately 30 per cent of the total.

Two Children Said Missing With Father

Mrs. ean Caster, 26, received a telegram late Tuesday saying her children, Nancy 4, and Orven, 7, were picked up here by their father, aErl, 33.

Police, neighbors and RCAF volunteers had searched nearby bush for hours. North Bay police said they had been trying to get in touch with Mr. Caster who was denied custody of the children by a court last February.

The court waarded Mrs. Caster custody and financial support of the children. She says she last heard from her husband in May.

McFarland Construction Co. Awarded Contract for New Courthouse at $542,000

The H. J. McFarland Construction Company of Picton has been awarded the contract for the construction of the new Hastings County courthouse, it was revealed today by County Warden Jack N. Brown of Bancroft.

The amount of the contract for the construction of the new courthouse which also would have accommodation for the county registry offices and county council chambers, was for $542,000.

Decision to build the new courthouse was made at a special meeting of council held in July when it was decided to call new tenders for the construction. During the spring session of council, county councillors voted against going ahead with the new courthouse after tenders had been called. Low tender at that time was for $519,000.

The $542,000 figure submitted by McFarland included extra work which was not called for in the original tender. Included is floodlighting of the grounds, certain shelving and built-in work desks in some offices and a special installation in the boiler room.

Warden Brown noted that the extras were work which would have had to be done eventually.

Site of the new courthouse will be immediately to the west of the present 100-year-old structure which is expected to be torn down following completion of the new building.

Repairs to Marmora Dam Needed, Authority Told

Repairs to the Marmora dam on the Crowe River should be given immediate attention as the dam is in poor condition and would possibly fall, members of the Crowe Valley Conservation Authority were told last week.

Victor Hughson, chairman of the Authority Water Control Committee, told a full meeting of the Authority that repairs to the Marmora Dam should be given top priority unless it were given immediate attention.

Written approval and consent from the village of Marmora and the townships of Marmora and Lake for lowering the water behind the dam will be asked by the Authority following which engineers will be engaged to make further investigation of repairs necessary and to report on the estimated cost of repairs.

No action will be taken by the Authority on setting up a reforestation program until the next meeting of the Authority. At a reforestation advisory board meeting held during the morning it was felt there should be no reforestration agreement entered into with the department where there was a possibility that the Authority would have to pay back considerable money before it would be able to take over management of its own forest.

A public Education Advisory Board was set up with Mr. C. Rowe as chairman and E. J. Leeson and E.P.H. Everett as members.

Reports on the conservation survey were given by E. M. Mayall and R. S. Broughton, the latter emphasizing the importance of gathering rainfall and run-off figures in order to co-ordinate water levels and design water control structures. Mr. Herb Crown said there was also a forestry survey underway and that data was being collected on the history of the development of the natural resources of the area. A land use survey would be made at a later date and would be included in the final conservation report.

TORONTO (CP)—Western oils dipped to a four-year index low as the stock market faded for the third straight session in moderate morning trading.

On index, western oils were down almost one-point. Industrials gave up nearly one - half while base metals and golds were down a few decimal points.

The final volume was 2,694,000 shares, compared with Monday's 3,152,000.

Steels and banks were a little higher. Canada Iron Foundries was up 1⅛ at 31¼ whi leConsolidated Paper added 1¼ at 40. Western Grocers A dipped 3 at 34½ on a single sale and Loblaw Inc. was off 2 at 128. Simpsons eased 1⅛ at 34½.

International Nickel lost 1½ at 96. Falconbridge was off ⅜ at 27⅜ as most senior base metals lost. In uraniums, Consolidated Denison and Gunnar gave up small fractions.

Giant Yellowknife, up 25 cents, at $7.75, had the major change in a quiet gold section.

In western oils Canadian Husky and Pembina each gave up ⅛, but the majority of seniors were unchanged on the session.

Index changes: Industrials off .11 to 528.14; golds up .09 to 87.75; base metals off .74 to 171.70; western oils off .70 to 114.46.

Nuclear Tests Parley Adjourns For Six Weeks

GENEVA (Reuters) — The three-power conference here on ending nuclear tests agreed today to adjourn for six weeks until October 12.

Conference sources said that Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin, who was in the chair, gove his government's approval to a proposal by the United States and Britain last week for a recess.

American delegate James J. Wadsworth said that Britain and the United States agreed that an adjournment of a few weeks in their talks was desirable.

The progress of the talks, which began last Oct. 31 and the major points of continuing disagreement between East and West are expected to be discussed during the coming meetings between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev.

A Western conference source said these discussions "could well be of first importance as far as our conference is concerned."

AGREEMENT IN PART

The conference so far has agreed on 17 articles of a draft treaty to ban tests—an estimated two-thirds of a full treaty.

One of the major problems still to be settled is the staffing of the 180 control posts envisaged throughout the world as part of the system to guard against violations of a test ban.

Russia originally insisted that the home country should be responsible for staffing the posts on its own territory but now has amended its stand to allow outsiders in the posts.

British delegate Sir Michael Wright said today that Russia and the West appeared to be moving closer on the question of staffing.

Poland Wants UN Security Council Seat

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Poland has opened a campaign for the seat on the 11-country UN Security Council which Japan gives up Dec. 31.

Polish representative Jacek Machowski told a reporter the seat once belonged to eastern Europe and "we would like to have it back."

There are six non - permanent members of the council elected for two years. From 1946 to 1955 there was an unwritten agreement that one of the seats would go to an east European country. But in 1955 the United States came out in favor of giving the seat alternately to an Asian power.

Yugoslav and The Philippines tied in the voting that year and split the 1958-1959 term between them. Japan took the seat for 1959.

The five permanent members of the council are Britain, the United States, France, the Soviet Union and Nationalist China. Three of the non - permanent members will be replaced at the end of the year.

The actress said that while under the bed she found she couldn't move, that her back hurt and she couldn't reach the telephone.

DESERONTO — The Sunday races at the Mohawk Drag Strip saw more than one record shattered. There was a paid attendance of some 1,850 and the crowd began to gather in the early hours. The runway was lined with spectators from end to end and the hundreds of cars came from many distant points for the event.

The top speed of the day was clocked by Don McArthur of Chippawa, who drove a dragster powered by an Oldsmobile motor at 138.36 miles to set a track record.

Dragging, for the uninitiated, means attaining top speed from a standing start in a quarter mile run. The car is only allowed a quarter of a mile for acceleration before the speed is clocked. The supervision is strict and a car must be in perfect shape before it is allowed to race. No playing around is allowed either and the reckless and careless are never given a second chance and rarely are they allowed to even enter.

FIRST IN ONTARIO

These races, the first in Eastern Ontario were begun by the Kingston club, the Peaceful Pacers, early in the summer and are continually attracting bigger and better crowds. The sport is not confined to the youngsters as on Sunday last some of the contestants were well in the middle age group. It affords an opportunity for those interested in modification and experimentation to test their rods or cars under supervision. During past years, many improvements of the automobiles sold to the general public were first the result of dragster efforts and ingenuity.

The entries on Sunday last were from many points, including Watertown, Syracuse, Niagara Falls, Toronto, Chippawa, Peterborough, Montreal, Ottawa and one was entered from as far west as Calgary.

ONE ACCIDENT

Only one accident marred the event and this one was not a result of the races. One of the mechanics was reaching into the trunk of a car when the trunk lid fell on his head. He was removed to the Belleville hospital by the ambulance which is always on duty while races are in progress. He only suffered a slight cut on the head.

The timing device for the day was a Chrondike timer for single lane only. The Ontario Timing Association had promised to bring dual timers but fal ltdeo ,,aperhethea mil failed to show. However, the "Peaceful Pacers" managed, but were only able to time the winning car.

The refreshment booth was operated by the Belleville Red Angels and was a most popular spot during the day.

The top prize for the day—a free trip to the National Drag Races at Detroit on September 6, was won by Don McArthur of the Satan Car Club of Chippawa, who won the top eliminator class. The award for the best appearing pit crew was also won by the Chippawa club.

Bob Spick won a trophy and a set of Moon discs donated by Kuston Kreme of Kingston and the Toronto Kuston Kar Klub won a trophy for the largest club attendance. The Toronto club also won the trophy for the best engineered car and for the fastest gas class car. The winner of the trophy for the greatest distance travelled went to Larry Smith of Calgary.

The next event to be held at Mohawk Strip is scheduled for September 20th. It is worth noting that the Kingston club received mention in a "National Hot Rod" magazine pushlished in California. California congratulated the local group on their excellent strip and wished them all success in their venture.

Use of New Chemical May Help Alcoholics

HAMILTON (CP) — A major breakthrough in the treatment of alcoholics may have been made through research in Saskatchewan, a group of United States and Canadian university students were told Tuesday night.

Rev. John Linton of Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Temperance Federation and Canadian head of the Intercollegiate School of Alcohol Studies, described the achievements to a seminar at McMaster University.

Use of the new chemical LSD at the University of Saskatchewan's Institute of Alcoholic Research has reclaimed two cases of advanced alcoholism, Dr. Linton said.

Research findings posed the problem whether alcoholism is not the result of chemical imbalance in the body.

"If it should be so, it might be possible to correct it with chemical therapy. If this proves true, the work in Saskatchewan will be a major breakthrough in meeting the problems of alcoholism everywhere."

Prospectors Can Use Plants to Find Minerals

MONTREAL (CP) — A United States botanist today described how prospectors can use plants to find minerals.

F. R. Fosberg, a botanist with the United States Geological Service, told the ninth International Botanical Congress the type of vegetation growing in an area and analysis of the tissues of the plants can point to mineral deposits.

American government geologists, he said, have found "geobotanical prospecting" especially useful in searching for uranium.

Their investigations have shown both selenium and uranium deposits may be indicated by plants of the genus astragalus, which includes the common milk weed.

Diseased plants may also be a clue to "excessive" amounts of certain elements, he said, and a special unit of the U.S. geological survey had used this method of locating deposits uranium, zinc and lead.

MAY GROW IMMUNE

Resistance to radiation by some forest insects "leaves room for some thoughtful speculation" that a similar resistance may be developed in man, a federal government forestry expert said Tuesday.

Dr. D. A. Fraser, research officer of the forest experimental station at Chalk River, said the problem now is to find out what causes this resistance in the bugs, especially white pine weevil.

Dr. Fraser said it has been observed that white pine weevils survive radiation exposure that would kill animals quickly.

Dr. Fraser also said it may be possible to produce better fruit trees through mutations induced by radiation.

Princess Alexandra Ordered to Bed

LONGREACH, Australia (Reuters)—Princess Alexandra was ordered to bed today with a mild attack of laryngitis and forced to cancel one of the engagements on her Australian tour.

The princess' doctor, Wing Cmdr. B. Kelly, said there was no cause for anxiety but the illness had forced her to cancel a scheduled appearance at a local rodeo.

He said Alexandra, a cousin of the Queen, has had a slight head cold for two days.

EISENHOWER

counter to their own best interests.

Eisenhower already has said he won't negotiate with Khrushchev behind Allied backs or attempt to serve as spokesman for the entire Western world

His first meeting with Adenauer is expected to last at least three hours Thursday morning and continue in the afternoon before he takes off for London.

Adenauer is almost certain to restate his opposition to any regional disarmament plan, such as atom-free or thinned-out zones or freezing of forces.

Adenauer feels that in Europe these would involve de facto discrimination against West Germany and would be the start of a split between West Germany and its allies.

The chancellor is expected to stand forth as an advocate of understanding France's problems and for the France-West German alliance which he believes is essential to American policy in Europe.

The 83-year-old chancellor's advisers are reported to want him to steer clear of relations between West Germany and Britain, marred by Adenauer's distrust of British intentions.

The chancellor's main constructive suggestion on East-West relations is expected to be that general and controlled disarmament should be the key to rapprochment.

Hungary Stages Summer Sales

BUDAPEST (Reuters) — Hungary today was holding its first summer sales since the Communists took over the country 11 years ago.

Government-run clothing stores cut prices 20 to 40 per cent. Union newspaper Nepszava reported sales will be held every spring and summer from now on.

No rush for the bargains was noticeable here. It was not clear whether the sales were launched to dispose of poor-quality stocks that have piled up or as an expression of the country's improved economic situation.

Study Increase Of Speed Limit As B.C. Toll Up

VICTORIA (CP) — A double study of British Columbia's new 60 mile-an-hour speed zones in the light of a rising highway death toll has been ordered by the provincial government.

Highway Minister P. A. Gaglardi and Attorney-General Robert Bonner have each ordered an investigation. The two departments will confer after the studies are complete.

Thirty-eight persons have died on B.C. highways this month, bringing the year's total to 196—26 above the 1958 figure for the same period. Criticism of an increase in the speed limit to 60 from 50 on sections of about 22 highways this summer has followed reports of the increase in the number of deaths, although the number of accidents is down more than 1,000 from last year.

BLAME SPEED, DRINKING

George Lindsay, motor vehicles branch superintendent, said this week he believes the increase in the speed limit is responsible. Mr. Gaglardi says alcohol is the main cause.

Mr. Bonner remarked: "The basic fact of physics cannot be ignored—an accident at 60 miles an hour is more serious than one at 50 or 40."

Mr. Gaglardi's special committee studying the effect of the new limit met behind closed doors Tuesday to consider an RCMP report on accident rates in the new zones. Thomas Miard, deputy highways minister, said the report will not be released until Mr. Gaglardi returns here Sept. 1.

Policemen Talk Nonsense

Ontario policemen charged with an offence enjoy far fewer liberties and rights—particularly in rights of appeal—than the citizens they are hired to protect.

That was the contention advanced during a panel discussion at the convention of the Ontario Police Association in Kitchener last week.

If this were true, it would be a deplorable situation.

It is not true at all, but that does not eliminate all need for concern.

From the examples offered by the policemen participating in the discussion, it is evident that their complaints were in connection with the conditions of their employment and in respect to discipline for alleged misconduct or misdemeanors in the discharge of their duties.

It is shocking to discover that policemen should confuse such charges with charges laid against citizens and tried in court. There is no similarity whatever.

This sort of nonsensical talk about the police possessing fewer rights and liberties than the citizens they are hired to protect can only make more difficult the task of winning the confidence of the general public. Those whose duty it is to enforce the law will always face the animosity of law-breakers and the suspicion of informed citizens who are acutely aware of the tragic frequency with which history records instances of police organizations overstepping their rights and usurping to themselves the fields of the court. Is confidence in the police force enhanced by the spectacle of a policeman who cannot distinguish the difference between a charge of infraction of the law and a charge of failure to discharge properly the duties which one is hired to carry out? Obviously it is not.

We need a higher standard of conduct than this from our police officers, even from the lowliest rookie constable, and numbered among those who are acutely aware of this fact are some of our ablest police officers. At this same convention, for instance, Hamilton's Chief of Police, Leonard Lawrence, declared that the quack doctor is no more of a threat to society than the ignorant, imprudent or unskilled policeman. He was advocating professional standards for all policemen, with every man seeking an appointment, whether as a police chief or as a rookie constable, being forced to pass an independent examining board.

Chief Lawrence's suggestion is excellent. Chief Buger of Sudbury would appear to go even further—he believes that senior officers should be college graduates. With the present standard of wages in larger municipalities, this should not be an objective impossible of attainment—rookie constables in Toronto receive a starting salary of $4,000 with an increase to $4,800 after six months, while Monday's issue of The Ontario Intelligencer carried an advertisement in which the Federal Government was seeking an occupational therapist, a university graduate with several years' experience, at a salary of $3,210. The big stumbling block would be to the salaries paid to policemen by many smaller towns and villages. In many cases policemen are grossly underpaid, are on call 24 hours a day and have other duties besides those of a police officer thrust upon them. In such circumstances it is not surprising that occasionally one of these men should prove, in the words of Chief Lawrence, an "ignorant, imprudent or unskilled policeman." The wonder is that so many of them should discharge their difficult duties so well and so conscientiously.

This Is Treason!

Why doesn't Ald. James Wray of Kitchener go away, as far away as possible. Otherwise Wray may set thing awry. Wray is a man badly out of step with the times. Hasn't he heard that this is the land of free enterprise, of private initiative, where a man can make his own rules, build his own fortune, where hard work is the key to success?

Apparently Ald. Wray has not, for down in Kitchener he has been complaining about our way of life.

His contention—Kitchener stores and service stations should be allowed to set their own hours.

"In a democracy," he argued, "a store owner should be allowed to stay open as long as he likes. There is ample legislation to protect the employees from long hours."

Naturally the Council voted against his motion, although Wray did get two rebels to join him in backing his revolutionary suggestion.

YOUTH AND AGE

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Youth is but a summer season
Like the sweet and fleeting hours;
Youth is but a merry frolic,
All the paths are strewn with flowers.
Hearts are light and voices merry,
Eyes are bright and lips are cherry;
Youth has little time to fret,
Winsome Rae and fair Babette.

Age is but a lifetime's winter,
Gray hairs are the driven snow
Where beneath the frosted tresses
Live the joys of Long Ago.
Hearts are old, and voices saddened,
Age alone by Love is gladdened;
But in Age you will be yet
Winsome Rae and fair Babette.

Strictly Personal

Reason Why Young Rebel

By SYDNEY J. K. HARRIS

Stekel, that brilliant and erratic psychiatrist, said near the end of his life: "When I look back upon the long series of nervous diseases that I have observed I see that invariably the parents have failed to practise what they preached to their children."

This comment, more than anything else, seems to me to sum up the chief reason for the resentment, the restlessness, the rebellion of so many young people today.

We are living in a culture which shows all the symptoms of a split personality. And our children do not know which part of us to believe, to trust, to follow.

On the one hand, we preach the Judeou-Christian system of ethics: to treat our fellowmen decently, to extend mercy, to behave with honor, to place the welfare of our community above our own self-interest.

On the other hand, we secretly (and sometimes openly) respect the qualities of cunning, shrewdness, self-seeking, duplicity, and the aggressive accumulation of material goods.

On Sundays we worship the God of our fathers; on weekdays we make supplication before the idols of the market place. We send our children to Sunday School in the morning; and in the afternoon we bribe a policeman to refrain from giving us a ticket for speeding.

Children take in more with their eyes than with their ears. They recognize that our homilies about honesty do not always jibe with our personal practices, at home, in the office, or on the road.

If we tell them to value the quality of "sharing," and then we boast about our "sharp deal," they intuitively know that we are not handling our lives the way we tell them to handle their toys.

What Erik Erickson, in his magnificent book, "Childhood and Society," calls "basic truth" is the most important legacy we can leave a child. But when the child cannot trust us, when he witnesses the gross disparity between our preachments and our practices, then he feels baffled and cheated, and runs wild because he has no guidlines he can cling to.

When parents talk about "discipline," they mean a rigid set of rules to prevent the child from misbehaving. But the only discipline worthy of the name lies in providing a solid framework of ideals — not for the child to l've up to, but for the parents to live within.

You can beat a child until he is black and you are blue, but it cannot make him any better than the examples he sees around him every day.

Making Golf Automatic

Milwaukee Journal

The golfer who has taken the exercise out of the game by riding from shot to shot in an electric cart may be interested in a new golfing invention.

It is a precision tee setter, a gadget which the manufacturer says will automatically set your tee at any of seven different heights, even in sun baked soil and without your stooping. The manufacturer claims the tee setter reduces driving errors and lowers scores.

To a graybeard whose golfing memory goes back to the days when you formed your own tees out of a pinch of moist sand, this is —as the younger generation puts it — the living end.

Or is it? There remains to be developed a machine that swings the club after you have automatically set your tee from the comfort of your electric cart, leaving you nothing more to do than bend an elbow at the 19th hole.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

August 26th, 1939

Great Britain worked to reinforce its home defences today—grimly calm as the world sat with fingers crossed waiting for one man to make the sign, that would mean peace or war. The world is at the greatest tension since 1914. It is estimated by observers that ten million men are under arms, and that every nation, as it were, is mobilized. This estimate does not include two million Soviet troops under arms.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gibson of Detroit, Mich., are spending their holidays visiting relatives in this city.

Mrs. S. M. Juby, Alexander Street, is spending a few days in Toronto visiting her sister.

Mrs. B. J. Black and Miss Bernadette Black motored to Toronto today.

Mrs. Clarence Locbead of Tamworth, returned home Sunday after spending a week visiting with her cousin, Miss Jessie Smith, Victoria Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Elliott, Foster Avenue, left this morning on a motor trip to the Eastern States.

Mr. George Ketcheson of London, England and a former resident of this district, is visiting relatives in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. George MacDonald, Kingston are spending two weeks in Belleville and Toronto.

30 YEARS AGO

Ex-Mayor H. Freeman Ketcheson and daughter Miss Nettie Ketcheson, accompanied by Dr. H. Taylor and wife of Chicago, Ill., are spending a few days at Bancroft and Maynooth. Dr. Taylor fills the office of an Alderman in Chicago. A few years ago he taught school in North Hastings.

Mr. Norman Edwards has returned home from Toronto where he spent several days.

Mrs. Carl Carson and daughter are visiting relatives in Oakville.

40 YEARS AGO

Miss Phyllis Wood has returned to the city after spending a vacation at Stoney Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cokers of Cornwall are spending a few days in town. Mr. Cokers will shortly assume his duties as manager of the local Bell Telephone Company.

Miss Eva Sweetman has returned to her home here after visiting friends in Toronto.

Miss Doris Pauley has returned to Toronto after visiting at her home on Octavia Street.

A good game of baseball was played here yesterday afternoon between Belleville and Trenton; in fact it was the best exhibition of ball played here this season. The result of the game was a score of 3 to 2 in favor of the Belleville team. Smith and Brown, the battery for Belleville, did good work as did also Surplis and Wilder for Trenton. The following composed the teams: for Belleville — Smith, Brown, Gerow, Reeves, Breman, Connell, Thomas, O'Neill and Delaney. For Trenton — Surplis, LeFleur, Wilder, McCauley, Dobenskey, McMahon, Robertson, Staples and Richardson. Ed O'Flynn was the umpire and he gave general satisfaction.

Mr. John W. Thompson and family of Buffalo, N.Y., are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, Ann Street.

Buy Preserve For Hunters

Winnipeg Tribune

The purchase of a privately-owned duck preserve near Oak Lake by the Manitoba government is to be commended.

Game branch biologists are to study the area which will probably be used partly as a sanctuary and partly as a public shooting ground.

The purchase at least partly reverses the trend which has seen some of the better shooting areas in the province come into private hands. Moreover, many farmers are now posting their fields.

The hunting in these areas is then restricted to the owners.

There is nothing wrong with having some such areas for hunters who can afford them. But there are in Manitoba many hunters whose capital for the sport consists of a shotgun and a box of shells.

For these citizens, sufficient public hunting areas should be preserved so they can enjoy a recreational resource which is, after all, the heritage of all Manitobans.

Canadian PLACE NAMES

KAMLOOPS, B.C.

Kamloops was founded as a fur trading post in 1812, and Indians bestowed the original name of "Cumcloops," meaning "Meeting Of The Waters." It was known locally as Fort Thompson, in honor of the great explorer and "Kamaloops." Modern usage shorted it to its present spelling. Incorporated as a city, it has a population of 10,000.

Letter To The Editor

Passage of Heavy Trucks Protested

Ontario Intelligencer:

I read in The Ontario Intelligencer of Friday, August twenty-first, that citizens of Bridge Street west have complained of the passage of heavy trucks, and that the firms which offended the most were Wilson's Concrete and Toronto-Peterborough Transport.

We live on North Sidney Street and have also been bothered by the same trucks. Now Alderman Jack Ellis, an employee of Wilson's Concrete, has suggested making Sidney Street a through artery to both No. 2 and 401.

Naturally any solution to the problem is bound to hurt a few people, but this will hurt so many.

Before annexation members of the Parkdale Veterans Association had spent hours of hard labor to build the clubhouse and equip the lovely playground. Now Cubs, Brownies and Sea Scouts meet here, the boys play baseball, and the supervised activities at the playground attract younger children.

We have heard also that there soon may be a school built in the district.

Many of the children use Sidney Street to get to the park. Unfortunately, children are not always careful, as was proven by the little boy who was knocked from his bicycle two weeks ago. Making Sidney Street a highway will certainly make life hazardous for them.

Why was the expensive cloverleaf built at North Front Street if not to be used? It seems pointless to have built it if traffic is allowed to enter at any sideroad along the way. It is also adding danger to the lives of motorists using 401.

Why should the residents of the whole Parkdale area be inconvenienced for the sake of these two firms?

Betty Ross,
(Mrs. J. W. Ross),

Some Lies Can Be Kind

Saint John Telegraph-Journal

There are times when a little white lie can cause a lot of happiness.

It happened in Charlottetown.

After they had passed and while throngs of spectators were still cheering the little old lady caught the arm of a young woman nearby.

"Has the Queen passed yet?" she asked anxiously.

Quickly and with great presence of mind the young woman sized up the situation and acted.

Pointing to one of the cars in the procession still passing she said: "There she goes now".

"Thank you, thank you", beamed the little old lady with the poor eyesight who thus had "seen" her Queen. Her day was complete and the young woman's warmed by the result of her thoughtful act.

Biologist Says Owl is Stupid

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

A Cornell University biologist, who has studied the subject closely, reports that owls, supposedly wise, are stupid, even dumber than chickens.

There is reason to believe the professor is right. What dumber creature could there be than one that sits on a branch gaping in the dark and asking "who" incessantly?

Who indeed! The dope would no' know if you told him.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

TRANQUILIZERS USEFUL FOR SOME PROBLEMS

"Dear Dr. Molner: You were so right when you said 'tranquilizers are no cure for worries.'

"A little over three years ago I worried to such an extent that no one could help me. No one had the power to shoulder my burdens of sin, guilt and fear.

"I turned to God and He said I must come through Jesus. I did. Love lifted me. I'll never need any tranquilizers, as I have the peace that He gives. — Mrs. E.B."

Some might say this isn't strictly a medical matter — or is it?

Worry, in itself, though, isn't often a matter of medicine. Worry more likely is the result of a person's attitude toward life. It isn't his (or her) problems; it's the way he looks at them.

It may well be, for all I can say, that some people are more subject to worry than others. We aren't all alike emotionally, any more than we are all alike physically.

Yet I insist that a great many of us can, if we try in the right way, overcome "worry."

Part of overcoming it often lies in the very old-fashioned habit of saying, "Well, if the people across the street can get along with their problems, I can get along with mine."

Another is to become so engrossed in constructive, active things that you don't have time to worry over spilt milk — or about past mistakes — or about happen but usually don't.

And still another is simply to achieve some personal faith that the world gets along fairly well if only we keep trying. This sort of faith has kept people going, through good times and bad, for a good many thousand years, and this kind of faith will keep on pulling us through.

Mrs. E. B. calls it "turning to God." As a Christian, I find that an excellent way of saying it — but if people of other religions want to call it something else, that's their privilege.

I do firmly believe that there must be some Power above and beyond us. What mortal mind could have designed the world we live in? Can we put it all down to accident — the existence of sky and sea, and plants and people, and love and beauty? It is hard for me to conceive that it all is just some chemical accident!

We must do for ourselves what we can: learn, work, help others. Having faith in life, faith in God, call it what you will, is indeed a more powerful medicine in quelling the jitters than any drug I know.

Medically speaking, I do not sell the tranquilizers short — but they are not meant to achieve an inner tranquility that is deep and permanent. Rather, they are useful as a "carry-over" until we can get hold of ourselves.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have been told that certain foods thin the blood. My husband has heart trouble and takes pills for thinning the blood. Would you name some of the foods that do this? — Mrs. L.H."

I don't know of any foods that "thin the blood" in the sense that certain drugs do. The drugs, of course, are given in measured doses, and then laboratory tests determine the prothrombin time (or "clotting time") so the drug dosage can b increased or reduced to get the precise effect required.

Note to Mrs. L.: Your problem is easy. If you really have a need to reduce on salt, go to your druggist or doctor and ask for the name of any several good salt substitutes. (Some grocers carry them, too.)

Attention all women! For my pahphlet, "The Pre-Menstrula Blues," write to me in care of The Chicago Sun Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 153, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5c in coin to cove handling. This pamphlet may help you.

Hairstyling In Old Egypt

BBC London Letter

Women — and some of their menfolk — who grudge the time and money spent at the hairdresser may be thankful that they did not live in Egypt 2,000 years ago.

"Last night you would not have slept on a pillow", said Arthur Garratt in a BBC broadcast, "you would have rested your neck on a special head-rest not to spoil your hairstyle, and you would have had slaves to stay by you all night to make sure you did not toss in your sleep. But despite these precautions you would probably have to give yourself the full treatment in the morning.

"You would start by rubbing into your head a delicate ointment of greyhound's foot, date stones, and the hoof of a jackass crushed and well boiled in oil. Even using this scalp tonic regularly, you would not have enough hair of your own to be in the fashion, so you would add some extra braids cut from slaves' hair kept in sandalwood boxes. You might have 24 plaits held with a lotus bud and, perhaps, some pieces of vulture's wings. Or maybe you would wear a wig with little balls of perfume attached to it. The perfume would permeate the wig all day and give you that 'extra something'."

And this two-hour hair-do was only the beginning of the business. The make-up that followed from face to hennaed toenails must have taken almost as long again.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

When a bush fire starts in Ontario, it is customary, when the scene of the conflagration is remote from roads or settlements, for the Lands and Forests authorities to establish camps for the firefighters, flying in tents, supplies and the amenities of life after having first flown in the crews and pumps and other equipment to deal with this most costly of all fires, a forest fire that can consume millions of dollars worth of public property.

In one such camp, the cook, a French Canadian whose ancestry goes as far back as that of the new Governor-General's in this country, was outraged to discover one fine morning that a bear had come in the night and raided his supply tent. Bacon, butter, raw beets, sugar and other comestibles were stolen. Canned goods were strewn all over, with claw and tooth marks on them, and the tent was a shambles.

Now, rifles and guns are prohibited during the non-hunting season even in government camps. The cook, a man of temper as most good cooks are, cut himself a pole six feet long from a good bit of birch. To the end of it with fish line and wire he bound his longest and best cook's knife, one of these long, triangular blades beloved of chefs.

He lay awake fighting sleep until about midnight, when, all the camp of fire-fighters being still, he heard the unmistakeable sounds of the bear ripping its way into the supply tent. The cook, holding a flashlight to his spear, with all the gusto of a mediaeval sportsman spearing wild boars or a Bengal lancer pig-sticking, he killed the bear with his chef's knife, a two hundred pounder; and served bear steaks for dinner that night.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

INHERITORS

The longer I live the more I love the inspiring creations all about me. I appreciate all the wonderful things that grow in beauty year by year. It is probably because we slow down, and take more time to think about this habitation of ours. A few treasures I have clung to for the period in which I am blessed with life, but even these seem to be but an inheritance for life. I only hope that they will be loved as I have loved them.

We are really inheritors where everything of beauty has been set aside for our spiritual nourishment. I like to think that my love of beauty will be mine for a limited time. Then it will pass to others, and from them the journey will continue, and still other lives will be blessed and made richer and more appreciative. I like to think of my own life as something with continuity to it.

The Good Lord has made us all inheritors to some part of this beautiful earth, and we have distributed ourselves over a wide space of time and endeared the whole earth to us, and so, with the wings of influence we salute like-others to a few of the events of life that have inspired us all along the way. What a great and precious inheritance we all may have right from the start!

Nothing great ever dies, but there are replacements, and the Globe and Time meet to talk over the coming events of other innumerable years of existence! Let us hope and pray that all wars may then have passed from the earth.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

HERE IS SOMETHING REAL

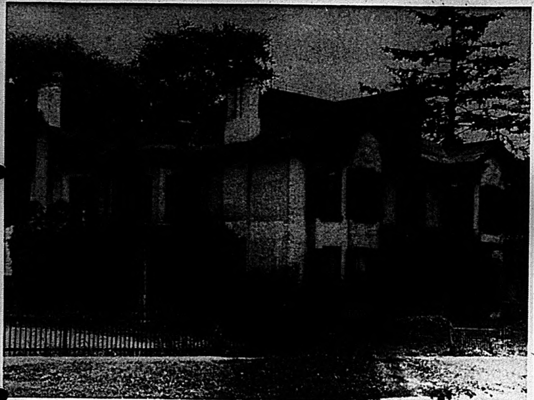
Are you an aristocrat?

You may be either surprised by such a question or complimented, or offended. It all depends on the way you define the term "aristocrat."

Hereditary aristocracy is a pretty lame affair — giving credit for generations to unworthy people for something a worthy forebear did. Hereditary aristocracy is not popular in the world and indeed should not be. We like to think that there is a lot of democracy in the way God carries out His purposes.

But this, of course, does not preclude the emergence of aristocrats. Modern aristocracy is acquired, not inherited. Our modern idea of an aristocrat is one who reaches such a fine and elevated life, or performs such service to his fellow men, or makes such helpful discoveries that God is glorified and the welfare of man advanced. And do you mean to say that there are not tens of thousands of high-minded aristocrats today living lives of unselfish love, entertaining high ideals, serving fellow men, and pressing toward goals of human betterment? Of course, there are such people, and these are our aristocrats. We recognize them as such. We bless and honor them.

Don't be afraid to acknowledge aristocracy when you encounter it — and, above all, do not be afraid to aspire to it yourself.



AN ERA ENDS . . . —The old Corby home on George Street will be torn down shortly to make way for an apartment building project. Above is a picture of the former residence of Senator Harry Corby, who built it just before the turn of the century. Belleville's first housing development scheme is being erected on the former Corby estate.

Corby Home, One of City's Landmarks, Being Torn Down To Make Way for Apartments

One of Belleville's historic homes and landmarks is soon to disappear under the pick and bar of the wrecking crew. The old Corby home, which has stood vacant since the demise of the last Belleville member of the family will soon be no more. Built by the late Senator Corby just before the turn of the century, this mansion has outlived both its builders and its era.

It was built during a time when men felt they should have room to move around in and to live in. The master bedroom, measuring about 27 by 15 feet, is larger than most living rooms these days. The main bathroom adjoining is of a size equivalent to the average kitchen these days, if not a shade larger. To wander through this old home one has a hard time determining which room was used for what. With the furniture gone there is little by which one can determine a downstairs room's character. There are three which could be used for a living room. But in those days of gracious living and large homes a dining room and a study were a must for any respectable residence.

Vestiges of an era long past still remain, however .The solid mahogany doors, the wall to wall emerald green carpet (now faded), the ornate ceiling fixtures, the tiled washrooms, the nickel-plated plumbing fixtures, still bearing their brilliance proudly despite the passing of time. Cut glass windows, sweeping bannisters, capacious fireplaces, richly panelled walls, ornamental woodwork . . . all betoken a past which encompassed warm, live, and vigorous people who took great pride in their way of life.

WILL BE LEVELLED

In a few days, however, this stately, albeit shabby, link with Belleville's past will no longer serve to remind local citizens of an era of this city's greatness or of a family, which founded one of Hastings County's oldest industries.

Time will have its toll of all those things which are not maintained, however. The Corby mansion will be levelled to make way for apartment dwelling development. The local firm of Andscott Homes Limited, operated by Messrs. John O'Flynn, Ted Follwell, and Bill McCormick, will be erecting at least two apartment buildings on the old Corby estate. One of these, on William Street is nearing completion, the other is scheduled for construction during the winter months.

Playgrounds Will Be Closed With Sports Program

A full day's activity of sports and field events with classes for both Junior and Senior competition will climax the summer's supervised playground program this week with events to be staged at East Hill Playground Thursday.

The Sports Day climaxes the official closing of the 18 playgrounds in the city of Belleville. Playgrounds were opened officially on July 2nd.

Events for the eighth annual will get underway at 10.00 a.m. and will continue, throughout the day with a break for lunch.

Included in the day's activities are contests for best decorated bicycle, race events ranging from 60-75 yard dashes, sack races, three-legged races and relay races. There will even be a freckle contest for the freckle-faced kids.

Free beverages and ice cream will be served to all the youngsters.

CLOTHING CHALLENGE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Competition from the Far East is threatening the jobs of 400,000 North American clothing workers and their $1,000,000,000 industry Senator Kenneth B. Keating said Tuesday. He said "the gravest threat of all" lies in a new ready-to - wear clothing industry being developed in Japan to export to the United States and Canada.

Freeze Corn For Winter

Dewy-fresh corn-on-the-cob, with its sweet, milk-white juiciness is one of the most typical of Canadian fall foods. In these days of modern marketing, every attempt is made to rush this vegetable fresh and cool from the field into your shopping basket . . . and after that it's up to you!

Corn-on-the-cob should be kept cool until it reaches the kettle on your stove, the sugar-sweetness turns to starch much more quickly when held at high temperatures than at low. Husk and tassels should be removed at cooking time.

As with most fresh vegetables, corn does not require long cooking since this toughens the kernels and reduces their sweetness and juiciness. 8 to 10 minutes boiling in salted water to cover, should be long enough to cook the corn to just the right stage of tenderness. When the corn is cooked, the "milk" is set and the kernels will slip from the hull when pricked with a fork. If cobs of corn are cut in 4 or 5 pieces, 3 to 4 minutes cooking time will be sufficient.

FROZEN CORN

Sometimes frozen corn-on-cob has a hay-like, off flavor. This may be due to insufficient blanching and perhaps to over-maturity of the corn itself.

These, then, are the most important factors to heed when freezing corn at home. Select freshly picked cobs with rounded kernels, milky juice and sweet flavor, being sure to avoid those with either immature or too firm (overmature) kernels.

Remove the husks and silk, wash in cool water and blanch (dip in boiling water): 11 minutes for large cobs; 9 minutes for medium cobs, 7 minutes for small cobs.

Chill quickly in ice water, drain thoroughly and wrap in freezer foil or pack into freezer bags, sealing securely. Freeze.

Corn-on-the-cob takes up more freezer space than kernel corn so you may prefer to freeze corn this way. Blanch cobs only 3 minutes and chill. Using a sharp knife, cut kernels off cob, making sure not to cut so deeply that the hulls come off too. Pack into freezer containers and freeze.

New Type of Native Woman Emerging in New Guinea

By PETER SMARK

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (Reuters)—A new type of native woman is emerging in New Guinea, one who enjoys almost equal status with men and takes an active interest in civic affairs.

The influence of education, welfare work and missions is extending the native woman's influence from the home into local government councils, schools, hospitals and industry.

"The woman in Papua - New Guinea was never as downtrodden as in some other primitive countries, but in the past her influence on men and male affairs was exerted only in the home," one senior official of the native affairs department in Port Moresby explained. "Now, women are saying in public things which, 10 years ago, they would not have dreamed of saying."

Education and more travel away from their own small villages, he added, have given women a new conception of their place in village society, and men are coming to recognize their new influence.

Women today are among the best and most enthusiastic members of the councils on which they serve in many parts of the territory, which is under Australian administration.

In the Milne Bay area of Papua, even the male members of the council recognize that the women are efficient though they are unpopular beause they are highly critical of male "dithering."

Even in electorates where there are no women council members, the female vote often is decisive in defeating a candidate — usually on moral grounds. Because, in the words of H. Plant, officer in charge of native local government councils, "women voters will generally not support a candidate whose private life is suspect, even though he may have qualities as a leader."

Another senior administration official says the traditional role of a woman as a "beast of burden" is also slowly changing.

Before the administration's influence brought peace to the territory, the men carried weapons and the women all the household goods. With the end of tribal battles and the elimination of the need to carry weapons, the man did not start carrying children or household goods and the women was still as heavily burdened as before. Now this is changing, although slowly in the more primitive areas.

But in Port Moresby so marked is the change that many husbands are even seen carrying one child while their wife carries another.

Native women also are becoming increasingly rebellious against arranged marriages, and are demanding the right to choose their own husbands.

U.K. Nurses Helping to Ease Shortage

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two young nurses from the United Kingdom arrived here to help ease the shortage of trained nurses under an unusual program operated by the National Employment Service.

Nancy McLure and Jean Baird, each with seven years' experience, arrived by plane from Greenock, Scotland, and immediately took up duties in Winnipeg's General Hospital.

The girls are two of 26 nurses brought here since the beginning of 1958. The National Employment Service advertised in a United Kingdom nursing magazine. Nancy and Jean, graduates of Yorkshire and Irish hospitals, applied for the work.

They intend to stay "a year or two" and want to see the world before settling down to marriage.

The employment service began its program five years ago and offered a come-now-pay-later transportation plan. Twelve teachers have emigrated to Canada in the same way.

The program, sometimes referred to as "trained brains by plane," has caught the eye of executive and professional officials, who now are advertising in the U.K. for engineers, laboratory technicians and physiotherapists.

OVERDRYING in your clothes dryer tends to shrink cotton polo shirts. If this has happened to your children's shirts, you can usually remedy the situation. Dip the shirt in water, hang it up securely and pull the fabric back into shape, let it dry.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Matthew Sowden are shown following their recent marriage in Christ Church, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Shelva Jeanne Cummings, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cummings, of Belleville, and the bridegroom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Storey Sowden, also of Belleville. (Photo by Ka Y., Belleville).

SOWDEN — CUMMINGS

Tall standards of pink and white gladioli and baskets of mixed flowers adorned the altar of Christ Church, Belleville, and white satin bows the guest pews for a recent, lovely, summer wedding when Shelva Jeanne Cummings, of Belleville, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cummings, became the bride of Howard Matthew Sowden, of Belleville, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Storey Sowden. The Rev. E. P. Smith, assistant rector, officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her floor-length bridal gown of nylon tulle over taffeta fashioned with fitted bodice having a Sabrina neckline, accented by a lace bodice having long, lily-pointed sleeves. The fully bouffant skirt of tulle over taffeta was enhanced with matching panels of hand-cut Chantilly lace. She wore a crown style headdress encrusted with tiny seed pearls, finger-tip veil of silk tulle illusion, and carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow roses centred by a mauve orchid.

She was attended by her four sisters, Miss Carole Ann Cummings, as maid of honor; Miss Judith Cummings, as senior bridesmaid; Miss Nancy Cummings as junior bridesmaid, and little Miss Jaclyn Cummings as flower girl.

The maid of honor was attractively attired in seafoam aqua chiffon in ballerina-length fashioned with strapless bodice in shirred effect with matching bolero. The bouffant skirt was caught at the back in bustle style. She wore a matching picture hat, white gloves, and carried a Colonial bouquet of pink and white roses with white satin streamers.

The junior bridesmaid, was gowned in mauve pin-dot nylon over taffeta similar in design to that of the senior bridesmaid, with matching picture hat, and white gloves. She also carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow roses, and white 'mums tied with white streamers.

The little flower girl was demure and sweet in her floor-length frock of yellow pin-dot nylon over taffeta with scoop neckline. She carried a tiny basket of yellow baby 'mums, and sweetpeas in mauve and white, with streamers of mauve satin, and wore a matching floral headdress with tiny strand of pearls, a gift of the bride. Single strands of pearls also completed the nuptial costumes of the three other attendants.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Patrick Brown, of Belleville, while the guests were ushered by Mr. Kenneth McLaren, and the bride's only brother, Mr. Robert W. Cummings, both of Belleville.

The reception, which followed the ceremony, was held in Club Canara, Belleville, where the bride's mother received the guests, wearing aqua silk organza with matching duster; pink picture hat, and corsage of pink roses. Assisting her in the receiving line was the bridegroom's mother, who was gowned in romance blue silk organza in sheath style, complemented by bolero, with three-quarter sleeves, white petal pillbox hat, and corsage of pink roses.

The bride's table was prettily appointed with the traditional white linen, centred by a three-tier pedestal wedding cake adorned with tiny pink roses, and topped by a double arch of lily-of-the-valley and white roses with tiny white doves bearing rings. The lovely bridal flowers and the tall pink and silver candles in crystal holders added a delightful nuptial accent.

Mr. and Mrs. Sowden will reside at 86½ Victoria Avenue, Belleville.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was entertained at a shower with Mrs. James Fox as hostess. The bride was also honored by the presentation of a beautiful casserole from the pupils of S.S. No. 13, Sidney Township, where she had taught for the past year.

Guests were present from Toronto; Gananoque; Northbrook; Point Anne, and Belleville.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP TELEPHONE TEMPER-TANTRUMS

You're not only an extremely discourteous person but you're a social coward if you slam down the receiver when you answer the telephone and find that the person calling has the wrong number. Just because you don't know the person on the other end of the wire is no reason why you should let your temper go berserk. Why not a little self-control . . . why not a little courtesy?

INVITATIONS TO WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are to celebrate our 25th Wedding Anniversary next month, and plan to hold Open House. Will you please let me know the type of invitation we should send out and at the same time get an indication back as to how many accept the invitation? — E.

There are various forms that are proper and convenient to use for this invitation. For example, you might have the invitations hand-written on large white cards, plain or silver-edged:

1934 1959
Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson
Open House
Tuesday the sixth of October from four to seven o'clock
123 Pleasant Street
Haven, Ontario
R.s.v.p.

Instead of "Open House," you may prefer to use "at home." (This invitation is often engraved on white cards in silver letters.)

Or you may use the semi-engraved invitations, filling in the lines with the necessary information, and adding "R.s.v.p." Or write notes of invitation on the inside pages of your informals.

Bay of Quinte W.I. Hears Talk On 'Health'

2nd SIDNEY — The Bay of Quinte Institute was held on Wednesday afternoon at Mrs. Walter Jones' of Bayside, with a good attendance.

It had been arranged to have a short course called "When Food Makes a Difference," put on by the Home Economics branch of the Department of Agriculture, on October 27 from 1.30 to 4.30 p.m. at White's Church. There is no charge.

A survey is being made of all the farms in Ontario to find out about accidents on farms. Mrs. Donald Sandercock is in charge of this district and she would like it if any one knows of an accident south of 401 to let her know.

Mrs. Clarence Holmes, the convention secretary, advised that the W. I. convention would be on the 8th and 9th of October at Club Canara, Belleville. They will be serving a 50-cent lunch and will hold a banquet at night, a turkey dinner in the basement with 150 tickets available.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Casey Ketcheson of Bayside, the convener of home economics and health. Mrs. Ketcheson said she had a local speaker for the W. I., Mrs. Palmer, a teacher of Breadner school, who would speak on "Health."

Mrs. Palmer advised all who had a chance to take the St John Ambulance course. "Health is most important and if often the cause of a broken marriage."

Continuing, she said, "That far too many children from well-to-do homes, come undernourished to school and a lot of them are starved for sleep. When going to school a child needs something to eat that will stay with him 'till the next meal and also needs lots of sleep.

"Posture is important to good health. Swimming and dancing lessons will help this a lot.

"All women are urged to have a hobby, always plan to read a good book once a month and also listen to some good music. You are nearer to God in a garden than any place else on earth. You must have rest and relaxation to keep fit with love in the home."

Mrs. Ketcheson spoke on "Home Economics" and gave a fine demonstration of combinations of salads.

[illegible] was put on by Mrs. Palmer and won by Mrs. W. Jeffrey.

The Institute, put on a demonstration of a table setting of a child's Christmas party at the Belleville fair.

Mrs. Fred Wilson moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Walter Jones and conveners for the lovely repast, with Mrs. Sandercock telling Mrs. Ketcheson and Mrs. Palmer she appreciated their fine program.

Pony Skin Woolknit

By ALICE ALDEN

There's pleny of pattern excitement in the new wool knits. Catalina, a fine designer in this medium, contributes to the pattern interest with a pony skin design. It is done in a pinto-brown and white brushed woolknit cardigan. Solid brown borders the open Chanel-line jacket front and the new slanting pockets. Coordinated with a brown flat knit skirt, as shown here, and also with tapering woolknit slacks or a slender sheath, the jacket, proves itself a versatile bit of wardrobe magic. A new feature of the skirt is the completely invisible side zipper closing. Both are nicely priced, too.

Rose Hall W.A. Enjoys Scenic Views of West

HILLIER SOUTH — On evening of August 19th, Mrs. K. G. Conley opened her home for the Rose Hall W.A. meeting.

After welcoming the guests and members, thanking Mrs. Conley for entertaining, Mrs. Pierson opened the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. L. Wight read the minutes which were approved; the financial report given by Mrs. L. Channel; Mrs. L. McCartney gave the missionary report and Mrs. Kristlyne the correspondence. A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. Pellow.

Business was arranged and no meeting will be held in September.

Mrs. L. Wight gave the devotional lesson and read the life of Miriam.

A surprise was given to Mrs. W. Cunningham and Mrs. L. McCartney, when the group sang "Happy Birthday" and Mrs. Pierson placed a lovely birthday cake with lighted candles on the centre table. Both ladies attended to blowing out candles and thanked the group for the kindly gesture.

Mrs. B. C. Bishop and Mrs. R. Thompson from Wellington attended.

Mrs. Wilmot Davis, Mrs. R. Pierson and Mrs. T. A. Wannamaker assisted in serving of ice cream and cake.

Views of Grand Canyon, California and Canadian West brought back from Mrs. Conley's recent trip were shown and greatly enjoyed.

COOKING PORK

Wedding

WALMSLEY — STAPLES

LAKEFIELD — The setting was the chapel of Lakefield Preparatory School, when Jeanette Marion Staples, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Staples on Saturday exchanged marriage vows with James Creeggan Walmsley, son of Dr. J. H. Walmsley and Mrs. Walmsley of Picton.

Two uncles of the bridegroom, the Venerable Archdeacon J. B. Creeggan of Belleville and the Rev. T. E. Downey of Ottawa, conducted the service.

Gordon M. Fleming of Peterborough, played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of off-white faille taffeta with Empire waistline and long lily-point sleeves. A panel extended to a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was caught to a band of velvet flowers and she carried a cascade of white shasta 'mums and trailing ivy.

Her only attendant, Mrs. Ronald Webb of Brampton, wore a frock of ivory peau de soie embroidered with tiny golden flowers. Her bandeau was of golden shade baby 'mums and these were also used in her cascade bouquet.

Groomsman for his cousin was Mr. Douglas Walmsley, of Picton, and the ushers were Messrs. Terry Staples of London and Tom Walmsley, of Picton, brothers of the bride and bridegroom, and Bill Wood of Napanee.

For the reception, the bride's mother wore a gown of dusty rose lace which featured a front panel of pleated crepe, matching hat and accessories and a corsage of white orchids. She was assisted in receiving the guests by the bridegroom's mother in a Queen's blue matte silk jersey sheath gown with matching hat and accessories and corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Out-of-town guests were present from Picton, Kingston, Ottawa, Belleville, Montreal, Toronto, Peterborough, Ingersoll, Bethany and Stony Lake.

For a wedding trip to the East coast the bride chose a navy blue silk shantung dress with matching jacket, white and navy accessories and a corsage of white shasta 'mums. Mr. and Mrs. Walmsley will live at 193 Curruthers St., Kingston.

Making Do In Muskoka

by Mary Moore

Being in Muskoka, planning close up the cottage at the eekend, and yet serve good nd attractive dinners presents —triple problem.

Meat is expensive. Two ounds of ground beef were 2.09. Minor supplies were running low and we did not want o buy such things as Worestershire sauce and onion lakes. But my sister-in-law Wyn indulges me and allows ne full sway in the kitchen. Smilingly she takes the list of groceries I've written and drives off for them while I type r cook — or take a dip.

But yesterday the meat loaf we concocted with what we had on hand was worth talking about. Especially since it was big enough to serve two meals. We sliced it cold the second night and it was excellent slicing tetxture and the flavor was still rich. We had to hide it in a cookie box in the refrigerator to fool 14-year-old Paul who would have polished it off at 10 p.m. in sandwiches.

MUSKOKA MEAT LOAF:

2 lbs. ground beef (round or shank beef), 3-4 cup tomato juice, 2 slices stale bread (Stale! It was as hard as a rock.) 6 small green onions (begged from Mrs. Birse in the next cottage.) 1-4 cup cheese whiz, 1 teaspoon sugar, shake of pepper, 1-4 cup chili sauce (the last of the bottle), 2 eggs, 1 egg white (leftover — in the refrigerator), 1 teaspoon horseradish, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1-2 cup chopped Cheddar cheese, 1-2 teaspoon salt.

In the bottom of a big bowl I soaked the bread in the chili sauce and tomato juice. Wyn sliced the onions very thin, then all of the ingredients went in and I took off my ring and mixed it with my hands. I pressed it hard into a well-buttered loaf pan and baked it for 1 1-2 hours at 300 deg. Fahr. About 5 minutes before serving time I turned on the top oven and browned it. What happened was the little pieces of cheese on top bubbled and browned and gave it an attractive dappled effect. So this would not be hidden Wyn and I very carefully lifted it out, top up, onto a platter, wielding two lifters. I would suggest that to insure transferring it intact when hot you should line the pan with a long strip of buttered parchment paper. That will facilitate lifting it. We surrounded it with creamed green and yellow beans and diced carrots and a little leftover corn. This medley of vegetables made an attractive border.

VEGETABLE MEDLEY WITH SOUR SAUCE:

Try this. It will be a new and treasured addition to your special vegetable file. Use half and half green and yellow beans cut in 1-inch lengths, diced carrot and kernels from 1 1-2 large cobs cooked corn (from night before). Cook in boiling water and add corn for the last 2 minutes of cooking time. Drain. Then we added them to this Sour Sauce for vegetables. 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup buttermilk (or 3-8 cup each sour cream and sweet milk.) 1-4 cup mayonnaise, shake of pepper.

Melt butter, stir in flour, salt and pepper in top double boiler. Stir in buttermilk until thick and smooth. Stir in mayonnaise until all is hot. Add drained vegetables and serve at once.

NOTE:

You could use frozen or fresh green peas and diced carrots but with that combination at the last moment add 1-2 cup finely sliced green onions.

Women's Institute

WELLINGTON W.I.

WELLINGTON — The regular monthly meeting of Wellington Women's Institute was held on Tuesday evening as a picnic supper with 25 in attendance, which was enjoyed by all in the park prior to the meeting.

Later, all adjourned to the town hall where other members who were unable to attend the picnic, joined them.

Mrs. S. Tripp, president, was in the chair and welcomed all members and guests.

Bills were presented and voted to be paid. A letter from the County Fair Board was read asking for an exhibit from the Institute. This year the W.I exhibits will be: 12 articles the theme being "My Hobby." It was suggested Mrs. Tripp try to gather the 12 articles with Mrs. Ogilvy assisting her. A special invitation to attend the 4-H Club Achievement Day" to be held in Picton, September 12, was received. Thank-you cards were read from Mrs. E. Carson, Godfrey Upton, Mrs. W. Ainsworth and Mrs. G. Guernsey.

Mrs. Tripp reported on the scholarship fund It was decided to send $28, the first payment to the fund.

The birthday box was replenished by three donations from Mrs. J. Denard, Mrs. Lewis and Maud Stoneburgh, who all had birthdays in August.

Mrs. Ogilvy handed in $18.50, the receipt from the food sale, held on August 8th.

Two new members joined.

Mrs. Bovay and Mrs. Ogilvy presented the following program: a song by all present; "O Canada," "Poem of the Month," by Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Denard and Mrs. Lewis, who had been on a bus trip to Lake Placid, gave a good account of this with Mrs. eDnard giving the first day's happenings; Mrs. Lewis, the second day's and by all accounts those who stayed home missed a most enjoyable trip. "Juanita" was sung by all, followed by an amusing reading of "Sam's Letter," by Mrs. K. Woods, in way that no one else could read it.

The next meeting will be September 15th with Group 1, Mr Allison and Mrs. Denard hostesses.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mrs. R. E. — Gall should give Bert up.

Gall E. — We're miserable apart.

Mrs. R. E. — I am confused about how to help my 16-year-old daughter who has been going steady with a boy for the past two years.

I have been trying to get Gall to see other boys and once in a while she does date one, but then she comes back to Bert and won't go out again with the other fellow. I have nothing against Bert. He seems nice, but I feel he is a little young for her. The most important thing is that she does not seem happy with him. They constantly have fights and she cries and goes around in a black mood.

I feel she is spoiling years in which she could be having fun. Yet she refuses to give Bert up.

Gall E. — Bert and I really love each other and hope to marry some day. We know it can't be for a long time. We both want to go to college. We aren't the silly kind of teenagers. We often study and work on school projects together. We certainly don't want to break up.

I don't know why we get into these fights. Sometimes we just find ourselves fighting and we don't know what started it. We say we're never going to see one another again and then we both feel terrible. Often the fights start because of jealousy. He says if I can see others he can too and then we're both miserable.

I always have an awful time with other boys. So why give up Bert?

The Council: Perhaps it would help Gall to realize that it is hard for everyone, even those much older than she is, to give up the safety of the known for the dark, icy waters of the unknown.

Gall clings to Bert and he to her because they are used to one another, accept one another and offer one another no challenges. They were undoubtedly helpful to one another in their early growing up stages, but now the very security they find in one another is serving as a ball and chain.

This is why these teenagers are constantly fighting. Through the fights they express their irritation about being more or less handcuffed together and they also alleviate some of the boredom of their relationship. AftSer a good fight they enjoy making up and feel refreshed for further association with one another.

This sort of relationship can go on for a long time, blocking both partners from further development. The determination Gall expresses to marry Bert "some day" is not based in deep feeling or rational thinking. She and her boy friend are using it as an additional weight on their ball, and chain. It is just one more reason to keep them from doing what they want to do — get to know others.

We think Mrs. R. E. should avoid nagging Gall to "give Bert up." She should rather confine herself to encouraging her daughter to accept dates with others and to follow through with these contacts — even if they don't turn out to be entirely enjoyable. Eventually Gall will learn to enjoy her association with other boys and then she may find that she and Bert are happiest apart or as more casual friends.

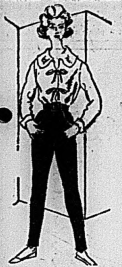
Indoor Decoration



By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Lounge wear is sharply defined this season in well-tailored separates, pieces that go perfectly together and manage, also, to be at home with other garments. The black velveteen pants are tapered in the pressed manner with curved pockets. Good with casual shirts or sweaters, they are shown here with a blouse of the "important" type, the fabric of white satin. The large collar and the laced shoestring closing are current sartorial signatures.

QUICK RECOVERY

LONDON, Eng. (CP) — Three weeks after poliomyelitis paralyzed her legs and back, 18-year-old Debra Turner won a 100-yard sprint. Doctors said her quick recovery was probably due to the fact that she received her first anti-polio inoculation last January.

Girl Guides Enjoy Life At Camp

FRANKFORD — The first Frankford Girl Guide Camp, held this year at Presqu'ile Point, has come to a happy and successful conclusion, and weary and sunburned Guiders have, for the most part, recuperated. There were Mrs. Evelyn Servos, Mrs. Helen Stickle, Mrs. Arvilla Lawrence, Miss Margaret Cooney, Brown Owl of 2nd Frankford Brownies.

Since the naming of the Frankford Camp, it naturally followed that the various tents and patrols were named for various kinds of apples, the above-named Guiders logically being Crab Apples.

No. 1 Patrol: Spy Apples — Sandra Caley, P.L.; Linda Adams, Brenda Westlake, Jean Rose, Judy Lawrence, Brenda Phillips.

No. 2: Rotten Apples — Donna Chase, P.L.; Cheryl Chard, Pat Hamilton, Joan Rose, Colleen Powell.

No. 3: Sweet Apples — Elinor Beach, P.L.; Cheryl Mikel, Bernice Rowe, Carol Caley, Heather Kemp.

The two children of Mrs. Lawrence who accompanied their mother and lived in a tent of their own, by some degree of logic became "Thorn Apples."

Mrs. Fred Caley came out each morning to the camp, accompanied by Mrs. Gerald Scott, who was the swimming instructor. Mrs. Scott was kind enough to bring whatever supplies they needed each day.

On Thursday afternoon, Commissioners Mrs. John Moore and Mrs. Tony Machala visited the camp and brought a luscious watermelon. Thursday evening the Batawa Guides and leaders came over for campfire.

This being the first camp, the main objective was to teach the girls cooking over campfires; how to put up and strike tents, how to live and work in close comradeship with one another.

Some gadget-making was done and about two hours of swimming was enjoyed each day.

Special thanks from the Guiders go to everyone who helped with the Guide Camp in any way.

Campus Favorite

By TRACY ADRIAN

College girls and outdoor types will be pleased with this new sweater style that is equally at home in the country, on the campus, or even in an office. The cardigan is done in a wicker weave and features a rather deep V neckline and long sleeves that are pictured pushed up. Pure wool, it comes in a variety of interesting colors.

Surprise Party, Barbecue Mark Anniversary

WELLINGTON — Mr. and Mrs. Donald Macdonald had a family picnic in their back garden by the lake, last Saturday evening. Hot dogs and corn were roasted on the barbecue. Sometime later on being called into the house they were surprised to find the party had just started.

The dining room table was set with linen, china and silver and centred with flowers. A huge ice cream cake was decorated in honor of their 30th wedding anniversary. Light and dark cake was served with the ice cream.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Strong, Dougie and Patti of London; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown, Donald and Brenda of Picton; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hurst, Ricky and Bobby of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Macdonald, Misses Betty and Nancy and Tom and Wayne Macdonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Graham and family of Milton and Miss Barbara Macdonald, of Lake-on-the Mountain, were unable to be present on this happy occasion.

HONEST SHOPPER

NORTHAMPTON, Eng. (CP)— A woman found £100 in her shopping bag along with her recently-purchased groceries. She returned the cash to the self-service store and received £10 for her honesty. The grateful manager said the clerk swept the day's receipts into the bag along with the woman's order.

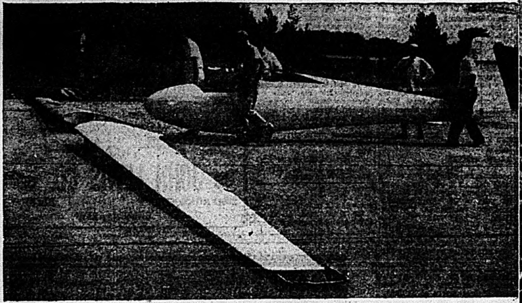
Soaring in Sailplanes

More Canadians up in the Air



Canadian interest in glider flying has skyrocketed since the end of World War II. Thirteen soaring clubs with over forty-five gliders are now operating across Canada. Glider pilot licenses are granted by the Department of Transport after completion of three hours flying time and twenty solo flights. Today, 348 Canadians are registered glider pilots. 1959 celebrates a half century of powered flight in Canada and, at the same time, focuses one of aviation's spotlights on the increasingly popular sport of glider flying.

The nylon tow-rope is released by the glider pilot when sufficient height has been reached—usually 2000 feet for first-year flyers. Without thermals or updrafts, glider and pilot will be down to earth within thirty minutes.

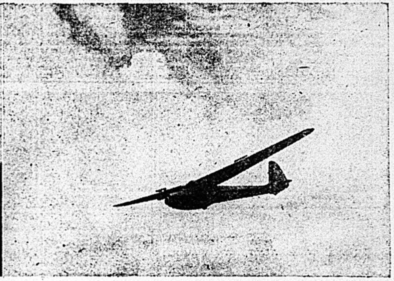
Men have no monopoly on soaring! Flying clubs across Canada have many qualified women pilots. Membership rates are usually under $20.00 per year with small fees for soaring time and towing.

At the Gatineau Glider Club in Ontario, a single-seater sailplane is towed aloft by a Tiger Moth. After release, some sailplanes have soared over 300 miles while others have climbed beyond 16,000 feet on existing air currents. In Canada, the longest cross-country flight qualified for the highest attainable international award after soaring 312 miles.



Soaring through the clouds in soundless flight is an experience attracting more Canadians each year. Glider clubs like the Southern Ontario Soaring Association, the largest in North America, welcome new members to their ranks. Costs are low and spirits high in Canada's newest of sports—soaring.

Extensive Study Precedes Cabinet Decisions Whether Murderers Go to Gallows

By DON PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Under Canadian criminal law, the courts must sentence to death anyone convicted of murder. The federal cabinet decides whether a murderer hangs or serves a life sentence instead.

"It is never a pleasant thing," said Solicitor-General Balcer, key man in this decision. "It is always gruesome."

"But we consider any representation from anyone about the case—at any time up to the last," he said in an interview.

As the minister who combs through details of each convicted murderer's case, in order to recommend what decision cabinet should make, his experiences have included one of being visited by the father of a condemned young man.

"I'm the one who should be hanged," Mr. Balcer quoted the anguished father as telling him.

DELAYS DECISION

The cabinet's decision is usually made known close to the execution date for two reasons: because of the time required to study each case and so that convicted men entertain the hope of commutation as long as possible, thus shortening the ordeal of waiting for those whose sentence is not altered.

In the exercise of the royal prerogative of mercy, a cabinet has complete power. It could free a convicted murderer entirely, if it wished. No Canadian cabinet ever has done so, however.

Since the Progressive Conservatives took office in June, 1957, the new cabinet has commuted 25 of 32 death sentences—a noticeably larger proportion than under the previous Liberal cabinet. From 1954 to 1956 inclusive, 18 death sentences were commuted while 21 hangings were permitted.

The recent cabinet policy has led to criticism in some quarters that it is making a mockery of court decisions. Last April Mr. Justice A. M. Manson of Kamloops, B.C., protested that the cabinet's action constitutes an infringement of Parliament's rights.

Opposition Leader Pearson argued at one point in the Commons that if the government wants to abolish death sentences, it should propose such a change in Canadian law and let Parliament decide on it.

PARLIAMENT'S RIGHT

In a recent interview, Justice Minister Fulton said the cabinet's action in no way is an indication of a government intention or desire to abolish capital puishment. Such an action, he said, is a right only Parliament can exercise.

"There should certainly be no feeling on the part of a judge that in commuting a death sentence we are reversing him."

When a jury finds a person guilty of murder, the judge has no choice but to order the death penalty.

But there is a difference between the court's responsibility of administering the law and the cabinet's duty to exercise its law-given prerogative of mercy.

"That is a responsibility a cabinet cannot evade," he said.

To Mr. Justice Manson's statements, Mr. Fulton says the judge was commenting "on something entirely outside his sphere of authority and jurisdiction."

His Commons reply to Mr. Pearson was that each death sentence is dealt with on its individual merits.

Elaborating to a reporter, he said:

"Different cabinets are composed of different individuals. It may well be that in one cabinet the majority are inclined to give different weight to compassionate features of a case than the majority of another cabinet would."

Continuing a policy followed by the former Liberal cabinet, he said, "the lack of a jury recommendation for mercy doesn't prejudice a man's chances."

It is apparent, however, that compassionate aspects are the main considerations given by the present cabinet when reviewing a condemned person's case.

In exercising what, in effect, is a moral judgment, the cabinet is provided with a thorough review of each case by justice department investigators and Mr. Balcer.

Clippings are collected from the first news report of a killing. To give the condemned person time to appeal to higher courts and the justice department time to complete its investigations, a death sentence is usually set for a date some three months after conviction.

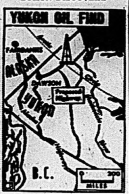
Information gathered includes court records of the case, a report from the judge, and often the crown attorney and defence counsel. Usually, at least one close member of the family writes in. Frequently a clergyman does, too. In almost every case, a few letters turn up from people urging that the full penalty be exacted.

If any item needs elaborating, department investigators—they're usually all lawyers — might telephone the judge, the police, crown attorney, defence counsel or anyone else who might help complete the picture: Why did he do it? What bearing had his background on the case? Was there provocation? Did he get a fair trial? Was the defence counsel adequate? In short, was the slayer given every benefit of Canada's legal process?

To fill in missing details, the department sends its own psychiatrist to examine the condemned man. With his report, the department has a view as far back into the convicted man's life as it is possible to get.

When all of this information has been weighed and evaluated, a summary is turned over to Mr. Balcer together with all the material. Only after he has given the whole batch a thorough review does he take the case to cabinet for the final — and irrevocable—decision.

YUKON DISCOVERY



An oil and gas strike in the Yukon just south of the Arctic Circle has been termed by Resources Minister Hamilton as discovery of a new area with oil-bearing potentialities.

The well 150 miles northeast of Dawson in the Eagle Plain oil reservation yielded gas flows up to 10,000,000 cubic feet a day and light gravity oil. This is considered average for the area.

Mr. Hamilton said the strike was important because the area is about 600 miles north and 300 miles west of the nearest oil and gas finds in recent years in northwestern British Columbia. An access road is being constructed to the area from near Dawson. (CP Newsmap).

Britain to Keep Present Bases At Singapore

By FREDERICK COLEMAN

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — Britain's bases in the new Commonwealth state of Singapore and in the independent Federation of Malaya will remain at their present strength, according to Gen. Sir Richard Hull, commander-in-chief of Britain's Far East land forces.

Since home - rule elections in Singapore in May which brought into power the left-wing People's Action party, Gen. Hull has made it clear Britain's defence planning in Singapore is aimed at permanency, within the framework of the new Singapore constitution, which leaves defence and external affairs in British hands.

LONG TREATY

"We now have a long-term defence treaty with the Federation of Malaya, but our troops have always been required in Malaya as part of the Commonwealth strategic reserve in the Far East," he has said. "We also have major national defence interests in Singapore, which is our main military base for the support of all these troops in the Far East, including Hong Kong."

Gen. Hull said it is the declared intention of the British government to maintain in Singapore and Malaya forces of sufficient strength to carry out Britain's defence responsibilities of all kinds. "I can see no prospect that the British Army will cease to be large employers of local civilians," he added.

Gen. Hull said that, with the easing of the anti - Communist emergency situation in Malaya, it now is possible for the army to begin training in other kinds of fighting besides jungle warfare.

For the last 10 years, Commonwealth troops have been engaged almost exclusively in the jungles of Malaya fighting Communist terrorists.

Now, they will begin all-round training to fit in with the concept of the streamlined, all-purpose, atomic-age Commonwealth army.

National Parole Board Does Booming Business in First Year, 760 Prisoners Released

By DON PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Business at the National Parole Board, in its first year of operations, is booming.

Under the vigorous chairmanship of former Welland magistrate T. George Street, the board in its first six months of operations released 760 prisoners from penitentiaries and reformatories on parole.

It is in the process of opening three new regional offices, at Prince Albert, Sask., Calgary anad Quebec City. Likely more will be necessary later on.

MID-FEBRUARY START

The board took over from the former remission service of the justice department in mid-February this year and its figures show that from January through June, 760 prisoners were released on parole, only 41 of whom—less than five per cent—have been returned to imprisonment. No exactly-comparative figures are available for last year, but during the whole year only 994 prisoners were paroled.

Of those released during the first six months of this year, 363 were let out of federal penitentiaries compared to 215 in the corresponding period last year and 265 in the first half of 1957.

Legislation establishing the parole board stipulates that every sentence under a Criminal Code conviction must be reviewed by the parole board.

There is one reason for the increase in release of prisoners on parole. But the growing belief in penal circles that parole should be used as an integral part of the reform—or correctional—system also is responsible.

FACILITIES GROWING

The board now has or is in the process of establishing regional offices at Moncton, N.B., Quebec City, Montreal, Kingston, Toronto, Winnipeg, Prince Albert, Calgary and Vancouver. Its staff has increased by about 30 per cent, to some 85 employees, since the board took over from the remission service.

Explaining the board's function Mr. Street said in an interview Tuesday that parole is not a matter of leniency or interference in any way with court sentences.

"A prisoner is selected for parole because the board thinks he has a reasonable chance of reform."

But a uniform list of conditions is attached to every parole and special conditions are imposed in special cases. Convicts with a past record of alcoholism, for example, must abstain from drinking.

LISTS CONDITIONS

Parole conditions include:

1. Agreement to accept supervision of a person appointed by the parole board, usually a worker from a voluntary prison after-care agency like the John Howard Society, a provincial probation officer, a preacher or priest in smaller communities.

2. Permission of the supervisor must be received before buying an automobile, borrowing money or getting into debt for instalment payments, marrying or carrying any kind of weapon.

3. Agreement to abide by all instructions of the supervisor or parole board with regard to employment, companions, hours, intoxicants, operation of motor vehicles, medical or psychiatric attention, family responsibilities, court obligations.

Chinese Reds Have Built Road On Indian Land

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — The Chinese Communists have built a road from southwestern Tibet to China which cuts off several hundred square miles of Indian territory, The Times of India reported today.

The newspaper said the road runs north from Gartok in western Tibet through the Indian territory of Ladakh to Yarkand and Kashgar in the Chinese province of Sinkiang

The road was built a year ago across a high uninhabitable plateau in the Aksaichin region—an area traditionally part of Indian territory, the newspaper said.

TAKING POSSESSION

The Times of India said the road indicated two things—"first that the Chinese cartographic aggression is being asserted by actual physical possession of Indian territory and secondly that the government of India's security arrangements along the admittedly difficult 450 miles along the border between Ladakh and Tibet and Sikkim are extremely inadequate."

Official Chinese maps show about 30,000 square miles of Indian territory as being inside Chinese borders. Most of the land claimed by the Chinese is in the wild, inaccessible area near the Burmese border. Part of the independent Himalayan state of Bhutan also has been included in China on Chinese maps.

Bhutan Premier Jigme Dorje has warned that there is a danger of Chinese incursions into his country and said that "if there is any violation of the border we will certainly fight."

A political correspondent of the independent Statesman said today there have been an increasing number of incidents between Chinese and Bhutanese.

The Indian Express said that with the new "stark menace" on India's northern border it is time for the United States to promote the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization in this area again.

Eisenhower's Trip to Europe Seen Start of Peace Drive

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — President Eisenhower's trip to Europe is viewed in Britain as the start of one of the greatest peace initiatives undertaken by any American leader.

The Macmillan government views the president's forthcoming meetings with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as a chance for Eisenhower to lay the basis for a cold-war truce, a live-and-let-live arrangement with Russia in the H-bomb age.

Prime Minister Macmillan is expected to tell Eisenhower how he thinks Khrushchev can best be handled, talking on the basis of his own experience in Moscow six months ago. And Eisenhower will tell what Vice-President Richard Nixon concluded after his visit to the Soviet capital.

DEVELOP STRATEGY

The two then will try to work out a strategy Eisenhower can use in his own encounters with the quick-witted Russian.

Although spokesmen never would admit it publicly, Eisenhower and Macmillan will devote much time to two colleagues whose personalities and policies have aroused controversy. They are French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

De Gaulle's ambition to make France a nuclear power will come out in their talk about the state of the North Atlantic alliance and de Gaulle's demands that the West back France's Algerian campaign.

WANT DE GAULLE HAPPY

Both Macmillan and Eisenhower want a strong France. Probably they will agree to meet de Gaulle's demands as far as they can. But they do not want to implicate themselves in Algeria or seem to surrender to the French president's threats.

Relations with Adenauer involve the long-term problem of an over-all German settlement. Eisenhower and Macmillan know relations with Russia never will be stable until Germany's future as a united or divided country is agreed on.

They also know Adenauer will resist such concessions to Russia as a ban on West Germany's use of American nuclear weapons.

Glittering CNE Swings Smoothly On Its Journey

By DOUG MARSHALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The cavalcade called the Canadian National Exhibition swung smoothly off on its 16-day journey today with bands playing, the fleet in port and the first of nearly 3,000,000 people clicking through the turnstiles.

The CNE—the world's largest annual fair—bills itself as a "city within a city" offering everything but over-night lodging for the people who come to see the show.

LAST-MINUTE RUSH

Tuesday, the city was still being built. Lights which will shine brightly tonight were still being wired and paint which gleams today was still in the can.

Down the midway fat mechanical men laughed with only technicians to hear them. Show horses stamped nervously in unfamiliar stalls and announcers tested their voices in empty halls.

Tuesday afternoon, 19 warships of six NATO nations anchored in Lake Ontario opposite the CNE grounds. The ships underline the exhibition's International Year theme and mark the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

GRANDSTAND SHOW

Tonight at 7 p.m the grandstand show, Canadiana '59, starring American comedian George Gobel and Canada's Eric House will open on the new mobile stage.

The band of Her Majesty's Royal Marines, under Lieut.-Col. Vivian Dunn, will perform the exacting Beat Retreat ceremony on the CNE baseball diamond after the ceremony.

After opening the exhibition this afternoon Earl Mountbatten was to attend a civic ceremony and open the RCAF and Canadian Legion exhibits while Lady Mountbatten visits the International Red Cross and St. John First Aid Post.

Tuesday, 36 children from Toronto's Home for Incurable Children toured the grounds and met the Cisco Kid (Duncan Renaldo) who headlines the grandstand's matinee show.

Plan Decision On Winter Work Program Shortly

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Tuesday he hopes a decision about the government's works program for the coming winter will be made by Sept. 1.

Speaking to reporters on his return by air from a western trip, he also reiterated his statement that the government is not following any policy of tight money.

He was asked what the difference is between the existing money situation—with chartered bank loans sharply rationed and the Bank of Canada interest rate at a record height—and the situation that existed about three years ago under the former Liberal government.

Mr. Diefenbaker replied that "there has been no freezing of the money supply" at this time. But three years ago the Bank of Canada — "apparently with the knowledge and certainly with the connivance of the Liberal government"—was following a policy of restraining chartered bank lending.

External Affairs Minister Green, who came to Uplands airport to greet the prime minister, was asked about the current tense situation in Laos. He said reactivation of the Laos truce commission, comprising Canada, India and Poland, is not imminent.

But he said the Canadian government is concerned, and is watching events in Laos closely.

Poisoned by Gas

BUFFALO (AP) — One man died and two others were in critical condition after inhaling poisonous gases at the National Aniline plant Tuesday night. The dead man was Knox Robinson, Buffalo.

A spokesman for the company said the three were processing chemicals when hydrogen sulfide gases leaked into their work area.

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Ontario Hydro's Silver Falls development 30 miles northwest of here on the Kaministiquia River will be officially opened Sept. 25.

Roman Catholic, Protestant And Orthodox Scholars Make Life Work of Unity Search

By EUGENE LEVIN

RHODES, Greece (AP)—Quietly, obscured by the bustle of every-day church activity, scholars of the Roman Catholic, Protestant and Orthodox churches are meeting informally in search of a common path to Christian unity.

None of the theologians who have made a life work of the search for unity pretend that they are anywhere near to a way out of the labyrinth of conflicting dogma and tradition dividing their churches.

But they do feel that, in their small way, they are contributing something toward the goal of unity.

This work is brought into prominence by the current meetings on this Greek island of the central committee of the World Council of Churches, representing Protestant and Orthodox faiths with about 180,000,000 followers, and by Pope John's frequent pleas for Christian unity since becoming head of the Roman Catholic Church 10 months ago.

UNOFFICIAL GROUP

Much of the Roman Catholic work toward Christian unity is carried on by the Roman Catholic Conference on ecumenical (world - wide) questions. This group is not an official Vatican agency, but its members are priests who have made a life-long study of Christian unity.

One of the more prominent is Rev. Christophe Jean Dumont, a French Dominican who publishes a magazine called Toward Christian Unity.

Both Father Dumont and the secretary of the conference of ecumenical questions, Rev. J. G. M. Willebrands of Utrecht, Netherlands, are covering the Rhodes meeting for church publications. They have been taking every opportunity to meet informally with Protestant and Orthodox delegates. Both priests emphasize that these contacts are part of a continuing exchange of views.

Father Dumont has proposed to Orthodox clerics here, particularly the Greeks, that they meet with his Roman Catholic group next year. The Orthodox scholars are considering the proposal.

PROCESS UNENDING

Contact between the Roman Catholics and Western Protestant delegates is part of a continuing process. The executive committee of the World Council of Churches in its latest report says its contacts with the Roman Catholic Conference on Ecumenical questions "have provided an opportunity during recent months for us to gain a clearer understanding" of Pope John's call for a Roman Catholic ecumenical council.

Vatican officials have made clear that the ecumenical council Pope John has called will deal only with internal Catholic unity. But the Pope's announcement is considered by most churchmen at the Rhodes conference to be part of his campaign for Christian unity.

Canadian Criticism of U.S. Investment in Country Comes As Shock to Commerce Secy.

TORONTO (CP) — Henry Kearns, assistant United States commerce secretary, said Tuesday the U.S. is shocked by some implications of Canadian criticism of the huge American investment in this country.

He suggested also that Canadians would be well advised to think in terms of trade expansion and not restrictions.

U.S. experience with protectionism had shown that protectionism exacted "too high a price" in economic deterioration, Mr. Kearns told the Toronto Board of Trade.

"Truly, protectionism has priced itself out of the market and expanding trade barriers is not the answer to any question confronting either the U.S. or Canada."

CITES ARTICLE

Mr. Kearns said he recently read a Financial Post article entitled "Can We Survive U.S. Investment?" which seemed predicated on the assumption that U.S. private investment was a tool of political or economic imperialism.

"It must be reported to you that such a contention comes as a shock below the border where we have been, perhaps naively, proud of our efforts to increase the availability of U.S. capital to foreign countries.

"We have made much of the importance of the capital flow to Canada and of its role in facilitating Canada's phenomenal expansion in the post-war period. We find there seems to be no lack of agreement in Canada that there will be for some time a need for foreign capital. Thus, it is a surprise to find that there are some people here who question the desirability of capital from the United States"

In the 1953-58 period the U.S. net capital flow into Canada including invested earnings totalled $4,226,000,000. More than double the $1,826,000,000 taken out of Canada by U.S. investors.

PULP AN EXAMPLE

Canadian income tax revenue on American investments amounted to some $450,000,000 a year. U.S. direct private investment in Canadian pulp and paper amounted to some $600,000,000—about 40 per cent of the total investment in that industry—while exports of the industry's products to the U.S. amounted to some $1,000,000,000 annually.

Canadians also had to remember there was a "small but growing contingent" in the U.S which wanted to prevent further exports of capital on the grounds such capital created jobs abroad, increased imports to the U.S. and put Americans out of work.

U.S. restrictions on lead and zinc imports were unpopular in Canada but the U.S. had lifted restrictions against Canadian oil and had made it possible for Canadian firms to get American turbine contracts, Mr. Kearns said.

The U.S. had problems in coal, complicated by Canadian subsidized shipments from Nova Scotia coal to the central Canadian markets, which cut U.S sales there.

ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP) — J. M. Macdonnell, former federal cabinet minister, entered hospital here Monday suffering a recurring chronic stomach ailment and was reported today to be making "satisfactory progress"

Mr. Macdonnell, who retired last Wednesday from his post as minister without portfolio, was admitted to St. Martha's Hospital Monday for treatment of "a recurring chronic stomach ailment."

He was visiting friends at Guysborough, N.S., when he was stricken.

A doctor said this morning Mr. Macdonnell was "doing well," but would remain in the hospital for "a prolonged period."

HEADS PC GROUP

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Lawyer James Greene has been named leader of the Progressive Conservative opposition, it was announced Tuesday. Mr. Greene, 33, a newcomer to politics, won the St. John's East seat in last Thursday's provincial election by defeating United Newfoundland party member James Higgins. The PCs elected two other members.

Laos Asks U.S. For Monetary Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Laos has asked the United States for nonmilitary assistance in its struggle against Communist aggression and U.S. officials here predict a speedy answer.

President Eisenhower told his press conference Tuesday that Laos has asked for help. He stressed the assistance Laos requested was in terms of money to reinforce the police forces of the tiny southeast Asian kingdom

The request came through diplomatic channels. Ngon Sananikone, brother of Premier Phoui Sananikone, met with state department officials Tuesday.

Laos got $22,900,000 in U.S. defence support and technical assistance in the fiscal year that ended June 30. How much Laos asked that time officials refused to say.

DOCTOR CHARGED

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. Pauline Beregoff-Gillow, pleaded not guilty Tuesday to charges of evading more than $88,000 in federal income taxes between 194 and 1954. The case was deferred until Oct. 15.

Montreal Delays School Opening Owing to Polio

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal's Roman Catholic school officials have joined Newfoundland in deciding to delay school openings because of polio epidemics.

Eugene Doucet, president of the Montreal Catholic School Commission, said Tuesday that school opening was set back to Sept. 9 from Sept. 2 because of the "anxious feeling of the population regarding polio."

The city's Protestant school board said its opening date of Sept. 9 will remain unchanged.

Newfoundland's tentative school opening date is Sept. 14

Montreal and Newfoundland have been worst hit this year in a polio situation confined mainly to eastern Canada.

NEW CASES

Health officials in Montreal said Tuesday that 39 new cases of polio were admitted to hospital in 24 hours, bringing the total for the city and surrounding areas to 483.

Two new cases were admitted in St. John's, Nfld., Tuesday to bring the province's total to 50.

There were two cases in Saskatoon, the first since 1957.

With the peak polio period still to come in September, thousands were making the trip to clinics for Salk vaccine shots.

In Toronto, where the board of health has recommended that citizens get free combined inoculations of anti-polio and anti-tetanus vaccine, a temporary shortage of Salk vaccine was reported.

Dr. J. K. W. Ferguson, director of Connaught Laboratories, said the laboratory shipped 1,000,000 doses to Quebec during the last three weeks

But Montreal officials Tuesday night reported supplies running low and it was expected that vaccinations to adults would have to be limited. Some 250,000 residents have received salk shots since the outbreak started in mid-July.

CAN'T KEEP RECORDS

In St. John's, chief medical official Dr. A. McDermott said officials were passing out Salk vaccine so fast "we haven't had time to keep records."

At last count several weeks ago about 120,000 had received at least one shot since the scare began in early June. Included in steps to check the outbreak has been the burning of suspected public bathrooms and, in one case, a deserted house.

Swimming pools throughout the provinces have been closed and parents are warned repeatedly to keep their children away from crowds. At least 10 children are now being treated in iron lungs in the province and three more have died.

The only new case reported in Ontario Tuesday was at Brockville near Kingston. The nine-year-old boy was the first polio victim in the area for nearly five years.

Would Be 'Fatal' If PEI Elected Liberals - - Tory

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — It would be a "fatal thing" if the Liberal government were returned to office at the polls Sept. 1, Progressive Conservative Leader Walter Shaw said Tuesday night at Kensington, 25 miles from here.

He told a rally of 300 Conservative party supporters that they must "go out and try to reason with your fellow citizens," impressing upon them the importance of having a government that would work as a team with the federal Conservative administration.

While Mr. Shaw was speaking, Liberal Premier Alex Matheson told a television audience his government if re-elected would provide free school books for children in grades one to eight and study the possibility of an Irish moss industry.

Earlier Tuesday the premier said in an interview he is confident of victory. "I've been in political life a long time," he said. "I've never seen things looking better than in this election."

Mr. Shaw, a former deputy minister of agriculture now retired, attacked agricultural policies of the Liberal government. Hog and poultry production had declined sharply in recent years and young people were leaving the farms, he said.

The Liberals have retained power here since 1935 when they captured all 30 seats in the legislature. Standings at dissolution were Liberals 26, PCs four.

GOOD RECORD

WOODSTOCK (CP)—This city of 19,000 has entered its fourth year without a traffic fatality, Chief Constable W. J. Ennis said Tuesday night.

On Eve of Eisenhower's Visit To France Country Again Under Fire From Own Friends

With President Eisenhower arriving in Germany tonight on the start of a European visit, France is again odd man out in the Western alliance. Factors involved in her isolation are discussel here by a Canadian Press staff writer just back from a three-weeks visit to France.

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — There is a French clinche that the more things change, the more they are the same. Once again the saying applies to France.

The Fifth Republic has brought with it stability and a new regime, but France is in diplomatic solitude today, just as she has been, off and on, for the last few years.

French bombing of a Tunisian border village two years ago resulted in widespread criticism. Now, on the eve of President Eisenhower's important talks in Europe, France is again under fire from her own friends.

"GRANDEUR" POLICY

The fundamental reason is Gen. de Gaulle's policy of "grandeur," which leaves the French leader in a frosty state of mind about the Eisenhower - Khrushchev meetings in September.

Some observers fear de Gaulle may push intransigence to the point of jeopardizing possible closer understanding between Russia and the United States.

Not all French opinion supports the policy of grandeur. A writer in Le Monde, an independent Paris newspaper specializing in international affairs, reminds de Gaulle of La Fontaine's fable about the frog that wanted to be as big as the bullock.

In L'Express, a hard - hitting Paris paper that week after week for the last four years has campaigned against the Algerian war, J. M. Domenach comments on the political lethargy among the ordinary people of France.

IGNORING FOLLIES

The country, he says, is living under a local anaesthetic, ignoring its own follies while the rest of the world looks on. Among the follies Domenach is thinking of are recurring reports of repressive French methods in Algeria, including torture of civilians.

One French supporter of a tough policy in Algeria, questioned by a Canadian Press reporter about the wisdom of such tactics, replied sharply:

"Well, what did you do with the North American Indians a couple of hundred years ago?"

A plea for understanding of the reasons for de Gaulle's "politique de grandeur" has come from the Paris correspondent of The Guardian, the Manchester liberal newspaper. Briefly, his argument is that de Gaulle is using the technique as a means of keeping the French army on his side.

NEEDS MILITARY BACKING

De Gaulle is believed to favor a political solution in Algeria along liberal lines, but knows he can enforce it only with military support against the right-wing "ultras" of Algeria.

Le Canard Enchaine, French satirical weekly, finds grim humor in de Gaulle's dependence on the army. It says:

"Here we have the head of state with practically absoltue powers, without a dissenting parliament, with a government in his pocket . . . who must try to persuade a few hundred professional soldiers to obey—sorry, to approve—sorry, not too strongly to disapprove—his policy."

Red Scientist Tells Meet Of Threat of Chemical War

PUGWASH, N.S. (CP)—A leading Soviet scientist says increased scientific knowledge has made it possible for "capitalist countries to produce 500,000 to 600,000 tons of poisonous substances annually."

Mikhail M. Dubinin, professor of the Institute of Physical Chemistry at Moscow, said Tuesday, "the potential productive capacity . . . gives a striking idea of the potentialities of chemical weapons and their menace to mankind."

Dubinin reviewed the potentialities of chemical warfare in his lecture to 25 scientists attending a week-long conference here on chemical and biological warfare.

The conference is the fifth in a series initiated by Pugwash-born industrialist Cyrus Eaton in 1957.

MORE POWERFUL NOW

Dubinin said about one-quarter of the casualties suffered by the United States Army in the First World War were due to mustard gas. He said since that time the capabilities of chemical weapons had been increased greatly

"Soviet scientists, as all Soviet people, look upon chemical and biological warfare measures as weapons of mass destruction, the use of which is incompatible with the demands of humaneness and the norms of international law," Mr. Dubinin said.

Prof. Theodore Rosebury of Washington University, St. Louis, Md., said the methods of science and technology have been no more effective in solving world tension than politicians.

QUOTES EINSTEIN

He urged scientists to go back to "a first principle" put forth by Albert Einstein in 1946 "Science has brought forth this danger, but the real problem is in the minds and hearts of men."

Earlier Sir Robert Watson-Watt, the British scientist who helped develop radar, told of a toxic substance weighing only eight ounces that "could kill off every human being on our planet" if it was properly distributed.

He didn't name the substance.

REPORTS U.S. FEAR

Mr. Eaton told the conference "some of my good friends among American statesmen" are afraid to speak up for better understanding between the United States and Russia

He said some American political figures have told him, "We are afraid we will be beaten in the next election if we advocate better understanding."

The industrialist, who visited Russia last year and met Premier Khrushchev, said the premier is "the most influential single individual in the world—a man of his word. I believe that he means what he says."

He was commenting on a cable from Khrushchev to the scientists saying that Russia strongly supports the prohibition of all types of weapons of mass annihilation.

Motorists Fume, Traffic Delayed By Starfighter

TORONTO (CP) — Sleepy pedistrians waiting for streetcars rarely open their eyes as widely as some did on the west lakeshore Tuesday morning. Trundling along the highway was a Lockheed Starfighter, the United States jet which is to be adopted by the RCAF.

The swift interceptor broke no sound barriers. It was a supersonic slowpoke with hundreds of fuming motorists tagging along behind.

The $1,000,000 jet was travelling a carefully prepared route from Malton airport to the Canadian National Exhibition. But it was hours late and ran into early morning traffic

Capt. James Lucey flew the plane to Malton Monday night from Dayton, Ohio. Canadair of Montreal is to produce a similar version of the aircraft to re-equip RCAF overseas squadrons.

At 2 a.m. Major C. B. Clayton, USAF, took over the job of directing movement of the plane to the exhibition grounds 20 miles away. A police escort was delayed 30 minutes by an Honest John missile also being taken to the CNE

When the cavalcade finally began to roll everything went according to plan—for a few hundred feet. Then it was discovered the plane wouldn't go through an airport gate.

A bent gate post was bent a little more to no avail. Finally Major Clayton ordered the plane's wing fuel tanks removed. A policeman produced a screwdriver and work began with that until a mechanic went for a tool kit.

The USAF sergeant arrived with the tool kit and discovered he'd left its key in his hotel room The policeman obliged again—this time with an axe. The tool kit was opened, the tanks removed.

At 4 a.m., when the aircraft was supposed to be entering the CNE grounds, the journey began. Apart from a short detour around an overturned truck on Highway 27 the snub-nosed jet arrived at the CNE without further incident.

GRAPE PRICES HIGHER

TORONTO (CP) — A price of $90 a ton, highest in 12 years and $5 above last year, has been agreed on by grape growers and winery representatives, it was announced Monday. The Ontario grape crop is estimated at 28 to 30 per cent below last year's because of hail damage and a dry season, but of excellent quality.

Nesterov, president of the Soviet Union Chamber of Commerce, reportedly raised objections to the picture last week. GAP IN THE FENCE — The Pinetree radar network, which controls the operations of jet interceptors and anti-aircraft missiles against possible enemy onslaughts over North America from the north, has a great gap that has drawn the attention of United States and Canadian defence authorities.

Neil McElroy, U.S. defence secretary, came to Ottawa recently to seek Canadian co-operation in constructing more heavy radars to fill the gap.

U.S. plans are to bear the major share of the cost in filling the gap. The U.S. already bears one-third of the cost of the Pinetree chain.

This map shows how the Pinetree chain extends from the east coast to a point near Winnipeg. The gap exists between Winnipeg and Dawson Creek, B.C., eastern terminus of the western leg of the chain which stretches as far as Vancouver island.

The map also shows location of Bomarc anti-aircraft missile bases in Canada—near North Bay, Ont., and Mont Laurier, Quebec. Other North American Bomarc bases are in the Northern U.S. (CP Newsmap.)

SALT LAKE CITY (CP) — Six civil suits charge 35 defendants with defrauding Columbus Rexall Oil Company and its stockholders of $123,589,024. The complaints are on file here in U.S. district court.

A Salt Lake City lawyer, David Clegg, filed the complaints as receiver for Columbus Rexall. They charge the defendants—who live in the United States, Canada, Europe, Central and South America—with defrauding Columbus Rexall by transferring stock to other corporations and then to themselves.

Among the defendants are Grover Whalen, former New York City official greeter, and retired air force Maj.-Gen. Ralph Royce.

Some of the defendants are charged with active participation in stock manipulation. Others are charged with knowing of illegal transfers and willingly making money from them.

Petes Balk at Playing Here Until One Team Is Selected

Bob Blaind, coach of the Sports Centre softball club, received notice this morning that the OASA séries between his club and Peterborough has been cancelled.

Sports Centre was slated to travel to Peterborough for an 8.15 game tonight with the second encounter slated for back here Saturday. The winners of this series were to meet a winner between the Bobcats and Trenton.

The Peterborough club has refused to play this series at the present time, since no winner has been declared in this district. According to the original plans, Peterborough and Belleville were to open their series tonight but three Belleville district teams entering the Intermediate "AA" series has caused the confusion.

Bobcats, Trenton and Sports Centre are still in contention here but according to the OASA, this situation must be cleared up immediately. Blaind said this morning: "Don Lee told me that OASA secretary L. G. Pickard phoned and said, that Belleville must have a representative ready to meet Peterborough by August 31, which is Monday.

"Pickard said that teams in other districts had already been thrown out because they were not ready to play when scheduled and Belleville will not be given a further extension. Monday is the deadline.

"Peterborough's convener said that their club would meet the Sports Centre and then another Belleville team later if they won, but the coach of their team has refused, and he is within his rights. Why should they have to play two teams from here?

"I don't know what is going to happen now but if Trenton and the Bobcats can't get their issue settled, if the three of us can't squeeze in two elimination series by Monday, Sports Centre is ready and will go against Peterborough as Belleville's official representatives.

"It does not seem fair to Bobcats and Trenton but we are certainly not going to be tossed out without playing when we are ready to go", Blaind concluded.

Athletic Army Poised to Launch Pan-Am Games

CHICAGO (AP)—An athletic army of 2,152 fro m24 countries in the Western Hemisphere is poised to launch the third Pan-American games after Thursday's opening ceremonies.

In oppressive heat which wilted even the Latin American athletes, the biggest international sports event ever held in this country awaited traditional opening-day festivities in mammoth Soldier Field.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower, in behalf of his brother, President Eisenhower, and Mayor Richard J. Daley will pronounce the official opening of the games as a friendship torch, carried from Mexico City by boy scouts. touches off a huge gas-powered torch atop the Soldier Field scoreboard.

The first round of competition Friday will involve track, baseball, basketball, fencing, soccer, tennis, volleyball, weightlifting and yachting.

Representatives of Canada, Argentina, Mexico and Venezuela threatened Tuesday to withdraw their entries from the 26-mile, 385-yard marathon unless the starting time was changed to a much later hour when the weather would be cooler

Pincus (Pinkie) Sober, an American track official, said the program committee was sympathetic to the idea but pointed ot many problems were involved.

"It's mainly a traffic problem," said Sober. "Several main streets are closed off for the marathon. If the race is run late, it would tie up traffic for hours."

"If the heat wave breaks, it would solve the whole thing."

HOPE FOR BREAK

There was a possibility of a break in the heat by Friday.

The Pan-American Sports Organization Tuesday awarded the 1963 Games to Sao Paulo, a Brazilian city with a population of more than 3,000,000, and passed up Winnipeg's bid. The vote was not announced.

TRADE MICKOSKI

Morrison, 27, a veteran of eight years in the National Hockey League, spent seven years with Toronto Maple Leafs before returning to Boston last year.

Mickoski, 31, has divided his 11 years in the NHL among New York, Chicago and Detroit. He scored 11 goals last season to bring his career total to 156, while Morrison, with a total of 31 goals, collected only eight last season.

Clutch hurling by McBride preserved a 7-4 victory for the Dodgers over the Giants in a bantam semi-final playoff game at Pine Street School last night. This was the first game in a 2-of-3 series.

McBride tossed four-hit ball and bore down to leave a number of the Giants stranded in hurling the win. He also came up with several key fielding plays and helped himself to a double at the plate.

Brant led the Dodgers at bat with a triple and double while Dovey had a brace of singles.

Jacoby pitched for the Giants, giving up eight hits, and also hit a double for one of his club's four safeties.

Rough Riders Working on Several Changes

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders are working on several changes in preparation for Saturday's Big Four Football League game in Hamilton against the league - leading Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Coach Frank Clair plans to use a 5-4-3 defensive lineup on occasions, putting guards Larry Hayes and Hardiman Cureton at the inside linebacker positions to halt running plays through the middle of the Ottawa line. Riders normally use a 5-3-4 defensive lineup.

Newly-acquired Canadian halfback Harry Lunn, a defensive specialist who toiled with Saskatchewan Roughriders, will see some action and import halfback Dave Thelen will carry most of the offensive load at right half, replacing Ron Stewart who suffered strained rib muscles in the Riders' last game against Montreal Alouettes Stewart will see limited action.

Gene Fullmer Goes Behind Locked Doors

SAN FRANCISCO (CP) — Gene Fullmer pulled a big surprise Tuesday when he went behind locked doors for some secret sparring in his preparations for Friday night's NBA world middleweight title fight against Carmen Basilio.

"We just had a few things we wanted to work on," declared Gene's manager, Marv Jenson.

The 32-year-old Basilio, from Chittenango, N.Y., appears in top shape for the meeting of the two former 160-pound champs. They collide for the version of the title stripped from Sugar Ray Robinson for failure to defend after Ray won it back from Basilio on March 25, 1958.

Odds ranging from 2 to 1 to 7 to 5 favor Basilio, and there hasn't been much wagering.

SIGN OSHAWA YOUTH

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers have signed a 19-year-old third baseman from Oshawa, Ont., to a minor league baseball contract, John Ryan signed with Decatur of the class-D Midwest League. He will report to the Tigers' training camp in Florida next spring.

Argonauts Sell Wray Carlton To B.C. Lions

TORONTO (CP)—A halfback weighing 200 pounds, six-foot two, fast and with drive that all fullbacks need should be an asset to any football club. But Toronto Argonauts couldn't use Wray Carlton, now sold to British Columbia Lions.

Argonaut coach Hamp Pool reported the sale Tuesday and put the trouble down to "temperament."

"The boy just has all kinds of natural ability, but he didn't have the temperament to go with it," he explained.

Gulped Oxygen, Used Ice Pack In Intense Heat

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cal McLish admits his legs were rubbery. But he gulped oxygen and kept an ice pack on his wrist Tuesday night to post his fifth victory this season against New York Yankees in steaming Municipal Stadium.

Although the Yanks banged a dozen hits, including two homers, McLish went the distance in Cleveland's 6-3 win, it was his 16th victory against six setbacks.

"I don't think I could have kept going without the oxygen and the ice," said a weary McLish in the dressing room. "I never before felt the heat like this.

"I gulped that oxygen just about all the time I was in the dugout and had an ice pack on my wrist.

"Even with that help I just managed to stagger through. My legs felt like rubber and when I'd lean down to get the signs in the late innings, I could hardly get back up."

Niagara Stakes Will Conclude Excellent Meet

FORT ERIE (CP) — Horses which have won a total of more than $1,000,000 in purses are expected to run in Saturday's $25,000 Niagara Stakes at the Fort Erie Jockey Club. The run of 1⅜ miles over the grass course will conclude Fort Erie's 42-day summer meeting.

Heading the list is Mahan, owned by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reuben of Toledo, Ohio. Mahan has North American earnings of $205,000 including a victory in the $100,000 Washington International. The horse won $130,000 in France before being shipped to North America.

Carl Reiner, Howie Morris To Appear in Chevy Show

By HUGH MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) —What happens to the "second banana" when they split up the bunch?

Howie Morris, "the little guy" who used to play the mad German scientist, the African explorer, the hapless husband and hundreds of other comedy parts on the old Sid Caesar show, has been doing all right on his own.

So has Carl Reiner, "the big guy" who used to play the Japanese war lord, the Italian bicycle thief, the opera basso and hundreds of other comic creations on the same show.

The big guy and the little guy, probably the most famous pair of second bananas in the business, will be reunited this fall on NBC'S Dinah Shore Chevy Show.

REINER TO WRITE

Reiner will write all 12 of the shows and appear in four. Morris will appear with him, taking part in a variety of zany skits.

"It's not surprising that Carl has turned out to be a top television writer," says the little guy in admiration of his former partner. "The Sid Caesar show was undoubtedly the most creative comedy program in the history of television.

"We all got together at the script conferences and helped write the material, much of which came from our own experiences. It was a tremendously rewarding show for the actor from almost any viewpoint. So many actors tend to get script-bound and never get the chance to think up original ideas."

Although he has frequently written his own material, Morris has no ambitions to join Reiner in the ranks of TV writers.

"I'm an actor first, last and always," he says.

"I'm happiest," he admits, "when I'm playing a gangster . . . you know the Cagney type hood with the sub-machine-gun. I think all actors get a big kick out of those tough guy roles, making with the fast talk and waving a gun around."

Kenneth Mackenna Leaving Good Job to Go on Stage

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Why would a man of mature years leave an important, high-paying position for the chancy life of an actor?

"Because I feel that a change like this is good for a man," says Kenneth Mackenna. "I have done about all I can with this job. Now it is time for me to meet a new challenge."

This may help to answer Hollywood's puzzlement over Mackenna's resignation as MGM story editor after 22 years. He is going back to Broadway.

Theater-goers of the 1920s and 1930s will recall Mackenna as the handsome, romantic leading man of many a hit play. He also starred in films, both silent and talkie.

In 1937, he was operating a thriving production company in New York. MGM needed a story editor and a friend in the company asked Mackenna for some suggestions. Mackenna himself was offered the job. Though he had no literary background, he accepted the post — as a challenge.

JOB WAS ASSURED

Over the years he has chosen hundreds of story properties to be filmed by MGM. His decisions have meant the investment of millions of dollars. Now 60, he had been assured that he could continue his job for the rest of his life.

He might have, except for a chance encounter with his old boss, Dore Schary, now a playwright and producer.

Schary sent him the script of his new play, The Highest Tree, about the trials of an idealistic scientist in the nuclear age. Mackenna read it, liked it. Rehearsals were set for September. Mackenna had a three - month resignation clause in his MGM contract. That meant he had to decide immediately. He did.

Five Will Hold Championship of Senior Golf

TORONTO (CP)—Five men who wound up with identical scores were named co-champions by the Canadian Senior Golf Association Tuesday.

The decision to make the 1959 title a five-way affair came after an executive meeting turned down several proposals for a playoff.

Earlier in the day Ed Martin of Ottawa Hunt was all but declared champion. The 64-year-old chartered accountant won a playoff with three other golfers who played their matches at the Lambton course.

Martin had tied at 155 with Toronto-area golfers Bob Donald, Jim O'Neill and W N. Mellow, in the regulation 36 holes. It took three extra holes to put him ahead.

Just as Martin was being congratulated, word came from the Weston course, where some of the entrants did their shooting, that Dr. George F. Laing of Windsor Essex had shot a 155.

It first appeared that a new playoff between Martin and Dr. Laing would be ordered. But after a lengthy discussion the association ended up with five winners.

FIGHTING FOR SURVIVAL

Out in the Okanagan Valley, where the Macs won their first Allan Cup and could well be batting for their second come next April, hockey hit the sports pages a couple of weeks back.

As a matter of fact it was at a place called Kelowna where the Packers defeated the Americans 7-2 in a midsummer exhibition game that brought some 2,500 fans into the arena and kept hope alive that senior hockey is not dead in the valley.

Actually the game had no meaning, except for the fact that it helped open the 53rd Kelowna Regatta. The Packers were an all-Canadian squad while the Americans were mixed. Players from several classifications took part, including NHL stars, such as Andy Bathgate, Bill Gadsby, Andy Hebenton and Phil Maloney.

The Packers hockey club is sharing the profits from the game with the arena which sponsored the show. The Packers' executive helped by gathering the Okanagan league players to augment the NHL and Western League stars.

Apparently the Packers have a back debt of $7,000, according to the Vancouver Sun story, and can use all the loose change they can pick up.

They have a season ticket drive on at the present time. Team manager Bob Giordano said after the exhibition game, when talking about the state of senior "A" hockey, "If we don't sell 1,000 season tickets by September we'll pack it up."

These tickets have been reduced by a third with 24 home games for $20. The arena there has co-operated by reducing rental to 10 per cent or $100, whichever is greater.

Not only the Packers are having money trouble, according to the same story. It claims that the clubs, apparently meaning all of them, have gone co-op, which means they pay their bills before paying the players, who get whatever is left.

The crowd of 2,500 was far above the average for the Packers' home games last season which brought a remark from one wag that "Midsummer hockey might be the answer to the Okanagan League's gate troubles."

Apparently in the British Columbia valley, they are blaming television and natural gas for the falling off at the gates. The article claims that since the advent of TV and gas, "People either bought a set and stayed home to watch it or bought a furnace and stayed home to pay for it."

Whatever the cause of their troubles, the Okanagan Valley senior 'A' hockey clubs are certainly not giving up without a fight. Who knows, maybe after they have tried everything else, they will try the summer hockey idea.

NO LET-UP IN SIGHT

There is certainly no let-up in sight in the torrid playoff and playdown schedule for local teams, at least for the next couple of nights.

There are three important games on tap tonight.

Here in Belleville at the CNRA Park, the Bobcats and Trenton go back at each other in the fifth game of their 4-of-7 titular series for the Bill Ott trophy. Game time is six o'clock, with Hull and Cole likely doing the pitching.

Meanwhile the Sports Centre travels to Peterborough for its opening OASA Intermediate "AA" tilt.

And out in Latta, Read will supply the action in the third South Hastings baseball league finals game at 6.30. The series is tied at a game each right now.

Thursday night everybody and his cousin will see action. Bobcats travel to Trenton for an 8.15 affair; Point Anne meets Judd and his Lakefield mates in Peterborough; the Juvenile Bobcats trek to Kingston, if they can arrange for a park to play in down there, while Booth softball bantams play a deciding tilt with Peterborough, either in Hastings or Cobourg.

And then, of course, comes Friday and Saturday. 'Nuff said for now.

Snider And Hodges Jolt Dodgers Back In Picture

Gold Dust Guys of Past Pennants Again Hit Stride; Injuns Win Seven in Row

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Duke Snider and Gil Hodges, the gold dust guys of the Dodgers' past pennants, have jolted Los Angeles back into consciousness in the National League scramble for the flag.

After dropping three in a row at Pittsburgh and skidding to third, the Dodgers now have taken two in a row at Philadelphia. And of their 13 runs in the two games, Snider and Hodges have driven in nine.

Snider, the slumping slugger of last year's miserable seventh place finish, and Hodges, getting back into the swing after an injury, combined for three runs as each rapped his 21st homer Tuesday night in a 5-2 victory over the last-place Phils.

GIANTS WALLOP PIRATES

That left the Dodgers, who regained second as Hodges hammered home five runs Monday night, within 3½ games of first-place San Francisco. The Giants walloped fourth-place Pittsburgh 12-5 as southpaw Johnny Antonelli won his 18th—top total in the majors.

Third-place Milwaukee, four games back, went 10 innings before beating St. Louis 3-1. Chicago's Cubs tied Cincinnati for fifth, beating the Reds 8-6.

Wally Moon had three of the Dodgers' nine hits off loser Robin Roberts (11-14), ripping the first of his two doubles ahead of Snider's first-inning homer. It was Duke's 352nd, breaking a tie with Ralph Kiner for third on the all-time National League list behind Mel Ott (511) and Stan Musial (409).

Hodges' homer, giving him 21 or more for 11 consecutive seasons, was a solo shot in the fourth. Johnny Podres (12-7), gave up only six hits, one Harry Anderson's homer.

ANTY BRINGS IN THREE

Antonelli, gave up 10 hits, one Dick Stuart's two-run 20th homer, but walked none and struck out six. Anty drove in three runs, two with his second homer, as the Giants collected 15 hits off loser Ron Kline (8-13) and four reliefers. Daryl Spencer had three hits, one a homer, for the Giants.

Two American League castoffs saved it for the Braves. Shut out on seven hits by rookie Bob Gibson (1-3), they tied it in the ninth when pinch-hitter Mickey Vernon walked and Ray Boone hit a two-out pinch single. A double by Ed gle, the third hit for both, broke gle, the third rit for both, broke the tie in the 10th. Don McMahon (4-1) won it in relief of Warren Spahn.

Irv Noren homered in the second inning, then singled and scored on Cal Neeman's home run as the Cubs counted four in the fourth to beat the Reds. Bill Henry (8-6) was the winner in relief.

Chicago White Sox are making Pauline, the babe with all the perils, look like Whistler's ma. Compared to their frantic fight to keep the American League lead, Pauline spent her time in a rocker.

They were at it again Tuesday night, down 4-2 with one out in the ninth and hitless since the fourth inning while second-place Cleveland's seventh straight victory blazed on the scoreboard.

Then whoops! There went another rubber tree plant.

Four consecutive singles gave them two runs and a tie in the ninth, and with two out in the 10th, a walk and Billy Goodman's double beat Boston 5-4, retaining Chicago's two-game edge over the Injuns.

ANOTHER CLOSE ONE

It was the White Sox' 30th victory in 38 one-run decisions, their 11th in 13 extra-inning games and the 20th game they've won in the final inning.

The Indians matched their longest winning streak of the season by whipping New York 6-3 as Rocky Colavito drove in four runs with two homers.

Turk Lown, following reliever Gerry Staley, collected a 9-2 record for Chicago with a hitless 10th for his sixth straight victory since June 9. Reliefer Mike Fornieles (3-3) lost it.

FORD BEATEN

The Indians beat Whitey Ford (13-7), who had won five in a row, with four runs in the first on Vic Power's lead-off 10th homer, two walks and Colavito's tie-breaking three-run shot.

Colavito unloaded a solo home run in the fifth—tying Washington's Harmon Killebrew and Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs for the major league lead with 37. That made it a breeze for Cal McLish (16-6).

Two runs in the seventh, with Dick Williams' single scoring the clincher, brought the A' from behind against the Orioles, who blew a 4-0 lead. Billy Loes (4-5) lost it in relief, with John Tsitouris (3-2) the winner in relief.

Killebrew's double and Ken Aspromonte's single gave the Senators a 2-0 lead in the fourth against loser Paul Foytack (12-11). Pete Ramos (12-15) won it.

Rocky Nelson Slugging Way Into Limelight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — First baseman Rocky Nelson of Pittsburgh Pirates—a perennial batting champion in the minor leagues for 10 years or so—is fast slugging his way into the National League limelight.

The 34-year-old Nelson, who failed in seven previous attempts to crack the major leagues, seems to have finally found a home at Pittsburgh. His performance of late was cited as one of the reasons Pittsburgh Pirates traded Ted Kluszewski to Chicago White Sox Tuesday.

"Klu just didn't figure into our plans," said general manager Joe L. Brown. "Nelson's hitting and fielding and Dick Stuart's power are what we need now and in upcoming seasons. So, we traded Ted."

UNUSUAL STANCE

Nelson, a big lefthanded swinger with an unorthodox stance at the plate, formerly played for Montreal and Toronto of the International League. He was called on to bolster the Pirates' hitting attack on the club's recent disastrous western trip. Since then, he has raised his average to over the .290 mark and has doubled his runs batted in to 28.

The Pirates traded Kluszewski to Chicago for outfielder Harry Simpson and Bob Sagers, an infielder with Indianapolis of the American Association. Sagers was assigned to Columbus of the International League

Simpson batted .205 in 47 games for the Sox.

Willie McCovey Leading for Rookie Award

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Wallopin' Willie McCovey of San Francisco, although a big leaguer less than a month, has thrust himself in front in the National League rookie-of-the-year competition in a season relatively bare of first-year stars.

McCovey, in 22 games since joining the Giants on July 30, has batted .384. He has two doubles, three triples, seven homers and 22 runs batted in.

There is little in the way of rookie opposition for the Golden Gate slugger.

The pre-season favorites, outfielder Ron Fairly of Los Angeles and second baseman George Anderson of Philadelphia, have not lived up to their training camp billing. Fairly is hitting only .244 in 98 games while Anderson, although more than adequate on defence, shows a microscopic .207 mark after 124 games.

Pitchers Norm Sherry of Los Angeles and Ernie Broglio of St. Louis may give McCovey a run for rookie honors. Sherry, brought up from St. Paul of the American Association on July 2, has won four games, lost two and struck out 38 in 52 innings. He has been the Dodgers' top reliever the past month. Broglio's record is 6-11, but he has pitched three shutouts and fanned 104 in 150 2-3 innings.

Allison, who has played in all of the Senators' 124 games, is hitting .272 with 17 doubles, nine triples, 28 homers and 74 RBI. He has slumped in the last month, however, hitting only three homers. Perry has nine victories, five setbacks and an earned run average of 3.09. The big right-hander won five games in relief and, more recently, four as a starter, shutting out Boston and Washington.

Arena Will Be Named After Rocket Richard

MONTREAL (CP) — The name of Maurice (Rocket) Richard, hockey's greatest scorer, is to be given to an arena being built by the City of Montreal, Mayor Sarto Fournier announced Tuesday.

During a sod-turning ceremony, Mayor Fournier said the $3,000,000 arena will have a seating capacity of 5,000 and will probably be one of the most modern in Canada. It will be part of the spot centre planned for the city's east-end.

"In paying honor to Maurice Richard," said the mayor, "we are inviting youth to take inspiration from his conscience, his physical aptitude and intelligence. We are giving this name to the arena not only for Maurice himself but because he is a symbol of probity and honesty."

Task Completed

Manassa Mauler Gets Ingemar To Sign for Patterson Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—"My task has been fulfilled. I came into the picture for the sake of boxing. Now they can get on with the details".

This was Jack Dempsey talking. The old Manassa Mauler moved into the feud-ridden Rosensohn Enterprises, flew to Sweden, and in just three days had heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson's signature on a return-bout contract with Floyd Patterson.

Dempsey and his party were due at International Airport early today.

"We're very satisfied, all of us," continued Dempsey. There was a nice atmosphere in Goteborg (Johansson's home town). Ingemar has made a great contribution to boxing. There was a misunderstanding and it's settled now."

Dempsey, who was named promotional director of Rosensohn Enterprises a week ago, may have a heavy hand in the promotion of the fight.

NO DATE OR SITE

"We haven't decided on the site or date yet," said Dempsey. "In fact, we haven't ruled out New York. A lot depends on the investigation of the first fight."

The promoter's license of the group has been suspended in New York because of internal bickering and disclosures former Enterprises president Bill Rosensohn made in a national magazine.

Dempsey said a Philadelphia group had guaranteed $1,000,000 for a September bout and that the offer might stand in 1960.

A source close to the group told The Associated Press that Dempsey, Vincent Velella, new president of Rosensohn Enterprises, and Irving Kahn, chief of TelePrompTer, which holds the TV, radio and movie rights, tried to persuade Ingemar to go through with the fight this year.

Under the new contract, each fighter would receive about $1,000,000, Kahn estimated. There also is a return - bout clause within 120 days if Patterson regains the title.

NO INDICTMENT

Meanwhile, District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Tuesday his investigation of circumstances surrounding the Patterson-Johansson fight has not produced sufficient evidence for an indictment.

He also revealed the mysterious "Mr. X" mentioned earlier in the investigation to be Anthony (Fat Tony) Salerno, a New York gangland figure.

This information came to light when Hogan gave reporters a six-page statement tracing the promotion from its source and quoting testimony of various key figures called in for questioning.

Hogan said the statement would be presented to a judge when the district attorney's office applies to have grand jury minutes of the investigation turned over to the New York State Athletic Commission, which is conducting its own investigation.

Canada Wins

Miss Supertest III Needs One Victory to Lift Cup From U.S.

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP)—Canada was as close today to snatching the Harmsworth Trophy from the United States as any nation has been since Gar Wood brought it to these shores 39 years ago.

Canada's Miss Supertest III, with more engine stamina than the United States' defending Maverick, won the first of the best-of-three 45-mile races Tuesday on the Detroit River.

A victory today or Thursday would give the trophy, symbol of international powerboat racing supremacy, to Canada for the first time.

Miss Supertest III, Canada's third challenger since the Second World War, roared from apparent defeat to victory when Maverick, 1959's Gold Cup champion, on the 13th of the 15 laps.

RECORD LAP EARLIER

Maverick's driver, Bill Stead, who set a new record of 105.675 miles per hour in the first three-mile lap, said his boat's supercharger blew out. With his speed obviously falling, Stead raised his hands from the wheel in frustration as he passed the judge's stand for the 13th lap.

Roaring around at 102.118 m.p.h. on the second lap and staying out front up to a mile and a half, Stead had built up a 32-second lead by the end of the fourth lap

But Bob Hayward, driving Miss Supertest, topped him 97.695 to 97.012 m.p.h. in the sixth lap and had better time in every heat thereafter, roaring up to 102.408 in the 10th and to 103.024 in the 11th. It was obvious he was making his bid then and Stead stepped Maverick back up to 100.727 m.p.h.

Hayward said he had supercharger trouble with Miss Supertest at the start and wasn't able to hit 100 m.p.h. until the 10th time around.

CANADA'S HANGS ON

Hayward's craft, powered by a British - made Rolls-Royce-Griffon engine, held on. Stead's boat, powered by a converted Allison aircraft engine, didn't. Under Harmsworth rules, competing craft must use engines made in their respective countries.

The 45-mile average was 94.085 for the winner and 91.733 for the loser. The slowest of recent Harmsworth average was 94.285 m.p.h. in 1949.

Stead's pit crew planned to install a brand new engine overnight. J. Gordon Thompson, owner of Miss Supertest and a Canadian petroleum executive, said his craft's supercharger would be tuned up.

Brampton Wins

WELLAND (CP) — Brampton Excelsiors defeated Welland-Crowland Switsons 11-8 Tuesday night and lead their Ontario Lacrosse Association best-of-seven senior semi-final 3-2.

Switsons had a 4-1 lead early in the second quarter, only to fade before Brampton's power.

Bob Pulford, Clark Pulford, Bill McLaughlin and Bill Castator each scored a pair for Brampton, while Bert Russell, Jack Madgett and Gord Thompson had singles.

Old Woodbine Had Remarkable Harness Meet

Official figures will not be available immediately but it seems likely that close to 175,000 will have attended the 49 evenings of the annual summer meeting.

Statistically, they will have wagered about $7,500,000 of which six cents on each dollar goes to the provincial treasury. The Ontario Jockey Club collects nine cents out of which to pay purses and administrative costs. It's a notable fact that Old Woodbine, spending 43 per cent of its handle on purses, leads the continent in that department, according to the publication Hoof Beats.

Dunc Campbell enhanced his chances of being the meeting's leading driver Tuesday night by steering home Son Elgin, owned by Mrs. F. G. Perkins of Port Whitby; to its first victory in two seasons. The 10-year-old gelding lost all 16 of its starts last year and had been winless in 10 starts prior to Tuesday night.

This represented Campbell's 27th victory and put him two ahead of runners-up Levi McFadden and Cecil Coke who have 25 each.

Mercurys Crush Long Branch In Fourth Game

TORONTO (CP) — Peterborough Mercurys crushed Long Branch Castrols 14-2 Tuesday night in the fourth game of their Ontario Lacrosse Association senior semi-final series. Peterborough now leads the best-of-seven series 3-1 and can end it Thursday night in Peterborough.

Top scorer for Peterborough was Bob Allan with five goals followed by Rock Batley, Lou Nickle and Curley Mason with two each. Roy Wood, Bob Parnell and Bob Curtis each counted one.

CANADIANS LOSES

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (CP)—Schenectady, N.Y., took advantage of a defensive lapse to score four runs in the fourth inning and defeat Valleyfield, Que., 7-2 in the first round of the Little League world series. For three innings the Canadians and Americans battled to a 2-2 tie. But in the top of the fourth Valleyfield committed four errors that let in three runs.

Belleville Entry In Bowling Wins Three Games

TORONTO (CP)—A 48-year-old carpenter from Lander B.C., who returned to lawn bowling competition last year after a two-year lapse, is threatening to take the Canadian lawn bowling singles title to the West for the first time since 1955.

Harvie Wheant, who gave up competition due to travel difficulties, took his third successive victory in the third round Tuesday when he edged Ken Crozier of Toronto 21-16 in a game that remained indecisive until the last shot.

Both continue in today's play

Doubles play in the championship has developed into a battle between Ontario's Bruce Miller and Gordon Watkin of Belleville and the Manitoba twosome of S. Townsend and J. Dickie. Each team has won three games in a row and they meet in the fifth and final round today.

Another Ontario entry is tied for the lead in the rinks division with a foursome from Alberta at five points each.

H. McGuigan, G. Vogt, W. Huston and J. Gillette from Kitchener opened the five-game set Tuesday by tying 20-20 with the Alberta entry of M. Wallace, C. Duthie, J. Church and R Henderson of Calgary.

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — When they say "watch out for Joanne" at the U.S. women's amateur golf championship, you can no longer tell whether they mean the big one with the big "A" or the little one with the little "A."

Earlier in the week it would have been a cinch the golfing clan was referring in awe to JoAnne Gunderson, the husky strawberry blonde from Kirkland, Wash. After all, the 20-year-old Miss Gunderson won the women's title in 1957 and she came here from victory in the western amateur and a noteworthy tie for second against the pros in the western open.

Now, however, Joanne Goodwin is the talk around Congressional Country Club

BURNS UP COURSE

This Joanne, a slight 23-year-old from Haverhill, Mass., has turned on as much heat as the broiling summer sun on Congressional's 6,457-yard, par-74 tournament course. For 28 holes in winning her first two matches, Miss Goodwin has burned three strokes off par. Defending champion Anne Quast of Marysville, Wash., is the only other sub-par contender. She's one under for 26. Miss Gunderson is two over for 28.

Today, in a morning feature, Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto, the present Canadian and former U.S. and British champion, met Judy Eller, 19, of Old Hickory, Tenn. Miss Eller, a Miami, Fla., University sophomore, is the current intercollegiate and southern titleholder.

STEADIER AT CLOSE

Both were even par 37 for the first nine. Miss Streit lost the 10th with a one-over-par six when her second shot bounced from the bank of the green into a water hazard. The shot cost her three strokes. After that the Canadian champ played steadily while Judy faded. Marlene won the 11th, 12th, 14th and 15th with pars.

Judy Darling of Montreal won her second-round match, defeating Julie Hull, Anderson, Ind., 6 and 5, but three other Canadians were eliminated—Mrs. John A. McDougald, Long Branch, Mrs. John H. McCarter, Toronto and Mrs Gordon A. Cole, Edmonton.

Pair Placement Kickers Hold Two Top Spots

WINNIPEG (CP)—A pair of placement kickers hold the first two spots in the individual scoring race of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show that Kristopaitis, former Toronto Argonaut, has 25 points in Lions' four games. Brown is four points back.

SOCCER FINAL SET

HAMILTON (CP)—The eastern Canadian sudden - death soccer final for the Dominion Cup will be played at Montreal Sept. 5 between Hamilton Italo-Canadians and Montreal Alouettes, Italo-Canadian officials announced Tuesday.

OLYMPIC HOPE HURT

CHICAGO (AP) — Adhemar da Silva, Olympic and Pan American champion in the hop-step-jump event, has strained a leg muscle in a workout. Brazil's hope to win a good medal in the event, da Silva, 32, is the only track athlete in the Pan American Games as a defending titlist.

HITS PRO BOXING

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Governor Edmund G. Brown says professional boxing "smells to high heaven" and if Congress doesn't force a cleanup he might recommend abolition of all fights in California. He said Tuesday he is seriously considering mak such a recommendation to t 1961 legislature.

BELGIAN PRESS

There are about 58 daily newspapers in Belgium, printed in French, Flemish and some in German.

Christmas Tree Growers Busy

TORONTO — Christmas tree growers throughout Ontario are busy now shaping their trees—pruning and shearing to control the shape and bushiness of evergreens. Scotch, red, Austrian and white pines all are shaped, but Scotch pine responds best to this treatment and is most popular as a Christmas tree because it holds its needles well. Spruce and balsam fir usually are shaped during fall and winter months.

Tree shaping is a highly skilled art, each grower using his own particular techniques to produce a distinctive tree, according to E. F. Johnston, timber supervisor with the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests here.

"Christmas trees can be grown in many shapes, sizes and colors," he says, "but the most popular is still the deep green variety with the conical form of the spruce tree.

"The Christmas tree industry is big business in Ontario and provides casual employment for thousands. In 1957, Ontario marketed 2,200,000 Christmas trees with a value of $1,784,000. Much of this revenue is produced on marginal soils, best suited to growing trees."

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids.

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

BATAWA

Anniversary Party Held For Bata 20-Year Veterans

BATAWA — In conjunction with 20th anniversary of the establishment of Bata Shoe Company of Canada Limited and the industrial community of Batawa, employees with 20 years of service with the company were guests of honor at a garden party and barbecue held recently in the gardens at the home of Dr. C. K. Herz, vice-president and managing-director, who was the host for the evening. With him to receive the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bata.

Employees of long standing enjoyed themselves, chatting over the experiences they had shared in the 20 years they had worked together. More than 150 guests were present and among those honored were Dr. David McMullen of Frankford who has been associated with the plant and village as industrial doctor and family doctor to most of the Batawa families.

Throughout his twenty years of valued service to the community at large, Doctor McMullen has been closely linked with Batawa, serving the company and many of the individual families. He has watched some of the babies he brought into the world grow up into fine healthy men and women. It was in recognition of long and faithful community service that Doctor McMullen was presented with a transistor radio. The presentation was made on behalf of the assembled long service people and the company by Mr. Bata who spoke briefly on the friendship and valued service that had helped build Batawa and had been shared by all members of the community and Doctor McMullen.

While the party was to honor members of the company that had shared twenty years, two of the special guests were presented with handsome gold watches and suitably engraved scrolls for having reached the quarter century mark in company service. Both these gentlemen are part of the retail sales staff and are well known to their associates in Batawa. They were Messrs. Bill Rezler and Mr. F. Tesar.

The evening was spent showing community pictures of ancient vintage and a social period of re-union type that was fully enjoyed by all.

The spacious gardens surrounding the home of Dr. Herz and the adjacent guest house were transformed into an enchanting oriental garden by the use of special lighting and Chinese lanterns.

A menu of barbecued chicken and salads added the garden atmosphere and among the groups that assembled were such people as Frank Nemac, John Pelar, two of the original groups who had arrived in Canada exactly 20 years ago on the particular day, August 20th. Others present included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sury who came to Batawa from India several years ago. Mr. Sury will mark his 33rd anniversary with the Bata organization this year. Many other long service people were present, Mrs. Steve Barancin and Mrs. Rosie Janak, both veterans of more than 30 years in the organization and among the first to be employed in the Canadian Company when it was established.

'Melt Little Ice,' 'Be Turning Point' They Suggest

Eisenhower at Bonn, Khrushchev Sends Note

BONN (CP)—President Eisenhower said today he believes Chancellor Konrad Adenauer shares his view that the president's coming talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may "melt a little of the ice" in the cold war.

Eisenhower spoke to reporters at the West German foreign ministry after a conference of more than two hours with the chancellor.

It was the first press conference Eisenhower had held on foreign soil since becoming president.

CAUTIOUS ON SUMMIT

Although he defended his decision to meet with Khrushchev, Eisenhower said any East-West ummit conference would be a ave mistake unless there was "pretty good" assurance in advance that some progress could be made.

As for the possibility of war breaking out over Berlin, Eisenhower said he is confident "no one in the world wants war" and that he is "not going to be classed as the bomb rattler."

He told reporters that if the Soviet premier comes up with some appealing proposals in their forthcoming meetings "that would be a tremendous achievement in itself."

NO NEW BERLIN PROPOSAL

He declined to go into details of his talks with Adenauer but did say that there had been no new proposals discussed regarding the Berlin problem.

He was asked whether he and Adenauer had discussed reports of weakened Allied unity result[illegible]g from the Khrushchev-visit [illegible]ogram.

"There has been no evidence of it in the conversations I have had with the chancellor and his associates," Eisenhower replied.

Eisenhower was asked whether he and the chancellor had discussed what a questioner referred to as "the French problem."

"Of course we have to talk about France because we are talking about NATO and Franre is a very important factor in the whole NATO complex," he said. "So I assure you France has been talked about considerably."

EQUAL PARTNERS

Eisenhower said that he would not characterize his talks in Europe with the other Western Allies as being intended to co-ordinate Western policies.

"All the nations of NATO have banded themselves together as equal partners so far as their moral support of the principle for [illegible]hich we commonly stand is con[illegible]rned."

The talks with the West German chancellor were the first stage in Eisenhower's new venture in man-to-man diplomacy, which will take him on to London and Paris and then to his meeting with the leader of the Communist world.

Before sitting down with Adenauer in the gleaming white chancellery on the Rhine, Eisenhower paid a formal call on West German President Theodor Heuss.

By VINCENT BUIST

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said in a message published today that his forthcoming meetings with President Eisenhower probably will be "a historical turning point" in the cold war.

Khrushchev, in a note to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, expressed hope that the meetings will lead "from further estrangement to gradual rapprochement and settlement of outstanding issues with the view to ensuring peaceful coexistence of all states."

The message was handed to Adenauer in Bonn Aug. 19 but was not published until today.

URGES JOINT EFFORT

The Soviet premier said Russia is convinced that "there is a necessary basis for arriving at mutually acceptable solutions and that nothing but joint efforts in this direction are needed."

"On our part we shall do everything necessary to conduce to the achievement of necessar[illegible]greement," he said.

Khrushchev said the main unsolved problem between East and West is the elimination of the last traces of the Second World War, "without which it is difficult to consolidate peace and security of the peoples."

He urged West Germany to improve its relations with East Germany and repeated a warning that Russia will conclude a separate peace treaty with the Communist state unless steps are taken to ensure friendlier ties between the two sectors of the divided country.

NOT REALISTIC

He said proposals that Germany should be reunited by the United States, Britain, France and Russia are unrealistic.

This, he said, would be tantamount to a call for the use of force against one of the two German states and that reunification should be worked out by the two states without outside pressure.

Khrushchev referred to what he described as the West German government's opposition to a practical solution to reunification, and added:

"The impression imposes that the federal government cares more for plans of the nuclear and missile arming of the Bundeswehr than for the reunification of the country."

The Russian leader called Adenauer's attention to the "dangerous consequences" of such a move for West Germany and the cause of reunification.

The Soviet premier warned Adenauer against using West Germany's growing economic strength toward the building of military strength.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Scattered thunderstorms occurred during much of the night through Southern Ontario but clear skies and cool temperatures prevailed in Northern Ontario. The line separating the pleasantly cool and dry air from the hot, muggy air, lies just south of Lake Superior and north of Georgian Bay. Hot, humid conditions will persist in lower lakes areas today and warm but pleasant weather will prevail over the upper lakes. Most localities will experience showers during the next 48 hours.

WARNS WATER DIVERSION WOULD ANNOY CANADA

But Senate Majority Favors Chicago Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rpublican Senator Winston Prouty of Vermont said today that enactment of a bill to permit Chicago to take more water from Lake Michigan would imperil friendly relations with Canada.

Prouty's prepared Senate speech came as opponents laid the groundwork for an effort to send the bill to the Senate foreign relations committee for a report on its international implications.

But Democratic Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois and other supporters of the bill to authorize the additional diversion for Chicago's sewage disposal system demonstrated Wednesday they have more than enough strength for passage if they can force it to a vote.

Even then, they confront the likelihood of a veto by President Eisenhower, who has twice vetoed similar legislation because of Canadian objections.

APPROVED BY HOUSE

The big question was when proponents could steer the bill—already passed by the House of Representatives—to final Senate passage.

Prouty contended that the diversion would have damaging effects on power generation in the St. Lawrence, Niagara and Quebec hydro-electric projects and "disastrously affect navigation on the Great Lakes."

The bill would, for a one-year trial period, up the diversion rate into the Illinois waterway from the present 1,500 cubic feet a second to 2,500 to increase the flushing effect on the Illinois waterway and the Chicago sanitary canal.

Senators from six Great Lakes states, fighting every inch of the way against passage of the bill, lost two attempts to delay a start of debate.

CLAIMS U.S. RIGHTS

Senator Robert S. Kerr (Dem. Okla.), noting Canadian objections to the bill, said the waters of Lake Michigan are wholly within the United States and this country has exclusive jurisdiction over them.

Senator Francis Case (Rep. S.D.) expressed concern whether the threatened diversion would lead to Canada's breaking other treaties with the United States. Case said U.S. relations with her neighbor to the north are probably more important than with any other country on the face of the globe.

NEED EXTRA WORKERS

CHATHAM (CP) — An urgent appeal for men, women and students to come to the aid of Kent County farmers was made Wednesday by the National Employment Service office here. Heat and humidity are ripening vegetable and fruit crops at a record-breaking pace.

Lake Superior Fossils of Algae Oldest Evidence of Life in World

MONTREAL (CP)—Fossils of what may have been the oldest form of life on earth have been discovered in Ontario, near the rocky shores of Lake Superior.

The fossils show a species of simple plant—algae or fungi—estimated to be 1,700,000,000 years old.

Dr. E. S. Barghoorn, botany professor at Harvard University, told reporters Wednesday that the fossils represent the oldest evidence of life ever found on earth.

Dr. Barghoorn, attending the International Botanical Congress, outlined the history of the discovery of the fossils:

In 1954 Professor Stanley Tyler of the University of Wisconsin was on a field trip on north western Ontario trying to determine the eastern limits of deposits of taconite, a low-grale iron ore.

At a site five miles west of Schreiber, he spotted a rock formation that contained fossils of what he guessed was a primitive form of life.

It was years before enough scientific data was assembled for full reports. Dr. Barghoorn said the whole story will soon be told in an extended scientific work.

Professor Patrick Hurley of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology did much of the work of dating the fossil samples in terms of geological time.

He carried out a series of isotopic measurements involving the elements of argon and potassium, and was able to pinpoint the age of the earliest samples with "astounding" accuracy—1,700,000,000 years ago.

Dr. R. A. Scott of the Geological Survey of the United States, told reporters the Canadian fossils "are undoubtedly the oldest evidence of life yet found.

Woman, Four Girls Held After Raid on Apartment

TORONTO (CP) — Morality officers here Wednesday night arrested a woman and four 18-year-old girls after a raid on a fashionable apartment building containing what they termed a call-girl ring.

Police are also holding a 23-year-old girl as a material witness.

A similar raid was made three weeks ago on a suburban Scarborough house said to have been the headquarters of a $150,000-a-year call girl racket.

Insp. Elsworth Walker, morality squad chief, said operations of the ring are believe to be widespread, but refused to reveal further details of the investigation.

Insp. Walker said Angelina Canton, 37, Freda Canton, 18, and Thelma Ridout, 18, face a joint charge of keeping a bawdy house. Mrs. Canton is also charged with procuring and living on the avails of prostitution.

Two girls were charged with being inmates of a bawdy house. They are Shirley Leonard, 18, and Lorraine Lacroix, 18.

4 Iowa Men Fail to Return From Fishing Trip to Canada

CHARLES CITY, Iowa (AP) —Four Iowa men who did not return from a weekend fishing trip to Canada were being sought today by Canadian and Minnesota authorities.

The men left in a rented plane from the Charles City airport last Friday and told their families they expected to be back Sunday or Monday.

They are Leland Chestek, William Schneider and Fred Wegner and the pilot of the plane, Lloyd Boofer.

The four had made reservations at Jorgenson's Lodge near Ignace, Ont., but when relatives made inquiries they were told the men never reached Ignace.

Bad weather had been reported last weekend and officials were checking into the possibility that the men were forced down in some isolated spot.

Relatives said they understood the men would fly over International Falls, Minn. Canadian customs officials at Fort Frances, across the border from International Falls, said they had no record of the plane, a light Cessna, passing through there.

Toronto Delays Decision on Fate Of Soccer Park

TORONTO (CP)—Board of Control Wednesday put off for a week a decision on whether to close and expropriate Fred Hamilton Park, the scene of a riot by soccer fans Sunday.

The move to shut the west-central park has been spearheaded by Ald. Philip Givens, who was supported by a deputation of more than 100 citizens at Wednesday's board of control meeting.

"We were lucky that no one got killed last Sunday," he said. Police Inspector James Handerson told the board fans attacked police officers with "two-by-fours" and "large stones."

The riot broke out following a game between Hungaria and Italia of the National Soccer League. Italia won 2-1 on a penalty shot in the last 30 seconds.

Board of control asked for a report from city officials concerning the possible expropriation of the park, sold to the league by the city for $50,000 in 1957. The board was told the league now wants $150,000 for the park.

Five policemen and an eight-year-old boy were injured during last Sunday's melee.

League director Frank Thirkettle said the problem was beyond league officials. He had received threatening letters and phone calls. He pointed out last Sunday's "foolish incident" took place outside the soccer park.

Chinese Reds Infiltrating Into Canada

VANCOUVER (CP) — Chinese Communists are infiltrating into Canada to organize youth and labor groups in Edmonton and Vancouver, Nationalist China's consul-general in Vancouver said Wednesday.

Yin-Shou Che said in an interview he was particularly concerned with Chinese Communist activities in Edmonton. He described the Alberta city as the centre of Chinese Communists in the Prairie Provinces.

Mr. Che said that in Vancouver, which has the largest Chinese community in the country, there are some 100 Chinese Communists who "want to cause us trouble and embarrassment."

U.S. Stratford Festival Head Resigns His Post

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — John Houseman, artistic director of the American Shakespeare Festival Theatre here for four years, has resigned.

He says his resignation follows a disagreement over a plan to extend the festival beyond the summer season.

"I always felt that just to run a summer operation is not enough," Houseman said following his resignation Wednesday.

In his statement, Houseman said there had been differences of opinion concerning basic management policies.

He complained of the "abandonment of this year's announced national festival tour, and the continued failure of the board of trustees to provide the necessary working funds to extend the activities of the festival on a year-round basis with national scope."

Lawrence Langner, chairman of the festival board, said the tour was abandoned because the group wanted to avoid a financial loss such as resulted from a U.S. tour two seasons ago with Much Ado About Nothing.

'Drink Beer' Magistrate Advises Man

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP)—Magistrate R. I. Moore Wednesday implored a Lindsay man charged with assault to stick to drinking beer because "wine sends everybody nuts."

Richard Desmond Heels was stated by his wife Stella to have been drinking wine before she arrived home from work Aug. 16. She said Heels became abusive, pushed her against a door and threatened to maim her if she did not get out of the house."

Heels, who pleaded guilty, was bound over to keep the peace for two years.

URANIUM IN DESERT

CAIRO (AP)—The Middle East news agency says an Egyptian geological mission has discovered in Egypt's Sinai Desert traces of radioactive materials which indicate the presence of uranium. The agency added Wednesday that a commission will be sent to the Sinai to determine the type of uranium discovered and the extend of its distribution.

EISENHOWER DELAYS FURTHER NUCLEAR TESTS

Extends 2 Months Earlier Ban of Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — An order by President Eisenhower to hold off any U.S. nuclear tests another two months gives the Geneva negotiators more time to work out an agreement for an international ban.

The Geneva talks, which began last October 31, were recessed Wednesday for six weeks. The U.S. representative, Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, must return to the United States for the start of the UN General Assembly session next month.

The U.S. ban on atomic blasts was scheduled to expire a year from the opening of the Geneva conference. The state department announced that Eisenhower has ordered the deadline extended to Dec. 31.

OTHERS DESIST, TOO

Both Britain and the Soviet Union, the other two atomic powers, also have kept the lid on nuclear testing since last fall.

Eisenhower acted in face of continued pressurer from some military, atomic energy and congressional officials to resume atomic shots.

They argue that a halt on improving these weapons through testing increases the relative strength of the Communists.

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain said today that she will not resume nuclear tests while talks continue in Geneva on ending the tests permanently.

British officials welcomed the United States' extension of its voluntary suspension of nuclear tests to the end of this year.

Britain and the U.S. voluntarily renounced nuclear testing for one year from the start of the conference on Oct. 31, 1958, provided Russia did likewise.

Police Awaiting Autopsy Report

COMO, Que. (CP) — Provincial police are awaiting the results of an autopsy on a young woman whose body was found in a sleeping bag floating in a creek near here, 30 miles west of Montreal.

Police said a mark on the woman's temple, which had led them to believe the woman was shot, apparently was a superficial injury acquired after death.

The woman was described as between 20 and 30 years old, weighing 115 pounds.

Her brown hair was dyed blonde. She was wearing a black lace summer dress and some jewelery.

Residents of the Lake of Two Mountains area told police they had noticed a sleeping bag in the water for about 10 days, but no one had examined it closely.

All-Out Food Price War Expected Among Supermarkets in Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — With most supermarket chains in Toronto sold on the idea of stamps to boost sales, an all-out food price war in the city can be expected, Leon Weinstein, president of Power Super Markets Limited, said Wednesday.

Officials of other food chains agreed that prices were likely to drop.

Mr. Weinstein said the supermarket business in Toronto is now in the middle of the most competitive situation in its history.

"We're closer than we've ever been to an all-out price war," he added.

A spokesman for Steinberg's Limited, which opened 39 stores across Ontario last week, said business has reached its high, particularly in Southern Ontario, and "the public is sure to benefit from it."

George Hoffman of Loblaw Grocceterias Company said Loblaw prices were normal but if there was any trend "I suspect it may be down."

Competition between the various chain stores moved into high gear recently with announcements that several companies would provide special stamps for every 10 cents worth of goods bought.

Customers can later use their accumulated stamps to obtain refunds in the form of appliances and other merchandise.

May Be 40 Dead As Destruction, Panic Widespread

Aid Quickly Despatched, Troops Prevent Looting

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Southern Mexico today counted at least ten dead following the country's worst earthquake of the year. Communications still were out to many points and some estimates placed the death toll at as high as 40.

The quake hit about 2.20 a.m. Wednesday, spreading destruction and panic across the six tropical states of Veracruz, Oaxaca, Campeche, Yucatan, Puebla and Tabasco. The heaviest shocks apparently were felt on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, narrowest Mexican point between the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific.

Officials said the number of injured might reach 130 or more.

7 DIE IN TOWN

Jaltipan, a small town 25 miles from the gulf coast in southern Veracruz state, apparently was hardest hit. An official report said seven were killed there. But Pemex, the government oil monopoly, said its Jaltipan office reported 20 dead, 130 injured and between 60 and 80 per cent of the town's buildings damaged.

Acayucan reported two deaths and 40 injuries. An official report said there was another death at Chinameca and an undetermined number at Sayula.

Seismographs recorded the quake at force seven on a scale whose maximum is 10.

PANIC WIDESPREAD

Panic was reported in Loma Bonita, the heart of Mexico's richest pineapple area. There was panic, too, some 350 miles away in Progreso, on the Yucatan Peninsula, and in Jalapa, Fortina des las Flores, Oluta, Arriaga and scores of other towns.

The government acted promptly, sending aid by road, air and sea. The defence ministry threw in troops to aid victims and guard against looting.

Crews began repair of highways, railways and bridges and put up emergency radio towers to transmit messages.

Waves of Ships Pound Buildings At Brockville

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Waves caused by overseas ships passing this St. Lawrence River town at excessive speeds are giving waterfront docks, cottages and boats a terrific pounding, Mayor Jack Langmiur protested Wednesday.

"If it continues no water front structures will be left standing in the Brockville area within two years," he said.

Mayor Langmiur said he has already filed a complaint with the transport department and RCMP.

Last weekend eight boats were overturned at their moorings, the mayor said. Several docks were rapidly becoming unsafe and some cottages have been jarred due to heavy suction from the waves.

125 Residents Forced to Flee Their Homes

AVALANCHE, Wis. (CP) — A cloudburst Wednesday night flooded a river in southwestern Wisconsin, forcing 125 residents to flee their homes.

Thundershowers moved across southeast Minnesota into central Wisconsin and lower Michigan, with locally-severe storms battering parts of Wisconsin and eastern Michigan.

At Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., winds of near-tornado force knocked down power lines, felled trees and caused flooding.

The 125 people of this little Wisconsin community were evacuated before the town was inundated by eight feet of water from the overflowing Kickapoo River and its tributary streams.

One child was drowned when she was swept out of her father's arms while the family was moving from its trailer home, an eight-year-old boy was killed by lightning at Bay City, Mich., and an electric company repairman was electrocuted at New Baltimore, Mich., when a high tension line fell on him.

English Channel Race Won by Argentine

DOVER, England (AP) — Alfredo Camarero of Argentina won the mass English Channel race in 11 hours, 48 minutes, 26 seconds today.

Only 16 of the original field of 38 started the confusion-filled 22-mile swim at Cap Gris Nez, France, earlier today. Sixteen others were stranded in France, and later flown to England, when their pilot boats were unable to get close enough to the French coast to guide them.

Primo Gomes Ferreira, 34-year-old Portuguese swimmer, got lost in the confusion of the start of the mass swim. But he took care of himself and went to a hotel in Wissant, where he was reported taking a leisurely lunch while a mass air and sea search was organized on his behalf.

New Program Greets Members Of Car Club

A new program greeted members of the Belleville Chapter of the St. Lawrence Automobile Club when they arrived at their monthly meeting yesterday evening. A short road rally, known as a "rally petit," preceded the regular business meeting.

Sixteen members participated in the event, whose course led entrants north to West Huntingdon, west to Stirling, south to Carrying Place, then back east to Belleville. Although a few managed to get lost all arrived back at the Sea Cadet barracks on South Front St. for the business meeting and it was the unanimous decision of those present that they preferred this type of a program for each meeting.

The road rally consisted of a timed-run with competitors being checked secretly at points along the route. A point a minute was the penalty for late arrival at a checkpoint, while five points a minute were assessed those who arrived early.

Henry Van den Bosch and John Melboon came first with only two penalty points against them. Second place went to Dr. and Mrs. F. J. McCurry (4 penalty points, and third place to Al Scarlet and Keith Lee (5 points lost.)

It was announced at the business meeting that the club would be having a large joint meeting with the Kingston group on Wednesday, September 9th, in Kingston. Final details of the Thousand Islands rally will be given to the club members at this time.

The meeting concluded with refreshments being served and a social get-together for members and wives.

Frankford Wants to Join Quinte High School District By a Township Corridor

Establishment of a "corridor" through Sidney township to enable to village of Frankford to join the Bay of Quinte High School District, will be asked by that village of Hastings County Council.

Frankford Reeve Wilmott Rose gave notice of his village's request at the August session of Hastings county council Wednesday afternoon when he moved for a county by-law to establish the "corridor".

He said his village was an island insofar as joining a high school area was concerned as Frankford at the present time did not border any municipality which belonged to a high school district and therefore was barred from joining.

At the present time 85 high school students are taken by bus to high school at Belleville, but in addition to regular costs, his municipality has to pay its own transportation costs.

Reeve Rose said that under provincial regulations county councils had the power to pass a by-law establishing a corridor through a municipality not a member of a high school district.

But councillors were a bit reticent of taking action on the motion without more information and a suggestion that a consultative committee be set up to bring more information to council will undoubtedly be acted upon. This was agreeable to Mr. Rose and he accordingly withdrew his motion for a by-law.

LINE SUGGESTED

"I am not trying to stick this thing down anybody's throat," he said, "but all my villagers are expecting me to bring this before the county body."

Mr. Rose suggested that the 5th concession of Sidney be used as the "corridor."

There were only two solutions to the problem of his village, the Frankford reeve said. They were either for Sidney to join the high school district, or for the county to establish a corridor.

He did not think there was any possibility of Sidney joining the high school district.

Sidney Reeve Harley Hamilton and Deputy Reeve Gerald Irvine bore this out noting that their municipality was "perfectly happy" with things as they are.

At the same time, however, both men expressed a willingness to have theh corridor idea further investigated, but did not want to see anything hastily done.

Reading of correspondence took up the greater part of the afternoon session which was cut short by the extreme humidity.

NO ACTION TAKEN

No action was taken on a Renfrew County resolution asking more federal government grant in lieu of taxes on self contained military establishments.

Sidney township representatives said that they felt they had been treated quite fairly and were "getting pretty well all that was coming to us."

County clerk-treasurer Erle S. Denyes noted that in addition to the county share of the grant received by Sidney the county has received an additional $5,000 as result of the government placing a greater assessed value on residential property at Middleton Park, than was arrived at by county and township assessors.

A communication from the Department of Lands and Forests noted that the use of snares was now permitted in Hastings county outside of the regular deer season. Snares are used principally to catch wolves, it was noted.

Councillors concurred in a resolution asking for X-ray cost coverage by the Ontario Hospital Commission without the patient being admitted to hospital.

And finally, on the afternoon session was a brief discussion on the long proposed Deseronto causeway. A resolution from Zone 3 of the Lake Ontario Development Association recommending the construction of the causeway was read to council.

During the discussion period following it was noted that the costly clear span bridge necessary had been a stumbling block holding up any decision on construction.

SUGGESTION MADE

Reeve William Davis of Maple Leaf noted that it had now been suggested that the province and counties concerned build the causeway and allow a syndicate to build the clear span bridge which would be operated as a toll structure.

In view of the several toll structures now planned by the province, Mr. Davis felt this matter might be worth looking into.

Deseronto Reeve Harry Alford noted that the LODA resolution was brought before council more as a matter of information than with any expectation that definite action would be taken.

Boy Killed When He Falls Beneath Wheels of Tractor

A nine-year-old Prince Edward County boy who would have celebrated his 10th birthday today was fatally injured Wednesday afternoon when he fell beneath the wheel of a farm tractor driven by his older brother.

Dead is Richard Townsend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Townsend of R. R. 1 Carrying Place. The boy was dead on arrival at Belleville General Hospital.

The accident occurred on the Gore Road near the Townsend home in Ameliasburg township. Richard was riding on the tractor driven by his brother Gary 16, when he fell off the machine and went under the rear wheel.

Gary told provincial police that Richard was riding on the drawbar of the tractor when as the tractor slowed he stepped forward and fell against the rear wheel. He was carried over the tire, to the ground and was run over by the left rear wheel of the tractor.

Richard was born in the area and had lived there all his life. He attended Victoria United Church and Sunday School and was a public school pupil at S. S. No. 8 Ameliasburg.

He is survived by his parents, two brothers, Gary 16, and Roger 7, and two sisters, Patricia 13 and Nancy 1.

There will be no inquest.

Tough Swimming With His Feet And Hands Tied

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) "It was just too tough," said Clifford Stinebring as he gave up his attempt to swim across Lake Erie handcuffed and with his feet tied together.

The Niagara Falls police captain came out of the water at 2:45 p.m. Wednesday after battling Lake Erie's six-foot waves for 3¼ hours. His manager ordered him into a boat after he had covered half of his 10-mile course from Crystal Beach, Ont., to Buffalo.

The 59-year-old police officer had not lost confidence in the "dolphin whip" backstroke he invented. It held up beautifully, he said.

Ration Vaccine As Montreal Polio Cases Rise

MONTREAL (CP) — City health officials acted Wednesday to ration supplies of anti-polio vaccine as the number of polio cases rose to 500.

Dr. Adelard Groulx, city health director, said tight supplies of the Salk vaccine forced officials to save injections for those who have already received their first inoculation.

"We have enough vaccine to give the second shots to all those who attended the first clinics," said Alex C. Solomon, president of the Quebec March of Dimes which sponsored mammoth mass clinics here.

The death toll remained at 28, unchanged in the last two days.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Newfoundland's polio count climbed to 52 Wednesday when two St. John's girls were admitted to the fever hospital here. Their ages were 17 and 11.

One of them was being treated in an iron lung along with 11 others. Three children have died since the outbreak started earlier this summer.

Meanwhile, the health department expected to run out of Salk anti-polio vaccine at any time.

Chief Medical Officer Dr. A. McDermott said "quite a large batch" of vaccine is scheduled to arrive Sept. 10. This would be enough to meet all demands.

44 Subpoenas Issued For Inquiry Here

The sheriff's office of Hastings County began serving subpoenas Wednesday to witnesses in the judicial inquiry into this city's municipal affairs.

Sheriff Roscoe Robson said this morning that a total of 44 subpoenas had so far been issued and that most of these had been served. Still unserved were eight subpoenas issued today and those for persons who are at present out of town.

Those served Wednesday were members of council and city hall departments, the public utilities commission and city school boards. He said a subpoena has been issued against Mrs. Jane Forrester, twice mayor of Belleville since 1955.

The inquiry, to open here Sept. 28, concerns alleged misuse of city funds, mainly on the Belleville McFarlands hockey team. Of the $255,000 city deficit, $110,000 is attributed to operation of the arena and to the three-year operation of the world championship McFarlands.

Judge Arthur Roy Willmott of Cobourg will conduct the inquiry.

Murder Hearing In Fourth Day

STETTLER, Alta. (CP) — The preliminary hearing of Robert Raymond Cook, 23-year-old suspected slayer, moved into the fourth day today.

Cook is charged with the murder of his 53-year-old mechanic father, Raymond, found dead at the family home here June 28. The man had been blasted by a shotgun.

Robert Cook's step-mother, Daisy Mae, was also killed by a shotgun charge. The couple's five children, ranging in age from three to nine, were bludgeoned to death.

The tiny courtroom here has been packed since the hearings began. About 30 witnesses are still to be heard but it is hoped to finish the hearing by Friday afternoon.

Cook touched off Alberta's greatest manhunt early in July when he escaped from a mental home where he was being held pending hearing. Hundreds of men were brought into the search, using aircraft, cars, jeeps and trucks before Cook was recaptured, drawn and exhausted, after a few days of harried freedom in the southern Alberta area.

Orchan took the big setback in active mines, off 33 cents at 91 cents on a turnover of 829,250.

Canadian cottons had the best industrial gain, up 2 at 24½, while Canada Malting, Ford A and Consolidated Paper, off 1½ each were the major losers.

Belleville Man Gets Four Years For Prison Riot

GUELPH (CP) — A prisoner cried in court Wednesday and three others voiced their terror of Guelph reformatory guards when the ringleaders of three days of rioting at the institution received additional prison sentences.

The riots started last Wednesday in the reformatory tailor shop. The next day there was another riot in the tailor shop during which prison Superintendent George Sanderson was threatened by a prisoner wielding 10-inch shears.

Friday saw the most serious riot which started in the breakfast room and spread to the exercise yard when some 40 men stormed a door injuring the two guards

Police and prison guards quelled the uprising by firing tear gas bombs into the yard where nearly 800 shouting, cursing prisoners were hemmed in.

Paul Waters, 21, of Niagara Falls drew a five-year penitentiary sentence for menacing Superintendent Sanderson. He broke down and wept.

James Stewart Pinell, 19, of Toronto, who triggered the Friday revolt by heaving a salt shaker at a guard, pleaded in vain to be sent to penitentiary because "we've already been threatened by the guards" at the reformatory.

Magistrate B. S. Mitchel ordered him, William George Bull, 21, of Wallaceburg, and John Henry Brady of Windsor to return to the reformatory to serve two-years less a day each.

Woman Stands In Truck's Path

COACHELLA, Calif. (AP) — "Right now", said the highway patrolman, "we're just listing it as a traffic fatality."

But there was more than that to the strange death of Jean Elizabeth Wood.

She stood on Highway 99 Wednesday, miles from civilization, and stared death in the eyes. The eyes were the headlights of a huge truck bearing down on her.

Her body landed 110 feet from the point of impact.

The 26-year-old woman was wearing a black party dress, in the middle of nowhere. She had no car nearby.

James Frye, 25, of South Torrance, Calif., saw her killed. He had driven by, ahead of the truck, and almost hit her himself.

"It happened so fast", he said. "Suddenly there she was in front of me. I slid off the road. . . . I couldn't believe it — a girl there in the desert.

"THERE WASN'T TIME"

"I started to get out and grab her, because I saw this truck coming. But there wasn't time."

Later a reporter talked with one of the operators of a Riverside hotel, where the woman had lived since June 24.

"She was very depressed last night," the hotel operator said. "She was almost crying. She worked as a waitress at one of the bars here at one time. She told me last night she hadn't worked for two or three weeks".

Authorities located the woman's mother in Spokane, Wash. Mrs. Harty said her daughter had been married three times and was separated from her third husband. Mrs. Harty is caring for her two children.

Elect Officers Of Safety Fund For Firemen

TRENTON — Firemen had a busy day yesterday. In the morning, permanent firemen underwent extensive training. During the afternoon they were called to a grass fire and in the evening a Firemen's Safety Fund meeting was held.

During the morning the firemen practised rescue operations with the use of the aerial ladder's safety belt. They also practised with a stretcher made of one of the small portable ladders from the truck, which tied onto the end of a rope, was raised and lowered by the operators of the aerial ladder.

In the afternoon a call was received from the police at 3.15 that a grass fire had been started at Bunker Hill and a truck and two men were sent out. The firemen returned less than one-half hour later and reported the fire out.

At 7 p.m. all firemen, voluntary and permanent, were called to a meeting of the Firemen's Safety Fund and during the election of officers, Charlie Potts was named the new chairman.

Other officers elected were: secretary, Bob Haker; treasurer, Frank Coleman; auditors, Hank Barr and Bob Mitts. Jim Thompson was elected as spokesman for the volunteers.

Other than the election little business was handled at the meeting but several grievances brought forth were handled satisfactorily.

The Safety Fund meetings are the way the firemen have to get together to air their problems and to plan social activities from time to time. They also carry out money-raising projects during the year.

Fire Chief Cecil Ellis was present at the meeting at which about 60 percent of the firemen turned out.

Start Planning For Poppy-Day

TRENTON — William Taylor, who has been appointed chairman of the Branch 110 Canadian Legion Poppy Committee for 1959, held an organizational meeting of his committee at the Legion Hall, Monday evening.

Other members of the Poppy Committee attending the meeting were W. T. Lawson, J. C. Farrell, R. A. Grier and W. J. McLaren.

Mr. Taylor said it was too early to announce any detailed plans of the campaign, but he expressed a desire to see more residents taking part in the Remembrance Day ceremony at the Cenotaph.

"This year we would like to have more residents take a more active part in Remembrance by placing wreaths", he said. He pointed out that many residents who wished to place wreaths were not aware that such participation was encouraged.

Mr. Taylor added that the Legion would be pleased to place wreaths on behalf of any citizen.

"We'll have more information on how this can be done shortly", Mr. Taylor promised.

Although the objective for the 1959 campaign has not been set, it is expected to be higher than last year's target.

De Gaulle Begins Fact-Finding Tour of Algeria

The highlights of his tour will be a visit to the Kabylie mountains east of Algiers where more than 20,000 French soldiers are mounting the biggest single operation since the nationalist insurrection began in November, 1954.

In Paris, there was speculation on what transpired Wednesday when de Gaulle discussed Algeria with the cabinet in a session billed by his information minister, Roger Frey, as "probably the most important since" the wartime Free French leader returned to power in June, 1958.

The Paris newspaper France-Soir indicated suggested "solutions" presented by cabinet members included continuing the current policy of stamping out the revolt; getting the rebels to pick a peaceful solution and giving de Gaulle the means to make a "liberal" settlement.

Meteorologists Studying What Makes Rain Fall

TORONTO (CP) — Meteorologists are finding out this summer what makes the rain come down in one area of northeastern Ontario and western Quebec.

A weather research program in the Rouyan-Noranda district is using an instrument-laden RCAF aircraft to gain a better knowledge of the characteristics, causes and nature of clouds and rain, the transport department announced today.

By direct observation and measurements of rainfall over the test area, the weathermen hope to dispel uncertainty about nature's processes which change water vapor to almost — invisible cloud droplets and then to large drops of rain.

Among members of the project are the federal forestry department and the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

The pulp and paper association prompted the reseach by asking the department of transport to find out how effective "cloud seeding" is in spurring rainfall.

Foresters hope to reduce fire danger and find more water for hydro-electric power—the pulp industry depends on it.

Rural Parishes Ones to Suffer

WHITBY (CP) — The depletion of rural parishes as many farm people move to urban centres is posing serious problem to churches, William Drummond, an Ottawa economist, said Wednesday.

Mr. Drummond told the United Church of Canada's annual evangelism conference here that since the Second World War the Canadian agricultural force has dropped by about 40 per cent.

The result had been a considerable reduction in rural church members, and many ministers sent to rural areas had become discouraged and frustrated when they found small congregations.

He suggested one answer is to set up parishes four or five times as large as the old parish and have one central church to serve the area.

Mink-Covered Radio Shown At London

LONDON (AP) — A television set you hang on the wall . . . a mink - covered radio . . . a TV set for the dog kennel went on show here Wednesday.

The mink - covered radio and the doghouse TV were publicity gimmicks.

The rest were serious efforts at perfecting radio and TV reception and heralded slimmer, more streamlined TV sets to match modern furniture.

London to New York Railway

Engineers studying the proposal for a tunnel under the English Channel have decided that there are no technical obstacles to such a project.

Lucien Neret, writing in UNESCO Features, notes that another ambitious project to wipe out a water barrier has been proposed by a Soviet engineer, Arkady Markin. He urged building a causeway across Bering Strait, linking Siberia to Alaska by railroad.

"In its way," says Neret, "this project is as daring as the Channel Tunnel and might be regarded as a natural complement to it. A glance at the map of this part of the world will show that the Channel Tunnel and the Bering Strait causeway would make it possible to travel all the way by rail from Britain to the United States. A train leaving London would cross beneath the Straits of Dover, and by way of Paris, Berlin, Warsaw, Moscow and Irkutsh would reach Uellen on the Bering Strait. From there it would travel across the causeway and emerge on the American continent heading either for San Francisco and the other great cities on the Pacific seaboard, or for New York, Washington and the East Coast of the U.S.A. This is still only a plan, but modern techniques and the joint efforts of the nations could turn it into an exciting reality."

Exciting? To travel three quarters of the way around the world by train? How many weary hours! Who would choose such a method of travel in this day of the jet airliner, in the dawn of the rocket age?

And then we recall a new entrant in the transportation field, Britain's Hovercraft, which skims inches above land or water, for which is predicted speeds many times those of today's conventional trains. Perhaps one rail, from London almost around the world to New York, will one day provide a smooth route which the Hovercraft can cover at speeds matching those of today's planes, and with a carrying capacity for goods which might make it possible to keep passenger fares low enough to compete with transAtlantic air travel. One never knows.

The Soccer Riots

Two policemen and an eight-year-old boy were taken to hospital after soccer fans at Fred Hamilton Park in Toronto staged a wild riot Sunday.

Now some members of the Toronto City Council are demanding that the park be closed, while other people are attempting to minimize the incident.

The plain truth is, though, that there have been far too many brawls amongst spectators at soccer games in Toronto and in other Canadian cities.

Controller Allen of Toronto is quoted as saying that while such riots were regrettable they were inevitable in a fast, highly competitive game like soccer.

If this were true, if riots were really inevitable, there would be only one logical thing to do—ban soccer.

There seems to us, though, to be a less drastic solution which ought first to be tested. We doubt whether it is the speed or the competition of soccer which is basically responsible for these disturbances. They seem to be most frequent when teams of different nationalities meet—Sunday's game was between Toronto Hungaria and Toronto Italia. Immigrants, probably lonely for their homelands, seem to have their feelings raised to a dangerously high pitch at these games. A simple solution would be for the National Soccer League to break up these national teams and to force all clubs to use players of different nationalities, so that the spectators would not be broken into partisan groups along national lines.

Unique Handicap

Col. G. Hedley Basher has resigned as deputy minister of the Ontario department of reform institutions.

Hon. G. C. Wardrope, minister of the department, said that Col. Basher is leaving officially because of his age.

One suspects that he may not have been in sympathy with his chief's decision to abolish corporal punishment in the institutions under his direction.

But Col. Basher, if he had wished to defend corporal punishment, would have been laboring under an unique handicap—his name. It would have been much easier to defend tough discipline of prisoners if he had been called Goodman, or even Jones.

THE SIMPLE THINGS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Seemed that mother only cared
For the simple things of life;
Seemed that mother never shared
In the turmoil and the strife.
Simple things were her delight,
Closer to her heart, I guess;
Tears would fill her eyes at sight
Of a little baby's dress.

Mother never cared for show,
She was satisfied to dwell
In her humble way, and know
Those she loved were doing well.
Many keepsakes mother kept,
Always simple things she'd choose;
Many times has mother wept
O'er a little pair of shoes.

Men have come and gone, and by
Monuments of chiseled stone
Towering upward to the sky
What they were on earth is known.
But a little baby leaves
Only little, simple things:
And to them a mother cleaves—
Greater monuments than kings'.

Strictly Personal

Seeds of Peace Are in The People

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices:

A truly successful personality knows how to overcome the past, use the present and prepare for the future — but unless we can first surmount the past, we cannot effectively cope with either the present or the future.

As we grow older, we begin to see dimly that the events of our lives seem to arrange themselves in the image of our character; so that, in a sense, everyone receives the events he deserves.

Instinct is often wiser than reason. The woman who refuses a man and then accepts his proposal because of his persistence, usually regrets it; her mind has given assent, but not her spirit.

The fundamental problem in life — as in business, in art, in politics, in most human activities — is how to be stable without becoming stagnant.

Not to know one's self throughout a lifetime is a worse fate than knowing the worst about one's self; as Emmanuel Mounier vividly put it: "The world is full of obscure persons who never succeed in deciphering the enigma that is their destiny; they are embarrassed by themselves until their death, and their dialogue is with shadows in a language which isolates them by its harshness."

Pessimists who are fond of reminding us that the rose has thorns forgets to remind us that it has thorns only for the plucker.

Writers who believe they have to undergo degrading experiences in order to give us "realistic" novels are deluding themselves; the scientist who investigates typhoid bacilli doesn't try to become a typhoid carrier.

I have never heard a satisfactory definition of social "adjustment," for if everyone is busy adjusting to the next person, who is the first person adjusting to?

A person with delusions of grandeur can never be satisfied with any amount of power or possessions or prestige; many so-called "sane" people are like the patient Brill reported in Zurich, who insisted on being addressed as "Mr. God." Ten years later, when Brill saw him again, he had augmented his title to "Gen. God."

Genuinely good hostesses are few, for in trying to make their guests "feel at home" most hostesses simply add to the tension by over-eagerness to please. "Thou art careful and troubled about many things," said Jesus to Martha, bustling with hospitality.

How can we expect nations to understand each other when even in the same nation such groups as the urban dwellers and the rural dwellers do not understand each other, and feel a common bond only when they are bound together in a war against an external enemy? War, it is true, is created by governments, but the seeds of peace must be planted by individuals within a nation before they can be exported.

Canadian PLACE NAMES

VIRDEN, MANITOBA

The oil capital of Manitoba dates its origin to 1790 when the North West Company established a trading post three miles west of the present site which was known by the unlovely name of "Gopher Creek." This persisted until 1885, when Lord Mount Stephen's relatives from Scotland settled in the district. They renamed the place Virden, after their native town of Scotland. The place became nationally known when oil was discovered in 1951.

Kangaroo Goes to Dogs

Hamilton Spectator

Some people say that rabbit, properly prepared, tastes just like chicken. Others claim the same for groundhog. In fact just about every type of meat short of buzzard is supposed to taste "just like chicken" when it comes from the sizzling saucepan of a gifted cook.

That is why we were shattered to read a C.P. dispatch from Sydney, Austrialia, which said that a United States pet food manufacturer had ordered a sample shipment of six tons of kangaroo meat for sale as food for domestic animals.

It is claimed that kangaroos have reached plague porportions in parts of New South Wales, and that mighty efforts must be made to reduce their numbers. But the thoughts of loyal Australian kangaroos being shipped by the ton outside the Commonwealth can't appeal to loyal Canadians.

Our trade commissioners, dietitions and chefs should pool their ingenuities to evolve a recipe rendering kangaroo palatable to humans to be followed by an advertising campaign to assure consumers that tinned kangaroo meat won't jump off their kitchen shelves unless it's stored in pouches.

There must be some way of making kangaroo taste "just like chicken", and so save this pound Australian animal from going to the dogs.

TODAY'S TALK

THAT SOOTHING HAND

I have been thinking about hands in general. My thoughts, however, have been turned to those of human and medicinal value. How well we recall the hands of that mother who smoothed our forehead when ill, and just before she would tell us — Good Night. There was love in those gentle hands, and we got back to health even before the medicine man could arrive.

There was something very wonderful in those hands of our mother. They had the touch of an angel to them. And what honest comfort! We can never forget them. The vision comes back to us time and again.

That line, the laying on of hands, has beauty to it, and a world of meaning. I often think of the power and healing of dedicated hands, and how silently and gently they do their happy privilege. It matters not at all if those hands may be a little rough from labor and loving service. They always have that hidden something that creeps up to the heart.

Nurses have this kind of hands. I can testify to this fact. I have been comforted by them many times. They are flooded with hope and understanding. Those with such hands could well be called Angels of light and love.

How full of welcome we get when we are privileged to experience the human beauty in hands that hurry to those in need! How unforgetting such a joy! We can carry it with us forever!

Watches Fish Go to Dentist

BBC London Letter

"Never take anything for granted" is always good advice, but particularly when dealing with sharks. All the same, many listeners must have been surprised when under-water naturalists Hans Hass said in a recent BBC broadcast, about an expedition to the Maldive coral reefs in the Indian Ocean, that in general sharks were much less dangerous than people thought, although they did, of course, represent a major problem for aqualung divers.

Hans Hass, who has made sharks a main subject of study for the last twenty years and has encountered most of the really dangerous varieties, stressed that the most important thing was "not to show fear or dart away sharply when sharks come into view. This attracts them; just as a cat is attracted by something on string. You must keep quiet and if the shark really heads towards you, then you can scare him off by swimming towrads him yourself. He's not used to such a procedure, and is frightened off" But Hans Hass always carries a stick with an iron point on his underwater expeditions, which is a handy weapon in the rare cases when a shark gets "really fresh".

Each shark, he explained, had its own territory in a coral reef, and might try to frighten off invaders. They had seen more sharks during their work in the Indian Ocean than ever before. All the scientists got used to them and no one was seriously harmed. The sharks had always turned up in the first two minutes of their dives. "They're like the police. They come and inspect you first, and then they lose interest".

Another interesting subject of study Hass mentioned concerned a group of fish called mouth-cleaners, or cleaner fish, which clean the mouths and bodies of other fish by eating scraps of food and parasites. Elby-Elbesfeld discovered that these fish lived in a certain coral reef and that other fish wanting a clean-up would visit them and invite their attention by a special movement, such as opening their gills. In response the cleaner fish would dart out from the coral and start on the job. If the cleaners were inside the mouth of the big fish and he suddenly wanted to swim away, he would first give a signal by a mouth movement, allowing the cleaners to leave quickly, and only after that would he shut his mouth. Such observations could only be made under water Hass said. "The most important aspect of scientific observation is to be able to see the animal, plant or rock in its natural situation. Then you may understand its shape, its behavior, its reactions, and the function of its senses much better than if you bring it up in a net."

Fish Tasté Like Beef-Tea

South African Press Service

Fish that has lost its fishiness and smells and tastes like beef tea is the latest product to emerge by chance from fundamental research at the laboratories of the South African Fishing Industry Research Institute.

Dr. G. M. Dreosti, the director has said in Cape Town that the discovery was made during experiments to determine which of the many chemical components of fish were responsible for its fishy flavor.

Sardines were used for the test.

"We tagged a few of these components and then by a chemical scrubbing process we washed out the fishy flavors by means of other flavored substances which are in the fish itself. The result was a product with a rich meaty flavor like a beef-tea", he said.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

OUR GLORIOUS DAY

Most of us probably assume that frontier life is past. One reason why so many of us like western movies and TV performances is because they deal with an exciting period, practically every vestige of which has passed away.

Young people often complain that there are no more frontiers to challenge them. They are like Alexander the Great who wept over the fact that there were no more worlds to conquer. Yet look on a map at the conquests of Alexander and, while they were considerable for his time, they probably did not comprise ten per cent of the entire area of the globe.

Now we stand gazing up into the heavens. What about the moon, Mars, Venus? Might we get to these? A youngster asked me today if I thought we would ever get to other planets and planet dwellers reach our earth. I replied that I thought this was indeed possible. They might have to come in pressureized space suits and we might have to go to some of the planets in pressurized chambers. But indeed they may get here and we may get there.

No more worlds to conquer? No more frontiers to challenge? There has never been such an age of challenge as the one in which we live. There was never a time which should thrill the heart of youth more abundantly than this glorious time of ours.

EARLY MORNING DIZZINESS DOESN'T DENOTE CANCER

"Dear Dr. Mloner: Could early morning dizziness in a healthy woman of 69 indicate cancer? Or could it be a lack of hormones and vitamins due to age? Hearing and other faculties are perfect.—Mrs. R.M.B."

Madam, asking "Which is it?" is not logical.

The symptom doesn't fit any of the things you mentioned. In fact, all by itself, it doesn't fit anything else, either — not on the surface.

You don't tell me whether you mean, by "early morning", 2 a.m., 4 a.m. or 6 a.m. or even 7, 8 or 9 a.m., depending on your rising habits.

The trouble might be metabolism, nerves, imagination, blood pressure, ear trouble. But hardly cancer. If we had one simple sign that means cancer, then we would be forewarned and could start hunting for it.

"Dear Dr. Molner: All the kids at school are allowed to eat gelatin out of the package, but my mother doesn't want me to. She says I can if I can show her that it won't hurt the digestion.—E.H."

Son, I don't know of any reason why it would hurt you, and you can tell your mother so. You mean the kind of gelatin that looks like colored sugar, of course. It is full of sugar, of course, so you shouldn't overdo it any more than you'd want to eat too much candy. But as a treat, like candy, it's all right. Just plain gelatin, without sugar or flavoring, is good for you but is pretty tasteless. It can be flavored.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a son, almost 15, who has a "shoemaker's chest." He was born a healthy, normal child, but developed this condition within the past two years, when he grew the most. He is now 6 feet 1 and weighs 148. Two years ago our family physician said it was nothing to worry about, but now he advises surgery. He says the chest is too narrow from front to back and his heart is being crowded. This causes a murmur. We would like your opinion on whether surgery is absolutely necessary. Our doctor said if this is not taken care of, our son could become an invalid.—S.C."

These chest deformities usually appear at an earlier age, and it is easy to see why your physician did not anticipate a serious problem two years ago. Evidently there was some structural or other defect that prevented the chest from developing when your son went into his adolescent spurt of growth.

It's not a common situation at all. However, surgery has shown marked success in correcting this and other chest deformities (pigeon breast, etc.) and to my way of thinking, there isn't any question of what to do. Since you know his heart is being hampered, and you have been told that surgery is suitable in your son's particular case, if it were my son I would certainly go ahead with the operation.

"Dear Dr. Molner: We are all single, ages 41, 38, 37, 35, 38. We all received our polio shots, plus a booster shot last year. Is it necessary to have a booster every year from now on? —D.A."

Congratulations. It's a pleasure to hear from people who realize that polio vaccine does not do any good in a bottle on the shelf. It needs to be used. No, we don't think you need a booster every year, but we need more experience with the vaccine to know how frequently boosters should be recommended. Meantime, if there is a new outbreak of polio, it is always safe to get a booster.

Aussie Misses Running Board

Detroit Free Press

In these confused and rat-race times it's nice to think that somewhere in the world the old order doesn't change and that a man can know where he stands most of the time — even though not quite all.

It was with pleasure, therefore, that we read of the sheep raiser in Australia's back country who finally traded in his 30-year-old Rolls-Royce. He complained to its makers that his new Rolls-Royce was utterly useless. It had no running boards, and without running boards where is a man to carry the occasional dead sheep?

There is commiseration due him for his impractical automobile. But just the same we can't help but think of a fellow as awfully lucky when he can get this world to stand so still that the running board's departure comes to him in 1959 as a brand new travail.

He Got Away To Slow Start

Wall Street Journal

A scientist of great intellectual brilliance confided to a colleague that he had great hopes for his son, who had just won a scholarship to college. "It's amazing," the scientist said, "the way that boy progressed, once he got started. It's hard to believe, but it took him two years just learn the alphabet."

The colleague looked stunned. "Why, I've never heard of such a thing," he said. "You must have been terribly depressed. How old was the poor lad when he finally did learn the alphabet?"

This time the scientist looked surprised. "I told you it took him two years," he said. "Obviously, he was two."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

There is a hearty type of person that includes women as well as men who sincerely flatter themselves that they are rendering a true service to their relatives and friends by supplying energy the relatives and friends lack. For instance, when anybody is feeling low, these cheerful bustling souls make it their business to come bursting in, full of vigor bonhommie and birdseed, crying "Come on, darling, up you get! Don't mope all day. Let's go down town for lunch".

Whenever a group of perfectly happy people are lounging around a cottage verandah, beautifully content to be doing nothing and without any plans whatever, as sure as shooting one of these dynamic and vibrant souls comes bounding onto the stage, passionate with program, and rejoicing at the opportunity of invigorating not one but maybe half a dozen limp idlers.

It was a pleasure therefore to overhear a neighbor trying to escape from a picnic. To his wharf came the motorboat of a real dynamo, determined to take the other on a picnic.

"As a matter of fact", said the invitee, "I don't feel too good today. I . . . uh. . ."

"Aw, come on," whooped the invitor. "It's just what you need. It'll do you no end of good. Come on, get cracking!"

"Look, old man", said the invitee, "frankly, I just don't want to go."

That's the best way to deal with them.

Fast Expansion Of Salk Clinic Work Is Urged

TORONTO (CP) — Controller Jean Newman today urged the fastest possible expansion of a free adult vaccine clinic program as the polio count in Metropolitan Toronto reached four.

She urged that the city give the board of health $15,000 to start a program whether the board asks for the money or not.

Although Salk vaccine for the program will not be ready until the second week in September, the city should be ready to move quickly in the "broadest possible program supplies allow", she said.

Stricken are two men, a 19-year-old youth, and a mother of two children. None has had Salk polio vaccine.

Dr. Helen Diack, assistant medical director at Riverdale Isolation Hospital, said two of the cases involve paralysis.

The number of polio cases in Ontario is reported at 31, five above last year's total at the same time.

Northern Roads Have Priority

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today his government's northern road-building program ranks ahead of any proposal to contribute to a second east-west highway through the western provinces.

He promised "full consideration" of a 60,000-name petition seeking a federal national road-building policy that would enable construction of such a highway, but told reporters later that there is "a question of priorities at the moment."

The prime minister said federal policy on highway construction now is concerned with development of the north and making roads to resources available.

Mr. Diefenbaker met for 40 minutes with a three-man delegation from the Trans-Canada Highway System Association (Yellowhead route), which argued that the existing trans-Canada route serves "only a fraction" of the West by passing through the southern regions.

The association is promoting a second, more northerly route through Saskatoon, Edmonton and the Yellowhead Pass in the Rockies, then connecting with the existing Trans-Canada Highway at Kamloops, B.C.

MORE PROPAGANDA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia and Communist China stepped up their propaganda offensive during the first half of 1959, the U.S. information agency reported Wednesday. Among other things, it said, Peking radio increased to 10½ hours from seven its weekly broadcasts to Laos, now struggling with Communist guerrillas.

Gordon Watkin, Bruce Miller Win Dominion Bowling Play

Hail to the champions.

Gordon Watkin and Bruce Miller have brought signal honor to this city in winning the Canadian championship for doubles in lawn bowling. They climaxed their objective on the Boulevard Club greens in Toronto on Wednesday afternoon, when they won the fifth straight game of a round robin series with representatives from five other provinces.

Immediately after the final game, the representatives of the G. and W. firm, which sponsored the tournament presented the Belleville boys with their prizes and congratulated them on their success. They had a tough road to the championship especially in the fourth round against Vancouver. They were down 20-18 with only one end to go but the pressure did not get them and they came through with a three-ender to win a squeaker 21-20. They met Manitoba in the last game and although the game was tough they won by 20-16.

Both boys are members of the Belleville club, Gordon Watkin being the efficient secretary and Bruce Miller a hard worker on the executive. Both learned the rudiments of this game on the local greens and have been a force in the tournaments throughout the district for some years. In fact both of them have a house full of trophies and prizes for their prowess. This was their second attempt at Dominion honors. In 1955 they were nosed out by the count but this year they were the best as they won all five games they competed in.

The doubles pair started their grind in this city when they won the district playoffs and then went to the zone finals, which included the winners from four districts. They then entered the Provincial finals, held at Oshawa, where four zone winners competed. This entitled them to enter the Canadian finals and six Provinces. Albert, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Quebec, British Columbi and Ontario sent representatives. Ontario was doubly victorious in that a Kitchener rink won the honors in the rink competition. The singles honors went to Saskatchewan.

Joint Statement By Adenauer and Ike Is Issued

BONN, Germany (CP)—President Eisenhower's 24-hour visit to Germany ended tonight with pledges of solidarity within NATO and apparent German backing for his forthcoming talks with Nikita Khrushchev.

Eisenhower, who flew here from Washington Wednesday night, spent most of the day in conference with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer before flying tonight to London and the next stop on his 10-day tour of Europe.

Before leaving Eisenhower and Adenauer issued a joint statement on their talks, conducted "in a spirit of friendship and frankness." In it they restated their faith in collective defence and the importance of the Atlantic pact.

NATO, the statement said, will "continue to be one of the pillars of the foreign policies of the two countries."

The two leaders also restated their determination to work for a just and peaceful solution to the problem of Germany's future In this context, Eisenhower renewed America's pledge to "protect the freedom and welfare of the people of Berlin".

At a press conference, Eisenhower issued a broad hint that Adenauer had offered him backing for next months talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev — a program on which Adenauer had been widely reported to hold reservations.

Eisenhower told 400 reporters that he had formed the impression the German leader next month might help to melt some of the ice of the cold war.

The four priests wore rough mountain clothing and identified themselves only to the parish priest at Courmayeur, whom the cardinal asked for permission to celebrate mass in his church. They pledged him to keep their identities secret until after they left.

Lull Reported In Activity Of Laotian Reds

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters) A lull in activity by pro-communist rebels was reported today.

The Laotion information ministry said there had been no word of enemy activity in the last 24 hours.

The development—probably only temporary — came a day after the defence ministry reported government troops had reoccupied the army post of Sop Vieng, 50 miles northeast of this capital.

That removed one of the rebel threats to cut off the northern and southern parts of this Indo-Chinese kingdom.

Ann Shipley Hits Nosey Census Queries

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) — As far as former Member of Parliament Ann Shipley is concerned, questions to housewives such as, "How many stillbirths have you had?" are of no concern of government census takers.

Mrs. Shipley led protests at a meeting of Kirkland Lake district Chamber of Commerce Wednesday against "personal questions" to be asked in the 1961 Dominion census.

Questions like "what is your total income?" and "how many children have you had?" are "nobody's business by my own," the former Liberal member for Timiskaming declared.

Admittedly the census is supposed to be confidential, she added, but "how can it be confidential when it will be taken by friends and neighbors?"

"If income figures are important, the department of national revenue has them already. And if they want birth statistics they can get them from the provincial governments."

The Kirkland chamber decided to seek support for their protest at the annual meeting in Timmins on Sept. 12-13 of the North eastern Ontario chambers of commerce.

"I don't intend to answer a lot of these questions," Mrs. Shipley stated flatly. "Are we going to submit to a census taken on our fertility ability and other personal matters.?"

Most American Women Wear Falsies Says Industry Head

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Venus de Milo was a fat pig," said Henry Plehn, a man with all the figures on women's figures.

"When I went to the Louvre, I found she really had only a moderate-sized bust. But she was far, far too full-waisted.

"She may be the Greek classic ideal of feminine beauty. But she doesn't by any means have what the present day would call a perfect figure."

Plehn, president of Peter Pan Foundations, Incorporated, is a kingpin in the $750,000,000 United States foundation garment industry, which expects to hit the $1,000,000,000 mark in another few years.

There is more to the brassiere field than meets the eye—foam rubber, for example.

MORE SCENIC, TOO

"Last year the industry used 10,200,000 pounds of foam rubber," said Plehn. "That's probably more than went into furniture—and I must say it was put to better advantage.

"About 65 per cent of American women now wear falsies, or contour cups—as we prefer to call them. But in buying them most women still say, 'they're for my sister.' "

The desire for a larger bustline is by no means strictly a North American phenomenon. It has become a world-wide obsession, according to Plehn, who distributes his products in 44 countries from Finland to South Africa.

"The contour cups are popular even among native African women," he said.

"Some psychologists see the fuller bosom only as a sex symbol. But there is much more to it than that. A large bosom always has been a symbol of security, and that's why I feel it is more popular now. We have never lived in a more insecure world."

Here are a few of his conclusions:

"The average U.S. woman has the best figure in the world—when she's dressed—because she spends more money on it and spends more time making it better. She buys seven brassieres a year.

"Actually, she has only about a 33-inch bust. She says publicly she'd like to have a 34-24-34 figure, but in her boudoir thoughts she yearns for at least a 36-inch bust.

"In Sweden, Germany and Italy the girls do have 36-inch busts, but they tend to look heavy-waistel because too few of them wear girdles.

"French women have the smallest busts in Europe—about 32¼ I'd say. The oriental women wear the smallest brassiere size of all —30."

BOOMING IN JAPAN

As you might expect, falsies are booming in Japan.

"The girls there have such boyish figures," added Plehn, "they also have to wear hip padding."

"In some Latin American countries," he continued learnedly, "the ladies now go in for a kind of streamlined padded version of the old - fashioned bustle. They place a great deal of importance on a well-curved rear bumper silhouette."

Plehn has learned so much about women that he is a bit disillusioned.

"They're phonies," he said, cheerfully. "They all say they dress to win the approval of other women, not men.

"That may be true of their outerwear. But when it comes to underwear, they dress to make themselves more attractive to men."

DANCING HELPFUL

LONDON (CP) — The more teen-agers rock 'n' roll the less will they use the knife and cosh, says the Medical Press. "By affording a relatively harmless way of getting rid of surplus physical energy, dancing may be said to conduce to lawful and respectable behavior."

GRUBB — DONALDSON

St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville, was the scene on Saturday, August 15th, at 2.00 p.m. of a very pretty summer wedding when the Reverend Canon A. S. McConnell, rector, united in marriage, Lorna Barbara Donaldson, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Earl Donaldson, to Flying Officer, Chester Reil Grubb, of Leamington, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reil Grubb. Pastel-tinted gladioli adorned the altar and white satin bows designated the guest pews.

Mr. Donald Davenport, organist, rendered the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Ralph Plumpton, of Corbyville, as she sang, "The Wedding Prayer", and the "Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Lorne Donaldson, the bride was radiantly lovely in her ballerina-length bridal gown of white French lace over white taffeta fashioned on princess lines with strapless fitted bodice with scalloped bateau neckline complemented with lace jacket having three-quarter length sleeves. Her fingertip veil of lace-embroidered tulle was held by a seed pearl and sequin encrusted tiara; and she carried a white prayer book crested with red-roses and baby's breath and trailing ivy.

Miss Joy Ann Fox, of Madoc, as maid of honor and Miss Elsie Burton, of Kingston, as bridesmaid, were gowned in ballerina-length azure-blue crystal charm featuring strapless fitted bodices on princess lines with bateau necklines "V" pointed at the back and matching jackets. They wore white shoes, gloves and bandeau headdresses and carried bouquets of "cherry custard" carnations set in white net and tied with white satin ribbon. The bridesmaid and maid of honor were classmates of the bride at Kingston General Hospital.

Mr. George Carscallen of Kingston, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Jack Adams and David Turnbull, both of Kingston, were ushers. All were classmates of the bridegroom at Queen's University, Kingston.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held at Club Canara, Belleville, where the bride's mother received, attired in a pink linen sheath, white feather hat and corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother, wearing black and white taffeta and corsage of white carnations, assisted in the receiving line.

The bride's table was lovely in its appointment of white damask centred by the traditional wedding cake of three tiers and pillars, topped by a tiny bride and bridegroom. The bridal bouquets also lent a pretty nuptial note.

For the wedding trip to Honey Harbor, and camping at National Park, the bride chose a turquoise-green sheath dress with matching three-quarter length duster, white accessories and corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Grubb will reside at Portage La Prairie, Manitoba.

The bride and bridegroom received many lovely gifts and will on August 29, be honored with a shower by friends of the bridegroom in Leamington.

ROSE — ROLSTON

PICTON — Baskets of vari - colored gladioli decorated the United Church at Bloomfield for the marriage of Donna Mae Rolston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rolston, Bloomfield, and Gordon Laverne Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Rose, Toronto. The Rev. Stephen Spurrell officiated.

Mrs. Harold Cleave was at the organ and Mrs. Harold Thompson sang, "The Lord's Prayer" and "I'll Walk Beside You".

Orange blossoms and seed pearls held her finger-tip veil and she carried a white Bible covered with red rosebuds and white stephanotis.

As maid of honor, Miss Marlene Rolston, sister of the bride, wore pink silk organza over taffeta with white picture hat trimmed with pink rosebuds.

Miss Donna Timson, Toronto, as bridesmaid, wore a dress of the same material in blue shade, with white picture hat trimmed with blue rosebuds. They carried shasta daisies.

Lieut. Karl K. Rose, Kingston, was groomsman for his brother, and the ushers were Messrs. Kenneth Garvett, Toronto, and Ronald Williams, Picton.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother was gowned in blue floral nylon sheer over taffeta with navy accessories and corsage of red roses. Bells and streamers with gladioli in mixed shades decorated the home.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Betty D. — The children know too much for their own good.

Daniel D. — I don't want my children to be as ignorant as I was.

Betty D. A recent case prominently featured in the newspapers flamed a long-standing controversy between my husband and me. The case was the one involving a school teacher who conducted a sex survey in his class room.

We send our children to a private school. They get a certain amount of sex education in some of their classes. Personally, I feel they go too far and some of the discussions tend to make the kids dwell on these things too much. I feel they know too much for their own good.

My husband disagrees — and so do many of the parents. Am I old-fashioned in my idea that the early and middle teenagers are too young for a lot of sex talk?

Daniel D. — I was brought up the old-fashioned way. Whatever I learned about sex was learned in the streets. Many of the things I learned were wrong and harmful. Nobody had to start us on sex talk — we did plenty of it without a responsible adult to guide us.

The result of all this was that I was plunged into some very bad experiences. My fears and my ignorance trapped me. I sure wouldn't want my children to go through the same thing.

I feel that my children are being exposed to real knowledge in a wholesome atmosphere. They are not ashamed or afraid to ask questions. They will be ready for marriage in four or five years. Why not prepare them?

The Council: We think too many generalizations are being made in this area of sex education.

Many children brought up the "old-fashioned" way actually received good sex educations because they were brought up in happy, loving homes. This does not mean they never had a fear, guilt or misapprehension about anything. Most societies have some restraints and repressions in this area, and fears and misunderstandings will arise as a result.

On the other hand, the child deprived of close contact with nature, subjected to severe taboos at home, wrongly informed on the streets, got a mighty poor education and suffered as a result.

But "modern" sex education is also a loosely used term. If it is a question of truthfully answering a child's questions about the facts of life, we are all for it. Many good books are available today which can be helpful to a parent in learning how to handle the questions. But the staging of public sex sessions is not necessarily either modern or educational. And we think that sex questionnaires, either for adults or youngsters, are one of the comedy-horrors of our conformist age. What is the point of determining "average" behavior in one of the few private areas left to us?

We can't determine for Betty whether or not her children are being overexposed to sex education. We can only say that most educators feel such education should start in the home with a tot's first questions. By the time a youngster is a teenager, he should certainly know about the origins of life and how this pertains to his own body. Ordinary biology and physiology courses will supply him with more detailed and exact data, without any undue emphasis on sex in itself.

Betty and Daniel should also bear in mind that their children's standards of behavior will be based on many factors — their general adjustment to others, what they observe among the adults they look up to, what they are told at home, church, school and their outside reading and impressions. If a happy relationship exists between them and their parents, the standards instilled at home will tend to prevail.

Women's Activities

WHITE'S W.A.

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mrs. G. Bilham was hostess to the ladies of White's W.A. on Thursday afternoon with the 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Arnold Ketcheson, presiding.

The devotional service was taken by Mrs. George Bilham who read the Scripture and gave the story of the lesson. Two readings were given, "Suddenly and Faith", and "Witness".

Mrs. Walter Jones and Mrs. W. Jeffery were appointed to take up the offering at the rally at Grace Church, on September 16th. It was decided to hold a meeting to discuss matters relating to the bazaar. Mrs. R. Ketcheson offered her home for the September meeting with Mrs. Walter Jones in charge of the devotion and Mrs. Arnold Ketcheson taking the program.

Mrs. Casey Ketcheson was leader for the program, which included readings given by Mrs. W. Jeffery, Mrs. W. Jones and Mrs. Arnold Ketcheson.

A riddle contest was won by Mrs. George Bilham.

The hostess served lunch and a social time was enjoyed.

POPULAR BEVERAGE

Tea, used in China since ancient times, was unknown in England until about 1645.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

PROPER TO ACCEPT THIS INVITATION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it proper for an unmarried woman, if she is to be accompanied by her mother, to accept a weekend invitation extended to her by a friend who is a widower? — T.

Yes. After all, what better chaperon than her mother could the lady have?

PARTY TO DISPLAY GIFTS BEFORE THE WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We live in a medium-size city, and both my fiance's family and my family have lived here for a long time. Our question concerns the displaying of the wedding presents, for we realize that both families and their relatives and friends will be interested in seeing them. Our wedding reception will be given in the large ballroom of a local hotel, and so of course the presents cannot be displayed there. Many wedding presents are beginning to arrive. Have you any suggestions as to how they could be "shown" to relatives and intimate friends? — E. R.

Formerly, even when the wedding presents were to be displayed at the reception to be held at the bride's home, the charming custom was to give a small tea-party for relatives and close friends to see the wedding presents. Today£ when wedding receptions customarily cannot be given at the bride's house, this custom, with some changes, is being followed. The small tea has been expanded into a large tea or, more often, a combination tea-and-cocktail party or sometimes a Saturday or Sunday evening buffet supper, given a week or ten days before the wedding date. The relatives and friends of both families are invited to come to see the wedding presents. This can be made a delightful occasion, a fun-party, a memorable gathering of the "clans."

Summer Fruits Sparkle In A Summer Setting

by Mary Moore

My nephew Paul needs no coaxing to eat. What he needs is coaxing to stop. He so much enjoyed a jellied fruit mould that I thought back on little Gary and Davey happily spooning away at a similar one I had made in Soest.

If your little ones are poor eaters, or if you are planning a party where a few things made in advance would be welcome, you will find a fruit jelly put to set in your fanciest mould will be popular.

SUMMER FRUIT MOULD:

2 envelopes (2 tablespoons) plain gelatine, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup lime or lemon juice, 2-3 cup sugar, 2 3-4 cups cold water, 4 cups mixed fresh fruits.

The fruits may be sliced peaches or apricots, halved white grapes, watermelon cubes, cantaloupe balls. Mix together gelatine, sugar and salt in saucepan. Stir in 1 cup water. Stir over low heat just until gelatine and sugar are dissolved. Remove from heat. Add remaining 1 3-4 cups water and lime or lemon juice. Arrange cantaloupe balls and grapes in a design in bottom of mould. Spoon over just enough gelatine mixture to cover bottom of mould — about 1-4 to 1-2 inch. Chill until almost firm. Chill remaining gelatine just enough to congeal it to consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Fold in remaining fruits which have been well-drained. When bottom layer is set carefully spoon remaining fruit mixture on top, being careful not to dislodge fruit design in bottom. Chill till firm. Unmould on platter or large chop or sandwich plate. A party garnish of Frosted Grapes: These are made by dipping small clusters of carefully washed and dried grapes in egg white that has been slightly beaten. Drain a little and then dip into or dredge with fine granulated or berry sugar. Do not do this 'frosting' too much in advance as the sugar soon melts.

BANANA GRAPE MOULD:

This is an asset on a dessert party buffet table because of its definite color accent. 1 1-4 tablespoons plain gelatine, 1-2 cup boiling water, 3-4 cup cold water, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 3 fully ripened bananas, medium size, 1-4 cup cold water, 6-oz can frozen concentrated grape juice (3-4), 1-4 cup sugar, whipping cream.

Sprinkle gelatine over cold water in a small cup and let soak for 5 minutes. Dissolve in the boiling water. Stir in grape juice concentrate, cold water, lemon juice and sugar until sugar is dissolved. Pour a little of the liquid into the bottom of a fancy mould and refrigerate until congealed. When it is ready peel banana, cut it into 1-4 inch slices and arrange attractively over congealed gelatine. Drop a spoonful of the remaining uncongealed gelatine mixture over each banana slice at once and return it to the refrigerator to fix them in place. When remaining grape mixture is thick and syrupy, fold in remaining bananas, sliced (at the last minute). Pour over the jellied layer in mould and chill till firm. Unmould on chilled serving plate. Pipe slighty sweetened whipped cream around border, garnish with frosted Concord grapes (see above).

MELON MOULD:

Cut 1 medium-sized ripe cantaloupe in half; remove seeds and stringy portion and deepen cavity by scooping out 1-2 inch of the flesh. Cube this scooped out portion (about 1 cup). Dissolve 1-2 pkg. lemon flavored jelly powder in 1-2 cup boiling water. Add 1 teaspoon sugar, shake of salt and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. When jelly is partially congealed add cubed cantaloupe and 1-2 cup halved seeded white grapes. Fill cantaloupe halves with fruit mixture. Place in a pan evenly, cover snugly with wax paper or foil (to prevent odor from spreading) and chill until set. Cut in halves with sharp knife and serve immediately.

SOMETHING relatively quiet to interest overheated children in sitting down for a while is a game of Toe Tote. Put some marbles in a big shallow box, see who can pick them up with his toes and drop them into an empty box placed nearby. If a race is wanted, give each child his own marbles and boxes. Winner is the one who first completes the transfer.

Women Could Learn Lesson From Plants Says Botanist

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs Fern Crane, whose speciality is naming and classifying plants, has a pet term for housewives—"vegetators."

A free lance botanist from Summit, N.J., she said in an interview here that housewives usualy don't think very far ahead. She suggested they join church or community groups whose aim is to expose women to activities beyond their own back yard.

Mrs. Crane was here to present a paper at the ninth International Botanical Congress.

"Women could learn a lesson "Women could learn a lesson from plants," she said. "Unless a plant is sick, it keeps growing —why don't women? Too often they spend their leisure doing nothing; that is, playing bridge or exchanging neighborhood gossip."

ACTIVE WORKER HERSELF

A graduate of the University of Minneapolis, Mrs. Crane retired to homemaking for 15 years while raising her daughter, now 25, but she kept up club work. She belongs to several social work groups in addition to scientific organizations.

"After one lecture on trusts and wills we found that more than half the women in the group had never made a will," she said "They were spurred into doing so. Others learned to invest money for the first time, and others were able to tell their husbands how the transatlantic cable was laid."

She says her Christian name, Fern, had nothing to do with her choice of work. "It's just a happy coincidence." She has spent half her life in this fied, but says she still is learning new things.

Her paper to the botanical congress was entitled "Key to American Dryopteris Species," and she described a newly-discovered fern. It was named Dryopteris Wherryi, after Professor Edgar Wherry, retired from the University of Pennsylvania, who sent her the specimen. The last previous new fern in the dryopteris species—ferns growing in wooded areas—was discovered in 1938.

There now are 13 species in the group, but Mrs. Crane may be on the verge of discovering more. She made a trip to England four years ago to collect English wood ferns, and has discovered some had the same names as American ferns but were different in structure.

Her next job is to rename them to save confusion among botanists on either side of the Atlantic.

Mrs. Crane, wife of a botanist retired from the Carnegie Foundation, spends between two and eight hours daily in her home laboratory

The longer hours are sometimes needed for work she does for the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, which displays dried plants of all types in the U.S. National Herbarium. When the institute is in doubt about a species of dryopteris, it consults Mrs. Crane.

"Sometimes the specimens arrive in cartons, and that's a lot of ferns," she says.

'MELT LITTLE ICE'

As they had for Eisenhower's arrival in Bonn Wednesday, thousands of West Germans lined the streets to cheer him. Beaming, he lifted both arms high time and again in greeting. The crowd cheered, beamed back, and waved little paper American and German flags and placards.

The U.S. president's 23 - hour stop in Bonn is the start of a whirl of conferences with Western leaders, set up in hopes of assuring them they have nothing to fear from his meetings with Khrushchev.

Eisenhower flies late this afternoon to London for five days. He will wind up his European visit with two days in Paris.

Advance word was that the conversations with Adenauer would concentrate on three questions—Western unity, Soviet aims and global disarmament.

HUGE CROWDS

At Adenauer's chancellery, police had to hold back the crowd surging around the gate to the grounds.

Eisenhower wore a perpetual smile.

After a few minutes inside the palace, he and Adenauer came out to the steps. An interpreter stood between them.

The two leaders posed and waved for photographers for about four minutes then went inside again. Adenauer presented each member of his cabinet to Eisenhower.

Eisenhower then signed the guest books for distinguished visitors of the towns of Bonn and Bad Godesberg, the latter just across the Rhine.

The Golden Book of Bonn was taken out of the local town hall only once before—when Sir Winston Churchill visited the city in 1956.

After the signing Eisenhower and Adenauer began their talks.

Upper Michigan Swept by Gale

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Winds of near - tornado force ripped from west to east across upper Michigan early Wednesday night, hurling down power lines and disrupting communications.

Earlier, the 366 - foot barge Swederope was swung around across the St. Mary's River about 12 miles below the Sault locks while upbound under tow.

The tug Ruth Hindman of Owen Sound pulled her free within two hours.

P.E.I. Voting System Unique In Canada

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Many Prince Edward Island voters will be able to vote more than once in the Sept. 1 provincial elections.

The province's voting system is unique in Canada. The legislature consists of 30 members, including 15 councillors and 15 assemblymen. Each of the 15 voting districts elects a councillor and an assemblyman.

In the legislature itself there is no distinction between the members. The only difference is in voting qualifications. Property owners, clergymen and war veterans may vote for both members in their district. Other citizens vote for assemblyman only.

LEGAL VOTES

Therefore it is theoretically possible for a property owner, with property in each of the 15 districts, to vote for two members in each district.

Those eligible to vote for both councillors and assemblyman are all men and women 21 years and older who have owned, or whose spouses have owned, property valued at $325 or more in the district for at least six months before the election; honorably discharged war veterans, including Indians, regardless of age; and ordained clergymen in charge of a parish in the district. Clergymen are permitted to vote in only one district.

Because of these unusual voting qualifications it is difficult to get a tabulation of the popular vote in Prince Edward Island elections.

Seeks Pension After Being AWOL 40 Years

KNOB NOSTER, Mo. (AP)—Homer M. O'Dell, 66, of Brookfield, Mo., says he has been absent without leave from the army nearly 40 years.

He told his story at Whiteman Air Force Base Tuesday. Base officers sent him home and told him to come back later for a report on his status.

O'Dell said he hopes to get his record straightened out so he can qualify for a First World War pension.

Here is his story:

He received an honorable discharge after serving from May, 1914, to April, 1919, then enlisted in the Army Air Corps.

While stationed at El Paso, Tex., he was denied a 10-day pass for a trip home to Red Oak, Iowa, where a younger brother, Roy, was dying.

O'Dell went home anyway and never returned to the service.

He said the army refused to grant him a pension until his case is cleared up with the air force.

Federal Govt. Getting Out Of Egg-Buying Business This Fall, New Plan Substitutes

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government, in a move to cut its losses on egg price supports, is getting out of the egg-buying business this fall. On Oct. 1 it will substitute a deficiency payment plan with a quota limit on the amount of benefits any one farmer will receive.

Details of the new plan, forecast by Agriculture Minister Harkness in the Commons May 7, were announced Wednesday by the Agriculture Stabilization Board.

Officials said the support level will continue to be based on the present support of 44 cents a dozen, wholesale, for grade A large eggs at Montreal and Toronto.

But the government no longer will buy eggs to support the price. Instead it will let the market find its own level, and make deficiency payments if the average return to farmers falls below a stipulated floor.

MAXIMUM SET

This is where the quota comes in. Payments to any one farmer will be made on a maximum 4,000 dozen grade A large or extra large eggs annually.

In his earlier announcement Mr. Harkness said the aim is to limit payments to large-scale commercial operators — those operating under so-called vertical integration methods whereby the farmer no longer is an independent producer but is tied to big marketing organizations.

Under another rule deficiency payments will only be made for eggs marketed through registered egg grading stations. Under vertical integration, eggs usually move direct to retail outlets and by-pass the grading stations.

Farm experts here estimated that about 70 per cent of egg producers have an annual production below the quota of 4,000 dozen grade A large eggs. It takes about 350 to 400 hens to produce that many. Flocks of specialized poultry farmers—independent or integrated — normally are larger.

BASED ON AVERAGE

Payments will come into effect if the national average price for grade A large eggs at grading stations falls below the floor. Payment will be uniform across the country, regardless of the actual price received.

The announcement said payment will be made on an annual basis. But in the October-December period this year, the government will consider making an interim payment if the average producer price falls "substantially below" the floor.

There was no immediate comment on the new plan by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. The federation already is on record as preferring continuation of the former support-purchase system, even if it means a lower support price

LOSE ON RESALES

In the fiscal year ended March 31, egg supports cost the treasury $3,425,000 in losses on resale of eggs purchased. That does not include losses on unsold stocks from last year totalling some 5,000,000 dozen at March 31.

This year the government has been forced to buy up far more eggs than last year—more than 15,000,000 dozen in the first four months of 1959.

Informants say these stocks now have been whittled down to less than 3,000,00 0 dozen eggs, mainly through below-cost exports abroad.

Officials say egg prices at present are slightly above the support level so no government purchases are being made now. This situation is expected to last for several weeks.

Samuel Goldwyn, Last of Movie Tycoons, Now 77

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Seven is a lucky number. Now I've got two sevens so I must be doubly lucky."

With obvious delight, Samuel Goldwyn made this remark on the occasion of his 77th birthday today. He is spending it as he has spent most of his life—working.

"I've been working since I was 11 years old," he said. "And I'm going to keep right on working. That's how I live."

The shiny dome, the high Polish-accented voice and the Goldwyn legend have been part of the movie world for almost half century.

RAPS HOLLYWOOD FLIGHT

He said he is disturbed by two present-day elements of the Hollywood scene:

1. Production abroad. "It saddens me to see producers running away from Hollywood to make films elsewhere. You talk about the Moscow exhibit showing the American way of life. Our movies have done that for 50 years. Hollywood has been our greatest ambassador."

2. Sex in films. "I always made pictures for the whole family. I never had a picture turned down, because I'm my own censor. I don't have to undress my actresses to sell pictures. You can be just as successful making clean films as some of the racy pictures that are being made today."

TO GO TOURING

Goldwyn plans to spend the next year opening Porgy and Bess in Japan, India and the capitals of Europe. He will also tour the Middle East "to explore the possibilities of my next production."

This is the first hint he has given of his new project. He would say no more — "because someone else would film it before I start."

Another Victim Of Radium Dies After 30 Years

CHICAGO (AP) — Another member of a doomed group of women who in the 1920s painted radium on watch dials has died.

Mrs. Beatrice Workman, 54, died Tuesday. An autopsy showed death was from radium poisoning.

Before her marriage in 1923, Mrs. Workman was one of a group of girls working at the Radium Dial Company in Ottawa, Ill. It was their job to paint the numbers on watch faces with radium, so the dial would glow in the dark.

LICKED BRUSHES

To keep the bristles pointed, the girls often licked the brush with their tongues before dipping it in a radium salt solution.

They didn't know it, but they were slowly being poisoned. Today it would be called radiation.

The Ottawa group totalled about 25 girls. How many still survive is not known. Hundreds of other women in similar jobs throughout the country also fell victim to the poisoning.

Many died within a short time not knowing the cause. Others died lingering, horrible deaths.

'Jest a Second'

"And what's more, put a newspaper on that chair before you stand on it."

Missing Indian Girls Are Found Near Cobourg

COBOURG, Ont. (CP)—Provincial police said Wednesday night they have located three Indian girls who disappeared on Lake Simcoe about midnight Saturday in a 15-foot outboard motorboat.

Steven Ashquabe of the Georgiana Island Indian reserve in southern Lake Simcoe said his daughters, Clara, 17, and Elvina, 19, and a friend, Linda Cook, 15, took his boat while he was sleeping.

Police said they would return the youngest girl to the reserve. The sisters were seeking work in this area, 25 miles south of Peterborough.

The three girls had been subjects of a widespread search since their disappearance. Mr. Ashquabe said he coud give no reason why his daughters left home.

U.S. Increases Aid to Meet Army Payroll in Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — American aid in increased amount was earmarked for Laos today amid hopes that the tiny kingdom's own troops can cope with Communist attacks.

The state department Wednesday announced the U.S. step-up in aid—following an urgent appeal from the Laotian capital of Vientiane—in order to increase the size of Laos' 25,000-man army and supply it with light equipment ranging from small arms to tents.

The United States already has been pouring in aid at the rate of about $30,000,000 this year, two-thirds of it to take care of the Laotian army payroll.

DETAILS NOT GIVEN

How much more money will be added, and how big a Laotian army and local police force will be subsidized, was not revealed.

Democratic representative Samuel Stratton of New York, a member of the House of Representatives armed services committee, urged Wednesday that th U.S. send marines to Laos and station an aircraft carrier in the area.

Lincoln White state department officer, said however that he knows of no plan for intervention by American troops or by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

SEATO is scheduled to meet here in unusual session late in September. But officials hoped the heavier U.S aid, plus some United Nations support sought by Laos, would take care of the Red menace.

White pointed an accusing finger at North Viet Nam, Communist China and Moscow in denouncing the attacks by Communist rebels which have centred on northern provinces along the border between Laos and North Viet Nam.

Reports on just what is happening in Laos' mountains and jungles are sketchy. Estimates on the numbers of Reds who are inside the kingdom's borders now range from 800 to 3,000. Only minor skirmishes have been reported recently.

Sketch Lines Of Conference With Eisenhower

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd met today to make last-minute preparations for the arrival tonight of President Eisenhower on his tour of major West European capitals.

Macmillan and Lloyd sketched out the general lines of the wide-ranging talks Eisenhower will have Saturday and Sunday in preparation for his exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Lloyd and U.S. State Secretary Christian Herter will make the final preparations for the Anglo-American summit talks when they meet Friday at the foreign office while Eisenhower is paying a call on the Queen at Balmoral, Scotland.

The president's five-day visit to Britain is the first of its kind in more than 40 years. The last was in December, 1918, when Woodrow Wilson came to Europe for the peace talks.

Pulling West Allies Together Biggest Job For Eisenhower

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Pulling the Western alliance together may prove to be President Eisenhower's biggest job overseas.

His mission is far more critical than merely one of selling European allies on his ability to handle Premier Khrushchev in their talks here opening Sept. 15.

Perhaps with this in mind, Eisenhower now is on his way through Bonn, London and Paris with proposals not only to restate Western solidarity in negotiations with the Russians but also to seek agreement on a common approach in dealing with what he considers the most vital problem of all — raising living standards in the impoverished countries.

To Prime Minister Macmillan, President de Gaulle and Chancellor Adenauer he will suggest that their governments join his in finding ways of equitably and effectively co-operating in aiding the almost 2,000,000,000 citizens of the under-developed countries.

SEES TOUGH GOING

Unless the civilized world — not just ourselves but the civilized world — is willing and ready to share in the burdens of making it possible for these people to achieve progress in this area, this world is going to have tough going, Eisenhower said before his departure.

Eisenhower will have to visit three capitals to see the three government leaders. A greater display of Western unity might have been achieved by all the leaders gathering at the one conference table, but this is not to be.

Economy policies of Britain on the one hand and France and West Germany on the other now are so widely split that bickering instead of unity might be shown if all gathered at the one table.

But in his travels, Eisenhower might get them to pull together on an issue which is beyond the European front: The broader, more general issue of building up the under-developed countries to block Communist expansion and increase markets for European and North American goods.

ECONOMIC ROOTS

Aside from the French-American differences on sharing of atomic secrets, markets are at the root of the European split. More than a year ago Canada warned of the dangers ahead after Europe began negotiating towards a six-country continental common market.

Britain tried to get this enlarged into a 17-country industrial free trade area. This fell through and the common market emerged without Britain. Britain charged France and Germany were discriminating against her.

Canada urged the United States to use her influence to prevent this European split, but the U.S. showed a reluctance to move and the split widened. Strong words have been exchanged across the English Channel.

Eisenhower gained a great wartime reputation for ability to get strong-willed military leaders to co-operate. In peace he may strike a great new blow for freedom if he can break current European animosities.

CNE Opening Day Belongs To Members of NATO Navy

TOROTO (CP) — With 19 NATO warships anchored in the bay and an admiral of the fleet ashore, opening day of the 81st Canadian National Exhibition belonged to the navy.

Naval uniforms from Canada, Britain, the United States, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and France could be seen everywhere Wednesday among the 111,500 people who filed through the turnstiles.

Admiral of the Fleet Lord Louis Mountbatten, chief of Britain's defence staff, officially opened the exhibition. He praised Canada's initiative in building the St. Lawrence Seaway and predicted Toronto would become one of the world's big seaports.

5,000 SAILORS ATTEND

While he spoke, some 5,000 officers and men from the NATO ships were touring the exhibition. Among them were crews from two West German frigates, the Hippler and Graft Spee. The two frigates once belonged to the Royal Navy.

Cadets Mike Strucker, 21, and Erwin Streich, 20, serving aboard the Hippler as part of their two-year national service, said they liked the exhibition and wanted to see more of Toronto and Canada.

Both from Munich, they said they had been at sea with the NATO fleet since May 9 and visited ports in the North Atlantic. They move out again Monday for the Azores.

Crews from the ships are being entertained in Toronto and the vicinity and an international whaling boat race has been organized.

Today Earl Mountbatten will tour the ships anchored off shore. He flies his flag from HMS Scarborough, leading the four-ship flotilla of Royal Navy frigates.

NAUTICAL FLAVOR

The navy got its full share of honors in Wednesday night's opening of the CNE grandstand show, Canadiana '59. The first half of the show, starring Toronto's Eric House and American television comedian George Gobel, was a tribute to sailors generally and the St. Lawrence Seaway in particular.

The 90-degree temperatures and humid weather didn't discourage the first-day crowd. The grandstand show was interrupted by a downpour but most of the 12,000 spectators stayed in their seats.

Exhibition attendance was up 8,000 over last year, the first time the 16-day exhibition opened on a Wednesday.

BAR COMMUNIST STATES

WARSAW (Reuters) — Communist North Viet Nam and North Korea failed in their bids for membership in the International Parliamentary Union Wednesday. New Zealand and Venezuela were admitted, bringing to 58 the membership of the world-wide organization of members of Parliament which begins a conference here today.

Clean Sweep For PC's Seen By Conservative

By DON HOYT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Conservative and Liberal speakers are hammering home their election programs amid confidence by both parties of victory at the polls Tuesday.

Heath MacQuarrie, one of four federal Progressive Conservative members of Parliament from Prince Edward Island, told a Young Progressive Conservative rally Wednesday that the first election prediction of his career was "a sweep" by the island party next week.

"When I started I predicted 25 Conservatives and five Liberals but in the three counties I can't find those five seats."

PREDICTS SWEEP

He said the Liberal government is "showing the effects of too much power too long. I'm not only predicting a victory Sept. 1 but a sweep."

Liberal Premier Matheson spent the day meeting voters and grass roots organizations. Conservative Leader Walter Shaw spoke over television and radio in Charlottetown and addressed a rally in his home riding.

Public Works Minister J. George MacKay said he was confident the aggressive and capable Liberal administration would be returned to carry on development of the province.

REASON TO WORRY

Mr. MacKay said in a television address that after two years of Progressive Conservative government in Ottawa he would worry about P.E.I.'s future under a government which follows so closely" federal policies.

He said Mr. Shaw had hinted that "if our provincial government is not Conservative there would be discrimination." This was in spite of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's statement that the case of each province would be treated on its merits and without regard to politics. "I suggest that Mr. Shaw get in touch with Mr Diefenbaker before he even hints at discrimination

1,000 Families In North York Face Eviction

TORONTO (CP) — About 50 families in suburban North York Township have been evicted from illegal multiple dwellings and close to 1,000 more face the same fate, Reeve Norman Goodhead announced Wednesday.

He said he was staking his political reputation on the present action and that his aim is to "eliminate future basement dwellings in North York Township."

Mr. Goodhead said that for too long builders, tenants and landlords have been thwarting township bylaws which stipulate only one family can occupy a single-family dwelling. Basement apartments have been constructed to supplement incomes and township bylaws ignored.

Earlier this week township council decided to take a test case into court to attempt to have a construction firm ordered to change or tear down a six-suite apartment building construction under a permit which called for a four-suite building.

Readers Must Be Willing To Support Responsible Press

TORONTO (CP) — Charles H. Peters, president of The Canadian Press, said today if newspaper readers want a responsible press they must be willing to support it.

He said that by the term "responsible press" he did not mean dull newspapers.

"But surely there is some cause for concern in the trends of modern reading," he told the directors luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition. CP's president, who is president of the Montreal Gazette, was guest speaker at the CNE's Press and Advertising Day.

He said recent surveys showed the average newspaper reader spent only four minutes a day on international news.

CITES U.S SURVEYS

Recent interviews of 2,000 people in the United States showed 79 per cent did not know what the term NATO stood for.

Other surveys showed that 80 per cent of readers follow the comic strips and letters to the editor but only 20 per cent read editorials and serious news.

Mr. Peters said the figures he quoted may apply in Canada as well as in the United States.

He referred to a continuing demand fo entertainment features to lull the newspaper reader into a "sense of well-being."

"He prefers to let somebody else worry about the problems of the world, local and national and international."

Mr. Peters said newspapers operate in a world of conflicting trends, pressure groups and power-hungry individuals and nations.

SOME FEAR TRUTH

"Then there is the pressure which seeks the suppression of news. There are those who regard the newspapers as their enemies or are fearful of them. The cry 'Don't let the newspapers get hold of this' usually is associated with some case which cannot stand the bright light of public opinion.

"The other cry 'Don't believe anything you read in the papers' is also stirred up in the most part by enemies who seek to confuse us further in an age of great confusion."

Mr Peters said if it is the responsibility of the press to show good sense and good will in what it says, then the press should expect that its critics show good sense and good will.

South African Opposition Party Is Split

CAPETOWN, South Africa (Reuters) — Johannes Strauss, former leader of the opposition United party, announced his resignation Wednesday from the party in a dispute over policy.

Strauss succeeded the late Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts as leader in 1950. He resigned as leader two years ago and Sir de Villiers Graaf succeeded him.

Subsequently Strauss resigned from the Germiston parliamentary seat which he had held since 1932.

Strauss' resignation from the party follows the resignation of 12 United party MPs and several prominent supporters after the party's congress at Bloemfontein.

The split in the party came after a sharp clash over a resolution opposing further land purchases for African areas scheduled to become semi-independent areas or "Bantustans."

On Tuesday, the 12 members who resigned—known as a "progressive group"—decided they would not give up their parliamentary seats and later would form their own party.

Dr. J. Steytler, one of the 12 MPs who quit the party, said the decision to oppose further land purchases for Africans was a breach of the undertaking given by the party in 1936.

Ranch Operator Found Dead

NOELVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Joe Vandette, 48-year-old operator of Circle V Ranch, two miles north of here, was found dead on his ranch Wednesday. He was shot twice in the head by revolver bullets.

He was last seen alive early Tuesday night by Eustache St. Louis, a grocery store operator who said Vandette bought some cigars and seemed to be all right.

Vandette was known across Canada as a mining construction worker.

Must Teach Scientists Value Of Their Work

PUGWASH, N.S (CP) — The man who invented radar says the education of future scientists should include "an appreciation of how important their work is to the world at large."

Sir Robert Watson Watts of Toronto, attending the international scientists conference here, said in an interview science has two aspects—the possibility of improving the ease and comfort and satisfaction of the whole world, or anything up to the complete annihilation of the whole world.

Twenty-five of the world's most eminent scientists, gathered here to discuss the potentialities of chemical and biological warfare, were told Wednesday that various forms of anthrax—an infectious disease of man and cattle—have been produced and any one of them could be adapted for warfare purposes.

ANTIBIOTIC RESISTANT

These new strains are antibiotic resistant, said a delegate whose name was not disclosed.

He also said that it has become possible, in theory, to produce from many viruses and bacteria agents with high power to inflict disease in man and animal. These varieties of micro-organisms would be effective as biological weapons of war.

The conference, sponsored by Cleveland industrialst Cyrus Eaton at his summer residence here, continues until Saturday. Some of the scientists come from behind the Iron Curtain.

Mr. Eaton said the conference so far has been successful—"beyond my wildest dreams". It is expected that the scientist will make public certain conclusions and recommendations at the close of the conference.

Likely to Raise Speed Limits on 2-Lane Highways

TORONTO (CP)—More speed within the law has become a renewed possibility for motorists on Ontario highways.

Deputy transport minister D J. Collins said Wednesday that speed limits on practically all of the province's two-lane highways will be raised to 55 or 60 miles an hour within two months.

The announcement follows an intensive survey carried out during the past seven months on 6,000 miles of two-lane highways and several reports predicting higher speed limits.

General speed limit on Ontario's highways at present is 50 m.p.h. although some stretches were recently placed in the 55-mile or 60-mile category.

The report also recommended a 60 m.p.h. limit on the Queen Elizabeth Way from Highway 10 to Fort Erie as soon as current construction work is completed and detours eliminated. That stretch of highway now is a 55-mile zone.

Among the highways to be affected by the proposed increase in speed are Highway 115 from Newcastle to Highway 28 and portions of Highways 69 and 17 in Northern Ontario. A 60 m p.h. limit has been proposed for these highways.

Ontario highways which already have 60 m.p.h. speed limits are 400, 401 except for parts in the Brockville area, a section of 11 near Long Lac and a portion of the Queen Elizabeth Way from Highway 27 to the Toronto city limits.

Three Fugitives Are Sent to Pen

SUDBURY (CP) — Three men who escaped from Burwash Industrial Farm Aug. 17 were sentenced Wednesday to Kingston penitentiary, with six months added to the reformatory terms they were serving at Burwash.

Allistair Davidson, 33, of Ottawa; Jack Clunas, 21, of St. Thomas, and Jean Lesage, 23, of Niagara Falls, Ont., were on a work party being escorted away and headed for a wide swamp. Guards stopped Davidson before he could reach the swamp and the others were captured less than an hour later after floundering for 1½ miles.

Magistrate Anthony Fiazetta told the men that in view of the recent "rash of escapes" from Burwash he must send them to penitentiary to discourage others.

Army of Butterfly Banders

Solving Mystery of the Monarch

Dr. F. A. Urquhart of Toronto's Royal Ontario Museum has devoted the last 20 years of his life to an exhaustive study of the migratory habits of the colourful Monarch butterfly. In the course of his detailed analysis of the behaviour of the black and orange beauties, Dr. Urquhart has been assisted in his research by a small staff of assistants together with a vast fan club of volunteers scattered across the whole continent. Interest in the project is usually sparked by discovering one of the tagged Monarchs in their own gardens. Those who request further information are provided with equipment and full instructions for banding other butterflies. Aided by this enthusiastic army of taggers, Dr. Urquhart estimates that some 20,000 Monarchs are being tagged annually. The results of his inquiry have recently been published.

Dr. Urquhart has studded his report with copious drawings such as the one he is working on above which reveals Monarch's internal anatomy.

Working from the records of tagged Monarchs returned to the Toronto Museum, a research assistant prepares a chart which reveals the distances travelled by these indefatigable travellers. Despite their fragile wingspan, Monarchs have been known to take trips up to 4,000 miles. It is believed they can even cross the ocean, although just how is still a mystery.

Movie Column

Marc Connelly, 68, Tearing Off First Big Movie Role

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actors who fret about method and mood will be angry with playwright Marc Connelly. At 68, he's tearing off his first big movie role and finds it darned easy.

"Heavens, yes," he exclaims. "A good actor is merely a good editor. He practices economy, learning that he can be more effective by doing just one-fifth of the motions he could use. He edits out the unnecessary things.

"It's the same in painting. The beauty of a line is not in how much it contains, but how little."

Connelly, the author of Green Pastures and many other hit plays, is working for Josh Logan in Tall Story. He portrays a college professor, the same role he created on Broadway. He's getting a special kick out of working with the two young stars of the film, Jane Fonda and Tony Perkins.

"I gave Tony's father (Osgood) his first Broadway rule in Beggar on Horseback, which I wrote with George Kaufman," Connelly said. "And I gave Jane's father (Henry) his first big break in the theatre in Farmer Takes a Wife. He was so good in it that he came out to Hollywood for the film version and became a star."

WAS NEWSPAPERMAN

Connelly's writing career took priority over acting, first as a newspaperman, then as a dramatist. He did some acting in talkie shorts, performing in skits he had written for club shows. They were the sort of thing that Robert Benchley used to do.

"I was always filling in for actors in my plays who got sick," he said "I directed most of the plays, o I knew what I was doing."

His first important return to the theatre was in a revival of Our Town, which he played in New York and London right after the war. He has since made many TV appearances.

Connelly, a roundish, bald, bespectacled, grandfatherly type, probably could have a solid career as an actor in plays and films if he wanted it. He doesn't.

"I don't have the burning inner desire to act, as actors do," he said. "I have fun at it, but it isn't essential to my well being."

Codfish Catch Too Good for Yvon to Leave

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — The codfish catch was good in Northumberland Strait Tuesday night, so Yvon Durelle, the fighting fisherman, didn't make it here for his medical examination.

The Canadian and British Empire boxing champion, who lives in Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., will report for his medical in the "next few days," manager Chris Shaban said Wednesday night.

"Yvon was out fishing all night Tuesday and was too tired to come to Moncton today," Shaban said. "The cod run is good now, so he's going to stay home and take advantage of it."

Still Probing Promotion of Big Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Comparative calm settled over the strife-ridden heavyweight championship fight situation today, but it could be the lull before the storm.

The New York State Athletic Commission still is investigating the promotion of the June 26 Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson title bout, and now has minutes of the grand jury probe.

And Vincent Velella has threatened to sue Bill Rosensohn for $5,000,000 for defamation of character.

Velella is the new president of Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc., and it was his falling out with Rosensohn, then president of Entherprises and front man in the promotion of the fight, which precipitated the investigations.

Hogan's statement quoted Rosensohn as saying Velella was a front man for Anthony (Fat Tony) Salerno in the promotion.

Salerno, an ex-convict described as an associate of racketeers, has been sought for two weeks by the district attorney's office.

Meanwhile, Johansson cabled the athletic commission he will be in New York late next month to discuss details of a return match with Patterson.

Harness Racing

TORONTO (CP)—Dune Campbell wound up the most successful harness-race meeting in Ontario's history Wednesday night by winning the eighth and final race of the 49 evenings of trots at Old Woodbine, to cinch the driving championship for the first time in his long career.

Shortly after Campbell, from Ailsa Craig, was presented with the Carling Trophy and $100, the jockey club announced that a record 200,862 people had wagered a record $7,631,962 during the meeting.

Campbell drove his own Argyel Sam to the final victory, his 28th win this summer. He beat out Jiggs McFadden and Cec Coke, who had 25 wins each, and who also received cash prizes. The three drivers were presented with driving suits by the jockey club.

Daily average attendance was 409, an increase of 13 per cent over last year. Wagering increased 21.5 per cent on an average of $155,754.

HULL, Que. (CP)—The Owen Sound entry Jane Riddell R, driven by Don Corbett, covered the mile D trot in the third race at Connaught Park in 214 Wednesday night to win the third race.

Sport Snapshots

By JACK SULLIVAN

The Pan-American Games open at Chicago on Friday and all indications are for a sweeping United States triumph, particularly in such spectator sports as track and field, and swimming. Some observers predict that every Pan-Am record on the 21-event track program will be shattered.

The Americans, who dominate the short distances in world track competition, may not have much trouble in this North and South American festival.

Canada's strongest in track appears to be 18-year-old Harry Jerome, a whiz kid from Vancouver who, from all reports, is the best sprinter Canada has ever had. People in the West talk of Jerome in the same breath as double Olympic champion Percy Williams.

RECORD FEAT

Williams, living in Vancouver, boomed to fame in the 1928 Olympics when he won both the 100- and 200-metre events. The feat, never duplicated, earned Williams fame as Canada's outstanding track and field performer of the half-century in a Canadian Press poll.

Vancouver track fans have been singing Jerome's praises since the 150-pounder started his competitive career two years ago. The easy-striding youngster piled up the honors—and records—this season.

He broke Williams' schoolboy records over the 100 and 200. He is Oregon State, Washington State and British Columbia champion and takes to Chicago an undefeated record in sprints.

This is his first big test in international competition.

SPECIAL HOPE

Another Westerner—23 - year-old Jack Smyth of Winnipeg—could be a medal winner in the hop, step and jump. Smyth is second-best in the Commonwealth and is the current U.S. national collegiate champ in his specialty.

He didn't show much in the 1955 Pan-Am games at Mexico City with a seventh-place finish, but he has improved tremendously since then. He holds the Canadian record of 50 feet 1½ inches, the British mark of 51 feet the 1958 British Empire Games at Cardiff, Wales.

Include Gord Dickson of Hamilton as another possible medal winner in the 30-member Canadian track team. Dickson, who holds a BA degree from Drake University and an MA from New York University, is one of the hardest-working athletes in Canada.

He's also one of the most consistent marathon runners in the world.

It wouldn't surprise anyone if he captured a gold medal at Chicago. It would be a well-merited reward for this dedicated athlete who keeps in top physical condition all year round.

Henry Cooper Retains Title In Fifth Round

PORTHCAWL, Wales (AP)—Henry Cooper, British heavyweight champion, retained his Empire title Wednesday night from Gawie de Klerk of South Africa when the referee stopped the fight in the fifth round to save de Klerk from further punishment.

In a supporting 10-rounder, Joe Erskine, former British heavyweight champion, clearly outpointed Bruno Scarabellin of Italy on the strength of a jabbing, relentless left hand.

Cooper, fifth-ranked challenger for Ingemar Johansson's world title, nailed de Klerk with two lefts and two rights to send him down for a nine count after a minute of the fifth round.

The South African got up, but Cooper dropped him again for an eight count and was slamming away with both hands when referee Engune Henderson stepped in to stop the bout.

Cooper weighed 185¼ and de Klerk 193¼.

Erskine weighed 193 and Scarabellin 185¾.

Cooper is scheduled to defend his British title against Erskine Nov. 17.

Mann Granted Further Remand

TORONTO (CP)—Dave Mann, a halfback with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football League, and seven other persons were granted a further remand Wednesday on charges of illegal possession of narcotics.

Special Crown Attorney T. R. Deacon said the case will be tried at a two-day hearing Sept. 1-3.

RCMP and morality squad officers raided three city apartments Aug. 11. Since his arrest Mann has been kept out of the Argonauts' lineup and isn't permitted to practise with the team.

Took Six Days To Subdue 30-Foot Shark

DIGBY, N.S (CP) — A six-day bout with a 30-foot shark ended here Monday when fishermen hauled the four-ton fish on to the wharf.

The battle began last Wednesday when fishermen discovered the shark in their nets. All efforts to entice the visitor out to the open sea failed.

Three fishermen who managed to hook the shark were towed about the harbor until their line broke. Then dynamite sticks and a high powered rifle were used until the fish was subdued enough to get a line around its tail.

In landing the shark, the tail was ripped off. Now plans are to dispose of the carcass commercially, or tow it to sea.

NEW SERIES TONIGHT

Belleville Bobcats, Trenton Garretts and the Sports Centre have finally reached some sort of an agreement as far as the OASA Intermediate "AA" playdowns are concerned. Now all they need is co-operation from the weather man.

Rain washed out last night's game at the CNRA Park, a game that was changed late yesterday afternoon from a league playoff to an OASA game.

The league finals, presently tied at two wins apiece for Trenton and the 'Cats has been suspended for the present time. But the same two clubs continue in a new two-of-three series for the right to meet Sports Centre in another two-of-three affair. The over-all winner must be declared by Monday night and that club will meet Peterborough.

Trenton tangles with the 'Cats tonight at 6.00 p.m. sharp at the CNR... They go at it in Trenton tomorrow night at 8.15 and if a third game is necessary, back here Saturday at six.

Should the series be over in two games, the winner will begin another set with Sports Centre Saturday night.

Anyway one of these clubs will be called on to play in the Liftlock City either next Tuesday or Wednesday night. And they had better be ready this trip.

It seems the whole matter should have been straightened out some time ago but it's too late for that now.

So it is a new series tonight and likely Bobby Hull will toe the rubber for the Bobcats against Trenton's change-up specialist, Howie Cole. Don't forget that starting time is six o'clock.

KINISKI VS HAGGERTY

Gene Kiniski and Hardboiled Haggerty, two of the wildest and most ruthless men in the grunt and groan business today, will clash head on at Memorial Arena Friday night in the main bout of the evening.

Many times this terrible twosome has driven the fans to near murder by their tactics against the heroes of the game, both in single matches and on more than one occasion as partners in tag-team bouts.

But now they are on opposite sides of the ring. And when they come together, the rafters are bound to resound with the explosion. Kiniski is a man of great pride and Haggerty is one of the same pattern. Both have claimed time and again that "I am the world's greatest wrestler." There is some doubt as to that statement in both cases, but no one will argue the point that both men are among the world's roughest. Maybe that honor will be decided come Fishday eve.

The Mighty Ursus, a man who walks and looks like a small mountain, will be making his first appearance of the year against Jack Laskin in the semi-final bout.

ANYBODY HUNGRY?

A postcard from the genial scribe reads like this: "$2.50 gets you a 1¾-pound lobster, hot or cold, plus a dozen fried clams. I'm eating them twice a day."

Sounds great George, but what are you going to do upon return to the work-a-day world, have friend Murray throw a smorgasbord every day?

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

Al Carkner will likely get the pitching assignment for Point Anne tonight in their playdown battle with Lakefield's Ray Judd . . . Harness racing fans are reminded of the Quinte Riding and Driving Club meet at the Fairgrounds Saturday eve . . . Despite the fact that the Toronto Maple Leafs are buried in the International League cellar they have three regulars batting over .300. They are Bob Wilson, Joe Amalfitano and Archie Wilson . . . Ottawa and Hamilton will be the participants in Saturday's Big-Four Football telecast at 2.00 p.m. . . . It appears that Dixie Walker is on his way out as Leafs' manager . . . Anyone like to guess which Senior "A" team will have the pick of Montreal Canadiens' overage juniors now that Wren Blair has been given the job of "assigning" them to amateur clubs? . . . We have heard a number of veteran duck hunters complaining about the early opening date this season, Sept. 19, claiming that it will likely be too warm yet at that time . . . Understand that Read and Latta are packing in big crowds for their South Hastings baseball league finals. Next game is at Read Saturday . . . Senior baseball players and fans alike will remember Joe Jocko, who was a veteran third baseman for Napanee years ago when this reporter first started attending ball games in that town. Joe is still on the diamond, a little heavier, a little slower and now it's softball . . Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer clash for the middleweight title inside the squared circle at San Francisco Friday night. We pick Basilio to snap his Mormon opponent's winning string at nine fights . A young fellow by the name of Roger Chapman is said to be an up and coming softball hurler who could probably do well in the B, and D. League. Incidentally, Chapman throws for Picton Walts, who play host to Cobourg Saturday. Cobourg won the first game on Dawe's one-hitter . . . Pro hockey training camps will be opening in less than two weeks but no one would believe it on a day like yesterday.

FANS CAUSE DAMAGE

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters) — Disappointed soccer fans returning from a game in Burnley Tuesday smashed 20 windows on their train, tore 18 electric light bulbs from their sockets, unscrewed innumerable metal furnishings, and pulled the communication cord several times along the way. The fans, rooting for Everton, saw their team defeated 5-2 by Burnley.

PEEWEE TOURNEY SET

Rocky Colavito Tops In Majors With 38 Homers

Cleveland Indians Within One Game of League Lead; Pirates Hottest Club in NL

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Cleveland's big guy is up, Chicago's big guys are down—and the Indians have trimmed the White Sox' American League lead to one game. It's as simple as that.

With Rocky Colavito back blasting home runs, the Injuns have chopped 3½ games off Chicago's lead by winning eight in a row, their longest streak since 1956.

The White Sox have barely played .500 (5-4) ball in that span, hurting from the loss of injured Billy Pierce and the ineffective work of ailing Dick Donovan—a void that has piled too big a pitching load on Early Wynn, their 39-year-old righthanded ace.

Colavito edged the Indians closer to the lead by socking a tie-breaking homer in the eighth inning Wednesday night for a 5-4 victory over the New York Yankees. It was Rocko's third in two games and his 38th of the year—tops in the majors.

WYNN LOSES AGAIN

The White Sox were beaten 7-6 by Boston as Wynn, starting with only two days' rest, lost his second in a row and failed to go all the way for the third straight time.

Baltimore jumped into third place, 14 games behind, with a 6-3 victory at Kansas City. Detroit tied New York for fourth by beating Washington 3-2.

Colavito, who has homered for his only three hits in his last 17 at bats, clobbered Ryne Duren (2-6) for the clincher. Duren, once the Yanks' ace in the hole, has been tagged for five home runs in his last seven innings.

Jim Perry (10-5), a top prospect for AL rookie honors wrapped it up for the Indians after relieving starter Gary Bell in the eighth.

FOUR-RUN SEVENTH

Wynn (16-9) had allowed only two hits and led 2-1 until the Red Sox put across four runs, two unearned, in the seventh. Monbouquette (5-5) won it.

The Orioles beat lefty Bud Daley (15-9) for the first time in six decisions behind homers by Bob Nieman (15), Brooks Robinson (2) and Willie Tasby (11). Daley was handed an automatic $50 bean-ball fine by umpire Frank Umont when he nicked Nieman. Jerry Walker (9-7) won it with relief from Milt Pappas.

A leadoff home run by Eddie Yost (16) and two runs in the fifth on Al Kaline's double and a bases-loaded walk won it for the Tigers and Jim Bunning (13-10), who had a one-hit shutout before needing relief help in the eighth. Russ Kemmerer (7-14) lost it for the Nats.

Pittsburgh's persistent Pirates, still fourth, seven games behind with 28 to play, suddenly have cut themselves in on that National League pennant scrap as the hottest club in the race.

They've won 12 of their last 15, running up an 8-3 record against the three clubs they have to beat —San Francisco, Los Angeles and Milwaukee—by jolting the first place Giants 5-4 in 10 innings Wednesday night.

Manager Danny Murtaugh, fighting to be heard over his shouting, chortling Bucs, called it "a helluva game to win." And if the black-browed Irishman wasn't exactly elegant, who can say it better?

LATE WARMUP

Shut out on two hits for eight innings by righthander Jack Sanford, the Pirates pounded across four runs for a tie in the ninth, then beat reliefer Stu Miller in the 10th on singles by Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski. Ron Kline (9-13) won it in relief.

That trimmed the Giants' lead over idle, second - place Los Angeles to three games. St. Louis held Milwaukee in third place, four games back, by beating the Braves 5-2.

Chicago wrested fifth place from Cincinnati, beating the Reds 9-5 in the only other National League game scheduled.

CARDS WINNING AGAIN

St. Louis junked its loss string at seven while barring the Braves from second place. Larry Jackson (11-12) did it, winning his third in a row from Milwaukee with a seven-hitter and seven strikeouts. He gave up a first-inning run, then blanked the Braves until the ninth.

The Cardinals scored twice in the first against Carl Willey (5-7) on Stan Musial's two-out single and an error. Curt Flood hit his fourth homer for the Cards, who had 15 hits.

With Dave Hillman (6-9) shutting out the Reds on two hits in a six-inning relief job, the Cubs overhauled a 5-2 Cincinnati lead with three runs in the fifth, two on Irv Noren's double. They beat reliefer Brooks Lawrence (7-11) with three in the seventh on doubles by Ernie Banks and Noren and a single by Al Dark. Frank Robinson hit his 32nd homer for the Reds.

Race All Even

Maverick Favored to Turn Back Miss Supertest in Final

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP)—The experts favored Maverick to turn back Canada's challenge today in the third and deciding race for the Harmsworth Trophy, symbol of international speedboat supremacy.

But nobody quoted any odds because of the unpredictability of 2,000 - plus horsepower hydroplanes. Loosening of a minor screw can knock out a $25,000 power plant

Canada's challenging Miss Supertest III and Maverick meet in the final 45-mile race on the Detroit River today (5 p.m. EST). They are even at one each after two races.

Maverick outclassed Miss Supertest all the way Wednesday in the second duel between the mighty powerboats. Maverick has won 27 of the 30 three-mile laps covered thus far.

BREAK FOR CANADA

A broken supercharger drive shaft knocked Maverick out of an opening victory Tuesday after driver Bill Stead, a Nevada cattle rancher, had kept her out front through 12 of 15 laps. Supertest then coasted from what appeared certain defeat to victory.

Stead had a 1,000-yard lead at the end of a New Harmsworth Trophy race record of 102.988 mph Wednesday. The old record of 101.181 m.p.h was set in 1950 by Slo-Mo-Shun IV

Miss Supertest fell below 100 m.p.h. on only two laps, the first and fourth, and ended up with a record-topping average of 101.746 herself.

Maverick's best lap speed was 104.875 on the 10th, a shade below, the new lap record of 105.675 m.p.h. which she set Tuesday. Miss Supertest hit 104.600 m.p.h. on the 13th, her best speed.

Ontario chicken farmer, Bob Hayward, Miss Supertest's driver, confided to newsmen afterward he had been getting very close to maximum power from Miss Supertest's Rolls - Royce-Griffon engine and didn't think he could have got enough more to catch Maverick after the U.S. defender grabbed the lead on the first turn of the first lap.

NOT UP TO LIMIT

Stead, on the other hand, expressed doubt he ever pushed Maverick's Allison aircraft engine to more than 90 per cent of its capabilities, but said he ran as fast as he could go with safety on a choppy river that forced a 15-minute delay at the start.

For a time there was some talk of a postponement, and officials looked with apprehension to today's forecast of rainy, windy weather. Small craft warnings were up overnight.

FORM JUNIOR LEAGUE

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Aces, recently accepted into the American Hockey League, announced Wednesday they will organize a junior hockey league formed of teams from the Quebec City area.

Virginian Will Start on Mound Against Pirates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southpaw Bill Short, Richmond's 16-game winner, likely will start for the International League All-stars against Pittsburgh and righthander Bob Porterfield tonight in an exhibition game at Columbus, Ohio.

Clay Bryant, Montreal field boss who'll manage the IL team, hasn't made his pitching choice definite and could switch to Miami's John Anderson (12-9), a righthander

Short has been the bulwark for the fourth-place Virginians and is tied with Bob Keegan for most wins. Short has lost six.

Porterfield, 0-2 for the fourth-place Pirates of the National League, likely will be followed to the mound by Fred Green and Bernie Daniels.

NELSON WITH BUCS

Rocky Nelson, the International League's triple crown winner last year and now a Pirate, may start at first base, although Pittsburgh manager Danny Murtaugh said he would not bring all his regulars for the exhibition.

Heading the International League's attack will be a power-laden crew including home run leader Frank Herrera of Buffalo and teammate Jim Coker, Woody Smith of Miami, Montreal's Sandy Amoros and Charley James of Rochester.

Others in the starting line-up will be Montreal's Curt Roberts, Buffalo's Ruben Amaro and Bobby DelGreco of Buffalo.

BISONS WHIP ROYALS

Buffalo kept its league lead at 6½ games Wednesday night, apparently responding to manager Kerby Farrell's silent treatment and rapping Montreal 9-2. Farrell didn't say a word to his players Tuesday night after they had lost their third straight to the Royals.

In other games, second-place Havana defeated Miami 10-0 on the five-hit pitching of Raul Sanchez, third - place Columbus, seven games back, nipped Richmond 3-2 on Johnny Jaciuk's two-out bases loaded single in the ninth, and Rochester beat Toronto 6-5 in 14 innings when George Wilson knocked in the winning run with a single.

Gene Fullmer to Have Pull In Weight Against Basilio

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Carmen Basilio fights for his future when he battles Gene Fullmer for the world middleweight title Friday night at the Cow Palace.

"This is one I just have to win," declares the craggy-faced 32-year-old from Chittenango, N.Y., who has held both the welterweight and middleweight titles.

Basilio lost the middleweight crown back to Ray Robinson via a 15-round verdict on March 25, 1958.

Should he lose to Fullmer, Carmen knows he could drop out of the big money picture and at his age could find it tough if not impossible to battle his way back in.

FULLMER AT PEAK

The 28-year-old Fullmer from West Jordan, Utah, who won the title from Robinson on Jan. 2, 1957, and lost it back the following May 1, declares, "I honestly believe I'm at the peak of my career but feel I'll have to wage the fight of my life in order to defeat him

"I believe the fight will be decided in the last five rounds and expect my weight edge to give me the advantage."

Fullmer can expect to have from six to eight pounds on Basilio for the bout which will be televised nationally by NBC. Carmen says he expects to scale between 153 and 155 with Fullmer at 159.

The winner will be recognized as champion by the National Boxing Association.

NEVER KAYOED

Basilio has fought 74 times, won 54, lost 13 and had 7 draws. He has stopped 27 foes and never been stopped. He won the welterweight title on June 10, 1955, by knocking out Tony DeMarco in the 12th round. On Sept. 23, 1957, he won the middleweight crown from Robinson and relinquished his 147-pound title.

Fullmer has won 49 of 53 fights and lost four. He stopped 21 and the only knockout scored against him was by Robinson in their return scrap.

The NBA declared the 160-pound title vacant when Sugar Ray failed to defend in the allotted time after beating Basilio. New York state still recognizes Robinson

Olmedo to Open Against Fraser For Davis Cup

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Peruvian Alex Olmedo opens the United States' Davis Cup defence Friday at the West Side Tennis Club.

The Wimbledon champion will meet Neale Fraser, Australia's experienced No. 1 performer, in the opening singles match at 2 p.m. EDT of the three-day, five-match series.

The second match sends Barry MacKay against lefthanded Rod Laver, runner-up to Olmedo at Wimbledon.

That is the way the names were taken from the gleaming Davis Cup in the official draw Wednesday.

"The winner of the first match will win the series," said the U.S. captain Perry Jones. "That, of course, will be Olmedo and I think we will go on to sweep the series, 5-0."

Harry Hopman, Aussie captain said: "I am confident we will win. I look for it to be 3-2."

Luis Rodriguez Wins Decision Over Stitch

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Unbeaten Cuban welterweight Luis Rodriguez picked up a split decision over Rudell Stitch Wednesday night with a dazzling display of left-handed punching.

Stitch, ranked No. 2 among the welterweights, was sluggish throughout most of the fight and never able to do much damage to the Cuban champion.

Rodriguez, who now has won 23 straight, began scoring effectively in the fifth round when three hard lefts jolted his opponent, a Louisville product. Time and again he broke through Stitch's guard to pound away with rights and lefts to the head and body.

The winner, who weighed in at two more pounds than the 145-pound Stitch, ran into trouble in the second and third rounds of the scheduled 10 round fight when Stitch constanty backed him into a corner and began bombing him with rights and lefts.

Brampton Juniors Win First Game From St. Kitts

BRAMPTON (CP) — Brampton Excelsiors exploded for five unanswered goals in the third period Wednesday night to defeat St. Catharines Athletics 10-6 in the opener of their best-of-seven series for the Eastern Canadian junior lacrosse championship.

St. Catharines went on the scoreboard at the six-second mark and followed up with another goal at two minutes.

Brampton came back and led 3-2 going into the second period.

After tying it up 5-5 in the second, Athletics got through for another goal early in the third. It was their last, however. Brampton stormed to the attack to wrap up the game.

Midway through the final period, St. Catharines trainer Hagus MacIntosh was expelled from the game for criticizing a referee's decision.

Bert Naylor led Brampton with three goals and Barry Ashby and Don Arthur each added a pair. Bruce Wanless, Dave Foster and John McCauley collected singles.

Top St. Catharines man was Bucko Ingles with a pair of goals. Singles went to Wally Thorne, Bob Kerr, Brian Thompson, and Bud Smith.

The second game will be played in St. Catharines Friday night.

Argos Obtain Morgan Clarke On Waivers

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union have paid the $500 waiver fee on Morgan Clarke of the British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Clarke, a defensive end, played one season with the University of Western Ontario Mustangs, then two with Sarnia Golden Bears of the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Because he was graduating from college and would be eligible for drafting, Canadian football league clubs did not make any offers.

Last January, Toronto Argonauts, who had first selection, tabbed Clarke as their choice, but B.C. Lions stepped in and brought a five-player package from Sarnia, Clarke included.

Four western clubs and Ottawa Rough Riders voted to allow the deal to go through, despite the fact that it contravened draft regulations.

Jockey Under Police Guard After Threat

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jockey Buck Thornburg is under constant police guard after receiving a note from a disgruntled bettor threatening his life.

Thornburg, who has won more races than any jockey in Ohio during the last two years, said Wednesday he wasn't particularly concerned about the note which he received Aug. 15.

The letter writer said he had embezzled $1,500 from his employer and lost $1,000 betting on the horses. He instructed Thornburg to win certain races or he would be shot. The writer also threatened Thornburg's mother and father, James Thornburg, a horse trainer.

Thornburg is married and has two children.

Pan-Am Games Open Today At Chicago

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — The largest international sports spectacle in United States history starts today as the third Pan-American Games are touched off with breath-taking pageantry in mammoth Soldier Field.

The opening-day ceremonies, beginning at 2:30 p.m. EDT, bring about an official start of the games which, as a sort of junior Olympic Games, follow up similar shows at Buenos Aires in 1951 and at Mexico City in 1955.

This is a widespread athletic carnival in which the United States is expected to make a runaway of most major events in the 20-sport competition.

A continuing heat wave, with 90-degree temperatures, was predicted for the opening ceremonies in which 2,152 athletes from 24 nations will parade before 70,000 spectators in Soldier Field on Chicago's Lake Michigan front.

COMPETITION FRIDAY

Actual competition begins Friday in track and field, baseball, basketball, fencing, soccer, football, tennis, volleyball, weightlifting and yachting.

The remainder of the sports will be contested before the Sept. 7 closing.

The opening highlights include a 24-gun salute to the visiting athletes; a welcoming speech in behalf of the president of the United States by Dr. Milton Eisenhower; Mayor Daley's proclamation opening the games; the arrival of the Pan-American torch and release of 5,000 doves, symbolizing peace and friendship among Pan-American nations.

Canada has 135 men and 40 women entered.

George Worth of New York City, a champion fencer, will recite the Pan American oath. He replaces Jack Kelly, the sculling champion brother of Princess Grace of Monaco who was unable to make the opening day in time.

21 Canadians On Roster of Grey Cup Champs

WINNIPEG (CP)—Coach Bud Grant of Winnipeg Blue Bombers says he has to laugh at stories that his Grey Cup champions are knee deep in Canadian playing talent.

According to his figuring, he says, only Edmonton Eskimos have fewer Canadians on their roster than Bombers. The other teams, both in the Western Interprovincial Football Union and the eastern Big Four, have more homebrew talent than Winnipeg.

Grant made his remarks as his club worked out for tonight's game against Eskimos here.

The Bomber roster lists 21 Canadians The Eskimos have 19.

"We haven't developed all our own, either," Grant said.

"We picked up a kid Toronto didn't want and started him at fullback and corner linebacker. Then we dealt with Calgary for one and he started at defensive halfback."

POTTER FROM TORONTO

Rick Potter, former Toronto Parkdale junior, is the rookie fullback picked up after Toronto Argonauts let him go and Rae Ross is the defensive back who came from the Stampeders.

They'll probably be in the thick of things tonight when the Bombers and Eskimos clash.

Grant reported all of his injured players have returned to playing condition, with the exception of end Frank Gilliam. The flashy pass-catcher from Iowa is finished for the season with a shoulder separation.

Meanwhile, Eskimo coach Eagle Keys had a couple of surprises in announcing his lineup for the important game.

He named import Tommy-Joe Coffey to start at left end and Nat Dye to start at left tackle. They replace end Fred Meyers and tackle Tom Emerson, both of whom played prominent roles as the Esks slaughtered Saskatchewan Roughriders 55-0 Monday night.

Keys wants to get a good look at Coffey and Dye before naming his 12 imports. He has until 48 hours after this, the Eskimos' third game, to announce his import players.

SCHOENDIENST TO PLAY

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Red Schoendienst's personal physician said Wednesday the gifted second baseman can rejoin Milwaukee Braves Tuesday as scheduled and "be available for anything," although Schoendienst said he wasn't sure how much use he would be to the Braves except in a pinch-hitting or spot playing role.

The 36-year-old Schoendienst has been working out following a bout with tuberculosis.

The third-place Braves plan to remove Schoendienst from the disabled list Tuesday. He will not be eligible to play in the world series if the Braves win the pennant.

Drysdale Claims Some Members Of Dodgers Second-Guessing Him

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Drysdale, young Los Angeles pitcher whose torrid delivery is matched by his temper, has blown his top again.

This time the target is his own dugout

Some of the people in there, he says, are second-guessing him.

Before the Dodgers returned from Philadiphia Wednesday, Drysdale was quoted as saying

"I'm sick of second-guessing. We've got some guys on this club who really put the best second-guessers to shame. Everything on our club is the pitcher's fault . . . if they could win games by talking, we'd be in first place by 17 games by now."

After his arrival here, he elaborated: "I just got sick and tired of writers quoting people on our own ball club about what's wrong with Drysdale."

COACHES CULPRITS?

Drysdale refused to identify his tormentors, but he did say: "My objections were not directed at (manager Walt) Alston or the players. I don't have to name anybody. They know who they are."

With Alston and the players eliminated, the coaches would be about the only ones left, outside of members of the administrative staff. The coaches are Charlie Dressen, Joe Becker, Peewee Rees and Greg Mulleavy.

"It's not directed at all of them," Drysdale said "But, if the shoe fits, let them wear it."

Drysdale, whose 15-9 record is the best on the club, has suffered three straight losses.

Said general manager Buzzie Bavasi:

"I'm not annoyed at Drysdale for getting mad about losing some tough games lately . . . but the things he says which reflect on other members of the organization I'll have to discuss with him."

Trade Chances Appear Small

MONTREAL (CP) — Chances for a Montreal-Toronto player trade appeared small today after Toronto Argonauts sent a rookie the Alouettes wanted right out of the Big Four Football Union.

The Argos shipped 220-pound fullback Wray Carleton to B.C. Lions in a straight cash deal.

The Argonauts are short a good centre and the Alouettes are short a good back. The Argos expressed interest in Milt Crain, a centre from Mississippi the Alouettes are carrying, and the Als expressed interest in Carleton.

Apparently, there just wasn't enough interest

Carleton, a six-foot-two speedster, was described by Argo coach Hamp Pool as having "all kinds of ability but not the right temperament."

The Als play Argos here Friday night.

ONTARIO PROS PLAY

MONTREAL (CP)—Three top Ontario professionals will be among 114 golfers entered in the Quebec open golf championship today and Friday at nearby Mount Bruno. They are Moe Norman and Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener. Defending champion Jules Huot of Laval sur la Lac, Que., will also be shooting for top prize money of $450.

Canadians Lose Tallest Player By Broken Foot

CHICAGO (AP) — The Canadians and the Latin American basketball teams have been playing each other in tune-ups for the Pan-American Games basketball showdown.

Canada meets the U.S. in Friday night's opening competition in the single round-robin tourney at DePaul University's alumni hall.

Puerto Rico meets Cuba and El Salvador faces Mexico in the opening round. Brazil's first start will be Saturday night against Cuba.

Brazil holds the world championship, won at Santiago, Chile, last winter. The U.S. was represented at Santiago by a pickup team of air force players and was beaten soundly by Brazil and Russia.

The Canadians have lost their tallest player, six-foot-seven John McKibbon. He has a broken foot bone. They plan to start six-foot-five Bob Pickel, a 32-year-old veteran; six-foot-four Warren Reynolds, six-foot-five Herb Olafsson, an Icelander; five-foot-11 Howie Eriano and six-foot-three Fred Ingladson, former Montana State star.

All Canadian Starters Out of U.S. Tourney

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Philadelphia veterans who weren't supposed to do any such thing have shouldered their way into the quarter-finals of the U.S. women's amateur golf championship.

While Mrs. Mark Porter and Mrs. Paul Klinefelter were surprise arrivals in the round of eight today, JoAnne Gunderson of Kirkland, Wash., and Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit were absent just as unexpectedly.

Mrs. Klinefelter, 31, a Philadelphia housewife, shut the door on 20-year-old Miss Gunderson, 1 up.

Mrs. Streit, U.S. champion in 1956, was eliminated Wednesday morning, 3 and 2, by 19-year-old Judy Eller of Old Hickory, Tenn., who chopped a stroke off par-74.

Then under a baking sun that ran the temperature into the high 90s, Miss Eller beat Mrs. Paul the afternoon. She meets Mrs. the afternoo n She meets Mrs. Porter today.

Defending champion Anne Quast, 21, of Marysville, Wash. headed the younger set, which advanced with the oldtimers on the Congressional Country Club's 6,457-yard, par 37-37—74 course.

Mrs. Porter has been in four nations since winning in 1949 but never has gone beyond the third round. She entered the quarters on a 4 and 3 victory over Sandra Clifford, 21, of Mexico City, amateur champion of Mexico, Spain and Germany.

Joanne Goodwin of Haverhill, Mass., was pressed to 19 holes before beating 17-year-old Diana Hoke of Pittsburgh in the most dramatic match of the afternoon.

Hitting: Rocky Colavito, Cleveland, moved the Indians within one game of first place with an eighth-inning, tie-breaking home run that beat New York Yankees 5-4.

Mrs. Stengel Says Casey Will Be Back Next Year

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Want to know who is going to manage New York Yankees next year?

Mrs. Edna Stengel can tell you—Casey Stengel's the name. He's her husband.

"I don't want him to quit," Mrs. Stengel told an interviewer Wednesday as she came home for a quick visit while the Yankees are on the road.

"He'll be around baseball as long as he has the health to walk out there on the diamond. I want him to come back and show everyone he's as great a manager as he ever was. I know he's determined to win next year to prove he hasn't lost his touch.

"I can't go through life without breaking a dish and I don't expect Casey to go through baseball without having his pitfalls. Nobody on the club is hitting .300. Casey hasn't stopped them from hitting, has he?"

Mrs. Stengel says Casey hasn't changed a bit at home, that he doesn't lose any sleep over the situation and that criticism doesn't bother him.

Belleville Entry, Watkin, Miller Canadian Champs

TORONTO (CP) — Regina's Harry Clayton, a comparative newcomer to top-flight lawn bowling, brought Saskatchewan its first national title Wednesday in the Canadian lawn bowling championships.

Ontario entries swept both the doubles and rinks play with final game victories clinching the title in each division.

Clayton, 43, captured the singles crown in a narrow upset victory over previously-unbeaten Harvey Wheant of Ladner, B.C.

Both finished five rounds of play with a 4-1 record but Clayton took the title by virtue of points scored for and against.

Belleville's Bruce Miller and Gord Watkin were undefeated throughout the doubles play. In their final game they defeated the Manitoba entry of S. Townsend, Winnipeg, and J. Dickie, St. Boniface, 20-16. Manitoba finished with a 4-1 record.

H. McGuigan, G. Vogt, W. Huston and J. Gillette of Kitchener earned a 19-16 win over Quebec in their final game in the rinks division to record four wins and one tie. They were held to a 20-20 tie by Alberta in the opening game.

Fourteen Killed In Cameroons

YAOUNDE, French Cameroons (Reuters) — Fourteen persons were killed during a fight with hatchets and clubs Sunday night between outlaws and civilian local defence groups in the eastern Cameroons.

Officials here said the government of Ahmadou Ahidjo has sought the collaboration of British Cameroons authorities, in the belief that bands are using bases there and crossing into the French Cameroons to make attacks.

Sunday's incident brings to 68 the number of person reported killed in fighting in the two frontier provinces since the end of June.

Ahidjo has publicly blamed the clashes on the outlawed Cameroons Peiple's Union, whose exiled leaders have been calling for general elections under United Nations control before the country reaches full independence on Jan. 1, 1960.

Still Not Sure Of Nature of Quebec Disease

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Armand Frappier, head of the microbiology department at the University of Montreal, said Wednesday the mystery disease found in Farnham, Que., is still puzzling scientists.

"It will take months before we get near the truth," he said. "But meanwhile, we want to reassure people in the area that there is little to worry about.

"Mention of Loa-Loa as the disease did not come from us. Some people seemed to have jumped the gun. It is like going up a road which has not yet been built as we ourselves do not know what this disease is."

DOCTOR NAMED IT

Dr. Luc Fortin, youngest and newest doctor at Farnham, 45 miles southeast of Montreal, had said earlier that the mysterious ailment appeared to be Loa-Loa, a strange disease common to Asia.

Dr. Frapier, called in by doctors to investigate the origin of the disease, said a few people have been examined but hospital treatment was never considered.

"We have merely kept them under observation which is the normal precaution when the disease is not at once diagnosed."

In a statement issued at a press conference today, Dr. Frappier said:

"The analysis of the facts gathered in Farnham does not agree with what is known about parasitic known diseases, such as Loa-Loa or others.

Dr. Frappier met provincial health officers and doctors and civic leaders in the eastern township community Tuesday.

NO STATE OF ALARM

They agreed that the situation does not justify any state of alarm and they urged that life in the town of 6,000 should continue as usual.

Future tests will go on under the supervision of provincial epidemiologist Dr. Roger Foley.

"This is the normal way of doing things," said Dr. Frappier. "Because Dr. Foley is heading the investigation people should not be alarmed."

He said the malady was never labelled an epidemic.

The doctor who first indicated the presence of the perplexing malady spent four months on the trail of its cause He examined under a microscope tiny hair-like parasites taken from victims and said:

MICROFILLARIAL DISEASE

"It may not be Loa-Loa, but it definitely is a microfilarial disease."

Dr. Fortin, 32, said the first stage of Loa-Loa is like the grippe. In the second stage, the parasite may reproduce near the skin, causing a prickling sensation and a rash if scratched. At this stage it is like the itch.

In the third and chronic stage—not yet reached by any of the suspected victims—the parasite slips into the bloodstream and the victim's legs and feet swell when it clogs the lymphatic blood vessels.

British Tory Magazine Uses Only Cartoons

Entitled Form, the front page says: "What is Form? Form is the record of past achievement."

The front-page cartoon shows how the study of Form on the race track and cricket field helps in picking a winner.

Derick Heathcoat - Amory, chancellor of the exchequer, is shown parachuting over Arnheim during the war and sailing his yacht in peacetime.

Cartoons show Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd as an army staff officer during the Normandy invasion and playing golf.

Lord Hailsham, chairman of the Conservative Party, is depicted as an individualist—"when at Oxford he started the fashion for men of wearing brightly colored sweaters."

Other cartoons illustrate the advantages of Conservative life.

Three Boys Leave U.S. For Russia

NEW YORK (AP)—The Kozmin brothers — Richard, 12, George, 11, Paul, 10, and Peter, 3—left today for Russia to rejoin their parents, who came to the United States as displaced persons in 1957.

The elder Kozmins settled in Chicago but decided to return to the Soviet Union.

A Chicago court refused to allow the boys to rejoin their parents until it was satisfied they would be properly cared for in Russia. The father, George Kozmin, is reported working as an aviation mechanic.

The boys wore Chicago White Sox baseball caps given them by Stewardesses when they boarded the plane. But when they arrived here only one cap was in evidence. Also missing were the three eldest boys' baseball gloves and balls — gifts from Judge Thomas Kluczynski, who had ordered their return to Russia.

The boys were escorted by Boris Kolobyazhnv, a first secretary of the Soviet Embassy and by two women employees of the embassy.

Violent Storm Sweeps Area Along Lakeshore

TORONTO (AP) — A violent electrical storm backed by 50-mile-an-hour winds lashed a wide area Wednesday afternoon leaving a path of destruction in its wake.

In a suburban Toronto area a "spook" twister following the storm ripped off a barn roof, smashed a garage, broke down 14 telephone poles, trapping a policeman, three truckers and their vehicles beneath the wires.

Trees in north Toronto were uprooted and a plate glass window in a suburban store was blown in.

Power to the area townships of Thornhill, Richmond Hill and Sutton to the north was cut off for about 30 minutes.

Oshawa area farmers reported severe damage to their tobacco crops.

Department of agriculture officials have not yet been able to assess damage to tobacco and apple crops in Durham and Northumberland counties.

INDIAN ARMY FIGHTS CHINESE INVADERS

Queen Greets Eisenhower At Castle Gates

Half Million Britons Give Warm Welcome

By EDDY GILMORE

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP)—President Eisenhower broke into his diplomatic mission to Western Europe today with a social visit to the Royal Family at Balmoral Castle. The Queen made a completely unexpected appearance at the gates to welcome him.

"Well, well, I'm delighted to see you," said the Queen, slim and elegant though she is expecting her third child early next year.

Eisenhower bowed and said: "Thank you ma'am. It's wonderful to be here."

It was a friendly and informal beginning for Eisenhower's overnight visit to Balmoral. It had been believed the Queen would avoid public appearances entirely until after the birth of her baby.

GREETING ON TV

She not only came out to see Eisenhower but did it on television—the first broadcast ever from Balmoral.

Eisenhower had driven 50 miles with Prince Philip in a car from the Scottish airport at Dyce to cheers of crowds along the way.

The Queen—who danced until the early hours this morning at a castle ball—presented the president to Princess Margaret.

Both she and Princess Margaret, dressed in a mauve-colored suit, wore a string of pearls.

Prince Philip was waiting at the airport near Aberdeen as the Comet landed in cold, windy weather. Rain started pelting down as the plane taxied up to the arrival strip.

A crowd of 500 Scots, wrapped in topcoats and mufflers, sent up a big cheer as Eisenhower walked down the steps from the plane and lifted his hat.

WARM GREETING

Eisenhower gave Philip—twice his guest in Washington—a firm handshake and patted him on the elbow. Philip, hatless despite the rain, smiled broadly.

The two got into a black limousine for the 50-mile drive to Balmoral Castle, where the Royal Family is vacationing.

Eisenhower flies back to London Saturday, then drives to Chequers, the country home of Prime Minister Macmillan, for a weekend of talks about the approaching exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Eisenhower got an early start today, leaving U.S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney's residence at 7:50 a.m. Macmillan made the 16½ - mile drive to the airport with him. Hundreds of Britons going to work cheered the motorcade.

LOYALISTS HECKLE

The first sour notes of Eisenhower's visit sounded as he and Macmillan left Whitney's residence. A loudspeaker truck parked outside the gates suddenly blared out:

"The Empire Loyalists ask why Harold Macmillan has invited to London the great victor of Suez. Why has Macmillan placed us

P.E.I. Premier Strikes Back at Promises by PCs

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Liberal Premier Alex Matheson said last night that with only a few days left to campaign the Progressive Conservatives may promise anything in their bid to take over the Prince Edward Island government at the polls Tuesday.

"We may get the causeway yet," he told 300 persons at a Liberal rally at Montague, 30 miles from here. "We may get anything."

Premier Matheson said the Conservatives were wrong in calling themselves "the party of the causeway." Improved transportation to the mainland, now linked by ferries, "should not be a political issue" whether it was a causeway or some other improvement. Two Ontario engineering firms were interested in building the nine-mile-long causeway across Northumberland Strait to New Brunswick. It would pay for itself in no time on a toll basis, he said.

"It is possible for us to get a causeway without Diefenbaker, without a Conservative government in Prince Edward Island. A causeway is feasible and economically sound."

Education Minister Keir Clark said a Conservative platform pledge to take over part of teachers' salaries paid on varying scales by local school boards would cost $680,000. "This would cost at least $2,000,000 which would double the cost of education in the province."

The possibility of a sales tax to pay for national hospital insurance plan and education costs if a Conservative government were elected was raised by Health Minister M. Lorne Bonnell and Mr. Clarke.

Conservative leader Walter Shaw told a party rally at Crapaud that the Liberals had descended to "contemptible" tactics to deceive the electorate. He said allegations in a Liberal pamphlet that his party had committed itself to a sales tax "for any purpose" is "a deliberate untruth."

SAYS SEEDING SUCCEEDS

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A cloud-seeding experiment during a three - year period increased rainfall in one California county from 15 to 28 per cent, a scientific conference was told Thursday. The Santa Clara County experiment demonstrated the value of seeding beyond any reasonable doubt, said Dr. Arnett S. Dennis, vice-president of Weather Modification Company.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP)—Synopsis: —The weather picture over eastern Canada is changing very slowly. Slow pressure falls to the south and increases over Hudson Bay will move the boundary between hot and humid air and cooler drier air slowly southward during the next two days. This will be accompanied by increased cloudiness and more prevalent shower and thundershower activity. Temperatures in the south are not too likely to reach the 90 mark either today or Saturday.

IKE AND MACMILLAN WELCOMED — Mrs. John Hay Whitney, wife of the U.S. Ambassador to Britain, shakes hands with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan as she welcomes President Eisenhower and Macmillan to the Whitney residence in London. Space Rocket Carrying Tail-Light Visible at Mars Is Russian Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians say they are close to developing new and more powerful "artificial comets" that could be seen if they reach the planet Mars, at least 50,000,000 miles away.

The idea, a Russian report translated here says, would be to provide a space-probing rocket with a kind of tail-light consisting of a cloud of chemical gas having high reflective powers for sunlight.

Such a device, the Russians claim, could automatically and visually signal the arrival of the rocket in the vicinity of Mars even if radio communication at such a great distance failed.

The cloud of gas, automatically belched from the rocket, would also allow new tests of the density and temperature of the gas that fills interplanetary space, Soviet scientists say.

The Russian report, translated and distributed by the U.S. department of commerce, declared the new possibilities result from initial success with a form of "artificial comet" arrangement used in the Russian sun-orbiting rocket Mechta launched last January.

Mechta was equipped with a device that spewed out a cloud of sodium gas which the Russians say they spotted while Mechta still was heading for its solar orbit.

The Russian report added: "The selection of more effective substances now is being made."

GOVT. SUCCEEDS IN DROPPING BANK INTEREST RATE

Slight Easing of Tight Money Seen

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government's move to bring down the Bank of Canada interest rate apparently is meeting with success, amid signs of a slight easing in the tight money situation.

For the second week, the government put up for bid a smaller-than-usual amount of treasury bills. A drop in the average interest yield on the bills followed. Since the Bank of Canada's interest rate is set at one-quarter of one per cent above the treasury bill yield, the bank rate also slippd.

From a record high of 6.41 per cent two weeks ago, the rate dipped to 5.58 per cent this week. The decline of .71 per cent from the rate of the previous week was the largest in at leats 4½ years.

Finance Minister Fleming announced that the government will call for bids on a reduced amount of treasury bills again next week.

MONEY FOR OTHERS

The effect of this step, reducing the demand on the supply of money available for short-term loans, is to leave more money available for lending to non-government borrowers.

There were other indications of an easing of demand on the money available for loans. Cash reserves of the chartered banks, the basis for their lending, rose

Think CCF May Water Down Socialism to Get CLC Help

WINNIPEG (CP) — The CCF may drop a considerable amount of its socialist ideas to get the backing of the 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress for a "new" political party.

As a meeting of CCF and labor politicians opened here today to set up the foundations of the party, it received a report suggesting that the CCF will have to throw away thoughts of nationalizing industry in Canada if it wants CLC and other political support at the polls.

A report from a sub-committee on the new party, presented today to the opening session of the CLC-CCF "seminar" struck out at the old socialist idea of nationalizing industry to get votes.

"It seems," it said, "nothing can be done by nationalization to redistribute income and wealth that cannot be done much more easily and equitably by other devices, particularly taxation, transfer payments and the provision of social capital."

Boiled down this seemed to mean that more money spread around from the federal treasury would do the trick that socialism was supposed to do earlier.

It was carefully explained by officials of the three-day seminar of some 300 people that the committee report "is being presented for discussion purposes only."

"The material should be treated as ideas thrown out for purposes of discussion," it was stated.

But meanwhile, a high officer of the congress said there is no doubt the CCF is going to have to back away from the old socialist doctrine if it wants the moral—and maybe financial—backing of the big labor body.

There is a split in the congress, it became known here, on the proposed tieup with the CCF in the new party.

While it was endorsed at the congress's biennial convention here last year, many top men in big congress unions are highly unenthusiastic, privately.

One of the most unenthusiastic is Canada's labor strongman, Frank H. Hall of Montreal, head of the bargaining committee for the railway unions in their perennial big scraps with the railways.

The tough Mr. Hall is on a joint CLC-CCF committee engaged in working out the new party basis. He was here earlier this week. He will not be present today. He found he had business in Cincinnati.

One high congress officer says the congress membership is about 65 per cent for a tieup with the CCF and 35 per cent against.

The result, he said, will be, not a direct political tieup, but a liaison and with individual unions being suggested that they might support the party.

Hazen Argue, CCF leader in the Commons, asked about this Thursday night, said he would like to see the CLC shooting the works for the CCF "but I don't think the congress is going to go for it 100 per cent."

One question coming up before the meeting here is whether—and how much — congress members may have to kick into the financial kitty of the new party.

Another sub-committee will be recommending that all members of unio nsaffiliated to the CLC contribute $1.20 a year. But the report adds that this would be strictly voluntary. Any member could "elect out."

Reeve Goodhead Takes Campaign To Metro Level

TORONTO (CP) — Reeve Norman Goodhead of suburban North York has carried his campaign against illegal multiple dwellings to the metropolitan level.

In a notice of motion Thursday he asked that all builders and contractors in the Metropolitan Toronto area be licensed by a metro commission which now only regulates plumbing, electrical and other specialized trades.

He said he wanted metro council to seek this new control from the Ontario government and hoped it would be made province-wide.

Mr. Goodhead is trying to do away with North York's illegal multiple dwellings. About 50 families have already been evicted and at least 1,000 more families face the same fate.

Beginning today, officials will clamp padlocks on apartment construction sites with more dwelling suites than the building permits allow.

Body Identified

MONTREAL (CP) — Police Thursday identified the body of a young woman found stuffed in a cheap sleeping bag and left floating in a farmland creek.

She was Mana Paquin, 20, of Montreal. The identification was made by "a friend," police said.

An autopsy showed the girl was probably choked with a silk stocking, then suffocated in the bag, the provincial medico-legal laboratory said.

Provincial police declined to speculate publicly on a motive.

The body was found in Maple Creek at Como, Que., 30 miles west of Montreal.

Must Prepare For Anything Says Nehru While Doubting Border Strife Will Spread

Indian Outpost Is Surrounded, Cannot Get Supplies to 38 Men

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Prime Minister Nehru said today that Communist Chinese troops have crossed the Indian frontier and are fighting Indian troops attempting to drive them back.

Speaking in the Indian Parliament, Nehru accused China of aggression against India.

He disclosed that Indian and Chinese forces are fighting on the borders of the Subansiri frontier division of Northeast Frontier Agency.

He announced that the Indian Army has taken charge of the whole frontier area.

MUST BE PREPARED

While stating that he could not imagine that this and recent incidents were "the precursor to anything more serious," he added:

"But so far as we are concerned we should be prepared for any eventuality."

Nehru said that an Indian outpost almost encircled by invading Chinese was running short of ammunition.

The Indian Air Force had tried to drop supplies to the 38 men but had failed because of the mountainous terrain.

A strong force of Chinese troops attacked the post Tuesday, he said, after capturing 12 men of an advance patrol. Eight men escaped back to the outpost.

Nehru said it was considered too risky to try to drop paratroops.

Despite considerable firing there was no account so far of any casualties.

WARNS CHINA

Nehru warned China that any aggression on the Himalayan buffer states of Bhutan and Sikkim would be regarded as aggression on India. Deputies thumped their desks in approval.

Apart from the present fighting, Nehru disclosed that the Chinese also had attempted to force back an Indian frontier post in the Kameng frontier division of the Northeast Frontier Agency; had twice arrested Indian patrols in the Ladakh area of Kashmir which adjoins Tibet, and had established camps on Indian territory in Ladakh.

Defence ministry sources said border patrols were intensifying their vigil to prevent future Chinese incursions into Indian territory.

TAKE OTHER STEPS

Sources said "certain other measures" also have been taken to guard against future incursions but declined to disclose their nature for security reasons.

Asked whether troops were moving up to the border, sources said "no."

Members of the Assam Rifles—a militia officered by the Indian Army but normally under the control of the Assam state government — are continuing to manborder patrols, sources added.

Nehru told the House that India protested to the Chinese over the outbreak of fighting but that the Chinese had replied that the Indians opened fire first. Additionally, the Chinese accused India of collusion with the Tibetan rebels.

Nehru was answering a spate of questions from members demanding to know details of the border troubles.

UN Police Force Said Only Way To Prevent War

PUGWASH, N.S. (CP) — The "only sensible way" to cope with world disarmament is to set up a United National Police Force to prevent aggression, Dr. Brock Chisholm of Victoria, former head of the World Health Organization, said Thursday night.

Dr. Chisholm, attending an international conference of scientists, said in an interview that no nation would completely disarm until it was sure there was some police force to look after its interests.

Calling the United Nations into the picture would mean changing the organizations charter, enabling it to take the responsibility for security.

"This seems to be the only method offering a reasonable hope of reducing the anxieties tensions and fears of the present world situation," he said.

URGES FULL TRUTH

Earlier in the conference, host Cyrus Eaton, Pugwash-born U.S. industrialist, urged the scientists to disclose to the world the potential dangers of chemical and biological warfare "however terrifying they may be."

An unidentified British scientist Thursday outlined "how simple it would be to stage a coup d'etat in a country while government leaders are stricken with disease." He said that such practices as introducing germs into government buildings' air conditioning systems might trigger small-scale epidemics.

British Publisher Lord Beaverbrook wired Mr. Eaton a message of encouragement. He expressed his belief that Western-Russian difficulties "could be removed by close and resolute discussion between men in power".

Mexican Quake Death Toll 16

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The confirmed death toll stood at 16 today in Mexico's worst earthquake of the year but many areas in the quake area in southern Mexico still had not been heard from.

All the dead so far were reported from Veracruz state, in an area of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec bordering and just south of the Gulf of Mexico.

Officials said there were at least 60 injured in the state.

Lord Louis Mountbatten Takes Ride On Midway's Roller Coaster at CNE

TORONTO (CP) — Lord Louis Moutbatten, admiral of the fleet, put on a grey flannel suit Thursday night and joined the second-day crowds touring the Canadian National Exhibition's midway.

Earl Mountbatten, guided by CNE President Harry Price, took two trips on the midway's roller coaster but was hardly noticed by the midway crowd, part of the 115,000 who visited the CNE Thursday.

The Earl said the ride was "wonderful" but could not persuade Lady Mountbatten to join him.

While Earl Mountbatten saw the fair, the band of Her Majesty's Royal Marines, performed the ceremony of Beat Retreat at the grandstand. The band, conducted by Lieut. - Col. Vivian Dunn is from the Royal Marines School of Music at Deal in Kent.

With the band are the memorial silver trumpets of the Royal Marines School of Music, the memorial to all ranks of the Royal Navy band service in the Second World War.

Earlier Thursday, Earl Mountbatten, standing rigidly to attention on the yacht Osceola's forward deck, made a half-hour tour of the 19-ship NATO fleet anchored off the exhibition grounds.

The Earl goes to Ottawa today but returns Saturday to take the salute at the Warriors's Day parade.

Today Ellen Fairclough, minister of citizenship and immigration, will address the women's day luncheon given by CNE directors.

U.S. to Protest If Oil Drilling Starts in Huron

TORONTO (CP) — The U.S. state department will protest to the Canadian Embassy in Washington if the owners of a drilling rig offshore from Port Huron, Mich., and Sarnia take legal action to get a drilling permit, Mayor Robert Patterson of Port Huron said Thursday.

Mayor Patterson told this to Mines Minister Maloney of Ontario at a meeting among officials of Sarnia, Port Huron, two U.S. consulate members, and three provincial cabinet ministers.

The owners of the drilling rig, Mineral Explorations Limited (Minex) of Toronto, were to apply to the Supreme Court of Ontario today to obtain an offshore oil-drilling permit in Lake Huron.

DANGER OF POLLUTION?

The Ontario and Michigan cities contend there is danger of pollution of lake water and beaches if drilling starts.

Mayor Patterson said he was acting on the advice of U.S. Senator Philip Hart in making his statement to Mr. Maloney. The other cabinet ministers present were Travel and Publicity Minister Cathcart, member for Lambton West, and Lands and Forests Minister Spooner.

If the application by Minex succeeds, it would force the Ontario Fuel Board and its chairman, A. R. Crozier, to issue Minex a drilling permit.

PERMIT TO EXPLORE

Minex earlier received an occupation licence permitting the firm to explore a certain leased area off Sarnia, the home of several large oil refineries.

The drilling would begin 3,000 feet off Sarnia. Consolidated West Petroleum Limited is the drilling firm for Minex.

E. F. Coste, president of Consolidated denied there would be any oil pollution. He said that in 1958 a total of 53 new wells were put down in Lake Erie without one authenticated case of pollution.

Mr. Coste referred to the 1951 report of the international joint commission of boundary waters pollution. This blamed Sarnia and other municipalities for pollution in the St. Clair River because Sarnia discharged untreated sewage into it.

District Firemen Will Attend Competition

All member brigades of the Hastings and Prince Edward County Mutual Aid Fire Prevention Association will gather at Batawa on Sunday, August 30th to compete for top efficiency awards and the Bata Trophy symbolic of the Central Ontario championship. Among the invited fire brigades that will participate are Belleville, Trenton, Wellington, Bloomfield, Picton, Frankford, Marmora, Madoc, Tweed, Bancroft and Deseronto.

It is reported that the formation of this mutual aid plan under the direction of the Ontario Fire Marshal has done much to reduce the loss of property by fire.

Chief Co-ordinator of the scheme in this area is Fire Chief Gerald Vance of Belleville who in time of emergency is able to order any of the brigades to the aid of the other. The plan is so fashioned that when an alarm is sounded for extra aid in fire fighting the help automatically is called to the place where they possess the needed equipment. When a brigade is called to help another its nearest neighbor stands by to protect its home town and territory.

Until the formation of this mutual aid plan it was not always possible to call on neighboring towns for help in emergency because that town would be left unprotected. The new plan makes all towns in a better position for fire protection. The value of the service rendered is intangible but apart from that it has served to bring the men of the various towns together for an exchange of thought and plans in firefighting.

This competition will take place on the sports field at Batawa and the general public is cordially invited from all the district to attend Sunday, at 2 p.m.

Nice Gesture to Cut Taxes For Old Folks But Too Hard To Rule Who Would Benefit

Discussion on assessment matters, both pertaining to Hastings county, and on resolutions forwarded from other counties, took up the major portion of the time during the Thursday morning session of county council.

Councillors took no action on a resolution from Welland county asking that the assessment act be changed to allow special consideration for older people living on a fixed income who in many instances were living in large homes.

County assessor Cecil Geen told council that the Ontario assessment act had no provision for easing the tax burden on such people, although special assessments or rebates in taxes were permissible in certain other provinces. He said he had often thought that if such a thing could be done in Ontario it would be a nice gesture to older people.

Reeve Earl Sager noted that people on pension were caught in a double squeeze. On one side they were forced to get along on a fixed income, while at the same time the large houses they owned were liable for increased assessment because of their size.

DIFFICULT TO ADMINISTER

The resolution was filed when Reeves J. Kinlin and G. Spencer noted that it would be quite a problem for council to determine who was eligible for tax rebates or special assessment.

Another resolution, this one from Peterborough county, asked that assessments on federal and provincially owned property be included for county equalization purposes.

Mr. Geen said in his opinion this should be the case. Mining grant assessments are included in the county equalization and he did not see why the same should not apply with grants received in lieu of taxes.

Preamble to the resolution held that inclusion of such assessment in the county equalization would mean more equal distribution of grants. The resolution was laid over to the December session.

WANT PENALTY RAISED

Councillors concurred in an Elgin County resolution asking that penalties for late payment of taxes be increased from the present one-half of one per cent per month and 6 per cent per annum, to two-thirds of one per cent per month and eight per cent per annum.

It was held that as result of the rising interest rate, property owners in some instances were delaying payment of taxes as long as possible, in some cases up to three years, because they could not borrow money elsewhere for the penalty rate imposed by municipalities for late payment af taxes.

One councilor noted that in his municipality there were several "smart alecks" who were keeping a jump ahead of the sheriff by paying taxes only when they were three years overdue. He maintained that the present rate charged was no penalty, just ordinary business procedure.

MINE WINS APPEAL

Also in connection with the county assessment, County Assessor Geen told council that in the appeal of Marmoraton Mines against assessment of office buildings at the Marmoraton Mines, the judge had ruled the office buildings were not assessable and were therefore exempt from taxes.

He said the judge had ruled that the office buildings were essential to the operation of the mine and as such were not assessable.

"That settles the matter for this year and Marmora will lose the taxes on these buildings," noted Mr. Geen. "I still feel, however, that the office buildings are assessable as all advice I was able to get from the department indicated they were."

PLAN PLOWING MATCH

Harry Pound, deputy reeve of Thurlow township and chairman of the county ploughing match committee, noted that Mr. Hill and Mr. Maracle from the Tyendinaga Reserve, and Mr. J. McArthur of Belleville had been added to his committee. Also Paul Haggis had been named chairman of the accommodation committee, and Phil Flagler, chairman of the publicity committee.

The committee is still planning for the International Plowing Match schedule to be held north of Belleville in the fall of 1961.

Council voted for the county council agricultural committee to attend this year's plowing match in the Hamilton area. Councillors felt attendance would assist in planning for the match to be held here in 1961.

Also during the morning session council gave first reading to a by-law setting up an educational consultative committee to enquire into Frankford's request for a "corridor" through Sidney township, thus enabling that municipality to join the Bay of Quinte High School district.

Reeve Rose of Frankford, said that he was not desirous of doing anything which would cost Sidney taxpayers additional money.

A by-law for borrowing money for the construction of the new county courthouse is also scheduled for passing during the session.

RECEIVE REPORTS

Reports of several committees were heard during the morning session, including that of the justice board, board of management for the Old People's Home and the juvenile and family ing the CAS report noted that ports covered operations for the first six months of the year.

Reeve James Sprackett in giving the CAS reported noted that the first six months' cost had been $47,732. Estimated expenditure for the year had been $88,000 and receipts $13,000. As of June 30th there were 139 children in the care of the society, of whom 116 were in the care of the local society and the balance in other societies.

Reeve Ray Hannah said there were 196 registered residents at the Hastingse County Home, of whom 56 were from the city of Belleville.

Reeve Bill Davis gave the report of the administration of justice board, showing expenditures of $60,871.30 for the half year. Of this amount the city's share is $21,047 and the town of Trenton's $8,773.06.

County Council Requests Dept. of Highways Take Over Foxboro-Madoc County Road

A resolution requesting the Ontario Department of Highways to take over the Foxboro-Madoc county road as an extension of Highway 62, was passed by members of Hastings county council Thursday afternoon.

The resolution followed the hearing of a special delegation consisting of members of the Belleville and Madoc Chambers of Commerce, together with Clarke T. Rollins, MLA for Hastings East, and W. E. Sandercock, MLA for Hastings West. Mr. Vers McMurray of Gilmour acted as spokesman for the delegation with others lending support to his request.

Council had also received a similar resolution from Madoc village council and likewise from the County Roads and Bridges committee.

Mr. Sandercock suggested that possibly highways minister Hon. Fred Cass might come to Belleville and meet with a committee from county council and also the Belleville and Madoc chambers of commerce when the importance of the Madoc-Foxboro road could be explained at first hand.

Both Mr. Sandercock and Mr. Rollins promised full support in any county request for the road to be taken over as a highway.

The delegation to council was composed of Mr. McMurray of Gilmour, Mr. H. Roscoe, Madoc; Mr. Rollins, Mr. Sandercock, Mayor Gerald Hyde and Alderman Walter Elliott, representing Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

CITY LOSING OUT

Mr. McMurray declared that Belleville was losing out as a shopping centre for people in North Hastings because of the poor condition of the Madoc county road.

"Belleville is the county seat and feels it should be getting this business, while we, in turn, in the north feel that we should be getting more tourists," he said.

He suggested that a good highway leading north from Belleville would have a great bearing on business conditions.

Mr. Rollins also declared that Belleville was losing out tremendously to Peterborough as a shopping centre for peope in the north and asserted that heavy commercial traffic from the north demanded that the Madoc road be a highway.

He said the fact that the Madoc road was not listed on provincial road maps as a highway was confusing to tourists who disliked to take a chance on county roads.

He said he was prepared to assist in every way possiblo to bring the request before the highways minister.

Mr. Sandercock also emphasized the importance of the Madoc road and although it was not in his riding he was interested in the betterment of the entire county.

Reconstruction of the road as a development project would be a "slow procedure" and would take years to complete. "Only two short stretches had been completed since the project was started some years ago," he said.

MAYOR AGREES

Mayor Gerald Hyde agreed that the point of loss of business for Belleville merchants was well taken. Speaking for the Belleville Chamber of Commerce and also for the city, he assured that anything which could be done to have the Madoc road taken over as a highway would be much appreciated.

Walter Elliott as chairman of a special chamber of commerce committee noted that every effort should be put forth to aid the request, which he hoped would be given every consideration by the highways minister.

And Mr. Russell, as member of the Madoc chamber and also as official of Canada Talc at Madoc, said that extension of No. 62 to Foxboro would greatly facilitate movement of his plant's product.

This was especially so as his firm was engaged in an expansion program, which would see between a quarter-and-a-half million dollars spent in increasing facilities at his plant.

CONTENTIOUS PROBLEM

Reeves James Sprackett and Jim Kinlin noted that the Madoc road had long been a contentious problem in Hastings county council and said that at one time the highways department said the only condition under which it would assume the road would be for the county to "take back" one of the existing north and south highways.

Mr. Sprackett said he for one wanted no "horse trading."

Reeve Alf Wickett as chairman of the county roads and bridges committee moved the resolution from council asking the province to take over the Madoc road as an extension of highway 62.

He said that the maximum amount of maintenance money which the county could afford for the Madoc road was the very minimum required to keep it in its present condition.

MARMORA REEVE HEARD

This was seconded by Reeve William Shannon of Marmora on the condition that there be no suggestion of "horse trading".

Mr. Shannon noted that his own municipality would be one which might suffer through the Madoc road being taken over but he agreed that a broad-minded view toward the betterment of the entire county was best.

At the same time he asked that a request from his own municipality for a road from Marmora through unbroken country to Coe Hill not be forgotten. "Such a road would open up a brand new tourist resort area and would serve numerous lakes in the district," he said.

Former Judge May Seek Seat In Hastings

Possibility of a third candidate in the field for the October 5th bye-election in the federal riding of Hastings-Frontenac is seen following a request received by returning officer N. L. B. Coburn from a former county judge from Owen Sound.

Mr. Coburn said that on August 24th he had received a request from G. W. Morley, former Gre. County judge the Owen Sound, for nomination forms. Mr. Morley indicated in his letter that he intended to contest the Hastings-Frontenac riding on an Independent ticket. Official nomination day for the riding, September 21, at Madoc.

Both the Progressive Conservatives and the Liberals are contesting the riding seat which was left vacant by the sudden death of Hon. Sidney Smith. Conservative candidate is Rod Webb of Norwood, while Reeve William Shannon of Marmora is the Liberal candidate.

Pleasing Array Displayed in New Hat Shop

Belleville ladies will undoubtedly find a pleasing array of hats in this city's first shop to specialize in milady's headpieces. The Hat Shop, at 301½ Front Street opened its doors this morning to those women who would like to view the latest fashions from Toronto, Montreal, New York and Paris. A wide variety of many different styles and colors are available in the new establishment started by Mrs. Gertrude Lindenburg.

Mrs. Lindenberg, who was previously in the hat business with her sister in Toronto some years ago, felt that Belleville needed a shop which catered to the ladies by specializing in hats. The Hat Shop is the result of her decision about six months ago, to really do something about it. The lines carried are quality products featuring such well-known makes as Strathmore and Lady Beatrice, and also include hats of both domestic and foreign origin.

Besides hats the new establishment will also supply wedding veils to order; likewise cashmere sweaters. Ladies accessories such as costume jewellery, ornamental buttons and special combs are also carried, as are a few lines of hosiery and lingerie.

Certainly the local lady will find this store's shelves full of interesting items when she visits to view the latest styles and the new fall shades, and will probably stay longer than she intended.

Hastings Junior Farmers Hosts To Elgin Club

On the weekend of August 22, Juniors from Hastings County found time to show their fellow - workers from Elgin County, which is in St. Thomas area, some of the interesting points within the district. The group arrived Friday evening and left late Sunday afternoon.

Accommodations were made available for the visitors by Hastings Juniors. During Saturday a conducted tour was made to several farms, industrial and mining sites and an educational institution.

In the morning the first stop was at the farm of Ross Moorcroft, R.R. 3 Madoc, where a commercial swine feeding operation is being carried out. This was followed by visits to Eldorado Cheese and Butter Factory and Marmoraton Mining Co. Ltd., Marmora. Next a tour was made of Alton Hardley's apple orchards, Stirling R.R. 2. The group proceeded south along the Trent River to the site of the Bata Shoe Company. Here, everyone ate lunch and heard some interesting comments made by Arthur Duncan, public relations officer, about the history of Batawa. Murney Reynolds and Son, Foxboro, showed the group their newly-built dairy barn. The Canadian Canners, Foxboro, arranged a tour of their plant which is currently processing sweet corn. Following this, they had an interesting visit to the Ontario School for the Deaf. Finally, before supper, a quick stop was made at the Quinte District Cattle Breeders' Association Unit. Supper, looked forward to greatly, was served by some of the young ladies from Thurlow Junior Institute on the Homan's farm lawn, Corbyville.

Sunday's activities were restricted to an open air church service and picnic dinner at O'Hara Mills, Madoc. An interesting, educational and enjoyable inter-county Junior Farmers exchange visit was brought to an end with a softball game and swimming at Crystal Beach, Madoc.

Gobel Drops Cussword From Grandstand Act

TORONTO (CP) — George Gobel, under fire Thursday from civic officials who considered his Canadian National Exhibition grandstand act a bit off-color, dropped a cussword Thursday night but retained a scientific examination of a show girl's muscular structure.

The joke about a little boy trying to break the swearing habit and climaxed with an illustration of his problems was not used by the American comedian.

But he again described in medical terms the muscles that make showgirl Sandra O'Neill a dancer, starting at the feet and working up. He got a big laugh when he reached the "pecthralis" region.

He made no reference onstage to his censorship problems. In his dressing room he said: "I don't understand it. I have been doing this act all over the states and there was never a complaint before."

Mayor Nathan Phillips was among those complaining Thursday about the act. Jack Arthur, grandstand show producer, said he had reminded Gobel he was performing for a "family audience."

Council Members Concerned Over Small Fires on Bridge

Frequency of fires on the wooden floor structure of the Glen Miller bridge is causing members of the Hastings county road committee to do a bit of wondering, the council body was told yesterday by its roads committee chairman.

Alf Wickett, reeve of Thurlow township in giving his road report for the first six months of the year said it was "getting to the point where we are wondering about the fires.

"It looks as though someone is having some fun at the county's expense."

He said that on more than one occasion last year and several times this year there have been small fires in the old timber floor of the bridge, the last occurring last Saturday night when a sizeable area of the floor was destroyed. Replacement of a 34 foot length of timber deck and in addition several new timber stringers had to be installed.

Gross county expenditure on roads for the first six months of the year was $237,368, with the net figure being $211,554. Total road by-law for the year was $330,000, plus a supplementary by-law of $30,000. Of this amount $54,750 was for suburban roads.

The half year expenditure was $32,500 more than at a corresponding date last year with about half of the increase due to additional winter control, which was roughly $17,950 higher than a year ago.

ALLOCATE MORE FUNDS

Additional funds have been allocated this year for furtherance of work on the Ridge Road development road project. In late May $3,373 was allotted for asphalt prime on the 1½ miles ready for mulching, and in June a further $55,700 was authorized to provide for mulching and for further grading, gravelling, culverts and pole moving, and also for making last payments on the Rawdon Creek bridge.

Also the highways department has allotted $30,000 for grading, gravelling and culverts on the Tweed - Sulphide Road this year. Included in this work will be the rebuilding and widening of Hawkins' bridge.

The roads chairman noted that there was nothing new to report concerning the construction of the proposed subway on county road No. 4 under the main line of the CNR near Trenton.

No action was taken on a Kent County resolution which asked deletion of suburban roads commissions with expenditures on suburban roads being negotiated each year between the county and separated towns concerned.

The resolution protested the present regulations limiting an urban municipality's expenditure on suburban roads to one-half mill in any one year.

It was pointed out that in recent years the Belleville-Hastings suburban roads commission had required only about one-quarter of a mill as the city's share. Since annexation, however, additional suburban road was taken over and the city's expenditure for this purpose this year will be about the present half-mill rate.

Two More Years Given Fugitive From Joyceville

KINGSTON (CP) — Kenneth Chapman, who escaped from Joyceville Institition with Ronald Watts July 10, had another two years added to his sentence when he appeared before Magistrate James B. Garvin, Thursday. He now faces a total sentence of 4½ years.

Chapman was arrested July 21 near Ringwood, 20 miles northeast of Toronto, after he was stopped in a stolen car.

Watts was killed six days after the escape when he was shot in Toronto in an abortive diner holdup. The top of his head was shot off by a bullet from his partner's gun.

Evidence Thursday revealed the trail of theft left by the two fugitives in their successful flight away from the Kingston area.

They first broke into the Kingston Mills home of John Hamilton and stole food and clothing. On July 12 they stole a car from Westbrook and drove it to Brighton before abandoning it. On July 13, they stole another car at Colborne and left it at Oshawa. For the Oshawa-to-Toronto trip they stole a third car at Oshawa and left it in Leaside.

Chapman was driving a car he had stolen in Sutton when he was arrested.

Chapman was sentenced to 12 months for escaping and an additional three months on each of the car theft charges.

COAL EXPERIMENT

LONDON (Reuters) — The world's first experiment to produce coal from a low depth under the bed of a river has been carried out in the Vorkuta River coalfields area of the Arctic Circle, the Soviet news agency Tass said today. It is estimated that 117,000,000 tons of coal lie under the Vorkuta River area, the agency added.

No Further Word Received on Plan For Firm to Run Parking Meters

TRENTON — No further word has been received on the possibilities of the town turning over the parking meters to a private firm for a bulk sum each year, town clerk O. W. Larry reported this morning.

Mr. Larry had brought the matter of the parking meters up at a council meeting sometime ago and had been instructed to write to E. A. Horton Sales of Peterborough agents for parking meters, who had made the flat-rate offer to the town. This was done but no answer has been received as yet.

It is understood that the company would take over the meters completely and pay the town a flat sum each year. This would eliminate the hours of work by the police and the girls at the town office in collecting, counting and wrapping the coins each day.

The possibilities of getting a cart to collect the money in will also be investigated if the Peterborough company does nothing about the offer it made to the town. The cart would eliminate the collecting of the coin boxes and taking them to the town office where the seal is broken, the money removed and then the containers resealed.

With the cart the money is placed directly from the meter into the cart, which is sealed and has a long flexible neck to receive the money. It is then taken by the policeman to town office where it is only necessary break the seal of the cart instead of the seals of hundreds of small coin containers. It was felt by the town clerk this would save hundreds of hours of work each year.

DOG HIT

TRENTON — The only mishap reported in the last two days occurred yesterday afternoon at 3.15 when Harry Wood of Water Street in Trenton informed police officials that he was proceeding along Front Street and at the intersection at Frederick Street hit a yellow dog. He said the dog ran off after the incident and it was not known how seriously it was hurt.

TO SHOW TRUCK

Tomorrow Trenton firemen will add extra shine to the new combination pumper and aerial ladder truck. The truck will be taken to Batawa Sunday where the members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Mutual Aid will meet in an annual field day. Members of the Trenton Department will give other firemen an idea of how the truck operates. The various departments will compete in "sport" contests such as hose laying, etc. and the winners will be awarded special prizes. It is not known if the men of the Trenton Department will enter any of the competitions.

PLANNING MEET

Town Clerk O. W. Larry, Dr. W. A. L. McDonald and town engineer Eric Aldersey returned late yesterday from Toronto where they had gone to consult with town planming authorities concerning the zoning by-law in Trenton. The results of the meeting have not been disclosed but a report by the three will be made at the next meeting of the Trenton Planning Board. Dr. McDonald is the chairman of the board and was not available for comment this morning. The board will meet Wednesday, September 3, and the report will be discussed. From this discussion a report will be made for the town councillors.

Water Demand At High Peak

TRENTON — The town populace is using 3,500,000 gallons of water per day, PUC manager Jim Page said this morning, and 2,000,000 gallons per day of this are coming from the town wells. The remaining 1,500,000 gallons are being processed through the filtration plant.

This is the peak time of the year for the consumption of water, Mr. Page said, "and we are doing all possible to keep even a hint of water restrictions in the background."

About every other day the wells are checked to make sure the water does not reach a danger level and at the present time they are low and some water is being pumped onto the west side of the river from the filtration plant to ease the drag on the wells.

Complaints are still coming in concerning the taste and smell of the water from the river and Mr. Page reported that each one is investigated, "but," he said, "it seems that when we get there everything is alright and all we are told is, 'it was bad yesterday.'"

Complaints about the smell of the water have been investigated with the thought in mind that water may be lying in the mains somewhere but nothing has developed out of these calls, either, Mr. Page said.

The water in the river is warm and goes into the mains warm so the only remedy for it is for the citizens themselves to cool it, he said. The homeowner is advised to take a quart or two of the water and set in the refrigerator and use this cooled water for drinking purposes. Once cooled, the water is excellent.

The Bantu Needs Commonwealth

The Canadian Labor Congress has suggested that South Africa should be expelled from the Commonwealth unless it renounces apartheid.

Reactions will vary from enthusiastic approval to charges of malicious meddling in affairs which are none of the business of the Congress.

It seems to us that neither of these reactions will be very helpful to those who find the South African government's racial segregation laws a heavy and an unjust burden.

The ruling Nationalist party, under Dr. Malan and his successors, has made no secret of its desire to declare the nation a republic. Up to the present, it has been considered probable that such a republic would remain in the Commonwealth, in the same manner as the republics of Pakistan and India have retained their affiliation. Those responsible for the policies of apartheid, though, are hardly likely to weep bitter tears if their hand is forced and they find themselves completely independent.

On the other hand, if the natives have any protection whatever against oppression, it stems only from world opinion and opinion within the Commonwealth could easily be the most influential segment of this world-wide reaction to apartheid. This is precious little protection it is true, as the treatment cited by the CLC in its complaint against South Africa bears witness. But it is the only hope the Bantus have. The special influence of the Commonwealth would be lost if South Africa were expelled from the Commonwealth. But it will be lost, too, or reduced to less than nothing, unless groups within the Commonwealth continually protest, in just the manner that the CLC has done.

Certainly the question of apartheid should be raised at future meetings of Commonwealth statesmen. And if these protests meet with no helpful response, as could be confidently predicted, it will do no harm, and may do some good, for the CLC to be as good as its word and call for South Africa's exclusion from the Commonwealth—providing this exclusion does not take place.

It is true that the inclusion within the Commonwealth of a nation which passes unjust laws is a blot on the Commonwealth, but we are better able to carry the burden of this contamination than the Bantu is to be deprived of one of his few remaining friends in court, no matter how timid or how dumb that friend so frequently has proven in the past.

Two Birds With One Stone

Monday's Ontario Intelligencer carried an Associated Press despatch telling of cheap living in Chile—houses renting at $35 a month, steak selling at 30 cents a pound, wine at 22 cents a bottle.

Yet Chileans face an economic cricis. President Jorge Alessandri says one of the economic medicines needed is foreign capital.

In Canada, and other prosperous lands, thousands face an economic problem, too—how to stretch fixed retirement incomes to cover rising living costs.

It would be easy in Chile—and the money would be a form of foreign investment which would help solve Chile's economic crisis.

There are dozens of other countries where living costs are low and foreign capital is needed.

If the value of savings in the advanced countries continues to shrink, will we eventually see the day when the aged are tempted to immigrate in large numbers to new lands?

Government pension plans would be one deterrent, but already in Canada there are frequent pleas that these pensions be paid as a right, regardless of where the recipients reside, and for those citizens with private pension plans the difference in living costs could easily offset the loss of the small government pension.

HIS SAD MISTAKE

By EDGAR A. GUEST

An air of mystery seemed to fill
The dining room that night;
I guessed at once that I was in
For a surprise, all righ.
But not until dessert was served
Much headway could I make;
And then with smiles they told me that
Fair Helen made the cake.

They called it angel food, and passed
Two slices on to me.
Then, just to please our Helen, I
Attacked it greedily.
But suddenly I paused the while.
"There must be a mistake,"
Said I, "now what cement was used
When Helen made this cake?"

And now I am a "mean old thing,"
Likewise a "heartless brute";
Now I am called a hundred names
That are not kind or cute.
I cannot get a minute's peace;
I see my sad mistake:
I never should have told the truth
When Helen made a cake.

A Sharp Ear Should Guide A Loving Heart

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

We all know that some persons are physically tone-deaf; to them, a sour note is no different from a sweet one. I am convinced that many others are emotionally tone-deaf, which is a harder condition to recognize.

On the beach yesterday, I rebuked Michael for some minor naughtiness and he snarled at me, "You dummy daddy, you!" The family on the next blanket looked surprised and shocked when I ignored his insult; no doubt they believe that I am a "weak" parent.

But I fancy myself as having an acute ear for the emotional tone of a child's reaction. Michael's remark meant nothing except an impulsive explosion of resentment; and ignoring this discharge was the best way of handling his feeling.

At other times, I will whack his bottom for less than that when he is genuinely insolent or willfully mean. And a child has such an inborn sense of fairness that he knows when he deserves punishment and when he does not.

This is why so much talk about "discipline" is confusing nonsense. A child should be disciplined not so much for what he does as for what he means. Unless we understand the dynamics of his behavior, then we are deaf to the emotional overtones of his remarks and his actions.

You can see this more easily with a child's crying. Some parents are forever unable to distinguish one type of cry from another. But the parent with a sharp ear soon learns to differentiate, even at a distance, the various cries of his child.

There is the cry of real pain, the cry of frustration, the cry of irritation, the cry of fear, the cry of sleepiness and hunger, the cry of mere attention-demanding.

A tone-deaf parent treats all these cries as much the same thing, which is a disastrous breakdown in communication. A parent with good emotional hearing will comfort one cry, ignore another, rebuke a third, and jolly the child out of a fourth.

Likewise, there are times when the child must be permitted a discharge of anger against the parent; if he is always stepped on for such defiance, he will repress his expression but intensify his anger. There are other times when the child is begging to be punished for his willful behavior — and no handbook on discipline can enable you to tell the difference between the two.

Rules and regulations, therefore, are crude and unreliable guides to parenthood. Only the cultivation of a sharp ear and the sensitivity of a loving heart can inform us when to smile, when to shrug, and when to slap.

Italians Eat Song-Birds

London Daily Telegraph

Tourists to Italy are asked not to visit restaurants where small song-birds are on the menu. This request is made in the annual report published recently of the British section of the international committee for bird preservation.

In Italy many small birds are served up in savory dishes, or are pierced with a skewer and grilled. These dishes are generally considered to be an added attraction for tourists.

Therefore, states the report, "foreign tourists should show in no uncertain fashion that, far from being an attraction, they do not wish to visit places where such dishes are offered, or are advertised in the shops and restaurants".

One small town in northern Italy has a "Feast of the Birds", every August. It is estimated that 100,000 larks, swallows, nightingales, robins, tits, siskins and finches are consumed during this feast.

This Italian appetite not only reduces bird numbers in Italy, but also in the European countries more to the north. Many birds regularly migrate through Italy and, due to the desires of the restaurants never reach their proper destinations.

Austrian and German ornithologists are particularly aware of this and have drawn attention to it. The chairman of the British section of the committee, Lord Hurcomb, has written a letter to the Italian Minister of agricultrue expressing the disgust felt by British tourists.

But it is also felt that to supplement this letter, Britain tourists could do good by protesting on their own account whenever there is need.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

MAN WHO DISCOVERED HAPPINESS

Henry D. Thoreau wrote out one of the most engaging philosophies of life ever written, and all beside, and in, the small cabin which he built at Walden Pond. Like a magic weaver Thoreau pieced together the thoughts of his life as he journeyed in the paths of nature.

It is interesting to note that Thoreau was no pessimist. He lived simply and happily, and kept distributing the thoughts that evolved from contact with all phases of Nature. His first book was a failure, but it is a rare treasure today. His most famous book was "Walden." It also takes a lot of hunting before a fine copy of the first edition shows its face.

This great writer never had any money but a trifling bit that he earned on odd jobs and in the making of pencils. But he was happy and instilled in others his own high thoughts. His "Walden" is a book to read and reread. It is one of the world's great books, and grows greater with the years.

Thoreau lived with Emerson for a brief time. How interesting it would be for any of us here to have sat in on one of those rare occasions when they exchanged thoughts, perhaps before an open fire! I like to read my "Walden" at my island retreat in Nova Scotia, but I carry its thoughts with me wherever I go. It's a book for the ages!

Immorality, African Style

London Tribune

Albert McGee, a 46-year-old mechanic from Scotland, woke up at 2 o'clock one night because of odd scratching noises on the windows of his rented farmhouse in Phillipi, near Capetown.

He found five uniformed policemen trying to get through his windows. They said he was under arrest for contravening South Africa's Immorality Act, which forbids intercourse between white and non-whites.

Mr. McGee protested that he had legally married his colored wife at the Methodist Church in Beauford, West Cape, 20 years ago. In his distress, however, he couldn't immediately lay his hands on his marriage licence.

He and his wife were driven to the cells of nearby Wynberg police station. Their five children were left to fend for themselves as best they could.

As they couldn't raise bail money they had to stay in jail — for over two weeks.

Finally their marriage certificate turned up. The McGees were released. But for them that is not the end of the story. McGee lost his job while he was in jail, but luckily found another soon afterwards. He now plans to sue the minister of justice for wrongful arrest.

The Immorality Act is one of the pets of this government. Immorality Squad policemen spend much time and public money spying through hedges and doorways hoping to weed out that crime of crimes in a racialist country; fraternization between the races. The penalty is up to five years' imprisonment and/or flogging.

Marriage, of course, is now forbidden between whites and non-whites. But it was still legal 20 years ago, and that's why Mr. McGee, in spite of a fearful fortnight can still hope to keep his family and home intact.

Whether he wins his case against the minister or not, he is more fortunate than the other people in the country today who might have fought through the web of prejudices surrounding them from childhood, but still cannot marry whom they choose.

Auto Fumes To Be Studied

New York Times

It is to be devoutly hoped that General Motors will follow through with its broad plan to underwrite a major study of the possible link between automobile exhaust fumes and lung cancer. The results might be a valuable contribution to a facet of cancer research where rumor, theory and mere conjecture too long have held sway and where definite knowledge has been sadly lacking.

Polluted air, which at the least is an irritant and at its worst a grave menace to health, must be controlled. The essential first step in determining the relationship between car fumes and cancer, if any, is to find the chemical culprit, and in asking the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research to carry out the investigation the giant automotive company is taking a properly impartial course.

Anyone who has had a friend or relative stricken by the dread ill of lung or other cancer will hail the enlightened self-interest indicated by G. M. in advancing the day when automotive safety research will extend far beyond the immediate confines of the motor vehicle and encompass promotion of the national health as related to air pollution.

It should be noted that the automobile industry generally has in the last five years allocated $5,000,000 to try and develop mechanical methods of cutting harmful invisible car fumes. While the search for an effective device goes on and research to find the basic solution to the problem is in the offing, the motorist can help cut air pollution by proper engine maintenance; for it is agreed that visible exhaust is inexcusable and the smoke signal marks a careless owner.

Strength for The Day

TRUE VALUES

Why does prosperity play havoc with so many people? We all want to be prosperous. There is no exception to this desire. The person who would not want to be prosperous would be utterly abnormal.

Yet it must be admitted that people grow better, develop more attractive personalities, build up their powers, and win moral triumph more often through adversity than through prosperity. Particularly do riches seem to have a decrimating effect on people. They scarcely ever ruin the person who makes them but they almost always ruin the person who inherits such riches. Riches make life easy. They induce laziness and kill ambition. They give people the opportunity to buy indulgences which they could not buy if they were poor.

We greatly admire rich people who amount to something, and we should. And let it never be forgotten that there are tens of thousands of wealthy people — many of whom have inherited their wealth — who turn out to be fine, useful citizens. Occasionally they become pathfinders and heroes.

Let us never get so set in our thinking that we ascribe nothing but evil to the rich and nothing but virtue to the poor. The vices of the rich are vices which many of the poor covet. There is often a simplicity of mind and modesty of desire on the part of the richest of folk.

It is the heart that counts — not the bank balance or the absence of it.

To Your Good Health

VARICOSE VEINS CAN BE A PROBLEM TO MEN, TOO

There isn't sufficient space to print all of today's letter, but here's some of it:

". . . At the age of 30 I had been refused employment in my occupation because of varicose veins. My type of work consists of push-'n'-pull, lift, grunt 'n' groan and strain heavily with my legs. "I had surgery performed ('stripping') and I felt much better, and was able to find work again.

"A couple of years later, my employer moved out of town and again I went looking for work. It seems that the veins popped back wheer they were.

"Unable to find work in my field, I took what I could get. I have plenty of trouble with burning sensations and aches in the areas of the veins.

"My work isn't heavy or straining, but I do either have to sit immobile or stand for long periods of time. My feet burn and 'fall asleep'. My thighs ache. The doctor commented that I would probably have to undergo another 'stripping'.

"I think I picked the better of two evils — lighter work, as it seems less hazardous to the vein condition. I asked my doctor if he would recommend that I leave my trade, but he ignored the question. I took it upon myself to decide, after seeing what two years have resulted in. Do you think another 'stripping would afford me some relief? — A. J. M".

I'm still curious as to what this man's work was; he didn't say. But, of course, it doesn't matter. Just curiosity on my part.

Now before I tell A.J.M. what I am able to tell him, let me insert this thought to other readers: We are far more familiar with women's concern over varicose veins, certainly in part because of the matter of appearance, but also because such things as child-bearing tend to offer some added strain, if the veins are such that they will tend to become varicose.

But varicose veins can be — and are — a problem to men, too and A.J.M., I regret to say, has discovered this a tough and real, problem.

As near as we can discover, some people are born with veins that are not strong. The valves break down, or the veins swell, or both. Similarly some people are born big, some wiry, some powerful, some fragile, some with good eyes, some not.

It's al la matter of degree. Besides that heavy, straining work will put more burden on the veins — and they break down sooner. One man will have no trouble—another will have much.

One can afford to do such work. Another cannot.

Now I don't blame A.J.M.'s doctor for not telling him he should give up his trade. That's a hard thing to do. The fair way is to give A.J.M. the facts and let him decide, which he did.

For his specific questions: The veins which were stripped did not become varicose again. They couldn't. They are gone. But other veins, which took over the work as substitutes, broke down.

Another stripping should help — but he will have to watch out for still a third set of veins which now will assume the burden. Heavy work (and — this is important — overweight!) are to be avoided.

Likewise, in a sitting or standing job, learn to change position often. Shift from one foot to another. Stand up and walk around your chair, or go get a drink of water, or stretch. Any movement, any shift of position, will help. Those veins need all the small help you can give them. Put your feet on the desk, if you can, or at home put them up on a hassock or foot stool.

Mrs. R. R.: Who am I to criticize the family doctor of decades ago? He did a wonderful service, but a great many things have been learned since. Linseed oil cannot "heal hemorrhoids (piles)" because the real trouble is that certain veins have swollen beyond normal size. Linseed oil (or other potions) won't bring them back to correct size.

• • •

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to me in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., requesting a copy of my booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids, "enclosing a large, self-addressed stamped envelope and 20c in coin to cover handling.

Let Children Hear Spats

Windsor Star

When the occasional spat between husband and wife almost inevitably happens, parents often strive to "cover it up" when the children are present. They seek to protect the little ones from signs of bitterness.

An English psychologist, however, suggests this may be wrong. The children grow up in an unrealistic atmosphere if they never see their parents disagree. The children quarrel among themselves, or with their playmates, yet they are supposed to think their parents are immune from differences of opinion.

Thus they never become "inoculated" against disharmony and are apt to enter the marital state themselves believing people cannot love another if they have even the occasional quarrel. They become too disillusioned when they themselves get into a wrangle.

This is not an argument in favor of marital discord. It is only that children should not be reared in a fools' paradise.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the doctor's waiting room I was surprised to see the office door open and the doctor appear, assisting a very pallid gentleman and lowering him gently into a chair.

"There," said the doctor, "rest there for a little while, and go when you feel okay."

The poor man; he was pale and haggard. With lowered eyes, he took deep, deep breaths. I commiserated with him silently, wondering what tragic news the doctor had just given him with regard to the state of his health. After a little while, the unfortunate man seemed to get control of himself, his color returned to some extent, and without raising his eyes, he got up and very melancholy went out the door and away.

When my turn came to go inside, I asked the doctor what ailed the poor chap he had so solicitously led to a chair.

"Him? Oh, nothing. I just had to give him a needle for some vitamin shots, and he fainted, that's all.

Men," said the doctor, "are terrified of needles. Ten of them faint for one woman who ever does. If women only knew how petrified a man is of a needle, they would never be afraid of molestation on the streets. All a girl has to do is wear some kind of ornamental pin with a good long point on it. And if she snatches it off her lapel and so much as points it at a great big thug, he'll run like a rabbit."

Deputy Pres. Warns Doctors Of Hostility

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Members of the Canadian Medical Association were told today by their deputy president that hostility by doctors to prepaid health plans is the surest way to bring government inter[illegible]on in this field.

[illegible]r. E. Kirk Lyon of Leamington, Ont., deputy to the Duke of Edinburgh, CMA president, spoke to the first of six CMA divisional meetings he will attend this year.

Text of his remarks was released to the press before delivery.

Discussing medically-sponsored prepaid illness schemes, he said 24 per cent of the population of Canada now has coverage under such plans. Commercial carriers also had 24 per cent of the population covered.

SOME WOULD GET OUT

He noted that it often is said the medical profession should get out of the business of health insurance, and scrap the work of the last 10 years leaving the whole problem to commercial carriers of the government.

"[illegible] those members who believe this I can only say I know of no surer way of encouraging government intervention. . . .

"Labor across this country has been clamoring for years for some type of government health insurance and unless we as a profession can lead the way and supply the need our politicians will be forced sooner or later to heed the demands of their constituents and supply the Canadian people that which we deny them."

Gardiner Calls Census Queries Too Inquisitive

TORONTO (CP) — Metro-[illegible] Council Chairman Fred Gardiner today described as "altogether too inquisitive" questions regarding income and family matters which might be asked for the 1961 census.

"Some guy up there in the ivory tower has gone off the end of the dock again," he said.

At the same time, A. O. Leheux, director of the census division of the federal bureau of statistics, said his department was debating whether or not to ask people how much they earn and mothers whether their children are all legitimate.

Criticism of a too-personal census began when Ann Shipley, a former member of Parliament, told a chamber of commerce meeting in Kirkland Lake that such questions are "nobody's business but my own."

Mr. Gardiner said he would gladly dig up his last income [illegible]m for the census-taker.

Forgers Generally Youngest Or Only Child in Family Says Prison Psychologist

By DON PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A background of being a momma's boy contributes to emotional disturbances that make forgers forge, a Canadian penitentiary psychologist reports.

"The social story of the forgers reveals that, in general, they are the youngest child or only boy in the family," says Maurice Gauthier, psychologist in the penitentiary at Kingston.

"In those cases where this does not apply, the history indicates that they were either spoiled or babied in their childhood."

Usually, too, their mothers were described as over-protective and exerting unusually great influence on the forger-to-be's life.

FATHERS DISTANT

The fathers, however, were distant in their relations with their children or weren't around at all due to marital separation, illness or other circumstances.

"In short," says Mr. Gauthier, "we can say that the fathers were inaccessible."

He reports on a study made last year in the Canadian Journal of Corrections. His study covered the cases of 10 forgers at Kingston pen. Between 26 and 58, all had served at least two jail terms previously and had never committed any offence but forgery.

His main conclusions:

Forgery is motivated, not by a need for money of because of a weak conscience, "but by inner conflicts that demand relief from tension which in turn is accomplished through this type of criminal act."

Describing the 10 subjects of his study as "compulsive forgers," he said they all had done well at school, were popular either because of musical telents or athletic abilities and generally found life easy during adolescence.

VARIED OCCUPATIONS

Some were salesmen, others store-owners, radio announcers and football players. One started his forgery career at the peak of his business career. Failure in business enterprises provoked three others to bounce cheques.

But none claimed he could have solved his financial difficulties in no other way.

Seven of the 10 were married and all seven were separated. Most were involved in an allicit affair with a woman.

"Most of the forgers state that the topic of sexuality was taboo at home," says Mr. Gauthier. "They never could speak freely about it."

"Consequently, they appear quite naive over sexual matters and are easily led into complicated affairs with women."

In passing cheques, they felt superior to their victims, but guilty feelings caused them to commit forgery again and finally they reached a point where they wanted to get caught.

Yet, on release from prison, their inability to cope with life soon drives them to forgery again.

Jodoin Splashes Cold Water on Tie-up With CCF

WINNIPEG (CP) — President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress today splashed cold water on a CLC close tie-up with the CCF party.

In the strongest statement yet on the projected tie-up with the socialist group, Mr. Jodoin suggested the congress should have nothing to do directly with a political party.

"I suggest that central bodies such as the CLC should not become affiliated with a political party," Mr. Jodoin said.

It has been known for some time that the head of the 1,100,000 member congress was cool to the idea of a tie-up with the CCF, but this was the first time he has spoken out for publication.

LOOSE TIE-UP ONLY

What he suggested to a seminar of congress, CCF and others was that there should be a loose tie-up with the CCF.

"The Canadian Labor Congress," he said, "is a central labor body composed of many unions, some of which will obviously want to exercise their democratic right to abstain from any form of political action."

"This is a right we intend to protect — and because of this it is quite proper that we as a congress should abstain from any form of political affiliation. At the same time we as a congress have straight trade-union functions to perform. We will continue to perform these functions."

Happy Gang Dropped From CBC Network

By LES HOLROYD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — An old friend is going to be missing from a lot of Canadian homes this fall — The Happy Gang has been dropped from the CBC's Trans-Canada network after a 22-year stay.

The CBC announced Thursday that the Tommy Hunter Show, the gang's summer replacement, would continue through the fall and winter in the 1.15 - 1.45 p.m. EDT time slot.

A corporation spokesman said the decision to keep Hunter's program on the air was a matter of revenue. A national sponsor who buys spot announcements on it was pleased with the show and the audience reaction while two companies who had commercial time on the Happy Gang before it went off the air for the summer June 5 were not interested in renewing.

Efforts would be made to find a new sponsor for the gang and if one could be found the show would return.

HUNTER IN PRIME SLOT

Hunter, youthful singer-guitarist from London, Ont., will keep the 1:15 time, considered prime by radio people, and the gang probably would come on earlier in the day.

The light-hearted variety show was first heard locally over now-extinct CRCT on June 17, 1937. It went network in October the same year and built a steady following, especially in rural areas.

Bert Pearl, with his jokes and bright chatter, was the original leader but ill health forced him to quit several years ago. He now is in Hollywood were he works as a pianist and musical adviser for, among others, fellow-Canadian Gisele MacKenzie.

When Pearl retired, the mantle fell to Eddie Allen who had joined the gang in its second year as a 17-year-old singer-accordionist.

LONG SERVICE

Allen was with the show until the end. But there were two others who had even longer records — violinist Blaine Mathe, one of the originals and Kathleen Stokes, the organist and only female member, who joined soon after the start.

Other members of what may be the final gang — its makeup saw many changes over the years — were Bert Niosi, clarinet; Joe, his brother, bass; Lloyd Edwards, piano; Jimmy Namaro, vibraphone, and Lee Foster, accordion.

Clarinetist Cliff McKay, who left the group about five years ago, had been signed for the fall as a replacement for Bobby Gimby.

Pro-Communist Rebels Make Hit, Run Attack

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters) — Pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels made a hit-and-run attack on a small army post 16 miles east of this capital Thursday night, military sources reported today.

The sortie against the 15-man post caused no government casualties and no known losses among the rebels.

It was the closest rebel strike to the capital since fighting started in mid-July and was seen as an attempt at psychological warfare by the insurgents.

Military sources said the rebels melted into the jungle around the post when the army sped reinforcements there by truck.

REST OF LAOS QUIET

The midnight attack broke a 24-hour lull in reported insurgent activity. The rest of Laos was described as quiet today.

Meanwhile, the government set Monday as the date for the ceremony installing Crown Prince Savangrattana, 52, as regent. He was appointed a week ago when his ailing father, King Sisvongvang, 74, became seriously ill.

The crown prince will be installed at the Ongtu Budhist Temple here. He has been performing most offical functions for the last five years because of the king's illness.

KING SOME BETTER

The king's health was called slightly improved.

The Laotian information ministry today denied a report that the cabinet had split over the decision to send Ngon Sananikone, brother of the premier, to the United Nations to discuss the situation here.

The ministry said the cabinet of Premier Phoui Sananikone never has been more united on its decision to counter the "oppressive actions" of the Communists.

To Cost 2½ Billion Dollars And Take 20 Years to Clean Polluted Waters of Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Frost says it will cost some $2,500,000,000 to clean Ontario's polluted waters. He estimated the job will take 20 years.

The premier made his remarks Thursday after conferring with A. M. Snider, chairman of the Ontario Water Resources Commission and Dr. A. E. Berry, OWRC general manager, on the general condition of Toronto's beaches.

Mr. Frost said investigations had shown that pollution of the city's beaches stemmed almost entirely from a mass of partially treated sewage spewed up half a mile off Toronto Island. There was negligible pollution from shipping he added.

He said Toronto will not have full use of its beaches until late 1961 and "no force on earth can eliminate pollution before that time." By 1961 most of the sewage treatment plants in the Metropolitan Toronto area will be completed.

Mr. Snider said that in the Lake Ontario area from the Niagara River to Oshawa, sewage works programs were "either well advanced or will be under way shortly."

These programs are being undertaken in St. Catharines, Merritton, Thorold, Hamilton, Burlington, Oakville, Trafalgar, Toronto Township, Ajax and Pickering Township.

Eisenhower's Visit Mainly Curtain-Raiser to Meetings

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—President Eisenhower's visit is seen in London mainly as a curtain-raiser to the big two meetings in September.

There has been a tendency here to regard Prime Minister Macmillan as the "ice-breaker" whose tour of diplomatic capitals last winter and spring prepared the way for the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks.

"We have pressed the button—now we're going to sit back and watch the machinery work," one British official said.

There are no pressing problems of specifically Anglo-American interest for Eisenhower and Macmillan to discuss.

MARKED CONTRAST

In marked contrast to the barrack-room language which Eisenhower is said to have used on former prime minister Sir Anthony Eden during the 1956 Suez crisis, relations between Britain and the United States now are extremely intimate.

Eisenhower may encounter a less cordial atmosphere in Paris early next month. French President de Gaulle has caused some heart-searching within the Atlantic alliance by his insistence on a big-power role for France, and all Eisenhower's vaunted charm will be needed to ease the strain.

Specific world issues likely to be uppermost in the Macmillan-Eisenhower discussions are the problems of Berlin and divided Germany, left in abeyance after the lengthy and inconclusive foreign ministers' meeting at Geneva.

On disarmament, the most pressing issue was disposed of temporarily with the U.S. and British announcement that their moratorium on nuclear tests will continue past the Oct. 31 expiration date of the original one-year halt of test explosions.

The meetings also give the two leaders a chance to trade personal impressions of Nikita Khrushchev gathered by Macmillan and by Vice-President Richard Nixon on their trips to Moscow, possibly providing Eisenhower with a few pointers for his exchange of visits with the Russian leader.

The president is expected to brief Macmillan on the highlights of his discussions with Chancellor Adenauer at Bonn.

On the economic side Eisenhower and Macmillan probably will review the progress of the program for economic interdependence set in motion after Macmillan's visit to Washington in the summer of 1958.

Tear-Gas Bombs Break up Meet Of School Board

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Choking fumes from tear-gas bombs thrown by two white women broke up a meeting of the Little Rock School Board Thursday night.

Two bombs were tossed into the foyer of the downtown school headquarters while the board was meeting upstairs. Fumes and smoke spread quickly through a rear exit.

No one was hurt. The only damage was small charred spots where the bombs landed.

The gassing was the first physical attack on the board, which has been under verbal assault from segregationists for fostering a token plan of integration of Negro students in Little Rock high schools.

Leonard Willis, a Negro janitor, said he saw the women push open the front door and toss the bombs inside.

Willis said he ran to the door and watched the women flee in a waiting car. Both women fell on the rain-slick steps. One lost both shoes, the other one. Police said the shoes would be impossible to trace.

The board took the incident calmly. Members wiped away tears and walked two blocks to the offices of the chamber of commerce and resumed their meeting behind locked doors. The meeting concerned school financing.

Short Hemlines Mark First Press Showing

PARIS (Reuters)—Short hemlines and a slightly lower waistline marked the first press showing of the Balanciaga fashion collection in Paris Thursday.

The suits come with wider skirts mounted in pleats over the hips, paired with boxy and bloused jackets.

Jacket lengths range from waist to hip. They have high round, collarless necklines, double-breasted closings and broad shoulders marked by deep-set raglan sleeves.

Cocktail dresses star a new transformation back, with separately-cut panels set on side straps that draw up or down in a deep decollete like a venetian blind.

Hats are less fanciful than past seasons. They star cloches and bowls made of tweed or coat fabric for day wear and some big shakos and chechias of long-haired fox fur, and tiny jewelled topknots or chignon cages for the evening.

Choosing Toys For Children Big Business

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Once upon a time a child was happy with a home-made rag doll or a soapbox scooter nailed together in the woodshed—but those days have gone forever.

Today the business of choosing toys is a serious science, involving expert analysis by specialists in the field of psychology, sociology, physical development and safety.

"You can't just go out and buy any old toy for a child," says Dr. Emma Sheehy, professor of education at Columbia University in New York and a consultant to the Toy Guidance Council for the last 12 years. "You have to be sure that it's the right toy for his age and interests, that it will give him full play value and develop his talents."

TOY-TESTING

Pursuing this theory, the council recently celebrated its 21st birthday by setting aside one whole floor of its new building in midtown Manhattan as a toy-testing laboratory. Here groups of children of various age groups are invited in to play with new toys, while Dr. Sheehy and other learned members of the consultant committee watch their antics through a two-way mirror from an adjoining room—they can see the children but the children can't see them. Toy buyers also are welcome to drop in and judge the relative play value of new playthings.

The experts grade toys as to amusement value, mental development value, physical development value, social development value, vocational development value and safety. In the latter category toys must pass various tests—smooth edges, nontoxic surfaces, appropriate size, appropriate weight and ease of manipulation.

"We pass on about 400 toys a year, submitted by various manufacturers," says Dr. Sheehy. "If a toy doesn't measure up to all the requirements, we toss it out. Some of the men on the committee are pretty husky, but if any of them can pull a toy apart it's automatically disqualified."

So when you go out to buy a toy for junior, please realize it's no laughing matter. Just think of all the tests this little toy has had to pass to get to market, and have the proper respect.

AIR SPACE VIOLATION

VIENNA (Reuters) — Austrian police Thursday reported the fourth violation by Czechoslovakia of Austrian air space within five days. A police report said a Czech MiG-15 jet fighter flew about nine miles into lower Austrian territory near Hainburg, made a wide curve and returned toward the frontier.

Wedding

PATRICK — LOVELESS

White, green and shrimp-tinted carnations adorned the altar of the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, and white satin bows, centred with clusters of lily-of-the-valley, the guest pews for a lovely wedding on Saturday, August 22nd, at 10.00 a.m., when Shirley Patricia Loveless, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Loveless, became the bride of Flying Officer Ralph Francis Patrick, of Creston, B.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Patrick. The Rev. William McGee officiated, assisted by Padre Bussie, of Trenton R.C.A.F. at the Mass.

Miss Dorothy Grant presided at the console of the organ, and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Robert Burke; in his rendition of "Ave Maria," and "O Beautiful Mother," during the signing of the register.

The radiant bride, first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Loveless, of Marmora, to be married, was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Ray Loveless, wore a charming bridal gown of French imported feather taffeta with fitted bodice having a "V"-shaped neckline accented with seed pearls and long sheath-like sleeves lily-pointed over the wrists, and full skirt sweeping gracefully into a cathedral train. Her headdress was fashioned of the same material in crown style with sprinkling of seed pearls, holding the full-length veil of silk tulle illusion. (Both bridal gown and crown were the work of the bride's aunt, Mrs. A. Champoux, of St. Catharines, and her grandmother, Mrs. O'Halloran, of Belleville). She carried a mother-of-pearl prayer book crested with red rosebuds, and white satin streamers knotted with rosebuds. A single strand of cultured pearls, the gift of her bridegroom, completed the nuptial costume.

She was attended by Miss Edna Murray, of Belleville, as maid of honor, attired in white-flowered organza with shrimp colored sash, in street-length, with Queen Anne style headdress accented with seed pearls, with matching shoes. Her flowers were white and shrimp-tinted carnations in Spiro design.

The two bridesmaids, Mrs. Gale Brown, of Belleville, and Miss Yvonne Skinner, of Georgian Bay, wore gowns designed in style similar to that of the maid of honor, but with mint-green sashes, shoes and headdresses. They carried bouquets of white and mint-green tinted carnations in Spiro shape.

The little five-year-old flower girl, Miss Linda Kirkpatrick, of Ottawa, wore a frock of embossed white organza having a round neckline with shrimp colored sash and matching headdress in Queen Anne style, and carried a basket of carnations in shades of shrimp, white, and mint green.

Master Bert Loveless, seven-year-old brother of the bride, as ring-bearer, carried the white satin cushion with the ring.

The bridegroom's attendant, Flying Officer Bernie LaPointe, and the ushers, Flying Officers, Bob Love, and Barry Whitehead, all of Trenton RCAF, were in Air Force dress uniforms.

The reception for 120 guests was held at Club Canara, Belleville, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing French imported embossed taffeta in beige shade, with rose accessories, and corsage of tinted bronze and red roses. Assisting her was the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Patrick, of Toronto, who wore a black and white silk gown with black accessories, and corsage of white, feathered carnations.

The bride's table was appointed with white damask, centred by a three-tier, pillared wedding cake topped with double bells, rosebuds and doves, and encircled about the base with tiny roses and summer flowers. Tall candles and the bridal bouquets added an additional pretty accent to the nuptial setting.

For the wedding trip to Clayton, New York, and Creston, British Columbia, the bride chose a blue sheath, two-piece ensemble of brocaded silk with matching hat, and silver-beaded accessories, with corsage of red roses assembled by her grandmother.

Guests were present from Ottawa, Pembroke, Deloro, Belleville, Marmora, Port Hope, St. Catharines, Toronto, Trenton, and Bloomfield.

The bride's gift to her maid of honor, a white stole and matching brooch and earrings; to her bridesmaid, costume brooch and earrings; to the flower girl, strand of pearls, and to the ring-bearer, monogrammed signet ring.

The bridegroom's gift to his groomsman, and ushers, leather jewel boxes.

Previous to her marriage the bride was the honored guest at a miscellaneous shower with Miss Edna Murray and Miss Yvonne Skinner as hostesses; at a presentation by the Sunbeam Bowling League team, (with Mrs. Mary Pope as hostess), of a stainless steel canister set; at a presentation by the Northern Electric girls, where the bride was employed, of an electric fry pan and crystal flower vase. She was also the recipient of a cheque presented by the Northern Electric Club, and was entertained at a dinner party given by the Northern Electric girls, with Mrs. V. Speicer, of Trent Road, as hostess.

Note: Marmora papers please copy.

Calgary Lady Needs Poodle To Be Smart

CALGARY (CP)—Smart-looking French poodles on rhinestone-studded leashes are becoming a necessity for the sophisticated woman here.

A local canine beauty salon is doing good business making dogs look fancy. Don Brooks, an expert in the business, says some of his customers have as many as three poodles.

His "Royal Dutch" treatment costs $7.50, and includes everything from permanent waves to toenail painting. Popular colors include blue and platinum, green and red. Hairstyles for the dogs range from Continental to New Yorker, English skaddle a Royal Dutch.

Clothes for these pets this year include mink coats costing as much as $200. The rhinestone leashes cost between $5 and $15, and there are rubber raincoats with matching hood and boots.

Fifi is the most popular name for poodles in Calgary, he says, but there's also Voltaire, Suzette, Pierre and Napoleon.

Have Helped Raise Forty Children

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—Probably British Columbia's leading foster-parents are Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Bell of this town adjoining Vancouver.

Since 1931 they have taken in to homeless children for short periods, and not once since then have they been without at least one foster-child, although they have reared three of their own.

"The figure is about 40," said Mrs. Bell. "We've lost count because we keep some of the children for only a few days until they find a permanent home."

They now have two foster children, Betty, 7, a Chinese girl, and Johnny, 9, born of Chinese and Indian parents. Betty has been with them four years, and Johnny for seven.

"Life is never monotonous with children around," said Mrs. Bell. "You also get the worthwhile feeling of seeing them grow up.

"I think people are cheating themselves by not taking in children."

Cattails, Birch Leaf Tea Make Food for Botanists

MONTREAL (CP) — While other housewives dish up asparagus or celery Dr. Erika Fraser serves her family young cattails, milkweed in bud and birch leaf tea.

Dr. Fraser and her husband Donald are botanists who live with their two children in Petawawa forest, near Chalk River.

As a botanist, Dr. Fraser can apply science and imagination to a meal. Living in a forest she has access to a wide variety of exotic foods.

She has been teaching Canadian soldiers how to survive in northern forests and she practises what she preaches.

The Frasers have arranged with trappers to have them leave animal carcasses at their door. These are popped into the deep freezer, giving a year-round supply of muskrat, beaver and other meat. Snapping turtles often turn up on the menu.

They grow their own vegetables but this year a groundhog demolished the garden, "leaving us weeds." They retaliated—and enjoyed every savoring mouthful of braised groundhog.

The Frasers say their visitors go wild about their "tissane," tea brewed from giant hyssop, a wild herb with an anise flavor. At this time of year the house is garlanded with herbs such as borage, which comes in handy as accent in drinks and salads.

Dr. Donald Fraser, a research officer in the forest experimental station of the department of northern affairs and national resources, has delivered five papers at the International Botanical Congress here.

Dr. Erika Fraser is a graduate of OAC, Guelph, and earned her doctorate at Cornell University.

She translates scientific reports from Russian and other languages for her husband, who is engaged in research to predict and prevent sickness in trees.

Now It's Ready-Mix Potatoes Keeping up Spud Consumption

WINNIPEG (CP) — The lowly spud is getting the prestige treatment to increase its consumer appeal.

Dr. Ora Smith of the National Potato Institute, Ithaca, N.Y., said during the recent Canadian potato conference at the University of Manitoba here that new methods of preparing ready-mix potatoes have given them needed prestige.

"Potatoes are competing against anything that will fill a man's stomach and take away that hungry feeling," Dr. Smith said in an interview.

"Just because people don't eat potatoes doesn't mean they will eat more macaroni or spaghetti. Potatoes can and must compete against any other food, no matter how expensive."

QUICK AND EASY

The newest methods of dehydration and the production of potato flakes will provide a quick and easy method of serving potatoes with a minimum or preparation, Dr. Smith said.

"These flakes are better than granules and can be prepared in 10 minutes," he said.

"Compare them with cake mix. How many women would bake a cake today if they had to start from scratch? A mix, which can be prepared by a 10-year-old, also takes the work and time out of serving potatoes."

Dr. Smith said the new methods of processing potatoes are responsible for levelling the downward curve of potato consumption, and for maintaining that consumption at a steady price.

Another encouraging factor, he said, is that new storage methods have made it possible to keep potatoes without sprouting for longer periods of time so that locally-produced potatoes can compete successfully with warmer-climate varieties as late as June or July of the following year.

Pacing Room For Fathers In Hospital

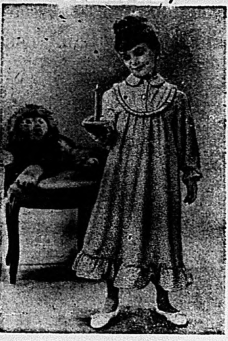
Bedtime Story



By TRACY ADRIAN

This little lady is all set for a night of sweet dreams in a [illegible]wn inspired by the styles that were so popular in grandma's time. The nightie is made of printed challis in a pretty floral motif. Nylon satin piping picks up the color of the print. The ruffled yoke is permanently pleated as are the ruffles on sleeves and hem.

Readers' Friday Column

As conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

. . . I would like a mayonnaise salad dressing something like miracle whip . . . I know it is a special recipe that nobody but that company knows but maybe you have a recipe resembling it . . . Vicky.

ANSWER:

Following is an imitation in principle of the dressing:

PRIZE ECONOMY [illegible]YONNAISE:

3 tablespoons butter, 1-3 cup flour, 1 cup hot water, 2 beaten egg yolks (large), 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup cold oil.

[illegible]elt butter, stir in flour to blend then stir in hot water until thick and stir over low heat 1 minute. Have ready all of the remaining ingredients beaten for 5 minutes except the oil, then add it slowly, beating constantly, only 1 teaspoon at a time at first, until it begins to emulsify, then you may add 1 tablespoon at a time until it becomes very thick and all is used. Add the hot sauce to the cold oil mixture when it is thick and beat all very well. You must follow all instructions.

QUESTION:

Could you please send me recipe with coconaut in the cake — not just on the outside . . . Margaret S.

ANSWER:

This is a beauty. I hope other readers will try it.

COCOANUT MIST CAKE:

2 1-4 cups sifted cake flour, 4 1-2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 1-2 cups sugar, 1-2 cup butter or margarine, 7-8 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 eggs unbeaten, 3-4 cup shredded cocoanut.

In a large bowl stir and beat the butter or margarine just to soften it. Put the sifter over the bowl and sift the sifted flour, baking powder, salt and sugar into it. Add only 3-4 cup of the milk, mix to dampen flour then beat for 2 minutes by hand or at low speed on beater. Add eggs and remaining milk and beat 1 minute longer.

NOTE:

Allow about 150 hand strokes per minute if beating by hand. Fold in cocoanut. Turn into 13 x 9 x 2" pan which has been lined on bottom with paper, then greased. Bake at 375 deg. F. 35 minutes or until it tests done. Cool on cake rack and frost with cocoanut butter frosting: 4 tablespoons butter, 1 3-4 cups sifted icing sugar, 1 egg yolk, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla or grated lemon rind, 1 tablespoon cream, 3-4 cup shredded cocoanut. Cream butter well then cream the salt and sugar in gradually. Add yolk and flavoring and cream and beat until of spreading consistency, adding a little more sifted icing sugar if necessary to make of spreading consistency. Spread on cooled cake. Sprinkle with additional cocoanut if desired.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP. . . NAMES IN INTRODUCTIONS

Names are an important factor in introductions. Remember names when you make an introduction. Pronounce names distinctly when you make an introduction. Say a person's name with such grace that the person is deeply pleased and honored. Listen intently for the other person's name when you are being introduced, so to add the name to your introduction-acknowledgment . . . "How do you do, Mrs Harrison."

WHEN SECRETARY ACKNOWLEDGES INTRODUCTIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I work as a secretary in a government job and am constantly meeting new people. Is more than "How do you do" required when a person is introduced to me? Aside from saying "I hope you enjoy working with us," I feel it is too personal to start asking them questions about their last job and so on. Thank you for any advice you will give me about this. — Reader

In many, perhaps in most, of the introduction-situations, I should think that a gracious "How do you do" would be the right and adequate acknowledgment. However, since, as I judge, your position calls for a certain amount of interest in the new employees of the department, I highly approve of your adding "I hope you are enjoying working with us," or (to a very new employee) "I do hope you will enjoy working with us."

Most important, as you say these words, is the friendliness of your manner, the warmth of the tone of your voice. And if you are an expert in catching names correctly in an introduction, it will be an added asset when you add the name to the introduction: "How do you do, Miss Richardson. Welcome to our department . . . and I hope you will enjoy working with us."

THIS BRIDESMAID SHOULD HAVE WITHDRAWN FROM BRIDAL PARTY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter is to be married quite soon, and she has asked me to ask you what to do in a situation she is facing. She had invited a very dear married friend of hers to be one of her bridesmaids. At the time the wedding is to take place, she will be seven months pregnant.
— Brides's Mother

Your daughter's friend should, of course, have had the good taste and the good sense to withdraw before this late date from being a member of the bridal party. Since apparently she hasn't, my advice is that your daughter have a talk with her and suggest that it would be in order for her to withdraw. She should be reminded that it is the bride, not she, who should be "the observed of all observers"!

WORRIED BABIES

GLOUCESTER, England (CP) Dr. C. F. Bramley, school medical officer for Gloucestershire, says some children are born worried. Cases of skin allergy and dental decay, attributable to nervous tension, are being found increasingly among children under five years of age.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Maureen K. — Violet owes Mary an apology.

Violet R. — Mary owes me one.

Maureen K. — I am terribly upset about a recent happening involving two of my dearest friends.

Violet is an attractive single woman in her mid-30's. She has known Mary since childhood. Mary is married and the mother of three children. For years she has tried to introduce Violet to various bachelors of her acquaintance. Nothing ever developed.

Recently Mary went to some rather extreme lengths to invite a prominnt bachelor in our community to her home to meet Violet He appeared to be interested and later called to ask Violet for a date. Violet refused to go out with him. Mary is absolutely furious and says that out of courtesy to her, Violet should have seen the man. I'm inclined to agree. I think Violet owes Mary an apology and explanation.

Violet R. — I gave Mary her explanation, and I think she owes me one back. As for an apology — I never heard of such a thing. Since when do I owe anyone an apology for not being interested in a particular man?

I feel that Mary should have told me all the facts in advance — before foisting this man on me. He is prominent and successful, yes, but he is also extremely unattractive. In fact I have rarely seen such a homely man in my life. I don't ask for a movie hero, but I don't think that I'm such a hopeless case that I deserve a real beast.

Frankly, I have been annoyed with Mary for some time. She seems to think I am so desperate to marry that I'd be willing to take anything she chooses to throw at me. Things aren't that bad with me. I don't mind being single.

• • •

The Council: Violet's immature sensitivity seems to have gotten the better of her judgment in this case.

She takes the position that Mary has insulted her by introducing a homely man to her. We are sure that an objective study of the facts would reveal that no insult, but a kindness was intended.

We would suggest that Violet take a look backward at the teen years in which girls and boys are chiefly preoccupied with testing their strength with the opposite sex by competing with one another in a very crude form. The physically attractive specimens are set up as prizes and a rough-and-tumble courtship game is played for their favors.

In our civilized society, most people grow out of this stage. Time proves that some of the "beauties" of the high school years are beasts under the skin. Many quickly lose even their physical attractiveness. On the other hand, some of the dull, neglected faces in the high school yearbook later blossom out into exciting personalities — and become more attractive physically as well.

While most of her friends have accepted this interesting fact of life and have developed a mature outlook, Violet has remained stuck with her crude bobby-sox standards. Of course, it is understood that physical appeal will always play some role in the selection of a mate, but in Violet's case things had come nowhere near this stage. She rejected the slightest contact with this man on the basis of his appearance. She was so busy feeling insulted at what she considered her friend's low estimation of her worth, that she could not allow herself to feel even normal human interest in a man who has proved himself in some of life's tough battles.

We think Violet owes some explanations and apologies to herself as well as to those who have kindly interested themselves in her affairs.

Maritimers Supplement Income With Handicrafts

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — When some women in Nova Scotia exchange recipes the ingredients are likely to include bark, or perhaps ragweed.

The recipes are for dyes, used to color the many hooked rugs, blankets and other household items made by the women. Maritimers take a fierce pride in preserving the handicrafts passed down through generations.

There's hardly a cove along the rocky shore that hasn't shellwork, woodcarving, weaving or silver work for sale. Promoting the work is the handicrafts division trade and industry.

Dorothy Barker, acting director of the handicraft centre in Halifax, guides a wide program which encourages Nova Scotians to produce articles of sufficient quality to sell in the province's 70 registered gift shops. The provincial government offers instruction to interested groups, if they intend to produce quality work which will supplement their incomes.

"Some of our people make up to $1,000 a year," Miss Oliver said.

A few others make more.

Weaving, pottery and silver jewelry are among the most popular classes, and the work turned out is flawless "This division is adamant that there be no errors, and our people adhere to it," Miss Oliver explained.

One Cape Breton woman, Mrs. J. J. Miller of Northeast Margaree, weaves beautiful blankets with wool from the sheep on her farm. The wool is sent to New Brunswick to be spun and dyed to her specifications, and then she weaves it into blankets.

A former stenographer, Miss Oliver has been associated with the program for 10 of its 16 years. She had taken up weaving as a hobby, and took a three-year applied arts course at Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B.

She laughs as she recalls her first trip as a provincial instructor.

"I set out for Cape Breton with six looms, two boxes of equipment and seven pieces of luggage," she said. Near her destination, she was transferred to a small boat and arrived on the island perched high on top of her equipment.

"The program still has great scope," she said. "One of the main factors now is the need for a research centre" The clays and sands need study, and further work must be done on design.

The handicrafts division now is in makeshift quarters, but permanent facilities are being sought.

1 The WARMTH AND BEAUTY of WOOD storm windows
Wood insulates. The Easy-Vent wood frame seals heat in—seals cold out. You'll find them warm to the touch on the coldest day. All-metal windows are a serious heat leak—cost you money in extra fuel bills.

2 The SELF-STORING convenience of modern combinations
Self-storing. Storm panels and screens are neat, compact, metal-edged units that ride in precision-made channels within the permanent Easy-Vent wood frame. They slide up and down at a finger's touch, and are easily removed for cleaning. No seasonal changeover—one installation lasts forever.
All-weather protection. Keep out the cold—let in cool summer breezes with Nicholson Easy-Vent. Lifetime rust proof screens give protection from germ laden insects and all-wood frame insulates against winter elements. Fuel savings are significant with Easy-Vents.

Basilio Favored To Take Fullmer In 15-Rounder

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Carmen Basilio tries to prove again tonight that a little guy can be the middleweight boxing champion of the world.

The craggy-faced onion farmer from Chittenango, N.Y., weighing about 153, tackles Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, a bull-shouldered 160-pounder, in a 15-round battle to decide the National Boxing Association titlist.

Basilio stepped up from the 147-pound class when he outpointed Sugar Ray Robinson for the middleweight title on Sept. 23, 1957.

On March 25, 1958, Robinson won back the championship over the 15-round route, but the NBA stripped him of his title last May because he hadn't defended it. New York, Basilio's home state, still recognizes Robinson as champion, as does Massachusetts.

A crowd of about 14,000 paying $200,000 was expected at the Cow Palace for the battle which also counts a $175,000 stipend from NBC for the television and radio rights.

Basilio stands to collect about $410,000 with $100,000 for Fullmer.

Almost all observers here expect a rugged fight going the full distance. Odds of about 10-7 favor Basilio.

SCHOOL'S OUT

TIMMINS (CP) — Four teen-aged girls, who attended a skating school this summer at nearby Schumacher, will compete with 15 others in elimination trials Sept. 10 and 11 at Toronto to decide Canada's senior ladies representative for the Olympic Winter Games. The girls are Lynn Irwin, 16, of Montreal, Diane Frith-Smith, 18, of Galt, Wendy Griner, 18, of Toronto, and Margaret Crosland, 19, of Calgary.

Ted Williams More Popular Around Circuit

By JERRY UDWIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Weak hitting, injuries and baseball old age are bringing Ted Williams more popularity than did his years of super slugging.

Fewer boos taint the ovations he receives from spectators in American League ballparks this season.

"They've been wonderful to me everywhere this season," he said Thursday.

"Maybe, they feel sorry for me. They know I can't hurt their teams anymore. They're not afraid of me."

Through 17 previous major league seasons, fans came to their ballparks to see Williams, often to cheer him for his bat-work, and, almost as often, to boo him both for his slugging which could defeat their teams and for his tempermental outbursts.

Williams' feuds with some sports writers and his occasional unseemly gestures toward unfriendly crowds, especially in his home park in Boston, often drew spectators' attentions away from his six batting titles.

But now the intermingled boos, like the Splendid Spinter's ability to hit, are facing away.

However the 40 - year - old slugger declined again Thursday to say whether he'll be playing again next season. He's been bothered all summer by a neck injury.

Vic Wertz, a teammate of Williams and a veteran himself of 16 major league seasons explained Ted's apparently increasing popularity this way:

"They're giving him credit at last for what he's done, for not blowing his stack at the way he's hitting.

"It's like with great artists and painters. Nobody appreciates them until they're gone."

Edward Houston Will Head New Pro Hockey Loop

OTTAWA (CP)—"I only hope you'll say the same things about me at the end of the season."

With these words Edward J. Houston, 41, summed up his thanks to those responsible for his selection as first president of the newly-organized Eastern Professional Hockey League.

The six-team league, an off-spring of one pro and two senior A amateur loops, will open a regulation pro 70 - game schedule with Montreal Royals visiting Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds Oct. 8.

Mr. Houston, prominent Ottawa lawyer and hockey enthusiast who played defence in his junior and service days, was the unanimous choice of a three-man nominating committee headed by Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League.

HAS EXPERIENCE

He is well acquainted with the organizational ends of professional sports promotion, having been solicitor for the old Ottawa Athletics club of the International Baseball League and Ottawa Senators hockey club.

"This is a distinct honor that has been conferred upon me," Mr. Houston said. "I hope to do a good job."

The minor pro circuit is made up of Royals, Thunderbirds, Sudbury Wolves, Trois - Rivieres Lions, Kingston Frontenacs and Hull-Ottawa Canadiens.

STRONG START

Mr. Campbell gave the league best wishes from the NHL.

"I never knew an organization that had so much going for it at the start," he said.

The league will operate strictly on a pro basis, using the NHL system of no overtime in regular season games.

Frank Carlin of Royals told the luncheon that Sam Pollock of Montreal Canadiens in particular, and Mr. Campbell were the big men behind organizing the new league.

Harness Racing

BATAVIA, N.Y. (CP) — Four Ontario-owned horses were winners on Thursday night's Batavia Downs program. Roman Brook, owned by Keith and Murray Waples of Victoria Harbour, took the opener. Keith Waples also drove Connie Atom owned by Hector Clouthier of Pembroke, to victory in the fourth. Mr. Flyin scored for Edward and Mable Holden of Wallacetown, in the fifth and W. W. Chief won for Clarence Lockhart of Collingwood in the eighth.

Giants Putting National Loop Lead on Block

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"The big game" comes up tonight says Charlie Dressen, battle-scarred veteran of many a fierce pennant race. "If we can take that one we may have 'em on the run."

The Dodger coach was speaking of the San Francisco Giants, who put their National League lead on the block tonight in the first of a three-game series.

At stake is the pennant.

"We can't depend on anybody else to beat 'em," Dressen said. "We gotta beat 'em ourselves."

The Giants and Dodgers meet six more times this season. After the three-game series here they tangle in San Francisco Sept. 18-19-20 for the other three.

"We gotta take four or five of those games to stay in the race," said Dressen. "We still gotta chance for that pennant, but we gotta lick the Giants to do it."

The Dodgers have a slight edge. They have two days rest while the Giants arrive after a double-header with Philadelphia.

The Giants have beaten the Dodgers five of eight times in the Coliseum. But the Dodgers, who knocked off the Giants six of eight times at Seals Stadium, hold a 9-7 season edge.

Edmonton Eskies Take 16-1 Win From Grey Cup Champs

WINNIPEG (CP)—A four-way battle for the Western Interprovincial Football Union championship loomed large after Edmonton Eskimos defeated the Grey Cup champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers 16-1 Thursday night.

The victory, fashioned of rugged line play and the brilliance of former Mississippi State star Jackie Parker, moved the Eskimos into a tie for second place with Bombers and British Columbia Lions, two points behind Calgary Stampeders.

Parker, who scored one touchdown and passed to former Kansas halfback Homer Floyd for the other, was forced out of the game with an injured left knee near the end of the first half. Don Getty finished the game at quarter.

BADLY SWOLLEN

Eskimos officials were unable to say without a thorough examination how serious Parker's injury is or how long he may be sidelined. After the game the knee was swollen to about twice its normal size.

Parker added a convert and end Tommy Coffey from West Texas State added an 11-yard field goal for Edmonton's other points.

Bombers' only score came when end Bill Smith was rouged on a missed field goal by Bomber quarter Jim Van Pelt.

Each team had 16 first downs, while Winnipeg outrushed Edmonton 180 yards to 170 and outpassed them 132 yards to 113.

But the champions' yardage was mostly confined to midfield or their own zone.

War Eagle, owned by Peter del Greco of Toronto, has won six races and purses of $35,850 so far this season.

Track Team Alone Boasts Seven Olympic Champions

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO (CP) — The third Pan-American Games, billed by enthusiastic Americans as the biggest sports festival in their country's history, starts today on 12 fronts amid predictions that the host U.S. athletes will be hotter than the weather.

Jubilant observers, who have been terming the 400-odd team of Americans the greatest ever assembled, freely forecast that the U.S. will make confetti of Games' records and even world marks. The track team alone boasts seven Olympic champions.

Speeches, bands, the parade of more than 2,000 athletes from 24 competing countries, gun salutes and the release of 5,000 doves as symbols of peace officially marked the opening Thursday. An announced crowd of 47,000 in the 100,000 - seat Soldier Field sweltered in 91-degree heat to watch the ceremony.

Coolest of the throng were the 206 parading Canadians — 176 athletes and 30 officials. As a concession to the weather, the team's general manager, Professor R. F. Osborne of Vancouver, decided that the Canadians could wear their flaming red open-necked short-sleeved shirts. They displayed the only bare arms on the brick-red and paddy-green infield.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower, on behalf of his brother, the president, officially opened the games.

Ceremony completed, the athletes settled down to winning glory in the 27-sport program over the next 11 days.

At Soldier Field today there are eight scheduled events, including the finals in the men's hammer and high jump and the women's javelin, and most of Canada's 30-member track and field team will be on display.

High jumper Charlie Dumas and hammer thrower Harold Connolly of the United States and Argentina's Osvaldo Suarez, in the 10,000 - metre run, are odds-on favorites in the track and field program.

The other competition in the opening round includes:

Women's track, baseball, men's and women's basketball, men's fencing, soccer, men's and women's tennis, men's volleyball, weightlifting and yachting.

LONDON (AP)—South Africa's Gawie de Klerk broke his jaw Wednesday night in his bid to take the British Empire heavyweight boxing crown from Henry Cooper, doctors reported Thursday. De Klerk who said "I have never been hit so hard in all my life," lost on a fifth-round technical knockout.

Rival Captains Of Davis Cup Teams to Retire

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—The Davis Cup challenge round, beginning today, probably will be the last for the rival captains—Perry Jones of the United States and Harry Hopman of Australia.

Each would like to bow out on a victorious note.

"This is my valedictory," says Jones, 71-year-old Los Angeles tennis executive who was persuaded to take the job last year. "I'm turning the reins over to a young man."

Hopman, 53, winner in eight of 11 Davis Cup campaigns, has indicated he will retire after this year to devote time to a lucrative investment broker's position in Melbourne.

AUSSIE TEAM YOUNG

This is probably the weakest team the Australian taskmaster has fielded. Neale Fraser, 25, is the only experienced cup player on the squad and he is faced with the task of beating Peruvian Alex Olmedo in the first singles match.

Rod Laver, 21, not long out of junior ranks and never in a challenge round, plays Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, in the second singles. MacKay, just 23, is competing in his third tennis world series.

"This team is not as good as last year's on a name basis," says Hopman. "But it's fitter and in a better frame of mind. I think we'll win, about 3-2."

Jones picks his squad to score a 5-0 sweep.

International Loop All-Stars Clobber Pirates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International League today returned to unfinished business with league-leading Buffalo seeking to wrap up its first pennant in 10 years.

The Bisons lead runner - up Havana by 6½ games with only 13 remaining to play. The Sugar Kings have 14 left.

Buffalo is at Rochester tonight and Havana plays the third-place Jets, seven games back, at Columbus.

Thursday night everyone took a breather from the regular routine for an exhibition game at Columbus, Ohio, with the Pittsburgh Pirates, fourth-place team in the National League.

The International League All-stars clobbered the Pirates 14-6 for their first victory in four games with major league clubs.

The stars wrapped it up with a nine-run sixth inning, shelling Columbus grad Don Gross, who was promoted to the parent Pirates earlier in the season.

He was tagged for seven hits in the inning, including a two-run homer by Rochester's Charlie James and a three-run double by Frank Herrera of Buffalo. Gross contributed two walks and a throwing error.

Rocky Nelson, the International League's most valuable player and triple crown winner last season and also now playing for the Pirates, had knotted it 5-5 with a three-run homer in the top half of the inning.

The all-stars have lost twice to Milwaukee and once to Brooklyn (now Los Angeles) previously.

Lucille Ball, Ann Sothern Enjoy a Durable Friendship

THE TV — MOVIE COLUMN

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—At a recent dinner party, a former coworker asked Lucille Ball and Ann Sothern if RKO studios had changed since the days when they worked there together.

"Yes," replied Ann, "Lucille owns it."

Lucille added: "And Ann made over the wardrobe department for her dressing room."

Two of Hollywood's nicest success stories concern these glamorous tycoons. Two decades ago, both were struggling for roles and recognition at RKO. Today, Lucille and her husband, Dezi Arnaz, are proprietors of the lot and Ann is their biggest customer.

Though Ann and Lucille worked simultaneously at three studios—Columbia, RKO, MGM — they never appeared together until a year ago, when Ann was in a Desi-Lucy special. Now Lucille is repaying the visit by an appearance on the first Ann Sothern show of the season.

LIKE SEWING BEE

I dropped by to see them at work, expecting tension with two such noted stars together. There was none. The atmosphere was as cosy as a sewing bee.

"I love Lucille, and I know she loves me," Ann remarked in her luxurious dressing room. "furthermore, I'm one of the few people who call her Lucille.

"I understand her. A lot of people think she is gruff and tough. But that's just her way. She's soft inside."

Between scenes, Lucille gave her own key to the durability of their friendship:

"Maybe it's because I'm not demanding. Neither is Ann. I may go six or eight months without seeing a good friend. When we meet again, there is no whining about 'why haven't you written or called?' We just pick up again where we left off."

Lucile recalls going to Ann with a problem: Her folks were coming to California to stay and she wasn't making enough to fix up a rented house in the manner she hoped for. Ann went in and decorated the place with her unerring taste, and an eye for cost.

That was unusual for Ann, for she has always been lavish. On this matter, the two women differ.

"I've always spent money," Ann admitted. "My theory is that whatever you spend will come back to you eventually. I've spent money even when I didn't have it."

Lucille has never been able to understand this. Even though she is a millionairess, she wouldn't buy herself a new dress for her show with Ann.

THE VOICE OF 'ANNE FRANK'

"It's a strange thing", says George Stevens, producer and director of "The Diary of Anne Frank", opening today at the Belle Theatre, the new CinemaScope picture which 20th Century-Fox is releasing. "The voices that dominated Europe for years were those of Hitler and Goebels, yet the voice that persists today is Anne's."

People who have worked with Stevens on previous pictures, which have included many outstanding ones, say they have never seen him so completely absorbed and dedicated as he was during the filming of the "Diary." And he himself says that his preparation for bringing Anne Frank's story to the screen began before he had ever heard of Anne and before her famous diary had been found amid the bombed rubble of Amsterdam.

As a Lieutenant - colonel in the U. S. Signal Corps he entered Dachau, the notorious Nazi prison camp, before the war ended. He spent several days there and what he saw he has never forgotten. Ever since the war he has wanted to make a motion picture that would reflect something of the impression that was made on him and when he read the diary and saw the stage play based on it he made up his mind that this was the story — warm, tender, with ONGRATULATIONS, CHAMPS!

Bruce Miller and Gord Watkin, runners-up to the Canadian doubles lawn bowling champions in 1955, settled for nothing but the top at the Boulevard Club in Toronto Wednesday, climaxing a brilliant week's bowling to annex the National title for Ontario and Belleville.

Bruce and Gord swept through their five games undefeated, leaving no doubt as to their right to the title, defeating the best from Alberta, Quebec, Saskatchewan, British Columbia and Manitoba on the way.

The Belleville club's two aces displayed the form that swept them to the district, zone and provincial titles in earlier play. They entered the final game in the six-team round-robin with a 4-0 record. Manitoba, too, had a 4-0 record and needed a victory. Even a tie would have won the championship for Watkin and Miller on the basis of a wider point spread than Manitoba.

But the local boys wanted their victory untarnished. Manitoba fell by a 20-16 score and Belleville's best carted home the Canadian title to their many fans who anxiously awaited results in the final day's play.

Actually the British Columbia team of S. Gardiner and R. Williams gave Miller and Watkin their toughest battle of the tournament in the fourth round.

Going into the final end of that game, B.C. held a two-point lead. Manitoba's S. Townsend and J. Dickie had won their fourth game, meaning that a loss could be fatal for Ontario.

But the boys rose to the occasion, picked up three points in that final end for narrow one-point victory. Then came the 20-16 decision over Manitoba and the boys had reached the goal they had been looking forward to since '55.

The champions are well known throughout this district for their prowess on the greens. Both have many trophies and prizes, but the ones presented to them following their Dominion triumph will have positions of honor in the trophy rooms.

Watkin and Miller are active members of the Belleville club executive, as well as players. They learned the game on their hometown greens. And they learned it well.

Nice going fellows. Belleville is proud of you.

HARNESS RACING

The Quinte Driving and Riding Club has arranged a fine evening's entertainment for harness racing fans tomorrow night with another twilight meet at the Belleville Fairgrounds.

So far this summer the club has had tremendous success with its meets, usually held about once a month, and tomorrow night's meet should be no exception. As a matter of fact the largest crowd of the season is expected since betting privileges will be allowed.

Six heats of racing with many of the top trotters and pacers in Eastern Ontario will provide plenty of thrills throughout the meet. The first heat is slated for 6.45 p.m. Saturday.

Miss Supertest Wins Harmsworth Cup, Sets Record

U.S. Boat Fails to Finish In Third, Deciding Race; First Loss for States Since '20

DETROIT (AP)—A Canadian who "gambled all the way" in the tradition of Gar Wood has wrested the Harmsworth Trophy from the United States.

The defending United States speedboat failed to even finish.

But few experts doubt the outcome would have been different Thursday even if Maverick, the 1959 Gold Cup champion, had hit on all 12 cylinders of her Allison power plant over the entire 45-mile distance.

Bob Hayward, a Canadian chicken farmer, got away to a record - breaking first lap of 107.495 m.p.h. in Miss Supertest III, then broke his brand new record on the second time around with 109.334 m.p.h.

SETS RACE RECORD

He ended the race with a Harmsworth record of 104.098 for the gruelling 15-lap race designed to test handling skill and stamina of men and machines as well as speed.

Gar Wood, now 78, brought the trophy to the United States in 1920 with Miss America I, which ran the first mile-and - minute Harmsworth.

"It (Canada's victory) is a good thing," said Wood after witnessing the United States' first defeat in 39 years.

"It will revitalize speedboat competition," Wood said. "We had held it (the trophy) too long. Competition had become more or less dormant."

FLYING START

Hayward, coming out of the pits, ran his 2,500 - horsepower challenger far up the Detroit River; then, with a minute or so to go, he turned toward the starting line.

Maverick's Bill Stead, driving the boat with which he had won the Gold and Diamond Cup races this year, zoomed down toward the starting line on the inside.

Before they hit the starting line the Canadian challenger was out front. It stayed there, Maverick bouncing in its wake.

Maverick, owned by oilman W. T. Waggoner of Phoenix, Ariz., led 12 laps of the opening race in the best-of-three competition. But the American craft developed a broken supercharger and Miss Supertest breezed home a winner.

In the only race in which both craft functioned perfectly, Maverick set a new Harmsworth record of 102.988 Wednesday and sent the competition into a third and deciding heat.

TOOK A CHANCE

Hayward conceded he went far upriver to add to his straightaway run at the starting line, adding:

"I was gambling all the way. I knew I had to have perfect timing."

Stead said he didn't know what went wrong with his craft. Maverick probably will have to be torn down to determine the cause.

After Maverick conked out, Hayward cut his speed drastically for the first time. He throttled back to 95.541, then 91.906 and 89.419 for the 15th and final lap.

DETROIT (CP)—"I was out to win, come what may," said Bob Hayward.

Hayward had just broken the United States' 39-year grip on the Harmsworth Trophy, emblematic of world speedboat supremacy.

Entering Thursday's final and deciding heat of the three-race competition, the sturdy Miss Supertest III, driven by Canada's Hayward, and the American defender Maverick were even at one victory apiece.

For 27 of the 30 laps in the race, Miss Supertest III had been riding the wake of Maverick. Both drivers conceded the front seat was a winning one.

And Maverick became an overnight favorite after its tying win Wednesday, mainly because Hayward, from Embro, Ont., said he didn't think he had enough power left to catch Bill Stead's Maverick through his wake.

WINNING STRATEGY

For the deciding race, Hayward took Miss Supertest just as far as he could up the Detroit River without running off the course.

When the one - minute gun sounded, he headed her toward the starting line, slowly at first to avoid suspicion on Stead's part, then full-bore on all 12 cylinders of her 2,000-horsepower Rolls Royce-Griffon engine.

Miss Supertest III hit the starting line in front and going away. She stayed there.

"It went off just the way I planned it," Hayward told reporters.

Hayward praised the sturdiness of Miss Supertest III—"I was hitting close to 170 miles an hour sometimes and the boat never misfired once."

GREATEST THRILL

How does it feel to capture a trophy that has been out of reach for 39 years?

To Hayward it was: "The greatest thrill I've ever had."

Young Jim Thompson was "happy, happy as can be."

Thompson said his Miss Supertest will go after the Silver Cup against 12 top hydroplanes, including Maverick, over the same Detroit River course Saturday.

But there were others in young Thompson's party willing to lay 5 to 1 she wouldn't.

Said one: "If you've just won the world championship from the best of the lot, why turn around to play against the also-rans?"

Miss Supertest III is owned by J. Gordon Thompson of London, Ont., and his son, James, of Toronto. The father is president of Supertest Petroleum Ltd. This was his second bid for the Harmsworth.

Miss Supertest I was turned back 2-1 by Shanty in 1956.

It was Canada's fourth postwar challenge since England gave up chasing Gar Wood's Miss Americas in 1933.

Canada will pick the defending waters next time and they will likely be at Picton on Lake Ontario. There the water nearly always is glass-smooth, as it was in the Detroit River Thursday.

Former Champ Ousted From Women's Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barbara McIntire scored a smashing upset victory over defending champion Anne Quast Thursday on the 20th hole of the quarter-finals of the U.S. women's amateur golf championship.

Miss Quast, 21, of Marysville, Wash., blew her hopes of a second straight U.S. title on the 18th when she rammed her tee shot off the bank of the Congressional Country Club green into a mass of underbrush.

Joanne Goodwin, 23, of Haverhill, Mass., defeated Judy Eller, 19, who earlier defeated Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto.

Dorothy Germain Porter, 35, and Mrs. Paul Klinefelter, 31, are the other semi-finalists.

PROMOTES CHUVALO BOUT

TORONTO (CP) — Promoter Jack Allen left for New York Thursday to seek an opponent for George Chuvalo of Toronto in a Sept. 14 bout at Maple Leaf Gardens. Argos and Als Ready for First Meeting of Year

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Around eight o'clock Thursday night Toronto Argonauts and Montreal Alouettes are due to quit throwing words and get down to football.

It's the first meeting this season for the Big Four clubs but verbal hostilities couldn't be greater if it were playoff time.

Montreal managing director Gorman Kennedy hurled a barb Thursday when Als placed 22-year-old centre Milt Crain on waivers.

SOLD TO WIFU CLUB

The Montreal club had offered Crain to Argos as a straight trade for halfback Wray Carlton. But Argos weren't interested and sold Carlton to British Columbia Lions last Tuesday.

"It's their business, of course," said Kennedy. "But I thought the sale of Carlton was anything but a bright move. We offered them a chance for a deal that would benefit both clubs. I can't see why they passed it up."

Argonauts are saying nothing about that, even though it's reported that coach Hamp Pool wanted to ensure that Carlton and his potential ability were outside the Big Four loop.

But to reports that Alouettes are angry because Toronto has them tagged for the league cellar this year, Pool exploded:

"Tell them I didn't pick them last. No, sir, I want that announced in Montreal. The Argonaut coaching staff didn't pick them last."

SOUNDS THE ALARM

As if to prove his point, Pool has sounded the alarm for this game.

His squad has gone through rigorous defensive work the last few days, mindful of the golden arm of Alouette quarterback Sam Etcheverry.

Players posing as Etcheverry, pass receivers Hal Patterson and Red O'Quinn—and driving backfielder Joel Wells who went for 160 yards against Ottawa last Friday—have helped get the defensive play into shape.

Rookie Bob Dehlinger from Idaho State will likely be assigned to cover Patterson.

Corky Tharp will be in at fullback to replace Carlton.

SATURDAY GAME

Tiger - Cats, defending champions are to meet Ottawa Rough Riders in Hamilton Saturday. The Ticats are on top with wins over Toronto and Montreal, each of whom has defeated winless Ottawa.

Tiger-Cats announced that former Cleveland Browns fullback Milt Campbell has been placed on waivers.

Coach Jim Trimble said earlier that Campbell had the greatest potential of any football player in the country, but now figures he has several players who can do a better job.

RENT COLISEUM

QUEBEC (CP) — City council approved Thursday a five-year contract for rental of the city-owned coliseum by Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League. The contract guarantees the team 75 pr cent of the gate, plus an extra 10 cents a ticket for the visiting team. It can be renewed for another five years at the same terms after the first five-year period expires.

Judd Whiffs 24 But Loses Thriller to Point Anne 2-1

The Point Anne Cementmen came through with a tremendous 2-1 upset victory over Lakefield and Ray Judd under the lights at Peterborough last night, evening their OASA Intermediate "A" series at one game apiece.

The Cementmen lost the flip for the third and deciding game. It will be played in Peterborough Saturday night at 8.15.

A large crowd watched almost unbelieving, as the game Ox-pointers scored two runs in the top of the seventh inning to snap a scoreless pitching duel betwen Judd and their own Al Carkner. Lakefield came back with one run in their half of the inning and before the frame was over a near-riot took place with one player from each side being ejected.

Judd had allowed three hits and Carkner two entering the seventh inning. The first two Cementmen went down in order but Judd walked Chuck Kingston, the only free pass given up by either side during the game. Doug Soule promptly hit a double, placing runners on third and second.

Carkner was at the plate and following a pitch the ball was thrown to third base. Kingston streaked for home as the throw went from the third baseman to pitcher Judd. Ray relayed to cousin John Judd at the plate but Kingston slammed into him, jarring the ball loose, for the first run of the game.

Meanwhile Soule had taken third and moments later he too raced across the plate when catcher Judd made a bad throw back to the pitcher. Judd fanned Carkner to end the rally.

Lakefield fought back in the bottom of the frame when Red Wasson opened with a single. Ray Judd hit into a force play but an error on the lead runner put two on base with none down. Jack Mackness hit a double to plate the lead run but Jackie Elliott's throw to Jones at third nipped Judd.

Judd resented the tag at third base and pushed Jones, starting a chain reaction. Players from both sides mulled around, punches were thrown and plate umpire 'Shud" Ethier was shoved during the fracas. Neil Wasson, who came off the bench to throw a punch at Claude Carr, and Dave Jones, were tossed out of the game. Order was finally restored and Carkner got the next two men on ground balls to close out the inning with a 2-1 lead.

Lakefield threatened again in the eighth after two were out. Neil Thompson, who replaced the ejected Wasson, slammed a triple off the tiring Carkner.

Bobby Hunter took the mound to pitch to Glen Pagett. Thompson raced for home on a short passed ball but Carr retrieved in time to throw to Hunter covering the plate, nailing the runner in another close play. Again in the ninth a one-out single by Red Wasson kept the losers' hopes alive but Ray Judd lined to Kingston who stepped on first for a game-ending double play.

Carkner gave just five hits in 7 2-3 innings to get the win. He whiffed five and did not walk a man. Hunter was touched for one safety in relief.

Judd allowed five hits over the route and struck out no less than 24 of the Cementmen. He passed one man. Judd fanned the side in the first, second, third, fifth, sixth and eighth innings and got two in every other frame.

Doug Soule paced the winners with a triple and double. John Batchelor had two infield singles and Chuck Kingston had one base knock.

Red Wasson had two of Lakefield's safeties while Neil Thompson tripled, Jack Mackness doubled and Al Conroy and John Judd had singles.

Giants and White Sox Open Showdown Series Against Dodgers, Cleveland Indians

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

San Francisco's weary Giants, their sluggers sluggish and their National League lead shaved to two games by three losses within 24 hours, open a three-game showdown series at Los Angeles tonight against the rested second-place Dodgers.

Manager Bill Rigney, angry at being forced into a make-up afternoon doubleheader that brought a double defeat at Philadelphia Thursday, picked his ace, Sam Jones (16-12), to face Giant-killer Don Drysdale (15-9) in the opener of the series.

CARDS BEAT BRAVES

The Dodgers picked up a full game while idle for the second straight day as the last-place Phils swept the Giants 7-2 and 2-1. Third-place Milwaukee, 3½ games back going into a three-game series at Chicago today, gained only a half-game on San Francisco, losing 5-4 at St. Louis.

Cincinnati tied Chicago for fifth, beating the Cubs 5-0 in the only other National League game scheduled.

The Phils, who had lost six straight, beat lefty Mike McCormick (11-11) in the opener. After Ed Bouchee and Daryl Spencer swapped solo home runs, the Phils put it away with five runs in the sixth, starting with homers by Joe Koppe and Gene Freese.

McCormick then beaned Harry Anderson, and after two walks loaded the bases with two out. Winning pitcher Jim Owens (10-11) ripped a two-run single. Anderson left the game, but wasn't injured seriously.

MAYS RAPS 22ND

In the second game, Willie Mays smacked his 22nd homer in the first inning, but the Giants then were blanked on five hits by Don Cardwell (8-7) and Dick Farrell.

Ken Boyer drove in four runs, three with his 24th homer, and Joe Cunningham scored three runs and had four hits as the Cards knocked off the Braves after trailing 4-0. Cunningham's triple and Boyer's sacrifice fly beat reliefer Don McMahon (4-2) in the eighth. Lindy McDaniel (14-11) won it in relief, blanking the Braves, who had homers by Bobby Avila and Joe Adcock, on four hits over the last four frames.

Jim O'Toole, the Reds' southpaw rookie, gained his first major league shutout with a five-hitter and 10 strikeouts against the Cubs for a 4-7 record. Willie Jones drove in two runs, with two doubles and a walk.

Now comes the moment of truth in that American League pennant race. The Chicago White Sox, their pitching punctured, open a four-game series at Cleveland tonight with only a 1½-game edge over the streaking second-place Indians.

It's right - hander Bob Shaw (13-4), who has won seven of his last eight, for the White Sox against Jack Harshman (5-9), the Indians' surprise southpaw crutch, in the opener, which also gets the two contenders started on a string of seven meetings in the next 10 days.

The White Sox added a half-game to their slim cushion over the Indians, who have won eight in a row, by defeating Boston 5-1 in the only AL game scheduled Thursday.

The Indians, who lost the lead to the White Sox a month ago tonight by splitting a double-header with Boston, have the edge going into what could be a fatal four games for Chicago.

CHOP THREE FROM LEAD

While the Sox have played 11 games in the last 10 days, winning seven, the Indians have played nine, chopping three games off Chicago's 4½ - game bulge in that span with their longest winning streak since 1956.

Harshman, a lame-back lefty the White Sox peddled to Baltimore two years ago, has won three, saved one and lost none since coming to Cleveland after being discarded by the Orioles and Boston. He's stepped into deliver the southpaw stuff the slump-ridden Herb Score, winless in seven starts since July 3, was supposed to supply.

The White Sox made it Thursday behind Barry Latman (7-5), who had a four-hit shutout until the ninth, when Ted Williams swatted his 10th home run of the year and the 493rd of his career.

Johnny Romano, giving regular catcher Sherm Lollar a rest, drove in the first three Sox runs with a pair of singles off loser Frank Baumann (5-3).

WILL DEFEND TITLE

LONDON (AP)—Joe Brown of New Orleans will defend his world lightweight boxing championship against Britain's Dave Charnley in the late fall, promoter Jack Solomons said Thursday.

The British promoter said the bout would be held either in London's Wembley Hall Nov. 3 or in Houston, Texas, Dec. 9. The site and date will depend on television facilities.

Solomons said the bout would be held in England if it is possible to make a deal for closed circuit television in a chain of theatres. Otherwise, the fight will go to Houston and will be shown on home screens.

Hull's Hurling, Faulkner's Hitting Spark Bobcats' Win Over Trenton

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Bobby Hull's two-hit hurling and a barrage of extra-base blows powered the Belleville Bobcats to a 12-0 triumph over Trenton Garretts here last night in the opener of their OASA Intermediate "AA" elimination series.

The second game in the two-of-three set is scheduled for Trenton tonight at 8.30. If a third is necessary it will be back at the CNR Saturday at six o'clock while if the 'Cats win tonight they will open against Sports Centre on Saturday.

Hull turned in one of his top mound performances of the season to gain the well-earned shutout. He faced only 31 batters, four over the minimum, struck out 12 and walked a pair.

Trenton third baseman Guy Austin was the lone batter to have any grain of success against Hull's slants, rapping a sharp single to left field to open the game and adding another to centre field in the sixth. He was the only runner to get past first base, going to second when his first single was bobbled for a moment and taking third on Drake's sacrifice before the side was retired. The losers other runner were Don Cole with a walk in the second and Harold Stinson with another as a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

Meanwhile the Bobcats took four innings before they started to hit loser Ron Wannamaker but once under way there was no stopping them. They opened with one in the first but plated most of their runs in the latter half of the game.

HITS FOUR DOUBLES

Bert Faulkner sparkled on the 'Cat offensive with four consecutive doubles in five trips. "Wiener" Brown and Jackie Hughes each had a double and single, Floyd Crawford a two-run homer, Denny Hayden a triple and Fiori Goegan a double. Lou Smrke rounded out the 12-hit attack with a perfectly placed bunt single.

Wannamaker pitched the first seven frames for Trenton, giving up eight runs on as many hits. He fanned two and walked 10, unusual in the fact that his control is one of his biggest assets. Three of the walks were intentional to Bobby Hull and the strategy worked only once. Howie Cole toiled the eighth, combed for runs and hits, walking two and whiffing one.

Walks, a double steal by Crawford and Hull and a passed ball gave the winners their initial marker. Brown strolled and took third on the first of Faulkner's doubles in the third. Hull was walked but Wannamaker also passed Hayden to force in a run before Alexander's double play ended the inning.

Brown singled, Faulkne doubled and Hull was walke again in the fifth with Hayden's fly ball scoring one r and two more free passes ma ing it 4-0.

Back to back two-baggers I Brown and Hull added another in the sixth and the third intentional walk to Hull finally paid off as Hayden hoisted out.

CRAWFORD HOMERS

Goegan doubled and scored on Hughes' single in the seventh while Crawford homered to right field for an 8-0 lead.

Cole had a rough eighth frame as nine men came to the plate. Faulkner started it again with his fourth two-bagger, Hayden tripled, Cousins' drove in a run with a ground out, Goegan walked, Smrke had his bunt single and Hughes doubled home the final pair.

Lineups:

Trenton—Austin 3b, Drake 1b, H. Cole rf, p, Mitts lf, Alexander ss, Burns c, D. Cole cf, Smith 2b, R. Wannamaker p, Stinson rf, L. Wannamaker p.h. 9th.

Sport Snapshots

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It wouldn't be a surprise if the Big Four Football Union lost a field official this season. The profession of calling the shots in pro football and hockey is becoming tougher each year.

Officials rarely receive unanimous support of the fans, players, coaches or club executives. So, the referee, umpire or what have you always is on the spot.

A week ago, Hamilton Tiger-Cats invaded Toronto for the first league game at the new Canadian National Exhibition Stadium in Toronto. Just about every one of the 27,554 people on hand agreed it wasn't a good game. Both teams made mistakes, there were costly fumbles and the game eventually slowed down to the old two - bucks - and - a-kick style.

WHO TO BLAME?

Who's fault was it? Much of the blame was attributed to the five game officials. They called every infraction—which they are paid to do—and as a result the game was slowed down considerably.

Handkerchiefs fluttered to the ground 24 times and the officials were criticized by some sports writers for what they termed "over-officiating."

Big Four referee-in-chief Hap Shouldice of Ottawa, watching the game, defended his officials by saying: "It's early in the season and a lot of mistakes are being made.

"We call them, to try to make the coaches and players correct them."

That softened the criticism for the game officials who, according to Canadian Football League rules, can't defend themselves in the public prints. Shouldice knows all about officials' troubles — he was a Big Four referee for years until the pressure became too great and he quietly resigned.

INCREASING HAZARDS

The mortality rate of pro hockey and football officials has been fairly extensive the last few years.

One of the most dramatic incidents of the Stanley Cup playoffs last spring involved Referee Red Storey of the National Hockey League. NHL president Clarence Campbell was quoted as saying that Storey "froze" on a play during a Montreal-Chicago game.

Storey quit.

Two years previously, Jack Mehlenbacher overheard a bristling conversation through an open transom and it convinced him he should get out of the business of refereeing NHL games.

"One night, a top NHL executive cornered referee - in - chief Carl Voss outside the referees' room between periods. I was the referee of the game. This executive. . .proceeded to call me everything he could think of and I got it first-hand through the open transom.. . . It got so I couldn't sleep at nights, trying to do a conscienthious job in an unconscientious setup.

"I quit, and I'm glad I did."

BIG FOUR PRESSURE

The last Big Four officials to quit under pressure was Jimmy Simpson of Hamilton who took public abuse for years from coaches, players and team officials.

Simpson, who played with Hamilton teams from the late 1920s to the early 1940s, gave up his job after the 1956 Big Four playoffs. Hamilton lost to the Alouettes at Montreal and Ticat President Jake Gaudaur and Coach Jim Trimble invaded the officials' room in high dudgeon.

At that time, Judge Allan Fraser of Ottawa was Big Four commissioner. His limited authority precluded any disciplinary action against a club official, so he fined the club itself $500.

Club executives met to discuss the incident and decided that Judge Fraser could only fine players and reprimand team officials and coaches for conduct detrimental to football. The judge—and Simpson—quit.

AMBASSADOR TO CUBA

Northumberland, Durham Tobacco Crops Hard Hit

PORT HOPE, Ont. (CP) — A severe hail storm raked tobacco crops in Durham and Northumberland counties Wednesday night, causing hundreds of thousands of dollars damage.

Farmers in the Port Hope area reported up to 100 per cent losses but the fringe of the hail missed others.

In the Oshawa area to the west, tobacco crops on at least 30 farms were pounded by the hail. Damage ranged from 50 to 100 per cent but the total loss won't be known until insurance adjusters have completed surveys.

Martin Foster, one of the biggest tobacco growers in the region, reported a 75-per-cent loss to his 40-acre crop.

Sunday School Lesson

Faith for Days of Disaster

By ROY L. SMITH

One of the questions most commonly asked is, "Why do good people have to suffer?" There is a widespread belief that good behavior ought to save us from the troubles that befall other men.

It is true, of course, that honesty, righteousness, and virtue do save us from some troubles. The sober man, for example, does sot suffer from the shame or the woes that overtake the alcoholic. But it is a fact of common observation that even the best of people also suffer and sometimes grievously. Quite evidently, uprightness is no dependable insurance against trouble .There must be some other explanation of life and fortune.

DAY OF LOCUSTS

The first half of this week's lesson is an agonized cry that issued forth from the lips of a humble man who was compelled to watch his nation, and his land, suffer from a terrible disaster.

A scourge of locusts — an all too common affliction in the Near East — had settled down upon the land, and the voracious insects were cleaning the earth of every growing green thing. Added to the desolation was the loathsomeness of the insects themselves.

Even the cattle groaned under the affliction. The fields upon which they were accustomed to graze were reduced to nothing better than bare rocks and stretches of dust. Not a spear of grass was to be seen ;even the roots had been torn up by the hungry beasts as they searched for food.

> The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for August 30: "A NEW SPIRIT FOR A RENEWED PEOPLE," Book of Joel.

In the midst of the disaster there was a humble layman who dared to assert his faith. Nothing could blind him to the awful effects of the scourge, but even the scourge could not blind him to the greater fact of God.

THE REAL REALISTS

The godly man is not one who shuts his eyes to the grim facts of life. In fact, he sees the worst as clearly as he sees the best. The heart of the prophet Joel bled for the people, and for their flocks. The groans of the people and the bellowing of the cattle, haunted him day and night.

But Joel also saw God. Even in the midst of the desolation he saw evidences of the working of a mighty Providence.

"I am a realist," exclaimed a business man, in the midst of a conversation with his pastor. "I believe in looking the facts in the face. I think it is wrong to shut our eyes to the obvious and certainly the conditions we face are obvious."

"I agree with you," the preacher replied. "I do not think it is either honest or fair to shut our eyes to facts. Certainly it is not scientific. But the difference between us is that you are in terror because they are all you see. I see them in all their stark reality exactly as you do. But I am also looking at one additional fact that changes the perspective entirely. That fact is God! I know just as much about Russia and communism as you do. I know what a terrible thing it would be across the earth if it were to prevail. But I see also the God of our fathers in this world. He will not allow this godless thing to triumph. I am, therefore, investing everything I have in co-operation with God, and as long as I can believe in the reality of God I will go on hoping. I am more of a realist than you are because I am looking at one more fact that you are."

EVASION OR TRIUMPH

Religion is not an escape from trouble. Even the most devour find themselves confronted with woe. But the religious man is one who has something within his spirit which enables him to triumph over the worst circumstances that may assail him. The man of faith does not escape from the blows of life; it is only that he has an inner power that enables him to survive them. The godly man has to face hardship and overcome despair. But he has an inner spirit which makes it possible to overcome.

Faith does not insulate as against pain and terror. It provides us with the resources with which to go on in spite of pain and terror.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Here is a day when you can do just about anything you like. Fine for finding just the items you need, especially of a personal nature. P.M. be out for a most pleasing evening of fun with friends, relatives or even neighbors.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Look about you and see how you can improve relations with kin through making improvements to surroundings. Also, get health better. Then set up a really good budget system. P.M. collect that money you have loaned out.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) A nice, lazy day in which to think of own self and personal needs exclusively, for a change. Then go out leisurely with friends and round out a most satisfying day at pleasures that really are inspiring to you. Assert yourself now.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Fine day to get rid of all those little pesky chores that have been mounting up. Later in the day, confer with that influential person you like so much. P.M. be the good Samaritan — someone needs your help very much.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Now you can really be off with fine comrades for the kind of weekend you enjoy most. Fall will soon be here, so enjoy the last warm rays of sunshine. Meet powerful individuals, too, who can be good contacts for the future.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) At last you can do some gardening, or be out-of-doors, which is impossible for you during work week. Good day to entertain employer, too, and discuss ways for advancement.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Occupy your mind and time with many new ideas that come to you today. Do much research work on them for future success. P.M. go out and relax at sports, or dancing. You are very talented — entertain others.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) By meditating a while in the morning, you are inspired just how to make this a most pleasant yet productive day. Handle whatever is pressing in emotional life. P.M. have fun with good friends or kin.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be with your associates socially today to discuss those things impossible to do during busy week. No finer day than this to cement better relations and show off fine culinary arts. Be charming.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) So many small duties await you today at home that you would be wise to get them out of the way without further procrastination. Also get wardrobe attended to for the busy days ahead. Take health treatments in P.M.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) Get dressed early in the morning and then off for a nice day at the sports or recreations that most please. A day's outing will release energy for the busy days and weeks ahead. Be good to yourself for a change.

If your child is born today . . The fine child born today is the type who will always be devoted to family and home. However, the importance of having security financially is also a must in this child's life, so you must give the kind of education that will permit him, or her to earn a good deal. This is a fine chart for business, especially banking or any profession where psychology and practical knowledge must blend.

He assailed reported Chinese propaganda claims that Sikkim and Bhutan were part of Chinese territory in the past and "were bound to return to the Chinese motherland within the next few years."

Such reports are naturally causing concern to the people of Sikkim and Bhutan and elsewhere in the border regions of India," Nehru said.

"Our position is quite clear. The government of India is responsible for the protection of the borders of Sikkim and Bhutan and of the territorial integrity of these two states and any aggression against Bhutan and Sikkim will be considered aggression against India."

Nehru was asked whether part of Ladake—an area of Kashmir bordering on western Tibet—had been occupied by Chinese troops.

He explained that a large mountainous area there is practically uninhabited and the few police posts are some distance from the border.

He said a six-man army patrol was sent in last month to investigate Chinese incursions.

"As the party was proceeding toward Khurnak fort, it was apprehended by a strong Chinese detachment on July 28 some miles from the border inside our territory," Nehru said.

Indian's northeast frontier agency is a rough forest-clad mountainous area and one of the world's most isolated regions.

In places where Tibet China and Assam meet the borderline runs through unmapped and uncharted country covered by thick jungle and inhabited by savage tribesmen.

Communications are almost-non-existent and there are neither roads, railways nor airfields for hundreds of miles around. It was through this territory that the Dalai Lama passed on his flight from Tibet to India last March.

There are many people of Tibetan stock and Lamaistic faith living in these frontier regions and several of the less-savage tribes have been colonized by Tibetans who infiltrated far to the south.

militarily entirely in the hands of a traitorous ally?"

The League of British Empire Loyalists feels U. S. pressure fored the halt in the 1957 British-French intervention in Suez, when Sir Anthony Eden was prime minister.

As Eisenhower and Macmillan drove through the Marylebone district, another member of the league shouted through a megaphone: "The Empire Loyalists ask, 'When is Harold Macmillan going to issue a British declaration of independence?'"

HALF MILLION CHEER

But overwhelming the heckling was the warm welcome that 500,000 Britons gave Eisenhower Thursday night as he drove into the city after his arrival from Bonn. It was the biggest ovation since the Coronation.

The crwods were packed 20 deep along the sidewalks. At times they surged into the streets slowing the open presidential car to a crawl. Through it all Eisenhower stood and waved his hat, laughing and smiling.

"I count on this being one of the most enjoyable and most fruitful journeys I have made in many countries of the world," he told Britons.

Eisenhower is satisfied that he has succeeded in setting at rest any misgivings the West German government may have had about his coming exchange visits with Khrushchev.

Flying to London Thursday night from Bonn, Eisenhower radioed West German Chancellor Adenauer from his plane "I believe that we have achieved much."

Eisenhower flew from London in an RAF jet to Dyce airport near Aberdeen, then drove 50 miles through the Deeside country with Prince Philip.

The Queen and Princess Margaret arrived at the castle gates a few minutes before Philip and Eisenhower drew up in a black limousine. The Queen wore a pale blue suit, the princess a dark grey one.

Stepping from the car, Eisenhower shook hands with the Queen and Margaret. Then he and the Queen inspected a guard of honor of the Royal Highland Fusiliers to the skirl of a pipe band.

Cheers went up from about 100 spectators, most of them members of the castle staff and a few from nearby villages.

Eisenhower then entered a royal car with the Queen, Philip and Margaret and the party was driven to the castle. Eisenhower has known the Queen since she was a teen-aged princess and the visit is a private one, with the arrival ceremony the only public event.

Philip and the American leader arrived more than 10 minutes late because of large welcoming crowds in areas along their route.

WHERE NEHRU ACCUSES CHINESE OF BORDER CROSSING — India's Prime Minister Nehru says Chinese Communist troops have crossed from Tibet into Indian territory at two widely separated frontier spots — (1) in India's northeast frontier area, and (2) in a remote sector of the Ladakh area of Kashmir. (AP Wirephoto).

India Won't 'Waste Troops' On Routine Border Patrols

By PETER JACKSON

NEW DELHI (Reuters) —The Indian Army today was reported establishing a forward headquarters in the northern border area where Chinese troops have captured an Indian border post.

Informed sources here said army detachments already are in the border area—the Northeastern Frontier Agency — and ready for action.

But, they said, the troops will not be "wasted" on routine border patrols where the only likelihood is minor skirmishing.

Prime Minister Nehru disclosed Friday that fighting had broken out between Indian border patrols and Chinese troops at the frontier post of Longju in the Himalayan region of Subansiri.

Fighting had gone on "for a considerable time" until the Indian troops withdrew, leaving the post in Chinese hands.

ARMY IN CONTROL

Nehru, who said the Chinese had committed aggression against Indian territory, said he had put the whole frontier area under Indian army control. It was policed previously by the local militia force, the Assam Rifles.

Informed sources today said the Assam rifles — composed mostly of Gurkhas commanded by Indian officers—will remain at the border posts but under army rather than civilian control.

Border posts are being strengthened and vigilance increased.

The Indian Air Force made reconnaissance flights over the frontier area but bad weather and dense jungles made it difficult to see anything.

Sources said there still was no news today of the Indian troops forced to retreat from the Longju outpost to Limeking, the next outpost, 20 miles to the south by a five-day march over mountainous territory.

CONDEMN CHINESE

Indian newspapers meanwhile condemned the Chinese incursion.

The independent Indian Express said Chinese Communists "must be left in no doubt that any intervention into our territory will be resisted with all our resources and that any such attempt will mobilize the free countries of Asia behind us."

The Hindustan Times said, "we want nothing from the Chinese except that they will respect what is indisputably ours and we are in position to enforce that respect. Our defences are not negligible and we are not alone."

The Ambalas Tribune suggested the Soviet Union should curb Chinese activities in the interest of Sino-Indian friendship.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis — The weather pattern over Ontario shows little change today.

Cool weather in northern regions is moving very slowly southward while hot and humid conditions persist in southern sections of the province. Temperatures dropped to the forties this morning in Northern Ontario but readings were still around the 70 marke near the lower Great Lakes.

Only a few isolated thundershowers are likely in southern regions where temperatures will be a few degrees lower than on Saturday.

RUSSIA WILL NOT HOLD BOMB TESTS UNTIL WEST DOES

Hopes Cessation Will Be Forever

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has agreed to hold off testing nuclear weapons as long as the Western powers do and said it hopes this will be forever.

The Russians responded to the American and British announcements this week extending the Western ban on nuclear tests at least for the rest of the year.

The Soviet government has made official a pledge given Aug. 10 by Premier Nikita Khrushchev. He told a British clergyman in a letter then that Russia was "ready to accept the most solemn obligations not to be the first to conduct any further tests of nuclear weapons."

The Soviet statement Friday night emphasized, however, that Russia would be "free from this pledge" if any Western powers carry out tests.

FRANCE PLANS TESTS

France is hurrying to join the nuclear club—now exclusively the United States, Britain and Russia —and is making plans for tests in the Sahara Desert.

The French have not disclosed their timetable for the tests. The wording of the Russian statement indicates Moscow would regard French explosions as a release from its own moratorium.

The United States, Britain and Soviet Union have been negotiating for almost 10 months in Geneva over a treaty for a permanent ban.

The Russians have balked at Western insistence on establishing controls to prevent sneak tests. The negotiations recessed on Wednesday for six weeks with agreement on only minor parts of the treaty.

BLAME WEST

The Soviet statement Friday night blamed the Western powers for the slowness of the negotiations. It charged that the West advanced "one demand after another, complicating the achievement of agreement."

The Russians said they would carry on with the negotiations, declaring they regarded complete cessation of nuclear weapons tests as "an important step toward stopping the nuclear arms race and averting the threat to the life and health of millions of people."

Canadian Wheat Crop Is Larger Than Last Year

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian farmers figure to harvest 405,013,000 bushels of wheat this year —nine per cent more than last year.

The prairie spring wheat crop is expected to total 391,000,000 bushels, an increase of 13 per cent.

The estimates, made by the bureau of statistics, are pegged to Aug. 15 crop conditions. These, the bureau said Friday, indicated that the over-all Canadian wheat yield will decline slightly this year to 17.6 bushels an acre as against 17.8 a year ago.

More than offsetting this is the fact prairie acreage has climbed by about 2,313,000 acres to 22,557,000.

The yield on the prairies will rise an estimated two percentage points to an average of 17.3 bushels.

BIG ONTARIO DECLINE

In Ontario, by contrast, the winter wheat yield is estimated at only 28.1 bushels, compared with 1958's record 41.2. This, combined with a 27-per-cent drop to 425,000 in acreage, will result in Ontario producing 11,900,000 bushels — only about half the amount it produced last year.

A 405,013,000-bushel Canadian crop would be the largest since 1956 when 573,062,000 bushels were grown. The 10-year average is slightly more than 490,000,000 bushels.

Harvesting has already started in Ontario and across the southern prairies.

DIES IN REFRIGERATOR

NEW YORK (AP) — Salesman Nat Finkelbrand, 53, returned home Thursday night and noticed an array of food from the refrigerator neatly stacked on a kitchen table. Opening the refrigerator door, he found the jackknifed body of his daughter, Ann Marily, 19, clad in a pink bathing suit. Police listed the death as apparent suicide.

TCA Says Rate Cut Cancelled Due Competition

MONTREAL (CP) — Competition on transcontinental routes has forced Trans - Canada Air Lines to cancel plans for a general five-per-cent reduction in fares, TCA President Gordon McGregor said Friday in an interview.

The Crown - owned company said two years ago it hoped to cut fares Jan. 1, 1960. The last general fare reduction was in 1958.

The Board of Transport Commissioners last spring granted Canadian Pacific Airlines the right to operate one transcontinental flight daily. TCA previously had a monopoly.

A CPA spokesman said in Vancouver it is difficult to make a statement on fares because the Trans-Canada service has only been in operation since May.

"It seems strange that one extra flight a day, in view of TCA's extra services, would make that much difference," he said.

B.C. Civil Servants' Bond Buying Switched to Govt.-Owned Railway

VICTORIA (CP)—British Columbia civil servants who want to invest through payroll deductions must switch from Canada Savings Bonds to five-per-cent parity bonds issued by the government - owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

A notice over the signature of Premier Bennett issued Friday said the government in October will stop making savings bond payroll deductions. Payroll deductions will be available for the purchase of the PGE bonds, a $10,000,000 issue of which goes on sale Sept. 1.

A. C. Bennett, assistant general manager of the B.C. Government Employees' Association, said in comment, "I am opposed to any kind of regulation as to how a civil servant should invest his earnings."

Dr. J. V. Fisher, financial adviser to the premier, said the government's payroll accounting machines are not capable of making two payroll deductions.

OTTAWA (CP)—Officials here adopted a wait-and-see attitude toward the B.C. government's policy of not deducting Canada Savings Bond premiums from payrolls of provincial civil servants.

Ottawa officials had been expecting the move, described here as "something new and different."

Whether it will affect sales of Canada Savings Bonds in B.C. as a whole was considered questionable.

HEARING NATIONAL ANTHEMS —President Eisenhower and the British royal family stand at attention outside gates of Balmoral Castle in Scotland, during playing of the national anthems. 'I Like Ike' Chants Crowd as He Arrives For Weekend Strategy Talks With MacMillan

WENDOVER, England (AP) —President Eisenhower flew back from Scotland today and joined Harold Macmillan for a weekend of strategy talks at Chequers, the prime minister's country home.

Crowds greeted his return from an overnight respite with the Royal Family in the Scottish Highlands.

Cheers and cries of "I like Ike" echoed as Eisenhower stepped from an RAF Comet jet airliner at Benson Air Base—a base he knew well from his days as the Allied commander in wartime.

Eisenhower beamed at the cheering crowd.

After shaking hands with the plane's crew he turned to walk to his waiting car. Photographers asked for another picture with the crew. He walked back and posed.

This delighted the crowd and brought more cheers.

"That's jolly good of him," remarked a woman standing in a roped-off enclosure.

He appeared relaxed and rested after an overnight stay at Balmoral Castle as a guest of the Queen and was accompanied by Prince Philip on the 50-mile drive to Aberdeen's Dyce airport, where he boarded an RAF Comet jet.

Along the route from Balmoral to Dyce clusters of spectators waved flags.

Philip waved goodbye to Eisenhower as the jet took off for the flight to Benson, Oxford shire, a few miles from Macmillian's official country home of Chequers.

The two statesmen will formally open their talks this afternoon.

Eisenhower is looking forward to smooth going in strategy talks with Macmillan and is likely to get some pointers on dealing with Nikita Khrushchev when the soviet premier visits Washington next month.

The British premier broke the ice in personal diplomacy by flying to Moscow last January for talks with Khrushchev. Macmillan came away convinced that the only hope of the Western Allies for easing tensions lay in a summit conference.

Eisenhower said then— and repeated in Bonn a few days ago —that he wants some assurance there would be progress at the summit before agreeing to such a meeting.

The thinking of U.S. officials is said to be that another meeting of Big Four foreign ministers should be held in advance of a heads-of-government session. The ministers recessed at Geneva earlier this month after an East-West deadlock.

Eisenhower bade a warm farewell to the Queen before heading back to his round of talks.

He clasped the Queen's hand for several seconds before getting into her maroon Daimler for the 50-mile drive to the airport. He spoke rapidly to the Queen all the time he held her hand, thanking her for her hospitality.

The Queen, Princess Margaret and Prince Charles and Princess Anne waved goodbye to Eisenhower until the car disappeared from sight down the drive from the castle.

Before leaving Balmoral, Eisenhower spent 10 minutes posing with the Royal Family for photographers on the grounds of the 24,000-acre royal estate.

Prince Charles and Princess Anne were dressed in the kilt.

Eisenhower arrived at Balmoral shortly after noon Friday. He had lunch with the Royal Family and then was taken on a sightseeing tour of the estate by the Queen. They had tea together with other members of the Royal Family on the shores of Loch Muich.

The Queen Mother drove from Birkhall, her private residence on the estate, to have dinner with Eisenhower and the Royal Family.

The Queen has been vacationing at Balmoral since it was announced August 7 that she is expecting a third child early next year.

Opposition to Chicago Water Diversion Bill Grows Bitter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposition to the Chicago lake-diversion bill increased in bitterness today as the Senate was called into a rare two-hour Saturday session for a resumption of the battle.

Senator George D. Aiken (Rep. Vt.) accused the Democratic and Republican leadership of working together to prevent a vote Friday night on a motion to refer the measure to the Senate foreign relations committee.

He told reporters he thought, because of absenteeism at the time, "we might have raised enough votes to carry it."

Pending is a motion by Senator Mike Mansfield (Dem. Mont.) the acting leader, to kill the motion to send the bill to the foreign relations committee. The idea would be for that committee to weigh Canadian objections to diverting an additional 1,000 cubic feet of water a second from Lake Michigan.

Chicago is seeking the additional water for a one-year test to coincide with a federal study of the effects on the lake, the Illinois waterway and the Chicago sewage disposal system.

Opponents contend the bill, already passed by the House of Representatives, would violate treaty agreements with Canada and damage Great Lakes shipping and St. Lawrence power production.

"Some of those supporting the bill are doing so because they feel President Eisenhower will veto it, as he has twice vetoed previous bills similar to it," Aiken said.

8 Plead Guilty To Setting Fires

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — A woman, three men and four youths have pleaded guilty to setting fires in the St. Catharines district between July 15 and Aug. 9.

Gilbert Weaver, 25, of Jordan Station, and Wayne Tufford, 22, of Vineland station, Friday pleaded guilty to setting fire to four buildings in Louth Township causing nearly $25,000 damage.

They were remanded in custody for sentencing Sept. 4.

Richard Weaver, 23, a brother, pleaded guilty to setting fire to two stacks of baled hay July 15.

Wednesday in magistrate's court Mrs. Betty Frost, 32, Beamsville; Barry Tuthill, 17, Jordan; Klass Koppers, 20, Vineland; Charles Russell Nunnamaker, 18, Jordan Station; and Leonard Tufford, 16, Vineland Station, admitted setting fire to hay stacks in the district.

The four youths were ordered held in Lincoln County jail without bail and Mrs. Frost was released without bail. All were remanded until Sept. 2 for sentencing.

Police said Mrs. Frost on one occasion had driven the four youths and a juvenile to a farm and, while she stayed in the car, the other five set fire to a haystack. Two other haystacks were destroyed by fire later.

Commission Says Firms Should Sell Canadian Crude

Against Building Pipeline From West to Montreal

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The Borden Energy Commission says international oil companies should themselves seek adequate markets in North America for Canada's oil wells or face Canadian import restrictions.

That policy was recommended to the federal government in the royal commission's final report made public Friday.

On a key issue before it, the six - member commission said that "at this time" the government shouldn't impose restrictions to ensure construction of an oil pipeline from the West to the rich Montreal market. Montreal refineries, with one - third of Canadian refining capacity, now use oil from Venezuela and the Middle East.

Instead, the commission said, the industry should be given 12 to 18 months to show whether it can develop adequate markets for Canadian oil.

700,000 BARRELS TARGET

The recommended target: Canadian oil production of about 700,000 barrels daily by the end of next year. Average 1958 output was 456,000 barrels daily—only about half of productive capacity.

If the oil companies show this can be done, then it would be "Neither necessary nor desirable to take action to secure the Montreal refining area as an outlet for Canadian crude." In other words: Shelve the pipeline.

The commission, whose first report last Oct. 25 led to the recent establishment of the National Energy Board to regulate gas and electricity exports, set out this proposed national policy for oil:

1. Export of Canadian oil, without licensing, should be allowed and encouraged.
2. Canadian oil should be used in refinery areas of Canada already accessible through existing pipelines. This would include the Sarnia, Toronto and Vancouver areas.

WOULD SWITCH SOURCE

To implement that policy, oil companies should:

1. Act as soon as possible to profide Canadian oil products to replace the equivalent of 50,000 barrels daily now moving into Ontario from Montreal refineries. The Montreal refineries involved have said they plan this switch by 1962.
2. Take "vigorous and imaginative action' 'to enlarge substantially markets in the United States, on a continuing basis.

The commission's report noted that the six big Montreal refineries are controlled by international oil companies.

In view of this, and the large idle oil capacity in Western Canada in which most of them had substantial ownership, "it is our view that these refiners should be prepared to strive assiduously to offset their imports of foreign crude to Montreal in order to markets."

LICENSING ALTERNATIVE

The commission's final recommendation set out the proposed alternative:

"If government action should become necessary to implement the national policy we have recommended," it said, oil imports —except those of U.S. oil—should be subject to licensing that would shut them out of any Canadian refining area adequately served by Canadian oil.

Crowd Smaller On Women's Day At CNE Due Heat

TORONTO (CP)—The spotlight at the Canadian National Exhibition shifts today from women to warriors with thousands of servicemen and ex - servicemen expected to take part in the Warriors' Day parade.

The ladies held sway Friday on Women's Day with Citizenship and Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough, Canada's first women cabinet minister, the guest speaker at the CNE director's luncheon.

Many of the 125,000 who thronged the grounds were drenched in a heavy 10-minute thunderstorm in the afternoon. The rain helped to break the humidity and cool things off for a while but the heat soon returned and a high of 85 is forecast for today.

The crowd was smaller by 9,500 than the same day last year but still left attendance for the first three days 11,500 ahead of 1958.

SAILORS COMPETE

A novel event was the whale boat races among crews from the ships of five NATO navies which are anchored off the exhibition grounds. A crew from HMCS Buckingham got its 27-foot, 1,500-pound whaler across the finish line first, a length ahead of the boat stroked by men from the West German frigate Hipper.

Sailors from France, the Netherlands, West Germany, Britain and the United States will join Canadians for today's parade which has been lengthened by a mile to accommodate them.

More than 12,000 marchers and 50 bands will take part with the salute to be taken by Lord Louis Mountbatten, admiral of the fleet and chief of Britain's defence staff.

HORSE SHOW

Winner in the class for light harness horse, single trotter, was Brownie Lee, owned by L. L. Thiboudeau, Markdale.

Believes Smog Ruins Tobacco

MONTREAL (CP)—Smog may be sending some tobacco growers' profits up in smoke, says Dr. Victor Runeckles, biochemist with Imperial Tobacco Company.

He said that since 1955 tobacco farmers along the north shore of Lake Erie have lost two or three crops as a result of "weather fleck."

Dr. Runeckles, a delegate to the ninth International Botanical Congress, said mature leaves of green Virginia tobacco become dotted with black and brown spots by weather fleck. They are brittle and useless when cured.

Scientists, he said, can find no organic cause such as virus, fungus or disease responsible. The spot is similar to that produced by ozone, a principal component of polluted air.

Use of Disease to Destroy Crops Said Impractical Form of Warfare

PUGWASH, N.S. (CP)—A leading British scientist says attempts to destroy crops by introducing pests and diseases would be an impractical method of waging warfare.

The comment was made during Friday's fifth sesion of a conference of world scientists discussing chemical and biological warfare at Cyrus Eaton's Thinker's Home here. Sessions end today.

In another report, a U.S. scientist said that however difficult international control of atomic weapons may be, "the international control of bacteriological and chemical weapons seems incomparably more difficult."

Neither scientist wanted his name mentioned.

Even if nuclear weapons are excluded, the British scientist said, the effects of attacking crowded towns with high explosives and incendiary bombs will produce much greater results. If nuclear weapons are used they will not only destroy the towns but also the crops over great areas, and nothing that could be done in any other way could have comparable results.

Several successive susceptible crops would have to be grown before the diseases could become prevalent and serious enough to cause large losses.

He said the first essential before deciding to use pests or microbes against an enemy, whether directed at human beings, stock or crops, would be the assurance "that the country using them is wholly safeguarded should the pests or microbes return as they surely will."

KINGSTON (CP) — Lawrence Larose, 20, a Collins Bay Penitentiary prisoner who walked away from a work gang and disappeared yesterday, was recaptured early today.

Prison officials said he gave up without a struggle when two guards came upon him hitch-hiking a few miles north of the penitentiary.

Very few people realize how great a value modern prescriptions really are. Older folks know, because they remember how long it used to take to cure an illness, the medical bill for the many calls physicians had to make and the large percentage of patients who unfortunately never did recover.

It is true that certain medicines, because of costly ingredients and expensive research seem highly priced. But now your physician makes fewer calls, you have much less sickness time and more lives are being saved. CUB CAMP NOTES

Each cabin leader subscribes to the "Camp Log," a very complete record of everything — well, nearly everything happened at the Cub camp.

"Indian Day," dawned bright and lonely and the quiet misty lake was a beautiful sight. Suddenly the peace was shattered by thumped pails and screaming Indians that invaded the sweet sanctuary of the cabins. Indian headdress and war paint blossomed from flag break on. Jimmy Kunkel, a descendant of the Mohawks was elected warrior chief. Imagine having a real Indian as chief in a Cub camp. Jimmy filled the role admirably in true Indian fashion. Our reporter, Murray Maw failed to record the number of scalps hanging from Jimmie's belt at the end of hostilities.

The camp fire as described by Arnold Welch, was set up with a wigwam in colorful blankets and a main fire built with two smaller fires representing teepees. The fire gods lit the two small fires and the fire gradually crept to ignite the main fire, which was a huge success. During the lighting ceduring. During the lighting ceremony the faint beat of tomtoms kept everyone in silence Golden Quill and Red Fang (Barry Simpson and Jack Harris) sat in front of the wigwam wrapped in blankets; the whole setting a wonderful Indian day spirit. Next morning sleepy Cubs entered the dining hall and found leaders with white beards hobbling around on crutches. Akela explained that this was the effect five days camping had on our young leaders.

After dinner Black Plume (Murray Maw) gave an interesting talk on the origin of the Olympic Games. At 2.30 p.m. Tawney Fur (Murray Angus) carried the torch through the camp followed by the Cubs. The symbolic torch was handed to Akela who officially opened the games. These are so arranged that Cubs can qualify for their athlete's badge.

Those successful were: Brian Reddick, Edward Abrams, James Kunkel, Michael Williams, David Clarke, Joel Hendricks, Charles Smith, Graydon Flindall, Randy Courneyea, Paul Hunter, David White, Doug Olsen, Michael Halinski, Lyle Peverley, David Martin, Wayne Sagar, Michael Sharland, Garry McGhee, George Genereaux, Gerard Burns, Arthur Fort, Ronald Dickens, Ernie Pope, Douglas Harris, David Schutz, Norman Gerow, Allan O'Hara, Ian Clarke, David Bersford, Charles Joyce, Robert McDiarmid, John McPhee, Ronald Agar.

First aid, observers and artists badge winners will be listed in a future edition.

The closing campfire, to which parents are invited, is the best of all. Each cabin contributes part of the program. At the end of festivities, Vespers is sung with bowed heads, and the campfire and Cub camp for 1959 is ended. There is always a tinge of sadness when the Cubs leave with their parents and the leaders are left to clean camp but, as in all of Akela Ashley's Cub camps they have the wonderful feeling of a job well done as the 9th Belleville District Cub camp closes. A successful project in all its phases; a week the cubs — and leaders — will remember and cherish in the years ahead.

'Outside Influence' Helped Sway Council's Decision to Build New Courthouse Claim

A claim that "outside influence" had helped to sway council decision for the construction of a new courthouse, was made before Hastings county council Friday morning as members met Friday for the last day of their August session.

The charge was made by Madoc township reeve Earl Sager, who said it seemed odd that the decision to erect a new courthouse had been made only a short time after council at its April session had decided on renovation of the present building rather than construct a new courthouse.

Reeve Sager said he had been surprised to learn through the press than the contract for construction of the new courthouse had been let by the finance committee to the H. J. McFarland Construction Company.

Newsmen were told prior to the opening of the council session on Wednesday that the contract for the construction of the new courthouse had been awarded at a price of $542,000.

MADOC REEVE UNHAPPY

"It would have been only common courtesy to let council members know before the public announcement," he said.

The Madoc reeve went on to say that there were a lot of aspects on the courthouse matter which would not look good in print. "If there ever was a time when full consideration of all the facts should be made by the Municipal Board, this is it," he claimed.

He noted that at the April session council had voted in favor of renovations at the courthouse rather than for construction of a new building and had allocated up to $50,000 to proseed with repairs.

BANGOR REEVE REPLIES

But instead of proceeding with repairs the finance committee had come up with fresh evidence that a new building was necessary.

In reply Reeve William Davis of Bangor said it had not been the intention to bring evidence that a new building was needed.

As a member of the committee delegate to plan for repair, Mr. Davis said that after a day time which renovations would ceed with repairs.

"I did not report that a new building was required, only the time which renoations would take and the possible cost," he said.

He went on to note that the matter had been dealt with at a special meeting of council held in July and said it had been his understanding that the finance committee had been authorized to call for new tenders and to award the contract.

Reeve Sager said his objection had not been directed at the finance committee but at the report of hydro and fire marshal's department inspectors which he said indicated there was no alternative but for a new building.

Reeve James Kinlin of Hungerford said he was quite concerned of Belleville's share of the cost of the new structure noting that he had heard the city had received a letter from the municipal board indicating that no more borrowing would be approved unless it was for projects of an emergency nature.

"I don't think they would call a new courthouse an emergency," he said.

AWAIT BOARD APPROVAL

Warden Jack Brown said the whole matter was in the hands of the municipal board and until board approval was given to the share which Belleville, Trenton or the county would pay, there would be no work started.

Warden Brown noted that when new tenders were called it was fully expected prices would be up over bids received earlier in the year. Building costs were increasing rapidly, he said, and architects expected the new figure might be five per cent higher.

Discussion on the courthousse issue arose with the reading of the finance and public property report by Reeve Max Mawson, committee chairman.

The report noted that the finance committee had opened tenders for the courthouse on August 17th. Three tenders had been received, the lowest being that of the H. J. McFarland Construction Company, which was $12,000 lower than the next highest bid. Tenders expired in 30 days and would run out on September 11.

In reply to a question as to what the contract figure was, Warden Brown said the low bid had been $542,000.

He said the committee had run into a lot of trouble in asking for be-bids on the courthouse construction.

It had been learned that tenders could not be recalled without a very good reason. As result additional work was included in the specifications and the three lowest tenders in the previous tender call were asked to rebid.

COMMISSION

It said the National Energy Board should be asked to keep the situation under review, including the question of a Canadian oil pipeline to Montreal.

Trade Minister Churchill, at a press conference, gave no indication of whether the government will adopt the proposed policy. He said the 230-page report will be studied by the government and the energy board before policy is decided.

BORDEN COMMENTS

Commission Chairman Henry Borden, Toronto lawyer and president of Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Corporation, told reporters he is "firmly of the belief" that if the government declared such a policy the oil industry would do its best to live up to it.

He was asked whether the report is, in fact, telling the international oil companies to provide more markets in North America for Canadian oil or face licensing of imports to their Montreal refineries from their Venezuela or Middle East oil fields.

"I think that perhaps is not an unfair interpretation," Mr. Borden replied.

One member of the six-man commission, Dr. G. E. Britnell of the University of Saskatchewan, wrote a memorandum of reservations.

He said a year or two isn't long enough to test the industry's ability to find new markets. The report, he suggested, would too quickly bring government intervention to meet foreign competition. Further, it took a too-gloomy view of the Canadian industry's prospects.

DOESN'T SHARE VIEW

Mr. Borden told reporters he doesn't share Dr. Britnell's view that the report advises too-rapid government protection.

On the question of an Alberta-Montreal oil pipeline — a 2,000-mile project costing some $400,000,000—the commission said import restrictions would have to be imposed "if it should become advisable to move Canadian Crude to Montreal in order to maintain a healthy industry in Canada."

If it were declared to be national policy that Canadian crude should serve Montreal, then any pipeline builders would be protected against foreign competition—provided a national import licensing policy was in effect.

Chief proponents of the oil line to Montreal have been a group of western producing companies headed by Home Oil. The Alberta government backed their stand. Montreal refinery companies opposed the pipeline and argued it would not be economic.

U.S. MIGHT RETALIATE

The commission said Canada's ability to secure oil markets in the U.S. would be seriously impaired if the Montreal market were restricted to Canadian oil before the possibilities of the U.S. market were fully exploited.

It might also prejudice Canada's current position of being exempted from U.S. oil import restrictions, the commission cakutioned. And it might jeopardize restrictions, the commission cauoil policy.

This idea of a continental oil policy crops up repeatedly in the commission's report. It would involve arrangements between Canada and the United States for oil production of both countries to be used in either country in the most efficient manner.

DUTIES FINISHED

In a statement issued with the commission's report, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said the commission's work now is completed—nearly two years after it was set up.

Mr. Diefenbaker's statement said a separate commission now is being set up to study the coal industry. He made no reference to possible studies of the uranium industry.

The commission's membership, with Mr. Borden and Dr. Britnell, included: L. Louis Levesque, Montreal; R. M. Hardy, Edmonton; Dr. R. M. Howland, Halifakx, and Leon J. Ladner, Vancouver.

Centralized County Jail System for Three Counties Will Be Further Screened

Possibilities of a centralized county jail system taking in the three counties of Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington will be further investigated by members of Hastings county council.

A preliminary report on the possible advantages of such a system was given to members of council Friday afternoon by Reeve William Davis who said that Reform Institution officials were wholeheartedly in favor of the idea.

He quoted the official as saying that centralization of jails was long overdue and that such a system would prove much more economical as considering the total jail population too great a staff was needed for their present operation.

Mr. Davis noted that the average cost of maintaining a prisoner in the Hastings county jail was $5.13 per day; in Prince Edward the cost was $8.81 per day and in Lennox and Addington the cost was $7.03.

The average number of jail inmates at Belleville was 27, in Prince Edward 7.3 and in Lennox and Addington 13.

Jail salaries at Belleville cost $37,386 per year; $14,600 at Picton and $18,714 at Napanee.

It was stated that the three counties of Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington were geographically grouped in such a way as to make for the most economical operation of a centralized jail. Prisoner transportation costs would be less in this grouping than with Northumberland, it was stated.

NO ACTION TAKEN

No action was taken on the matter with Warden J. N. Brown noting that additional information will be secured with further discussion to be entered into at the December session of council.

Councillors wound up their August session Friday afternoon with the passing of by-laws authorizing the issuing of debentures for construction of the proposed new Hastings county courthouse, and the acceptance of bids for debentures for $180,000 for an addition at the Bancroft High School. The accepted bid was a price of $97 for six per ecnt 20 year debentures.

Also passed during the afternoon session was a by-law setting up an educational consultive committee to investigate the possibility of establishing a "corridor" through Sidney township to enable the village of Frankford to join the Bay of Quinte High School District.

Named to the committee were Reeve Wilmott Rose of Frankford, Reeve Harleigh Hamilton of Sidney, with Ex-Warden Lloyd Price as a third party. The district public school inspector and a representative from the Ontario Department of Education are automatically members of the committee.

Reeve Hamilton could not see the necessity of forming the consultive committee at the county's expense. He could not see why the two municipalities concerned could not get together "to see what could be done."

NO REQUEST RECEIVED

He said there had never been any request from Frankford for such a meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth York, superintendent and matron at the Hastings county home, together with members of the county home committee, were named delegates to attend this year's county home convention to be held at St. Catharines.

As the session concluded Reeve James Kinlin voiced the appreciation of council to Warden Brown for the capable manner in which the business of the session had been conducted.

Machinery Sold At Auction to Help Pay Debts

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mining machinery worth an estimated $35,000 was sold for $3,905 Thursday at an auction to pay off debts claimed against James Harrison McKee, whose $750,000 scheme to recover gold from Fraser River sands collapsed.

Of the money raised at auction, $500 and lawyers' costs went to clear off five months of unpaid rent on a yard owned by Elmer, Norman and Edith Jordan, two brothers and a sister.

The remainder was placed in court control to be held towards a $7,000 mortgage which was also owing.

One machine—a high-pressure pump, with engine and hose—was valued at $28,000. Bidding started at $500 and it went for $2,400.

The machinery had been stored in a building in neighboring south Burnaby adjacent to the yard which McKee rented from the Jordan family. A bailiff seized it earlier this week.

WHEREABOUTS UNKNOWN

There was no word here on McKee's whereabouts.

He is reported to have collected some $750,000 during a period of several years from people in many parts of Canada, mainly from Baptists in Ontario and British Columbia.

He claimed to have a chemical method of extracing gold from the black sands of the Fraser River at Lillooet, B.C.

Profits from the old project were to have been used by the Anti - Communists Freedom Foundation of Canada, which planned to build a radio station at Prince George, B.C., and beam messages to Communist China.

Lloyd Jordon of Vancouver, a friend and admirer of McKee, made a last-minute attempt to stop the auction.

He offered Jim Newton, manager of Pacific coast creditors the $500 to pay the back rent. He gave up when it was explained to him there was also a $7,000 mortgage claim.

Two Being Held On Possible Car Theft Charge

Two young men, one from Nova Scotia and the other giving his address as Toronto, are being held by city police for investigation on a possible car theft charge after being stopped for speeding in the city.

Constable L. Lattone spotted the late model car on Dundas Street near the eastern limits of the city and stopped the car in the vicinity of the hospital. Driver of the car was unable to produce an operator's licence and the rough dress of the men did not correspond with the expensive auto they were driving. When they could not produce an ownership card, the men were detained until police could determine if the Quebec car was stolen.

Few Harvest Labor Problems As Canada Seems Headed for Satisfactory Yield of Crops

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada seems headed for a satisfactory yield of farm crops with few harvest labor problems this season.

Alberta and New Brunswick were the only provinces reporting below-average crop expectations in a survey by The Canadian Press. Others say good, or better - than - average crops, are likely.

The harvest labor picture generally looks good except that in Alberta the days of the great farm excursions from the east have vanished. Since before the First World War, these train excursions had brought thousands of transient farm workers to the harvest in the west.

A year ago Alberta had only about 75 harvesters available from the east to supplement its own farm forces handling 70,000 farms.

DRY AREAS

This year's Alberta farm yield is expected to be about the same as a year ago, but well below the occasional bumper crops of previous years. Some areas which have lacked rain practically all summer may not even bother to harvest.

Saskatchewan, anticipating an average crop on 100,000 farms, has no serious labor problem. The province's entire labor force, including farmers and their families, is estimated at close to 150,000. About 400 other men have already been hired for the harvest.

Manitoba does not anticipate any harvest-labor shortage. The employment service there is managing to keep abreast of the requests from farmers. The province hopes to harvest a better-than-average crop. Yields so far have been good and of fair quality, the provincial agriculture department reported.

In Ontario an excellent hay crop was reported due to good drying weather. A long hot spell brought on some fall crops early, with tomatoes and peaches especially ripening fast.

The farm labor situation in Ontario is good, according to the provincial agricultural department. There was a demand for tobacco harvesters. For the Ontario harvest as a whole about 500 workers have been recruited from the Maritimes.

SURPLUS IN QUEBEC

In Quebec an actual surplus of job-seekers was reported, and wages consequently are low. The annual flow of some 4,000 workers to the potato harvest in Maine will be repeated this year. The crops in Quebec generally were expected to be of good yield, although dry weather was hampering the work in the northwest.

British Columbia requires another 20,000 workers for its orchards and fields, by an estimate of the provincial agricultural department, but does not expect any difficulty in gettimg them.

The B.C. hay and grain crops are reported good, especially in the rich Peace River region of the northeast part of the province.

New Brunswick's potato acreage this year is 42,300 compared with 46,000 a year ago. The yield probably will be down because of dry weather. The hay crop is also expected to be below average.

Blueberries in New Brunswick however will probably yield 3,500,000 pounds compared with 2,500,000 in 1958. Strawberries may reach only 650,000 quarts, compared with 1,000,000 a year ago. The apple crop however is likely to be higher by 65,000 bushels. Wheat, oats and mixed grains are expected to be above average.

NO SHORTAGE

New Brunswick does not anticipate any labor shortage, and many farm workers will go to northern Maine to aid the potato harvest there.

The Prince Edward Island potato crop will not reach the picking stage for some time, and it was not yet known whether the labor supply would be adequate. The crop is expected to be lower than the previous year.

In Nova Scotia, the demand for apple pickers is expected to be higher than in former years because of a bumper crop.

FIRE IN CAR

TRENTON — Firemen were called out to a fire in a second-hand car parked in the car lot behind the Public Utilities Building on Murphy Street. The upholstery had caught fire and was smouldering when the firemen arrived. The call came in shortly after 5 p.m. and a short time later the trucks went to the same car the second time. Cause of the fire or the amount of the damage was not given.

TRAFFIC HEAVY

Only slight accidents marred the traffic scene in Trenton yesterday, despite the reported "heavier than usual" traffic. Three mishaps were reported but the damage was less than $100 in all cases. Shoppers began pouring into Trenton about 6 p.m., police sources report, and traffic was very heavy until around 8.30 p.m.

NEW BUILDINGS

Work on two down-town construction jobs is progressing steadily. One is the new building being eerected next to the Liquor Control Board's store on Division Street, which will be used for a retail outlet and offices. The second the addition to the Stanley Ladies' Wear on King Street, is being constructed by Miron and Lassing Contractors. Mark Tripp owns the building. The store's addition fills in a good portion of the parking space behind the Bank of Nova Scotia Building and the Star Cafe and will be used by Stanley's, it is reported, for an exclusive line of wedding gowns.

TAKES OVER POST

Mrs. Shirley Laidly, well-known Trenton women's page editor will take over a new post with radio station CJBQ in Trenton commencing Monday. Mrs. Laidly takes the job formerly held by Mrs. Betty Smith, also a former newspaper woman, who will be leaving for Saskatoon, Sask. soon with her husband, an officer in the RCAF who has been transferred to that city.

UP FROM THE DEPTHS — George Woodhouse (behind the mask) has just brought up one of the iron bands which secured the oak planks forming the hull of a three-master schooner now resting on the bottom of the Bay of Quinte near Trenton. One of the youngsters who came over to see what was going on gives a hand getting it into the boat.

Local Scuba Divers Discover Schooner Near Canal Mouth

What is it? What's its history? These are the questions which local Scuba (self-contained underwater breathing aparatus) divers have been asking themselves ever since they first had a look at what are the remains of a threemasted schooner towards the western end of the Bay of Quinte, a mile east of the mouth of the Murray Canal.

Tipped off about the wreck by Doug Storey, who came across it whilst boating, George Woodhouse, president of the local Scuba club, the Sportsman Hell Divers, and Garry Cranston, a diving captain in the club went to have a look at it.

They found a sunken ship whose dimensions are approximately 100 feet in length and 30 feet across the beam. It lies under anywhere from about four to fifteen feet of muddy water and is well-embedded in the muddy bay bottom. As yet the name of the vessel is not known there being no name plates visible in the usual places. After two diving expeditions however, Messrs. Woodhouse and Cranston are getting a better idea as to the layout of the wreck and discovered a second deck under a few feet of mud below the level of what was initially considered to be the main deck.

A few interesting items have been brought up from the bottom. Several rust-encrusted eye bolts, some nails, and some iron brace bolts have come to light, as well as certain oak pieces used to support and locate the ship's masts, which have disappeared. It is reported that the wood is in an excellent state of preservation, with only a thin veneer of it having rotted. In planks of about 18 by three inches and beams of about 12 by 12 inches, this still leaves a long way to go before the hull and decking will collapse.

An excursion is planned for the Scuba club divers tomorrow to more thoroughly investigate the wreck. As yet, however, little is known about it other than it is there and it is hoped that some of its history will eventually come to light. Persons who might have information about this old schooner are asked to contact this newspaper.

Too Big for Their Parking Spaces

A couple of times recently we have almost barked our shins on the rear bumper of an automobile draping its fins over the clearly-marked crosswalk. This irritates, but before aiming a kick at the shining chrome monster we glanced away up the street at the nearest parking meter and noted with astonishment that the other end of the blockade was legally hitched in its appointed place.

This brought forcibly to our attention the way in which the automobile has been growing in our healthy climate.

Where two or more parking meters are joined together, this rear-end spread may go unnoticed by the pedestrian, although not, of course, by the driver who tries to squeeze his car into the parking spot and its once adequate additional manoeuvring space.

It seems clear that municipalities will shortly face considerable expense in relocating parking meters so that they are long enough to accommodate the modern car.

But, come to think of it, why should municipalities do this! There are learned lectures about the way in which our twentieth century cities are being choked by the automobile, accompanied by hundreds of suggestions, and a half dozen or so actual projects, to ban the villain of the piece in the down-town areas.

If such action can even be proposed, why shouldn't the municipalities at least try a half-way measure — leave parking meters where they are, with plenty of space between to receive a car but no room for big floats?

And on the highways the licensing authorities might set the engineers to playing with their slide rules to figure out just how many more miles of road must be built every time a given number of cars are each lengthened by a foot. In this work, of course, attention must be given to the familiar rule of so many lengths between cars at such and such a speed, multiplying the additional space required every time the auto grows longer. Then, when all the returns are in, perhaps consideration could be given to varying license fees in accordance with a car's length, rather than its horsepower.

Consumer Credit Rises

Everybody is in a tizzy about so-called tight money, about the difficulty persons and corporations are experiencing in borrowing money so they can buy on credit.

One reason why there is a shortage of money to be loaned is because so much money has been loaned already.

On June 30, 1958, Canadians owed instalment finance companies, small loan companies and department stores $1,411,000,000. On June 30th this year they owed these same firms $1,466,000,000. This is an increase of $55,000,000, or roughly 4 per cent.

That, though, is only part of the story. The banks have been stepping up their personal loans. A year ago these amounted to $809,000,000, now the total is $1,080,000,000, an increase of $211,000,000, or over 25 per cent. Moreover, most of this increase in bank loans has occurred since the beginning of this year, when the total was only $898,000,000.

There's one bright spot in this picture. Those who boosted the consumer credit total by obtaining money from their bank will pay considerably less interest than they would have been required to pay to loan companies and, therefore, should be able to get out of debt faster.

A Best Seller Now

We see by a list in the Vancouver Sun that "Lady Chatterley's Lover" by D. H. Lawrence heads the fiction "best-seller" list in that city.

This, of course, is the result of the current controversy as to whether it is an obscene book or a work of art.

It is easy to smile cynically and regard this as new evidence of mankind's interest in pornography — other men's interest, of course.

It is not so easy to admit that, had one been browsing through a library a few months ago and come across "Lady Chatterley's Lover," by D. Lawrence, one might or might not, have been tempted to read it by a dim twenty-year-old memory of Lawrence's "Sons and Lovers", including to be sure certain spicy paragraphs in the same; but that encountering the same book today under similar circumstances one would almost certainly take it out, "just to see what all the fuss is about."

THE BIGNESS OF THE UNKNOWN

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Don't ever get the notion
  That you know so very much;
Don't ever get to thinking
  With the whole world you're in touch,
For with all your kind of knowledge
  You can always wiser grow,
You should realize the bigness
  Of the things you do not know.

Don't go strutting round and posing
  As a man who knows it all,
For the knowledge of the wisest
  After all, is very small,
There are some things men are sure of,
But our progress has been slow;
And the wise admit the bigness
  Of the things they do not know.

There is nothing man can speak of
  That a scientist will own
That the brain of man has mastered
  And about which all is known.
Give a lifetime to a study,
  And when life is ebbing low
You must still admit the bigness
  Of the things you do not know.

Canada - - Reasonable Land

By Patrick O'Donovan in The London Observer

to write about. Its history has none of the overwhelming certainties of the United States of the school books, with its heroes, triumphs, clear purpose and unquestioned morality. It has avoided the swollen and almost secret prides of Britain. It has developed no strong and unmistakable flavor of its own, as Australia has. It is easier to generalize over divided Germany than over confederated Canada.

American tourists find pleasant evidence of Europe here, in red coats and royal ciphers, in the solid grey cut of a business district or in the theatrical and confident splendors of a Roman Catholic church. Europeans are struck by how American it all is — the uniforms of porters, the food, the suburbs and the accent. No one seems to stop and exclaim, "how Canadian" — unless it be to a moose in the wilderness.

Nor does there seem to be a solid core of specifically Canadian opinion. The new arrivals do not develop the nagging loyalty of the new Americans. They seem at times to be most united by a casual scepticism of almost everything — and by a particular dislike for the idea of Mr. Dulles and for their conception of the English gentleman.

True, Canada is a country even more severely divided by language, geography and interests than the United States is. You can never be quite sure how representative the government in Ottawa is. There are vast differences of opinion, but they seem not to be strongly held and do not show in a way that threatens the cohesion of the whole.

Canada seems a contented, even complacent country. It is a little jealous of the United States, yet feels politically and morally superior to it. It is usually respectful of, though rarely enthusiastic about, the tenuous British connection, but it is of no great importance to the majority. It is a reasonable and happy and most prosperous state, and yet it has no recognizable culture of its own. It shows little and hides nothing. It drives a journalist to the inessentials, because the essentials are so hard to find.

Canada has won itself a position of rare dignity. Within the accepted limitations it has an extraordinary influence on American government. Washington respects Canada as sisterly and sincere. The shadow of Canadian discontent is specially potent in the Congress. In NATO and among the Scandinavians, Canada has won such good opinions that America would be faced with a wide opposition in any dispute with Canada. Among the uncommitted nations of Asia and the Far East, Canada's position is unique.

Despite the endless complaining of its citizens and its occasional unction and its sometimes less-than-London demonstrations for the person of the Queen, Canada is content with a thinner myth than almost any other country in the world. It seems never to have been infected with the vulgarities of nationalism and is not driven to excesses by any need to assert itself. It is marvellously dispassionate and yet dependable in crises.

All this is not so much fun as crashing bands and streets gone wild with enthusiasm. Yet the sum of the contradictions — and the uncertainty — is one of the most civilized and reasonable communities in all the world.

Humans Must Have Salt

Welland Evening Tribune

Although physicians prescribe a salt-free diet in many cases, a completely saltless diet is not to be contemplated. Perspiration, even in a mild degree, eliminates the salt in the body in a normal way, and this loss of salt in hot weather, should be supplied by artificial means if necessary. Loss of salt causes fatigue. This may occur in factories where men work in a high temperature, and many employers not only provide cool drinking water by an electric device, but also provide salt tablets to take, one at a time, with the drinking water.

Fortunately, the abundance of summer fruits and vegetables that have a natural affinity for salt plays into the homemaker's hand in providing the extra salt needed by an active family in summer. Use of a little more salt in the preparation of foods and the serving of salty nibbles with cool summer drinks are good protection against salt depletion.

The body uses the salt it needs and discharges the rest.

Studies have shown that as little as five percent loss of salt from continued heavy perspiration produces weariness. Heat fag follows a 10 per cent salt loss; effort is forced when the supply drops 20 per cent; and dizziness may result from a 30 per cent salt loss. When the body's salt supply drops 40 per cent heat cramps may occur, while a 50 per cent loss may result in prostration.

Heat stroke or sun stroke is the oldest known disease, and the oldest records of the affliction are in the Bible. Fifty years ago in this country it was believed that drinking ice water after exposure to prolonged heat was the cause of stomach cramps and other symptoms. Now it is known that the contributing cause is loss of salt in the system, and that salt lost through perspiration must be replaced continually to maintain an adequate reesrve.

Night Breeds Strange Cars

Hamilton Spectator

They aren't sold by the dealers, you never see one on a used car lot and so far as we know, no manufacturer has ever produced one—but they exist nevertheless. We refer to the type of automobile which stops at a neighbor's house to discharge passengers coming home from a party at 12.30 a.m.

The car in which these people have been given a lift home carries at least 26 passengers and has 17 doors. Any person lying in bed trying to sleep who doubts this may count the number they seem to hear alighting and the resulting heavy "whunk" sound as each of the doors slams shut. These doors are ingeniously made of ferro-concrete slamming against a sort of sodden echo chamber. They were designed by the man who turns the billets over in a rolling mill. The engine, strange to say, is a relatively modest affair — probably only 12 or 16 cylinders, perhaps designed by the man who built the power plant for a North Star or variable pitch propellor for a Harvard. But it has a unique quality. The harmonic note of its exhaust synchronizes always with the air volume in the bedroom of the nearest sleepers, creating a pulsation such as goes on in an organ pipe.

The headlights on this early morning automobile are on a swivel arrangement, so that no matter in what direction the car faces, the beam will always shine into your bedroom. It has a radio too, designed by the man who put the public address system in Grand Central Terminal. When you consider that on its departure it can rev up from a standing start to 80 miles an hour in the first twenty feet, it is, all in all, quite an automobile.

But they don't make them and you can't buy one. They just happen, outside your house that is, at 12.30 a.m.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

NEVER MIND

We are troubled with so much that doesn't matter. We take upon us worries and fears that have no place in a healthy human being. Get the habit of never minding when troubles appear. Troubles have to hunt out the troubles of others, else they can't live. Say to your troubles (and smile when you say it), never mind.

Few things are as bad as they are imagined. Never mind what people say that is untrue. As a once popular saying had it — "Live about it." That is good advice. Never mind when you are disappointed. Who isn't disappointed and unhappy at times? That is one of the shades of life itself. We can't win all the time. That would spoil us. Here are some lines learned many years ago: "Only those are crowned and sainted who with grief have been acquainted, making nations nobler, freer."

We all have our failures. Let us walk right by them, ignore them, and open the gate to let them out. Forgiving and forgetting is indeed an art. Demonstrate your ability. If you feel trapped, never mind. Have vision. Learn by what has gone before. No matter what the problem may be, never mind. Pass on. Hold your chin high with resolute courage.

Be a leader. Never mind what the crowd says. It's wrong more times than it is right.

So the other fellow beat you out. Never mind. New ideas are forever on the march. Own a few! They will keep you in your old age! Never mind the people who say that what you are doing will never win. Thousands have said that it can be done. Never mind the others!

The British Fleet is ready. The British nation is ready for any eventuality, Prime Minister Chamberlain told a wildly cheering House of Commons today, while the world still looked to Adolf Hitler to make the choice between peace and war. In a low voice which seldom rose above conversational tone, Mr. Chamberlain repeated Britain's determination to stand by its military pledge to Poland.

The regular weekly meeting of the Canadian Cabinet has been called for tomorrow at three p.m. In the meantime all Ministers are on call in case an emergency meeting should be necessitated by developments in the European situation.

Life Is Hard In Far North

Montreal Star

To any soldier who wears campaign ribbons for action in the wet canteen, no withdrawal could be more galling than having to blow up a beer dump. This sad duty has fallen to the 562nd Engineer Company, First Battle Group, 23rd Infantry, U.S. Army. What a dreary engagement to inscribe on their battle honors!

The theatre of operations is St. Lawrence Island, just 40 miles away from Siberia. Two years ago the Army abandoned a listening post up there and withdrew with most of its equipment. But the logistics of evacuating some 7,000 cases of tinned beer would have been prohibitive. So the Army decided with deepest regret to destroy it. They did their tearful best, but thousands of cans remained.

This posed a problem. St. Lawrence was becoming a tight little island. The younger Eskimos had taken to making forays into the camp site and coming back sozzled. There was fighting and rowdy talk, and the village elders took a very dim view of it. They protested to the authorities, and more soldiers were sent in to destroy this disturber of the civic peace. They never quite succeeded, which is natural. Their hearts couldn't have been in the job.

Now a small task force has been sent in to finish the job once and for all. They have bulldozers to plow the remaining cans into huge piles, stocks of high explosives to blow these piles up, and ponchos to protect them from the malt fallout. They also have can openers, just in case some of the enemy resist to the last.

All this is being done with a stern sense of urgency. The soldiers have to fight down their instinctve revulson for ths umnatural type of warefare, and do their duty. They are not singing "Roll Out the Barrel" in the usual carefree way as they gird for battle. And no doubt the top sergeants have a batch of crime sheets ready and waiting for the first mother's son that falls in with a hiccup.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

ADORATION AND WORSHIP

The English dictionary gives a number of definitions for the word "worship". The one which most accurately describes worship says that it is "an act of paying divine honors to a deity; religious reverance and homage, adoration or reverence paid to God." In fact, the English word itself comes from two Anglo-Saxon words which mean "worth ship." Worship deals with the most precious factors in the whole of God's universe.

We believe not only that God made the world in which we live but that He is still in it. It is possible, of course, for us to worship God anywhere we happen to be and at any time, but human experience proves that unless we set aside stated times and places for worshipping God, we soon get to the place where we utterly neglect to worship Him. What can be done at any time and anywhere is usually not done at all. Hence, we have holy appointments and shrines.

We are a generation of activists. We think of our religion in practical terms, and this, on the whole, is a good thing. But there is more to the Christian religion than merely living a good life and loving our neighbors. In adoration and worship our spirits reach up to God and God's spirit reaches down to us.

The blessing of God under these circumstances is the reward of the worship experience.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

CHILDHOOD HEADACHES CAN RESULT FROM MANY THINGS

"Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, 11, has been having heaaches for two years. Sometimes she has two or three a week. Sometimes they affect her on the side of the neck. Sometimes she vomits. Other times they are mild. She does not always get them when she is in school. She is a nervous child with a quick temper". — W. M. T.

Headache is not one of the common afflictions of childhood, but it certainly can occur — and from a variety of causes.

The strain of faulty vision; chronic infection (ear, tonsils, sinus region); sometimes, but rarely, allergies can be the cause. Again, headaches may be "copied" from a parent who frequently complains of one. And still again, a headache can be a bid for attention.

And cetrainly one more cause —tension. The tension headache doubtless is as common as any type among adults. Tension can take its toll in a child. In the letter above, the fact that she is "a nervous child with a quick temper" sounds significant.

Her mother has shrewdly noted that these headaches aren't characteristically associated with school. It just so happens that some young 'uns learn to use a "headache" as a ruse to avoid school, or avoid something else they want to get out of!

Also to be considered are such things as problems (real or imagined) in the family: competition with brother or sisters; jealousy over attention bestowed elsewhere; bickering between parents; competition with playmates; envy; worry over not "measuring up" to what is expected. And so on.

This general sort of situation may be the begiming of migraine which more often afflicts tense people, and usually flares up under periods of tension or frustration. The psychological rather than physical, or organic aspect, is, I suspect, dominant.

But physical matters can cause or contribute to headaches, and the fact that multiple causes can be present is the reason why diagnosis is not simple.

A head injury can cause headaches that may follow for years afterwards. A convulsive disorder of the epileptic pattern may be present even though it is not apparent as epilepsy itself. (The EEG, or electro-encephalogram, also known as a "brain wave test" will show this.)

Faulty nutrition (low blood susometimes is the real cause of irritability and headache.

High blood pressure, kidney disease and other conditions can be important in headaches among older people, although these, of course, are not common in children.

A child's headaches deserve attention. If there is a physical cause, naturally it should be corrected. If it is tension — well, that also warrants help. Learning to meet life with adequate calmness is one thing that will surely be useful for years to come.

You can't give it in pill form, nor tell a child, "Do it!" But by gradual guidance, you can instill it — like good manners, self-confidence, reverence, good eating habits or any of the many virtues we all try so hard to encourage in our children.

"Dear Dr. Molner: When making iced tea, I always drop the tea bag into boiling water and continue to boil if for 5 or 10 minutes. Recently a friend told me if you let tea boil, it becomes poisonous. Is this true or just an old wives' tale? — Mrs. J. M."

Steeping tea — just letting it sit — in freshly boiled water for 5 minutes will bring out the optimum flavor. Steeping longer, or continuing to boil longer, will bring out more caffein and tannin (tannic acid). Neither will add to the flavor, but they may sometimes cause irritation. (They are not, however, poisonous in the amounts you could get from making tea).

Canadian PLACE NAMES

VERNON, B.C.

Vernon wsa first known as Centreville, and then Forge Valley, which later was changed to "Priest's Valley," because Jesuits travelling from Kamloops to the international boundary used this as a stopping place. None of these names found favor, so when F. G. Vernon was named first commissioner of lands and forests, his name was given to the town. F. G. and his brother Charles, established the famed Coldstream Ranch, later purchased by Lord Aberdeen.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

One by one, like guests leaving a party they can no longer abide, quietly, without ostentation, out the side doors, into the night, our trees are going. First it was the native American chestnut. Due to some disease brought from abroad by us conquerors, the entire race of chestnut trees that once inhabited the loveliest regions of eastern and central North America quite suddenly, as from the Black Death, just withered Every last one of them, across a thousand miles.

Now throughout the eastern States and Canada, the white birch is stricken. "Stag head" they call it. Across whole states and provinces, the dead birch raise their grotesque bare arms and fingers in attitudes of despair.

Next, the elm, the fountains of earth, are in the path of what is called the Dutch elm disease which is spreading year by year up out of the New England states across the St. Lawrence, and working its way westward.

Now the maples. A mysterious killer is attacking whole woodlots of sugar maple and the foresters are furiously at work trying to identify the new destroyer.

Trees, I imagine, are closer to man than any other living thing. Trees gave us in remotest time their shade and shelter, they afforded us our first houses, they fed the fires that kept us alive, they furnished us most of the tools by which we hewed our way out of the past. They gave us our ships, our wheels, our bridges. This paper you hold in your hand was a tree last summer. Of what is the shirt made that you have on, or the dress?

But tribe by tribe now, the trees are quitting us.

Don't they like our party?

Stories of Famous Hymns

HORACE B. POWELL

FATHER OF MERCIES, IN THY WORD

Father of mercies, in Thy Word
What endless glory shines;
Forever be Thy Name adored
For these celestial lines.

Here the Redeemer's welcome
Spreads heavenly peace around; voice
And life and everlasting joys
Attend the blissful sound.

O may these heavenly pages be
My ever dear delight;
And still new beauties may I see
And still increasing light.

Divine Instructor, gracious Lord,
Be Thou forever near;
Teach me to love Thy sacred
Word
And view my Saviours there.

This unusual hymn, a paean of gratitude to God for His Holy Word, was written nearly two centuries ago by Miss Anna Steele of Broughton, England.

Like many other famous hymnists, Miss Steele was born and reared in a parsonage. Her father was a Baptist minister and for nearly 60 years he served as spiritual leader of the church at Broughton. Mrs. Steele died when Anna was scarcely three years old and the little girl that she left behind was in delicate health all through childhood When she was 19, she suffered a hip injury which made her an invalid for life Two years later, on the very eve of her wedding day, the young man to whom she was to be married was drowned.

But her Christian spirit and sweetness triumphed over all of these trials and there is no hint of sorrow or hardship in any of her songs.

Anna Steele was England's first woman hymnist. Her first poems appeared in print in 1760. It is said that, on the day that she mailed them from Broughton, her minister-father wrote the following notation in his diary:

"This day Nanny sent part of her compositions to London to be printed. I entreat a gracious God, who enabled and stirred her up to such a work, to direct it and bless it for the good of many. I pray God to make it useful, and to keep her humble".

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

EATING HABITS

Only in a roundabout way does cold compel birds to leave their Canadian homes and fly south for the winter. Food is fundamental, so when cold weather cuts off the supply, the great fall movement takes place.

Because of the rate at which the hummingbird vibrates its wings much energy is used up, and accordingly much fuel is required. The capacity of the tiny body is so small that frequent feeding is the only answer. Consequently, a hummer must discover either nectar or diminutive insects found in the hearts of flowers about every 10 minutes. Once wild flowers are finished for the season hummingbirds must find a warmer climate than we can offer.

It has been said that a single pair of house wrens can make away with 1700 insects of various kinds in a day At this date such food is becoming scarce in our part of the world, therefore like other flycatching birds wrens have to go south. A freeze up of ponds and lakes puts a stop to the kingfisher's sojourn in Canada, and of course the same is true for all birds whose daily diet comes from still water.

STAY FOR WINTER

Some birds are fortunate enough to be able to stay for the winter. Hares, squirrels, and rats may be found in abundance all year round, supplying nourishment for hawks and owls. Equally well off are certain seed eaters, or those able to subsist on dried fruits. The varied tastes of pine grosbeaks give them an advantage over other birds. They eat buds, seeds, and a few insects when these are available, then turn to beechnuts and seeds of conifrs. In mid-winter they wander around in large flocks looking for the best locality for fruits still hanging on the trees, favouring apple seeds and mountain ash berries.

We think of sparrows as all being seed eaters because they have the regular strong, seed eater bill, especially adapted for cracking seeds. However, some kinds always eat insects when they are to be had, the grasshopper sparrow being the best example. And the majority of sparrows feed their nestlings almost exclusively on insects.

Of course the time of nestlings corresponds with the time when insects are most plentiful. But by August members of the large finch family live mainly on seeds (particularly weed seeds) that have by then ripened. Even young sparrows which had been given an entirely insect diet are now ready to take vegetable food For this reason birds belonging to the finch clan are less migratory than others.

A Lift For Living

Natural Bonds Link God and His Family

By DR. RALPH W SOCKMAN

A family is founded on natural affinities and not on artificial motives. When a man and woman fall in love and form a home, it is with the feeling that they are "just made for each other." When children are born, parents do not say, "Now we shall take care of these youngsters so that when they grow up they can take care of us." Parents love their children because they are made that way. A brother does not say, "I'll be good to my brother because we have to live in the same house and it is better to be agreeable" He lovs his brother because life is made that way.

The bonds between members of a family differ from those in planned organizations. Men may incorporate themselves into a company for the conduct of business. But a family is more than a corporation. Men may organize themselves into a labor union for collective bargaining. But the family is more than a trade union. Men may join into a club for social fellowship based on similarity of tastes or interests. But the family is more than a club.

The family is not founded on the principle of profit or similarity of taste or identity of opinion, but upon the affinity of nature. You do not choose your mother, brother or sister. Love between members of a family exists because it is in the very nature of things. We are made that way.

NATURAL EVENT

Dr. Daniel Poling, one of our best-known ministers, reports that he was once telling his little daughter about the birthplace of members of the family. In the family's travels it happened that one was born in Oregon, another (I believe) in Ohio, another in Pennsylvania, another in New York and so on. After listening to the account, the little girl looked up and said, "Isn't it wonderful, Daddy, how we all got together?" Yes, it is wonderful, but the wonder is part of the mystery of life. It is the way we are made.

Now, if this is the nature of fellowship in the family, think what it means to conceive of the church in Saint Paul's terms as "the family of God, the household of faith."

When we grasp this conception of the church as the family of God, it links our church membership back to God Himself. It gives us a much deeper respect for the church. So many look upon the church merely as one of our many social institutions, started by human organization.

Henry James the writer, and his brother William James, the great Harvard philosopher, were once discussing the church. It was in their younger days before they became famous. Henry said, "I am willing to confess the reality of God, but as for the church, it is a mere conventionality, made of stone and lime, and I have no respect for it." William replied, "Whoever confesses the reality of God thereby confesses the reality of the church, for ultimately God is the church."

Too many of us treat the church as an institution which belongs to us and which we have to support. The church is of God, and its support basically is from God. That is why the church endures despite its human defects, its all too many divisions and its frequent mismanagement Often I hear men say, "Why if I ran my business as my church runs its business, I would be bankrupt in no time." Of course, some of our local churches do fail financially. But the church of the living God goes on, outlasting every institution organized by man.

GROWING FELLOWSHIP

We of the United States and Canada have been enjoying a great era of church building. But let us look beyond these beautiful new churches to which we belong and see the church as the family of God.

And let us look beyond the boundaries of our own denominations. The growing fellowship between denominations has been notable. The major church groups have joined in national and world councils of churches. Yet we must go beyond a mere man-made spirit of unity to realize what Saint Paul called the "unity of the spirit." In our efforts at church co-operation we are not trying to create something new, but to recover what God created. "Christ is not divided," declares the Scriptures. Our church divisions are man-made and we must seek to heal them in the family spirit of God.

Yes, and we must look still further to feel our fellowship in God's family. Bishop Westcott of England once entered a church with a friend There were only a few worshippers present. "How empty the church is," said the friend. "How full it is," replied the bishop as he lifted his eyes to the vaulted arches and in his imagination felt the presence of an invisible company.

When Paul speaks of the church he refers to it as the "whole family in heaven and earth."

Wedding

BEEBY — HATFIELD

Christ Church, Belleville, was the scene recently of a pretty summertime wedding when Miss Carolyn Helen Hatfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hatfield, Belleville, became the bride of Flying Officer Eric Vickers Beeby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Beeby, also of Belleville. Reverend Everett Smith performed the ceremony and Mr. Donald Davenport provided the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a full-length bouffant nylon lace and net gown accentuated by sequins and seed pearls, with long, lily-pointed sleeves. A tiny coronet of seed pearls held her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. John Eldridge of Toronto attended her sister, as matron of honor. Her dress of blue silk chiffon was matched with a tiny feather hat and she carried pink and white carnations.

Mr. Graham Beeby was his brother's best man, and ushers were Mr. James Phillips and Mr. Robert Elliott.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Belmont banquet room where the guests were welcomed by the bride's mother, who wore a warm beige silk shantung dress with brown accessories and a yellow rose corsage. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing a printed Challis two-piece dress, tangerine accessories and cream rose corsage.

For travelling, the bride wore a two-tone brown taffeta sheath dress and jacket, white feather hat and accessories and a corsage of cream roses. After a short honeymoon, the young couple flew to Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, where they will be stationed temporarily. They will then make their home in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Prior to her marriage the bride was entertained by Miss Georgiana Armstrong, and in Toronto by Mesdames F. and J. Eldridge.

ROMANTIC URGE

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — An alderman humorously suggested that Kamloops hospital be placed out of bounds for volunteer firemen. Four volunteers left the department recently to marry nurses and two others are engaged to nurses.

Mr., Mrs. Everett Brickman 50 Years Wed on Monday

Memories of a honeymoon trip across Lake Ontario to Rochester aboard the sidewheeler "North King," were recalled here this week by Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brickman, 2 Edward Street, as they prepared to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

The couple was married at the bride's home in Ameliasburg township on September 1st back in 1909. The bride is the former Flossie Weese.

After farming in the Prince Edward county community for over quarter of a century, Mr. and Mrs. Brickman moved to Quebec where he was with the A. W. Roberston Construction Company. Ten years ago he went to Toronto where he was maintenance man for Raynor Construction. Mr. and Mrs. Brickman moved to Belleville last spring to be with their two sons, Roy and Gerald Brickman of this city.

"We are not planning any real celebration" Mrs. Brickman noted, "we are not just up to all the planning and everything unless the family has something planned."

At the same time, however, Mr. and Mrs. Brickman said they would be "at home" during the afternoon and evening on Monday and would welcome friends.

Both of United Empire Loyalist stock, both Mr. and Mrs. Brickman come from long lived families. Mrs. Brickman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Weese of Rednersville, celebrated their 66th wedding anniversary before her father's death two years ago at the age of 93. Her mother is 88.

When living in Ameliasburg Mr. and Mrs. Brickman attended Victoria United Church and still are United Church members.

One son Gerald, lives at 136 Charles, while Roy lives at 162 Queen Street. They have three grandchildren, and two great grandchildren.

Heir to Danish Throne To Study at University

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) — A precedent in the history of Europe's most democratic monarchy will be set this fall when 19-year-old Princess Margrethe, heir to the Danish throne, joins thousands of students from every sort of home to study at Copenhagen University.

The tall, fair-haired princess will be the first member of the Danish royal family ever to enroll at a public university. She will study constitutional law and a range of general subjects.

The decision is a popular one among Danes, who have grown to admire their smiling young future ruler since she came of age on her 18th birthday last year.

At the express wish of her parents, King Frederik IX and his Swedish-born Queen Ingrid, Margrethe has been educated with other girls.

BORN DURING OCCUPATION

The princess was born at a significant time—a week after the Nazi occupation of Denmark in 1940.

Flags were hoisted triumphantly throughout the land when her birth was announced. To Danes, they were symbols of their faith in the future of their country and their royal family, around whom they have rallied steadfastly for 1,000 years.

Margrethe was still only a schoolgirl in 1953 when a new constitution established the right of female succession to the throne. But by that time she already had a warm place in the affections of the Danish people. This was consolidated three years later, during the state visit of Britain's Queen Elizabeth, when on her first public appearance she moved among the brilliant assembly with winning charm and grace.

EQUAL FOOTING

Her parents always have firmly believed that the princess, who one day will rule Denmark's 4,250,000 people, should learn to associate on an equal footing with other children. To this end, a small nursery school was started at Amalienborg Palace, the royal residence in Copenhagen, for a group of boys and girls of her own age. Then, when Margrethe reached normal school age, a class for seven girls was opened.

Gymnastic equipment was installed in the palace classroom and a grand piano stood in the corner, so that the teacher could play for the children to sing. Some days, too, the tutor, Marie Elisabeth Barfod, a swimming and physical training expert, would take her small charges to a swimming pool, where the blonde little princess soon became an excellent swimmer and diver.

The informal schooling was carried on when the palace class ended in 1949. The future heir to the throne and her six companions were transferred to a private school in Copenhagen, where Margrethe's sister, Princess Benedikte, also started in the first class.

WALKS TO SCHOOL

The two royal sisters were given no privileges of rank. In good weather they always walked to school with their mother or their governess, and at lunch munched sandwiches with their classmates under the chestnut trees in the school yard.

Throughout her childhood, it is said, Margrethe dreamed of seeing life at a typical English boarding school. Her wish was granted in 1955 when she was sent to a small exclusive school near Basingstoke, England.

She spent a happy year there, sharing a room with two English girls and taking turns with them to keep it tidy. In her last term, she helped to supervise a group of the school's youngest pupils.

From the day of her arrival she spoke perfect English, thanks to her English governess, Miss Mary North. A French governess, Mademoiselle de Long Villiers, had taught her equally faultless French.

In the late summer of 1956, Margrethe returned to Denmark and it was back to school in the palace, where, with the daughter of a friend of the queen, she worked hard to matriculate. This summer, Danes were pleased to learn that their future queen had passed with flying colors.

The Grace of Gratitude

By Alma Mason

(FOURTH IN A SERIES)

It has been said—"Gratitude is the memory of the heart and ingratitude springs from forgetfulness." It would be wise to keep "the memory of the heart" alive by making gratitude a habit. The habit of gratitude can only be cultivated by exercising over and over in loving memory the happiness we experienced when accorded a favor by another. A small ledger can be kept in the heart where kindness will invariably outbalance unkindness; where good deeds received and enjoyed will more than counter balance neglect and thoughtlessness.

A young girl followed in her mother's footsteps by keeping a diary of happiness. Soon many delightful little experiences that she had once taken for granted dressed themselves in fresh, enchanting beauty. She became acutely aware of her myriad blessings by constantly making note of them. She developed a more thoughtful attitude towards others, of their aspirations, of their needs. Her heart started to overflow with a fuller appreciation of the blessed little pleasures of life. The things she had formerly accepted as her daily due became tinged with delightful surprise and expectancy.

Frances Ridley Havergal kept a journal of mercies. It was crowded with her memories of God's greatness. She said it kept alight and alive her desire to share her many bounties ungrudgingly with those in need about her. She said "rubbing will set dry sticks on fire and certainly heart fibres will do as much under the friction of purposeful remembrance."

The habit of gratitude will grow with constant spoken expression. The nine lepers healed by Jesus must have been grateful in their hearts but they were silent. No one knew they were grateful. Jesus asked, "Were not ten cleansed? but where are the nine? Were there none found that returned to give glory to God save this stranger?"

Dr. Charles F. Aked gave us trenchant words for those who fail to express gratitude, "We try to comfort ourselves by the reflection—'Anyway he knew that I was pleased and that I was grateful'—It is a large assumption. Why should we assume that he, or she, is competent to divine what we are incompetent to express? Why leave it to be assumed at all? In such a world as this with its sorrows, with its heads that ache and its hearts that break, with its sickness, poverty, shame, pain and death, why leave unexpressed the kindly thought, unsaid the gracious words which might be a warming ray of sunlight spreading over the face of the earth? When these kindly, gracious feelings possess you, tell your gratitude and tell your love."

When Jeannie Brown was dying at the age of eighty two, her husband Angus sat by her bedside and told her of his love and appreciation. Tears sprang to her dim eyes and coursed down her furrowed old cheeks as she took his work-worn hand in hers. She said, "Angus, mon dear, why did ye nae speak of this before?"

The dear old man had been faithful, hard working, honest and reliable. In these manly virtues he thought he had shown his love and appreciation. Every day all through the long years Jeannie had longed to hear him say, "I'm grateful for the many things you have done for me patiently and painstakingly; for the raising of our children, the hard work, the doing without; for your courage and your smiles through storm and sunshine."

It might be a good thing to spring clean that dark closet where we have carelessly flung so many kindly deeds. We were captivated by them, cheered and uplifted by them when they were new and alluring, but too soon we ceased to cherish them. Let us dig them out and shine them up with the memory of gratitude. Perhaps it will not be too late to let their original owners know that they are still treasured and revered.

May God move us all to gladden the hearts of others with grateful words before it is too late. Gratitude left unexpressed is like a rose that dies before it is born. Appreciation locked in the heart dies on the stem of life before it can spread color and fragrance to a lonely, longing world. Let us say more often—"Thank you. God bless you for your kindness." Let us not take the untold riches of God's many gifts for granted without daily giving thanks to the One who enriches and blesses our lives. Let us return and fall on our knees and fervently give thanks and not be like the nine lepers and silently go our way

I let the words I should have said
Lie in my heart;
Now they are dead.
I meant to say them day by day
But time slipped by
And took away
The memory of the kindness shown;
Now it's too late
And they are blown
On careless heedless winds and lost
Forever in
The winter frost
That spreads o'er gratitude which lies
Unsung, unsaid
Until it dies.

Motor Tour Tally Reveals Many Unreasonable Costs

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

Rifling through a depleted checkbook on return from our recent transcontinental motor tour — it cost nearly one-third more than our expertise had indicated — we came to one inescapable conclusion: The cost of travelling has gone up distressingly in the past few years.

These factors seem to be causing the most trouble:

1. Tourist taxes. Probably the most unfair kind of taxation going, it burdens non-residents who don't benefit from it yet can't vote against it. State and provincial levies on accommodations run as high as five per cent in many areas.

A new fly in the ointment is municipal taxation. In Reno, Nev., a sign over motel desks arrogantly announces that five per cent will be added to room rates to pay the cost of a new municipal auditorium. Just why tourists, who may never see the inside of it, must pay for this is not made clear.

Restaurant and gasoline taxes are an old story getting bigger. In many tourist-dependent areas visitors contribute more to the support of governments than local citizens who eat out and fill their tanks once a week. Many sightseeing attractions, also dependent almost exclusively on tourists, now have local taxes added on to their admission fees.

2. Room rates. Panic seems to have gripped many small commercial motels. Long the mainstays of the highway accommodation trade, they are now faced with stiff competition from a resuscitated hotel industry and the new big-time motor hotel independents and chains.

Where these can afford not to charge for children, the small motels can't afford not to. Where the large operators can count on averaging a profit over the year with a certain percentage of occupancy, Mama and Papa are faced with the competitive urgency of charging what the traffic will bear when there is traffic.

UNREASONABLE RATES

Seasonal rates are approaching fantastic levels. Fifteen dollars for two in the most ordinary places is not uncommon. Once when we asked for two rooms, we were told the rate would be $30 plus — without batting an eyelash — $2 additional for a crib and $1.50 for television. Few professional hotelmen would have been so hard hearted as not to throw these in free with a room rate like that as would have Mama and Papa not too many years ago. We've paid less than that for suites in Las Vegas and Miami Beach resort hotels.

3. Memberships. One form panic has taken is an increasing dependency on memberships in motel organizations and charge-it clubs to draw the customers in. Many of the former have steep membership fees and the latter require commissions ranging up to seven per cent. Both must inevitably be passed on to guests in the form of higher room rates. Again, the larger operations seem better able to absorb these expenses

Many hotels and motels alike now seem to be trying to duck the commissions by using credit cards only for identification and then billing guests directly. If they are not paid as promptly as they'd like to be, they turn the bills over to the club and the guest is likely to be billed from both sources. What effect all this duplicate bookkeeping is having on operating costs is hard to pinpoint, but undoubtedly there is some.

4. Toll roads. We're as thankful for them as anyone, but the tolls do add to the costs of motoring.

5. Inflation. There isn't much left to be said on this subject except to note in passing that it has taken its toll on hotel and restaurant operating costs and automobile insurance, depreciation and maintenance as surely as it has on everything else.

Travel by public carrier isn't any cheaper these days either. The airlines, squeezed by labor and burdened by huge debts for new jet equipment are trying their best to pass some of the load on to the consumer.

Recently, fare were raised six per cent in the United States. Round trip discounts and stopover privileges were withdrawn and family plan savings reduced by most airlines. This has had the effect of requiring passengers to buy one-way tickets between their stops on most trips In our own travels we estimate that our fare expenditures have shot up by 20 per cent as a result of these rulings

While the government permitted these fare changes on an experimental basis with the hope the airlines would institute more low-cost tourist class service, we see little evidence of anything except more money being poured into such competitive gimmicks as champagne-and-steak flights and tape recorders on planes. There is also a surcharge for jet flights now.

The 10 per cent (U.S.) tax on tickets still exists, and most foreign countries have gleefully jumped on the bandwagon with senseless tourist card taxes, head taxes, baggage taxes and port taxes which benefit the tourist even less, if that is possible, than hotel taxes at home.

What to do about it all? Refusing to patronize places that take advantage of the tourist. But it's more likely that the economy of what may well be the boomingest business in the world today may have to stop churning and settle down before the law of supply and demand starts working again.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mrs. M. E. — She shouldn't tell her suitor anything.

Jean E. — I want to be open and aboveboard.

• • •

Mrs. M. E. — For the past year I have been trying to get my 26-year-old daughter to quit seeing a married man she claims to love. I told her that this man, father of three children, has no intention of ever marrying her — and even if he should, things wouldn't be so hot for her. He doesn't make much money and he'd have to support two households.

Well, everything turned out as I feared. Jean became intimately involved with him — and now he tells her he can't break up his home.

Another man has been pursuing Jean all this time. He is a bachelor of her age and is madly in love with her. She refused to see him for a long time, but now has gone out on a few dates with him. I have warned her to say nothing of her affair with the other man, but she wants to tell him. This will ruin her chance of marriage, I am sure.

Jean E. — Many people in our community know of my romance with the married man and I think it is possible that Bob already knows about it. Anyway, I don't think he ought to find out about it from anyone but me.

I am not ashamed of my affair with Albert. I loved him and I still do — despite the way he has treated me. I want to be open and above board about everything. If I marry another man it will be second best and I won't make any bones about it. Maybe I'm a lot of bad things but I'm not a liar.

Bob is a very kind and sympathetic person. I don't feel that he would turn against me the way others have, the way my mother and father have. I just know he would love me in spite of everything. If he wouldn't love me in spite of what I did I wouldn't want him anyway. There must be one man in this world who is sincere about love.

The Council: The last thing Jean needs at this moment is to be hustled into marriage. Her parents should recognize this and try to help their daughter recover from her bad experience before trying to foist her on the first possible suitor.

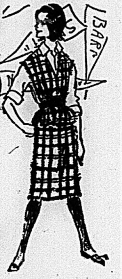
Jean shows that she expects Bob to be another parent or almost a deity to her — rather than a husband. She wants him to be totally understanding, to forgive her for her sins, to overlook her weaknesses, to supply her with security and affection. She shows no inclination to offer him anything but her troubles in return.

Jean has a long road to travel before she can love again — if, indeed, her love for the married man was ever real. However, it is most unlikely that a woman with real love to offer would get herself involved in this kind of affair. Far more likely, Jean wanted to prove her desirability without risking the sometimes rough competition for an eligible bachelor.

The panic of the parents won't help Jean through her ordeal. Her mother's "I-told-you-so" attitude merely has the result of making Jean feel alone and friendless. She is forced to cling to her "love" for the married man as representing the one real relationship in her life — when in fact it was an empty travesty of love.

Jean needs to talk, needs understanding — but not from her suitor. She should neither confide in him nor consider marrying him at this time. She should date him, try to get to know him, and talk to a competent outsider, a clergyman or psychiatrist, about her problems.

Campus Choice



By VERA WINSTON

Bold, brightly colored plaids play a stellar role in the newly-stocked college shops. Typical of what store buyers have purchased for campus use is this straight skirt and sleeveless jerkin in large black, gray and orange plaided wool. Fringe edges the side of the jerkin and animates the hem of the skirt. With the twosome is an orange or white cotton blouse and a black leather belt.

GOOD MANNERS

PROPER TO HAVE TWO MATRONS OF HONOR

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please tell us if it is proper to have two matrons of honor in a wedding party. This question concerns the wedding of my dearest friend. In my opinion it would not be correct to have two matrons of honor, but we would both very much like your viewpoint about this. — S.

While it is, of course, very unusual to have two matrons of honor, there is no reason why it isn't correct if this is the bride's wish. I went to a wedding quite recently where this was the procedure, and in the circumstances it seemed the most natural plan to make. The bride had only two sisters, both married, one was two years older than she, the other two years younger. She loved them both dearly, wanted them both as her honor attendants. So both were matrons of honor, and the four bridesmaids were the bride's closest friends.

The younger matron of honor walked alone, after the two pairs of bridesmaids, and the older one, who was the official witness, walked alone directly preceeding the bride and her father.

CORRECT AND WISE TO HAVE RECEPTION IN CHURCH VESTIBULE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to have a very large, quite formal church wedding to be followed by a very small reception in my home — for only the members of our families and our attendants. For several years my prospective bridegroom and I have been active workers of the church in which we are to be married, and we would so very much like to have the opportunity of receiving the good wishes of our relatives, friends and other co-workers in the church.

Since we cannot afford a reception, would you approve of our receiving the guests in the vestibule of the church after the ceremony? If so, would it be a correct plan to have our attendants stand with us? (The church vestibule is of quite large size.) — A. R

Yes, an excellent plan. And it is fortunate that the vestibule is of such good size (church vestibules usually aren't). Since you undoubtedly know the clergyman of your church very well, you might ask him if he would announce that you and the bridegroom are to receive the wedding guests in the church vestibule directly after the ceremony. You stand at your bridegroom's right: your maid of honor at your right, then the bridesmaids. Opposite your group, your mother and father and the bridegroom's mother and father might greet the guests; or the mothers only — the fathers, with the best man and ushers, mingling with the guests and seeing that they are escorted to the receiving-line.

KIND LADY TURNS OVER HER HOUSE TO FRIEND GIVING SHOWER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A very dear friend of mine happened to tell me that she wanted to give quite a large shower for a friend of hers, a girl whom I don't know at all well. This friend of mine has done many wonderful favors for hostess. What should I plan as me, and I thought that this ti I could do a favor for her by fering to have her give th shower in ou rhouse, which quite large and very convenie for entertaining. She was delight ed, most appreciative.

Now I am wondering what my procedure should be, since I know the guest of honor so slightly and know only three or four of the guests who are coming. Of course I don't want to appear discourteous to people who are guests in my house, but still I don't want to seem to be hostess when I want my friend to be the y role? — Reader

You should consider yourself the role of a guest at the arty, rather than in any way the ostess or even a co-hostess. In ther words, you turn over your house and the duties of hostess to your friend (And my salutations o you for being such a good and thoughtful and generous friend!)

QUESTION:

I am an Australian . . . my cookbook refers to plain flour. Would this correspond to all-purpose flour in Canada? We use plain flour and self-raising flour there. I do not understand the difference between all-purpose and cake and pastry flour here. Do they contain raising agents? . . . I have trouble with my Jelly Rolls, a) The outside sticks to the towel regardless of the icing sugar put on towel. b) When I roll it it generally breaks. c) How small should it be rolled? Should it just be in three loose folds . . . Mrs. A. A.

ANSWER:

In Canada all-purpose flour, pastry flour and cake flour do not contain raising agents. In my recipes I refer to all-purpose flour adn cake flour when it is important. Otherwise use all purpose flour. All of your questions regarding jelly roll will be answered in the following fool-proof recipe:

JELLY ROLL:

3-4 cup sifted cake flour, 1 1-2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 4 eggs, 3-4 cup fine sugar (not icing), 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup jelly (any flavor).

Sift flour once and measure. Combine baking powder, salt and eggs in bowl. Place over smaller bowl of hot water and beat with rotary or electric beater adding sugar gradually until mixture becomes thick and pale. Remove bowl from over hot water. Fold in flour and vanilla. Turn into 15 x 10" pan (measurements must be exact) which has been greased and lined with paper or foil to within 1-2-inch of long edge and again greased. Bake at 400 deg. F. for exactly 13 minutes. Quickly cut off crisp edges of cake and turn from pan at once on cloth covered with powdered sugar. Remove paper at once. Spread with jelly and roll up at once. Wrap in cloth and cool on rack.

ASNWER:

I am convener for a wedding dinner . . . bride has asked for salad plate with 2 slices tender-sweet ham, 2 scoops of mashed potato salad and banana . . . we are to fill in decoration and another salad. How should the banana be done to keep it from turning dark? If we serve angel cake with the ice cream should we have icing on it? What would you suggest for additional relish trays? How should crusty buns be served? . . Mrs. T. W.

ANSWER:

Cut the bananas once lengthwise, once crosswise. Dip in lemon juice diluted with a little water, drain, dip in thin mayonnaise, then in finely chopped walnuts. Do not frost the angel food cake. Serve the crusty rolls as they are and put butter on the table. Relish trays could contain celery and carrot and cucumber strips, green and ripe olives, spiced pears or crab-apples or watermelon rind, gherkins and radish roses. Any or some or all of these would be appropriate. Judge according to your budget.

INTERMEDIATE "AA" PICTURE

Bob Temple's Bobcats, having disposed of the hard-fighting Trenton Garretts, will meet the pride of the Commercial League, Sports Centre, in a two-of-three series beginning tonight.

Game time is six o'clock and the place is the CNRA diamond. We have no official date for the second tilt but imagine it will be Monday evening, same place and same time. The winner of this set will advance against Peterborough in the first-round OASA Intermediate "A" playdowns. That series will start in the Liftlock City early next week.

Bobcats, who have failed to represent the city only once in the history of the club when it comes to the OASA, knocked off Trenton 9-7 right in the home of the Garretts last night. But they knew it was a battle.

Perhaps Trenton will not win a championship of any type this year, although they are still very much in the running for the B. and D. league title. But they are in a class by themselves when it comes to battling all the way.

They never say die and last night was no exception. The 'Cats had built up a 9-3 lead after six and a half frames. But the Drake-Wannamaker coached crew struck back for four runs to make it a tight one down to the wire. They will give the Tabbies a run for their money whenever the loop finals, tied at two wins apiece, resume.

But at the present time Temple has more immediate matters on his mind. He wants to knock over Sports Centre and grab a day or two's rest before matching bats with Peterborough.

While the 'Cats should have little trouble with Bob Blaind's commercial pennant winners, strange things often happen when ball clubs take to the field. There have been a few differences of opinions, along softball lines, between the two club masterminds lately. They are straining at the bit to prove on the field which is the better club.

Temple is confident. Blaind would like nothing better than to upset his OASA plans. It could be a high-spirited affair when the umpire calls play ball at six this evening.

WEEKEND ACTION

"This was the most exciting ball game I have ever watched and you don't have to take my word for it, just ask anyone else who went up."

It was Bill Shaw talking after his Cementmen had upset Ray Judd and his mates right in the Peterborough Bowl Thursday night. Judd had just struck out 24 batters and still lost 2-1. It was a tremendous victory for the Pointers but now they have to go right back and do it again if they expect to continue in the Intermediate "A" playdowns.

The clubs clash there tonight at 8.15 in the third and deciding tilt. So far the locals have had great pitching, Al Carkner being very imprsesive in the 2-1 win Thursday while Bobby Hunter also fired great ball in the 3-0 defeat here a week ago.

But you have to get runs to win a ball game and with Ray Judd pitching that is a tough task. Hunter will likely toe the rubber in tonight's big test but you can bet the Cementmen will have eyeryone ready to throw into this one. It's win or hang them up for the season.

Meanwhile, also in Peterborough tonight, Cuffer Noakes' Lloyd Cleaners Juniors will clash with the Liftlock City crew in the second game of their OBA junior "A" series.

Belleville took the opener here a week ago 5-3, with Larry Soden's pitching a main factor, and they hope to wrap that series up tonight. This victory might be hard to come by with both Jackie Elliott and Gary Goyer missing from the lineup. They will be playing for the Cementmen just a stone throw away but both games will be on at the same time.

Turning back to softball, we find Booth TV bantams opening their second-round in Oshawa tonight after having ousted Peterborough, two games to one. Coach Leo Culhane is quite proud of the fact that Booth's have never lost the third game of an OASA peewee or bantam series in five years. That is some record fellows but why tempt fate? Let's knock Oshawa off in two games.

Frank Cris' Bobcat Juveniles hit the road tomorrow afternoon for the second game of their OASA Juvenile "A" series. They took the opener from Kingston here 10-5 and hope to wind that set up tomorrow, too.

The game is being played at Collins Bay at 2.30 p.m. The kids could use some vocal support and it sounds like a good way to spend a quiet Sunday afternoon.

"Little Spain" fans have a top notch attraction tonight also when "Sleepy" Dawe and his Cobourg Merchants visit Picton in "Intermediate "B" playdowns at 8.00 p.m. Dawe threw a one-hit 3-0 shutout in the opener but Keith MacDonald and the boys hope to even the score tonight.

And for those who don't feel like going too far to catch their weekend ball, how about that South Hastings baseball league finals fixture at Latta tonight? Read will provide the opposition for the 6.30 affair. This being the third game, postponed from Wednesday. The set is tied 1-1.

Minor Baseball

The Dodgers completed a two-game sweep of their city bantam baseball semi-finals by blanking the Giants 6-0. Dodgers now meet the Indians for the league championship.

McBride pitched a strong game for the winners, setting the Giants down on just one hit to earn his shutout. Jacoby threw nice ball in defeat also, allowing ten hits.

It was a tight 1-0 ball game until the last inning when the Dodgers plated five runs. The big rally was ignited by Larry Brant's triple. Doubles by D. Rathwell and D. Robinson netted their first-frame run.

San Francisco Team Swings From Floor to Down Dodgers; Lollar, Shaw Stop Cleveland

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Tired? Sluggish? Those San Francisco Giants looked like they could have danced all night as they waltzed away with a three-game lead in that close, but now not so pressing National League pennant chase.

The Giants swung from the floor for all their runs in the first two innings, three on Willie Mays' 23rd homer, then relaxed behind steady Sam Jones for a 5-0 victory at Los Angeles Friday night in the opener of a three-game series with the second-place Dodgers.

They ripped into Don Drysdale (15-10), handing him his fourth straight defeat while Jones won his 17th, striking out 11, walking none and giving up eight hits.

BRAVES CLOSE IN

The win ended a three-game slump for the Giants and trimmed the Dodgers' edge over third-place Milwaukee to a half-game. The Braves whipped Chicago's Cubs 9-3 as Lew Burdette won his 18th.

Pittsburgh, six games back in fourth, rapped Philadelphia 9-0 behind a five-hitter by Vern Law. St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 3-2 on Joe Cunningham's two-out, two-run double in the ninth.

Home runs by Frank Aaron (34), Joe Adcock (20) and Del Crandall (17) backed Burdette as he once more tied San Francisco's Johnny Antonelli for the major league lead in victories. Rookie George Altman whacked his eighth home run for the Cubs.

PIRATES HOT

The Pirates, winning six of their last seven and 13 of 16, got homers from Bob Clemente, Rocky Nelson and Smoky Burgess in a 10-hit attack against rookie Ed Keegan (0-2) and two relievers. Bob Bowman, an outfielder making his debut as a pitcher, gave up Burgess' homer, the only hit and run he allowed in three innings.

Law (15-7) gave up nothing but singles, three by Wally Post, walked none and struck out seven.

Cunningham's double, following a pinch single by Gino Cimoli and a walk, beat Don Newcombe (12-7), who had the Cards shut out until the seventh. Rookie Marshall Bridges (5-3) won it in relief.

Chicago's panting White Sox have a little breathing room again in the close American League pennant race, padding their lead to 2½ games behind Bob Shaw, the rookie "sensation" who wasn't, and Sherm Lollar, the guy who has spent his career in a shadow.

Shaw, now 26, is the big right-hander everyone touted as a sure-fire rookie bet for Detroit a year ago last spring. Instead, he was just a so-so reliever by mid-June and the Tigers peddled him to the White Sox.

He put away a 14-4 record Friday with a seven-hitter backed by Lollar's tie-breaking, three-run homer in the seventh — a drive left fielder Minnie Minoso couldn't hold—for a 7-3 victory at Cleveland that crushed the second - place Indians' winning streak at eight.

OTHER ACTION

In the other AL games Friday night:

New York beat Washington 4-0 on Art Ditmar's two-hit pitching and three RBI; Frank Lary became the AL's top winner with his 17th victory as Detroit tied the Yankees for third by beating Kansas City 6-5 on Eddie Yost's 10th-inning homer; and Boston spilled Baltimore to fifth, winning 6-4 on Dick Gernert's two-run homer in the 10th.

The White Sox, who have played 12 games in 11 days since leading by 4½ games, blew 2-0 and 3-2 leads before nailing the Indians in the seventh against reliever Jim (Mudcat) Grant (8-6) before a crowd of 70,398, largest of the season in the majors.

Shaw, who has won eight of his last nine, walked two and struck out five, blanking the Injuns on one hit after they had matched a single Sox run in the fifth.

Bobcats Oust Trenton From OASA With 9-7 Win; Meet Sports Centre

A five-run explosion in the seventh inning provided the Belleville Bobcats with a 9-7 victory over Trenton Garretts last night, enabling them to eliminate the Garretts two games to none in their OASA Intermediate "AA" series.

Bobcats play host to Sports Centre tonight at CNRA Park at six o'clock in the first game of a similar series, the winners of which will advance into OASA playdowns against a Peterborough club early next week.

Temple's Tabbies actually took a 4-3 lead back in the fifth frame last night and never trailed after that. But the five-run eruption proved very necessary when Trenton plated four runs of their own in the bottom of the same inning to result in the final 9-7 score.

"Wiener" Brown ignited the deciding rally with a lead-off single. Bert Faulkner followed with a double and an intentional walk to Bobby Hull filled the sacks. But the move did not work. One run scored on a passed ball and four more runners crossed the plate on Cousins' fly ball, another walk, Lou Smrke's two-bagger, a single by Bobby Green and the third walk of the frame.

BATTLED BACK

Trenton once again proved their come-back prowess to chase Bobby Green from the Bobcat hill in the last of the seventh. A walk to Austin, Roger Drake's base hit, an error, another free pass and Burns' single plus a passed ball scored four runs and brought Bob Hull to the mound. Hull fanned Donnie Cole and got Smith on a ground ball to end the rally.

Hull preserved the win for Green by tossing one-hit ball over the final 2 2-3 innings. He whiffed four and walked a pair. Trenton loaded the bases on two walks and Drake's double in the eighth but could not solve Hull's offerings for a run. Bobby Green allowed six hits, struck out eight but had control trouble with nine free passes, on his way to the victory.

Howie Cole worked the distance for Charlie Drake's crew. He gave up a total of eight hits while striking out 12 of the 'Cats. But walks, which have played a prominent part in games between these two clubs lately, again hurt his cause. He issued ten free tickets in all.

Hayden's single, a walk, error and a fielder's choice gave the visitors a 1-0 lead in the second. Trenton struck back for two runs in their half of the frame on Burns' infield single and a home run by Donnie Cole.

AUSTIN HOMERS

Two walks, Smrke's base bingo and an error permitted the 'Cats to tie the score in the fourth. Trenton made it 3-2 however on Guy Austin's circuit blast to deep centre field in the same inning.

Bobcats took the lead for good in the fifth on two walks, a passed ball and an error that allowed both runners to cross the plate.

Lou Smrke led the winners at the plate with a double and single, followed by "Wiener" Brown with two one-base blows. Bert Faulkner cracked a double while the other safeties were singles by Denny Hayden, Jean-Paul Lamirande and Bobby Green.

Roger Drake topped Trenton with a double and two singles in five trips. Guy Austin and Donnie Cole had their home runs with Bobby Burns' brace of singles rounding out the seven-hit attack.

Fullmer Wins NBA Version Of Middleweight Title

Stops Basilio in Fourteenth After Leading From Start; Says Loser Earned Rematch

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rough, tough Gene Fullmer wants Carmen Basilio to get another crack at the NBA middleweight title which Fullmer won Friday night by stopping the New York onion farmer in the 14th round.

The fight was a bruiser, but the underdog Fullmer led all the way, and when it was over, the Mormon Sunday School teacher from West Jordan, Utah said Basilio had earned a rematch.

Gene's eyes were swollen and nearly closed; Basilio looked ven worse.

Basilio, his hands dipped in ice buckets, was too tired to talk about anything, let alone another fight.

TOUGHEST FIGHT

"It was my toughest fight," said the 28-year-old Fullmer, who previously had won and lost in title fights with Ray Robinson. Basilio, 32, had a similar history against Robinson, who is recognized now as the middleweight champ in only New York and Massachusetts.

It was also Fullmer's biggest payday—$80,595 from 25 per cent of the $122,380 net gate and the same percentage from $175,000 TV money. Basilio, who had been ranked above Fullmer, got 35 per cent—$112,833.

The National Boxing Association stripped Robinson of his title May 4 for failure to defend within a year. In sactioning this fight, it told the winner to meet the association's No. 1 challenger within 90 days.

That foe will be chosen next week. Fullmer said he thinks it should be Basilio. But if it is Robinson, that's all right too, he said.

However, Fullmer made it plain Robinson would have to fight under Gene's terms.

BOXING PAYS OFF

Fullmer, heavier by 3½ pounds at 159½, went after Basilio from the start. Gene had the reputation of a mauler, but against Basilio he boxed and became the first fighter to stop the Chittenango, N.Y. scrapper.

In the eighth, Fullmer buckled Basilio's knees with an overhand right to the head. A right to the temple sent Carman flying into the ropes in the 14th. Although he didn't hit the canvas, his feet went out from under him, and it was scored as a knockdown under California rules.

John DeJohn, Basilio's co-manager, yelled from the second row at Basilio's corner to stop the battle as Fullmer waded in. Under California rules, it goes into the record books as a knockout.

DeJohn and Joe Netro, the other co-manager, are under investigation in New York and did not apply for licences to manage in this state.

All the officials had Fullmer ahead at the end.

Kyle Breaks 10,000-Metre Record Finishing Close 2nd To Long-Striding Argentine

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO (CP)—Doug Kyle, a skinny fellow with a big heart, has given Canadian track and field its biggest boost in nine years.

The 5-8, 128-pounder won a silver medal for Canada with a fighting second-place finish in the 10,000-metre race at the Pan-American Games Friday night. Kyle finished just eigth-tenths of a second behind Osvaldo Suarez, a long-striding Argentinian who won in a record Games' time.

Gordon Dixon from Hamilton finished fifth.

Nine events were run off Friday and Friday night in stifling heat with the United States winning three championships — the men's hammer throw, men's high jump and bantamweight weightlifting. Chile took the women's javelin throw.

GOOD SHOWING

Canada did exceptionally well in the first day of yacht racing, fencing, men's tennis, women's basketball and the heats of the men and women track events.

Kyle's great effort was the best in big - time international competition for a Canadian-born runner since 1950 when Vancouver's Bill Parnell won the British Empire Games mile at Auckland, N.Z.

The 26-year-old Kyle, North America's fastest man over the distance, wound up the five-lap race behind Suarez, who won in 30 minutes, 17.2 seconds. The Canadian's time was 30:18.

Both broke the Games' record of 31:08.6 set in 1951 by Curt Stone of the U.S.

Some observers believe Kyle, born in Hamilton and now a resident of Calgary, could have taken it all. They second-guessed that Kyle should have gone after the Argentine star right from the start instead of laying back.

COACH EXPLAINS

This was discounted by track coach Hal Brown of Toronto.

"Doug ran according to plan," Brown said. "If he had chased Suarez from the start it might have been a different story—he likely would have finished fifth or sixth because of the punishing pace set by Suarez."

Fifteen Canadian track and field athletes appeared on the night's program and six failed to qualify.

They were Stan Raike, Hamilton, in the hammer throw, Wilf Foss, Saskatoon, in the high jump, George Shepherd, Port Colborne, in the hurdles, and Lynn Eves, Victoria, and George Short, Saskatoon, in the men's 100. Heather Campbell, Vancouver, was eliminated in the women's 60 metres.

In today's 800-metre semi-final are Allen Andrews and Siegmar Ohlemann, both of Vancouver, and Stan Worsfold, Toronto. In the men's 100 semi-final is Harry Jerome, North Vancouver.

Maureen Rever of Regina and Valerie Jerome, North Vancouver, qualified for the 60-metre final, also to be run today.

YACHTSMEN WIN THREE

Canadian yachtsmen from Montreal and Toronto took top honors in three preliminary events, winning the 5.5 metre, dragon and Finn monotype classes.

Canadian women scored a victory in basketball, downing Mexico 46-43 but the Canadian men's squad suffered a 93-73 defeat at the hands of the United States. Canada's volleyball team, made up of Estonian-born players living in Toronto, defeated Venezuela.

Fencers from Toronto and Montreal surprised the experts by defeating Argentina, which had been favored to win the team foil tournament, as well as Chile and Mexico. The Canadian team enters the finals today against the U.S., Chile and Venezuela.

The Canadian fencers are John Andru and Joseph Vida, Toronto, Abbey Silverstone, Montreal and Carl Schwende, Pont Viau, Que.

Canadian tennis champion Bob Bedard defeated Daniel Achondo of Chile after Toronto's Don Fontana, 28, seeded No. 2 in Canada, defeated another Chile player, Ernesto Aguirre.

John Bassett Jr., 20, of Toronto was defeated in the second round by Myron Franks of Miami.

WINNER CHANGED

In one event — the hammer throw—officials found they had picked the wrong winner.

At first Olympic and world titlist Harold Connolly of the U.S. was awarded the gold medal based on a toss of 195 feet 11½ inches—a games record but considerably below his world mark of 225 feet four inches.

Then came a tape measure review and another American, Al Hall, was declared the gold medalist. The check trimmed Connolly's distance to 195 feet 11 inches, the same as Hall's. But Hall's second-best toss was the better of the two and he won on that basis.

Hall and Connolly were both credited with sharing a Pan-American record of 195-11, better than the old mark of 180 feet 1¾ inches.

Miss Supertest Will Not Go in Silver Cup Race

DETROIT (AP)—The 14th running of the Silver Cup race for unlimited powerboats will be held today minus a big attraction—new Harmsworth champion Miss Supertest III of Canada.

The big hydroplane suffered mechanical wear and tear during the gruelling three-day Detroit River competition which ended Thursday, and owner J. Gordon Thompson of London, Ont., decided she could not be put in top shape in time for the 45-mile Silver Cup test.

However, Maverick, winner of the Gold Cup race at Seattle earlier this year, will be back to defend her Silver Cup title. Maverick was the losing U.S. entry in the international Harmsworth Trophy race. She was unable to match Miss Supertest III's winning 104.968 m.p.h. average.

Maverick, owned by W. T. Waggoner Jr., of Las Vegas, Nev., was overhauled Friday to tune up a new motor installed just before Thursday's final Harmsworth race.

Experts had favored her to win the Harmsworth Trophy, held by this country 39 years. But driver Bill Stead said the new engine lacked acceleration.

The Silver Cup race will be run in two elimination heats, with the fastest six boats in the 11-boat field qualifying for the final heat.

Tail Setting

HARNESS RACING BITS

By Phil Stewart

This column will attempt through the coming weeks to present short accounts of the various fall-fair races attended by Belleville horses.

Odessa Fair last Saturday had three classified races on the card. The track condition was terrible with about eight inches of loose sand on the last turn. The track itself is very short. The loose sand was the cause of a bad accident involving "Francis Ann" owned by Leo and John Murphy of Kingston and driven by Gary La-Rush and John Week's "John DeKuyper" driven by Ken Weeks of Belleville. Both horses went down and both race bikes were broken with the shafts broken right off at the stirrups.

The race was won by "Anna Lee MacDuff" who was 1st and 2nd as was "Lyn Belwin" the mare which caused the accident by breaking stride forcing the others into the sand. "George Baker" was third twice.

Irvin Ness of Belleville drove "Lee Mac S" to two easy wins in the B classified with Clark Hamilton from Gananoque second driving "Stewart's Supreme." Ken Kerr of Goderich had the "A" classified all his own way as he started 3 out of the 4 entries listed and finished first, second and third in the second heat with "Mr. Bobby Kenley," "Don Mackay" and "Jean Grattan Bars" in that order. "Jimmy M. Grattan" from Gananoque managed a third in the first heat won by "Don Mackay" with the "Grattan" mare second.

"Lee Mac S" made seven starts in the 9 days from Friday August 14th to Saturday August 22 finishing with the good record of four first and two seconds. Prior to the 14th when he started at the Woodbine "Lee Mac S" had won ten including his last nine starts in a row. He didn't find the long tracks at the Woodbine to his liking but has come back to take 4 out of 6 starts since. His record ofr the season therefore stands as follows: he has had 25 starts finishing first 14 times, second 5 times, third 4 times and fourth once. "Lee Mac S" started the season in the 2.30 class for non winners of $200, in fact he had not won anything. At present he is eligible to the 2.26 class for non winners of $800.

"Betty Abigail" owned by Quinte Driving and Riding Club president Jack Jeffrey of Belleville paced a mile in 2.14 1/5 at Connaught Park, Ottawa Saturday, August 22nd to beat Johnny Huntbach's "Rob Ric" from Battersea and "Star Direct." This is "Betty's" first win at Connaught this year. She is being very capably trained and driven by Morley Fleet who has made a fair race mare out of her this season.

Quinte Driving and Riding Club's race meet for tonight should be a real thrill, with the entries for all three races very well balanced. The fast class looks like the best horse race lined up here this season with the possibility of one of the starters being able to win a heat.

Entry lists appear elsewhere on this page to help betting fans to get a line on the horses starting. If you like to bet or if you just like a good horse race come up to the Fairgrounds about 6.30 tonight for the best yet Quinte Driving and Riding club sponsored races.

Als Easily Beat Argos 24-6 To Climb Into First Place Tie in Big Four Title Race

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes, cheerfully ignoring the pre - season predictions, Friday night climbed into a first-place tie in the Big Four Football Union.

They could be knocked back into second by a Hamilton Tiger-Cat victory over Ottawa Rough Riders today, but their 24-6 win over Toronto Argonauts here seemed to indicate they are better than the last-place team the experts called them.

The win, Alouettes' second in three starts, had its dark side.

On the first play of the game their great end Hal Patterson wrenched both his knees blocking and will be out for an indefinite period. Similar injuries last year kept Patterson out a good part of the season.

The versatile Montreal offence produced a field goal and three converted touchdowns but the real Alouette heroes were the defenders who intercepted five Argonaut passes and turned a fumble into a touchdown.

Halfback Bill Bewley kicked the field goal and converted all three touchdowns scored by half Joel Wells, end Red O'Quinn and defensive half Tom Moran.

Big Cookie Gilchrist scored Toronto's only touchdown on an end run from the one-yard line just before the third quarter ended. He missed on the conversion attempt.

Bewley started off the Montreal scoring with his three-pointer from 26 yards out just after the halfway mark in the first quarter.

Early in the second Alouettes intercepted a pass by Torono quarterback Ronnie Knox and took over deep in Toronto territory. On the third down Sam Etcheverry tossed a short pass to O'Quinn in the end zone and Bewley converted.

On the last play of the half Wells climaxed a Montreal march by driving over centre for Als' second touchdown.

FINALLY CLICK

Argos finally put together a sustained drive in the third quarter, rolling 75 yards in 11 plays and Gilchrist went over to make it 17-6.

But the Alouettes margin was restored in the final quarter when the veteran Moran knocked substitute quarter Gerry Doucette loose from the ball and raced 70 yards for the final Alouette touchdown.

Knox, who gave way to Doucette in the second and fourth quarters, completed 10 of 26 throws. Four times he threw to tackle Dick Fouts when Toronto was using an unbalanced line that made Fouts an eligible receiver.

Four of his tosses were intercepted. Doucette was successful on two of his four throws and had one intercepted.

Etcheverry passed 26 times and completed 12 for a total of 161 yards.

TODAY'S GAME

Hamilton coach Jim Trimble thought pass defence might be the key to today's game with winless Ottawa, quarterbacked by pass-happy Frank Tripuka. The game will be played in Hamilton.

"You have to crucify the passer," said Trimble. "Put the rush on him and try to stop the pass before it originates."

Tiger-Cats planned only one lineup change. The new face is Jim Fraser, a 230-pound guard and linebacker from the University of Wisconsin, subbing for regular John Barrow who is in Florida visiting his sick father.

Haggerty Shows Kiniski How Before Maxwell Stops Bout

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Hardboiled Haggerty, who donned an angel's disguise for the first fall along with opponent Gene Kiniski, reverted to his usual game in the following fall and, although he did not earn the official nod, showed Mr. Kiniski the whats and whyfors of the wrestling game.

Kiniski and Haggerty were the featured contestants in the main bout of the weekly wrestling card at Memorial Arena last night. When it was all over, both had bowed to referee Bert Maxwell's official decision of "no decision". Although neither man appeared very happy about the call, Kiniski probably considered himself lucky to escape Haggerty's wrath. And if he didn't, he most certainly should have.

The pair of renowned villains switched things around in the first fall. They greeted each other like long lost friends, shaking hands before the bout got under way and several times after just to show everyone what gentlemen they were.

Clean breaks, no low blows, friendly smiles and all, had the small crowd wondering exactly what was happening. Both men appeared to respect the other's ability, although from the first one could notice that the Hardboiled One was the more aggressive.

Kiniski gave it the old college try, we are forced to admit. But no matter what hold he applied, Haggerty discarded the Edmonton footballer with-ease. Watching closely it was not hard to see the end of the "mutual admiration society" in the stars.

SWITCHES TACTICS

Suddenly Kiniski could resist no longer. He was on the receiving end of solid body blocks off the ropes by Haggerty when the urge became too great. He staggered to his feet as Hardboiled came off the ropes for another block, lifted a knee and plated it in the charging Haggerty's groin. A couple of knee drops across the throat and Kiniski had won the first fall. And lost a friend in the process.

Haggerty looked heart-broken that his buddy would resort to such under-handed tactics. Gene claimed the knee had been an accident.

Haggerty took his word with a grain of salt. And sure enough the second fall just got under way when Gene tried the same trick. But not twice would Haggerty be caught unprepared. He shook his fist at Gene and started an advance that would have frightened the Notre Dame line.

Kiniski might better have left the country right then. Haggerty gave him this and gave him that. Nothing was barred this trip; Hardboiled went for broke. He whipped Kiniski left and right and pinned him to even it at a fall each. After giving Gene a lecture on the facts of true sportsmanship, the California rock turned his back to depart.

MAXWELL THE VICTIM

That was his lone mistake. Kiniski jumped him and they were at it full swing. But so was Maxwell. He forgot to get out of the way. He got walked on, belted in the kisser, rolled on, had first one and then the other grappler thrown on his bouncing figure.

Suddenly Bert bounced to his feet. Still Kiniski was getting the worst of the deal but Maxwell halted it all. He ordered both men from the ring, waved his arms in a sign that it was all over and, unlike McArthur, they would not return. So everybody headed for a cool beer.

In the first bout, which was partly held under the glare of flashlights when a power failure interrupted activity, Don Jardine was counted out, outside the ring and Joe Christie was awarded the decision.

The Mighty Ursus finished popular Jack Laskin with a reverse neck stretch after handing out a pile of rough treatment in an exciting semi-final.

It was announced that a midget tag-team bout would be one of the features in an all-star card next Friday evening.

Tackle Signed

SARNIA (CP)—Sarnia Golden Bears of the Ontario Rugby Football Union Friday signed John Klotz, a huge tackle who was cut by Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League earlier this week.

Klotz, 26, stands six feet five inches and weighs 260 pounds. He played four years of college football at Pennsylvania Military College and was on the U.S. marine team the last two years.

TAKES QUEBEC OPEN

MONTREAL (CP) — Ray Haines, 37-year-old assistant professional at Montreal's Elm Ridge Golf Club, won the Quebec open golf tournament in a three-hole playoff with veteran Jack Kay Friday. Haines and Kay finished the two regular tournament rounds over the par - 70 course with scores of 143.

Great Durante Working Hard On Spectacular for Sept. 25

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The great Durante was back in action this week, and the word is chosen advisedly.

Jimmy was hustling all over NBC's studio 2—blowing bubbles at Lawrence Welk, making up a trio with Sal Mineo and Canada's Giselle McKenzie, dueting with Bobby Darin and dancing a la Fred Astaire. All this activity will be seen by the general public Sept. 25 in a Friday night spectacular.

Durante paused for a few minutes to give his nose a rest and talk about his activities. The hour show is one of three he will do this season, plus two guest appearances with Dinah Shore, the latter as part of his long-run NBC contract.

"I like it better dis way," he remarked. "doin' just a few shows a year, I can give more attention to 'em. I'd never go back to dat live show every week.

"But I would like to do some shows on fillum. I got 24 of 'em and I'd like to make about 15 more. Then I'd have enough for a season and they'd give me some security."

Not that he shows any signs of slowing down. He still plays night clubs in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Miami and Las Vegas every year.

"But dat ain't woik," he said. "Dat's how I get my fun. I go out dere and enjoy myself for an hour, dat's all. The only hard woik I do is a little dancin'."

This may help to explain the Durante success: When he's working, it seems like fun.

Jimmy said a deal is still cooking for a movie about his life. The dream cast originally was Dean Martin as Durante, Frank Sinatra as Lou Clayton and Bing Crosby as Eddie Jackson. Now Bing appears to be out of the project, with Jack Lemmon in his place.

T-V TIPS

by JOHN WETTLAUFER

During electric storms there is usually some risk of a TV aerial being struck by lightning which could ruin the television set and perhaps cause a serious fire. For maximum protection against lightning damage the lead-in wire should be connected to an approved lightning arrester and the aerial mast must be properly grounded. Even with this protection it is wise to disconnect the lead-in from the set and also remove the electrical plug during a thunder storm.

If you have any doubts regarding the effectiveness of the lightning protection on your TV aerial, by all means have it checked by an expert. CIRCLE TV SERVICE, 364 Coleman St., are well qualified to inspect this vital part of your antenna system and to remedy any faults. At the Belle

George Stevens' "The Diary of Anne Frank", Fascinating in CinemaScope

"The Diary of Anne Frank", as a book, stage play and now a motion picture now in its third wondrous day at the Belle Theatre, has made a record for itself rarely equalled by any piece of writing. And it was written with no idea that it would ever be published.

Anne Frank, aged thirteen, started keeping the diary a short time before she, her parents and sister and four of her people went into hiding in Amsterdam following the Nazi invasion of the Netherlands. She continued her record until shortly before the police found their hiding place, two years later. The diary was found in the litter and rubble of the old house after the war.

Written in Dutch, the diary was first published in 1947. In 1952 it came out in the USA, where it sold over 1,000,000 copies. Translated into 21 languages, the most recent figure on sales in countries outside the United States is approximately 1,960,000.

The stage play, based on Anne Frank's story by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett, opened on Broadway in 1955 and ran nearly two years. It has been presented in some 30 countries, including West Germany, where it was the most performed play of the 1956-7 season: this was also true in Switzerland and Austria.

The German public has bought over 300,000 copies of the diary.

As a film "The Diary of Anne Frank" bids fair to repeat or excel the worldwide success of the book and play.

It has been produced and directed by George Stevens in CinemaScope for 20th Century-Fox, with a cast headed by Millie Perkins (in the role of Anne Frank), Joseph Schildkraut, Shelley Winters, Richard Beymer, Gesti Huber, Ed Wynn, Lou Jacobi, Diane Baker, Douglas Spencer and Dody Heath. The screen version produced in Hollywood, is from a script by the same authors (Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett) who wrote the stage play.

So "The Diary of Anne Frank" comes to the screen with an exceptional ready-made audience interest, a great cast and is the work of one of Hollywood's greatest directors.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER
Monday, August 31

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Morning is best spent going over records, bonds and securities, other investments to see where a larger profit can be realized, but make no quick changes today. P. M. straighten out disturbances, then have a good time. Relax.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)— Leave the house as early as possible now and put all outside activities on best basis. P. M. is then ideal for home life and having a corking good time with kin. Also good night for inviting chosen friends in for a social evening.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)— Don't waste time on small and petty things today, get into the world of activity and concentrate on big things. P. M. get your shopping done and then have a get-together with relatives, friends, those vital to your happiness right now.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Best not to give into temptation to go out for a good time and to concentrate on pressing matters of a monetary nature. Later in the day, hit on a good plan for the future that will insure security. Impress family with your good sense.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Leave ties to handle own affairs today and you dash out and commercialize on those wonderful ideas and talents you possess. P. M. see that you go to some very fine social affair where you can converse with kindred spirits. Expand.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — If you permit that secret anxiety to hold you back, you can today miss out on commitments made upon opportunities that are just around the corner. P. M. should be spent with the one closest to you in personal life.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — You can be successful now if you forget petty financial disturbances and concentrate on big deals with those who want to be allied with you. P. M. have fun socially in high style.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)— Take pains not to enter into any altercation with someone whose support or affection you might lose thereby. Concentrate on bettering your position in life instead, which hard work can accomplish at this time.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Forget any leanings toward martyrdom today, since this is thinking negatively. Be out instead following the right paths of activity that will bring you success and very possibly fame. Bring cheer into the lives of others.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Look to a most observant and intelligent pal today for the explanation behind some trouble which an authority has caused you, in a.m. Then real understanding will come and the cementing of better relations.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Take care to follow every law that applies to you in any way. Then you can get together with devoted friends for a delightful day of activity and accomplishment. P. M. be your charming, fascinating self.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20)— Work diligently, but keep an eye peeled for new opportunities, es-yours. Then you are able to combine your energies toward a more successful future. P.M. rest.

If your child is born today ... The lucky child born today is very intelligent and can soon understand the whole picture and scope of any enterprise, and have the ambition to go on to great success. There is also the ability to ferret out the errors that are made by others. Give as excellent an education as possible, particularly one that will fit him or her for work with the government in some challenging niche.

Sunday, August 30

Aries (March 21 to April 19)— You can get the devotion of your own kin now by being of service to them, instead of running off somewhere for the day. There are many ways by which you can bring real harmony into this most important sphere of your life.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)— You can get that data you need right now to solve some of your problematical affairs by being sure to hear inspired speaker, and then reading your paper thoroughly. Also delve into technical books that bring wisdom and enlightenment.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Dwell upon the excellent principles and standards under which you were raised and reared, plus recalling the pattern of activity through which you best prospered in the past. Then plan to combine the two for a more successful future.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Take time to analyze your present mode of living and what your goals actually are. Are the two blending and working toward attainment and success? If not, now is the time to make changes and plan more intelligently. Meditate.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Since Leos are renowned for their ability to envision great things, now is the time to meditate upon such prayerfully and get the answers that will help you formulate a more practical plan for the attainment of a glorious life.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)— Your goals are nearer to being reached than you believe, but it is imperative you get the assistance of God at this time through prayer at church of own choice, or through serious philosophical study. P. M. attend inspiring social function.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)— A day to concentrate on helping your fellow man in constructive and generous ways so that you find soul satisfaction and become infinitely more popular and prosperous in days to come.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)— Ideal day to confer with trusted adviser who can give you best ideas in most important sphere of your life at this time. Be sure you understand all that is said, don't be content to know only the highlights. Be thorough.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — You will get excellent hunches today if you get into the so-called Silence for a while, which means meditation in its highest form. P. M. be devoted to loved one. Put your lives on the most idealistic plane.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

erate with those persons who are so vital to your life, it is imperative you listen to their views instead of always expounding your own. Then there is real harmony and you receive needed support.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — It behooves you now to carry through with some of your colleagues in more practical ways instead of being so much in the creative realm. And if you are more affectionate with everyone, you get far better results.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — To find real contentment now, it is important you wear a smile and also help others to raise their spirits. And sincere affection for others always brings wonderful returns in material matters, too. Be a true friend.

If your child is born today ... The delightful, warm - hearted child born today will never suffer from loneliness. Everyone is naturally drawn to your affectionate youngster, who will also have a great understanding of people in a different sphere of life than his or her own. Give a good religious training, too, to go with this fastidious nature and desire for perfection. Fine chart for the specialist here in any sphere.

The Golden Years

Father Loses His Job at 62 What Is There He Can Do?

By THOMAS COLLINS

Sometimes, the adult children of older people are splended.

Here is a daughter, involved in a retirement situation not uncommon to many families, who is.

"My father, at the age of 60, had a slight heart attack two years ago," she says. "He worked for a small firm. There was no pension plan.

"When he was able to work again, there were no jobs for a man his age. Partly this was, and is, because of bad economic conditions in the town where he lives.

"I live with my family in another part of the country, and the prospects for a job are much better for him here than where he is. My problem is whether I should encourage him and Mother to move here. I am their only child.

"They own their house, which should be worth $15,000. They have about $18,000 saved. But they have no income.

"Would it be best for them to sell their house, buy a trailer, move to my town and try for a job? Would it be best for them to stay where they are and move into a trailer? Would it be best for them to move south?

"I'd hate to do the wrong thing by suggesting they move here, and then have them miserable because they miss all their old friends. . ."

So many children want only something for themselves. This daughter wants something for her parents. So — what to do?

First, the Great White Father — Social Security. Was he covered while he was working? If so, and since he has a heart condition, he may be eligible for disability benefits. Medical examination to determine whether or not he is fit for gainful employment would decide this. If eligible he would get monthly payments equivalent to what his benefits at 65 would have been. (He'll have to go to his nearest Social Security office to find out about this.)

If he is not eligible, the next stop is the office of a doctor who can tell the family (as well as the man) whether or not it is really safe for him to work.

If he is, a third logical step would be for him and Mother to rent their home (furnished) for one year, go to the daughter's town and rent a furnished apartment for one year. Then explore the job possibilities. This might take up to $2,000 of the savings. It would be worth it. If he got the job (under Social Security this time, for sure), both he and Mother would probably find by the end of a year that closeness to their only child and their grandchildren would be much more precious than closeness to old friends in the old town.

If he didn't get the job, something along the lines of what follows below could be worked out.

Suppose the doctor had said it was not safe for the father to work. And he can't get Social Security. It probably would be best for him, and his wife, that he be near their daughter. So, if he sells his house for $15,000, adds that to his $18,000 savings, then subtracts $2,000 for a second-hand trailer, he can invest the $31,000 residue at 3½ per cent and get around $90 a month. He and his wife could get by on it but only with a little help from the daughter.

If he keeps his house and takes $2,000 of his savings to convert it into a duplex that would rent for $75 per unit, he would fare better. He would have $16,000 of his savings left. Take $2,000 of this to buy the second-hand trailer, which would be parked in the daughter's town. Then invest the remaining $14,000 at 3½ per cent, for about $40 a month. This added to the $150 a month rent would see him and his wife through without outside help, provided real estate taxes were within reason, repairs were within bounds and the tenants were sensible.

There are many other variations of this tune that could be played. An older couple in a situation such as these parents are in should investigate them all. As long as they own a house, and have at least one child who loves them, something worthwhile can be worked out.

RCAF Wins Gunnery Crown Of NATO Forces

BORDEAUX, France (CP) — The RCAF NATO Air Division today won its second consecutive Guynemer Trophy, emblematic of the air-to-air live gunnery championship of the allied air forces in central Europe.

The Canadians, who won the trophy when it was first put up for competition last year, headed the eight competing teams from six NATO countries with a score of 1697.8 points to 1427.2 for Britain's RAF Fighter Command.

Canadians also keep the individual honors by capturing the first three places, led by FO David Barker, 23, of Lakeview, Ont., stationed at No. 4 Fighter Wing in Badensoellingen, Germany.

Flt. Lt. Alfred McDonald, 31, of Barrie, from No. 3 Fighter Wing, Zweibruecken, Germany, finished third.

The trophy was named after Capt. Georges Guynemer, a French fighter ace of the First World War.

Your Car

Fuel, Air Feed All a Matter Of Teamwork

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

The right fuel and air feed is no less important to a car engine than good ignition and compression. Achieving it calls for teamwork: a clean, vented gas tank, an unrestricted fuel line (and flexible connector), a healthy fuel pump and effective filter.

Next along the fuel route, of course, come the carburetor and choke valve. If their operation is handicapped by gum, dirt, excessive wear or incorrect adjustments, engine operating efficiency and economy are sure to suffer.

Good carburetion will also depend on free movement of the manifold heat control valve. If it tends to bind, your engine will certainly be affected. When all of the above parts appear to be functioning properly, check for slight air leakage at the carburetor or manifold mounting.

• • •

R. W. writes: "I always felt I knew something about cars, but the used '57 I recently bought has me stumped. Where in the world is the windshield wiper vacuum assist unit located?"

(A) The wiper vacuum booster on your car is connected at the oil pump, inside the crankcase.

From H. R.: "One of the big three is supposed to come out this year with a small economy car equipped with a rear engine. Will this be a four-cylinder engine . . . and what will the car cost?"

(A) The car you refer to will be an aluminum six-cylinder rear engine model selling for approximately $2,000.

M. B. writes: "Just bought a used '55 with standard shift. It has a tight 1958 rebuilt engine, four good tires, new brakes and shocks, almost new battery and a rebuilt carburetor and fuel pump. With over 45,000 miles on the clock, will this car soon need other replacements?"

(A) A new clutch is probably the only major expense you have to worry about right now.

Houseplants With Colored Bracts

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Today I found shrimp plants in the dime store at 75 cents per pot. This seems to be a new trend. Usually they are sold by nursermen. These were small but well grown plants just right for fall houseplants.

The shrimp plant is one I have long admired. The Shute Institute at London, Ontario has several growing in their conservatory and Boys and Girls House at the Toronto main library had a fine large bed of them near the front door.

The odd pendulous bracts resemble a cooked shrimp in size, color and shape. The lovely pink bracts overlap like scales. If conditions are right the plants will begin to bloom when about eight inches high, with one panicle of bloom. Later as the plant matures the blooms are borne in groups or clusters.

This was formerly thought of as a greenhouse plant but it will grow well out doors if given loose porous soil with plenty of humus and some coarse sand. It needs a sunny position and good drainage. In summer it will need a constant slightly damp soil but in winter, the resting period it should be grown on the dry side. If the plant is a new cutting and wanted for winter bloom feed and water it more often and grow in a sunny window.

TRIM AND POT

If the plants are to be lifted to bring indoors for the winter, they are not hardy, trim them back hard and pot up. The cuttings may be rooted to make new plants by dipping the cut end in root hormone powder. Shake off excess powder and pot six or eight to a pot in vermiculite or bi-organic.

When new growth starts in the spring nip out the centre of the new growth to encourage compact plants. It must have full sun to develop its best color.

The common red salvias also have bright bracts which make them one of the most prized colorful plants. They are in bloom from June until hard frost. Examine one of the tubes which make up the spikes of color. It is papery, with a flaring pointed tip. The color is to attract insects to the tiny flower within. In gathering the nectar the insect fertilizes the flowers.

The red salvias are hardy annuals, popular for bedding plants. They will stand lots of sun and poor soil. The new hybrids include several fine pink shades and one coral rose.

Strictly for the greenhouse is the tropical Bougainvillea. Its small flowers are carried within three brightly colored bracts and these grow in long panicles. It needs a winter temperature of 40 degrees to survive. During the summer the vines which are trained on cords, or wires up walls and across the top of the greenhouse will produce a froth of solid color. The colors are bright lavender pink, rosy pink and the new orange and bright crimson hybrids.

Dogwood, that lovely ornamental tree, is covered with white or pink bracts in the spring. The flowers are small and insignificant but here again the papery bracts provide the beauty for the plant.

Poinsettias are another member of the bright bract group. Long petal like bracts of scarlet, pink or white supply us with handsome Christmas decorations. The flowers are tiny clusters at the base of the bracts. The orange or yellow cups ooze nectar.

If you have been growing one out doors this summer in hopes of having it bloom for Christmas you must bring it in before any danger of frost. It will need a sunny window and controlled light, to bring it into bloom. One gardener, told me he placed the plant in a dark closet at six every evening and brought it out to full light every morning at eight. It bloomed in January.

Nehru Rules Out Any Immediate Use Of Force

Guards Strengthened In Other Area Threatened

By WATSON SIMS

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today ruled out any immediate use of force against Chinese Communist troops his government charges have occupied Indian territory at two points on the Tibetan frontier.

Nehru rejected a suggestion in Parliament that the Indian Air Force bomb a road the Chinese are reported to have been built across uninhabited territory in the Ladakh sector of Kashmir state.

"Countries should not go to war without examining other ways to settle such matters," Nehru told Parliament in rejecting the bombing suggestion by members of the Praja Socialist party.

The Chinese built the road in 1957. Members said Peking had ignored India's complaints about the intrusion into Ladakh and asked what the government proposed to do.

WILL TRY AGAIN

"Send more reminders," Nehru replied, adding, "We hope this will be settled by discussions and conferences, and we do not propose to go to war."

As Nehru planned a series of talks with leaders of other states adjoining Chinese-occupied Tibet, Indian troops were sent to strengthen border guards on the Northeast Frontier, the other area threatened by the Chinese.

Nehru said the Chinese had produced old maps to back up their claims to the Ladakh territory. India disagreed with the claim, he continued, but this could be a matter for discussion.

But the prime minister termed the border crossing on the Northeast Frontier clear aggression. He confirmed unofficial reports that one Indian guard was killed when the Chinese attacked the Indian border post of Longju, on the Northeast Frontier, Aug. 25. Two other border guards are missing.

DALAI LAMA'S PLEA

The exiled Dalai Lama of Tibet meanwhile called on the United Nations to take up Chinese Communist suppression in his Himalayan kingdom.

"The suffering of my people is beyond description," the self-exiled young ruler said in a statement issued in New Delhi.

Lt.-Gen. S. P. Thorat, head of India's eastern command, was reported summoned to New Delhi for consultations. Two high Indian army officers flew over the Northeast Frontier area border with Tibet to study the feasibility of dropping paratroops, although Nehru told Parliament Friday drops in the jungled, mountainous area are not feasible.

ASKS PAKISTAN VIEW

Nehru will confer Tuesday with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan, who will make a refuelling stop in Delhi en route to East Pakistan.

The Indian prime minister will will confer Wednesday with the Dalai Lama, who is coming here from his exile home in Mussoorie, northern India.

Voters to Make Choice in PEI On Tuesday

These have been the slogans of incumbent Liberals and government-aspiring Progressive Conservatives in a close-fought, sometimes rough campaign.

Premier Alex Matheson suggested at a nominating convention that the Conservatives begin with a united team at home before trying to convince voters of the benefits that would accrue from having PC governments here as well as in Ottawa.

They had four men in the House and one man behind the rail, the premier said. "The four couldn't agree. What would they do if they had more members?"

LEADER SEATLESS

Conservative Leader Walter Shaw did not have a seat in the legislature but directed the opposition from a bench provided on the floor of the House by the premier.

Mr. Shaw, leading the Conservatives in an election for the first time, has said the people of P.E.I. "see the advantage of keeping the province in line with a generous Conservative administration in Ottawa."

Dr. Orville H. Phillips, one of four Progressive Conservatives that captured all Prince Edward Island's seats in the last federal election, said the word Liberal has not been prominent in party advertising. "It's always the Matheson government."

Liberal speakers emphasize that, while Liberals have won every island election since 1935, the present government was created only six years ago when Alex Matheson succeeded to the party leadership.

Both party leaders wound up their province-wide election spiels Saturday night with radio-television addresses.

About 50,000 people are eligible to vote from 9 a.m. AST to 5 p.m. AST. Each party in the two-way fight for the 30 legislature seats has a full slate of candidates in the field.

Standing at dissolution was Liberals 26, PCs four.

Says Smallwood Out to Destroy Labor Movement

WINNIPEG (CP) — A former newspaperman now a political leader charged Saturday night that Premier Smallwood is out to destroy the trade union movement in Newfoundland.

Edd Finn Jr. told a CCF-labor seminor banquet Mr. Smallwood decided several years ago that labor movement was becoming too strong and through a smear campaign and anti-labor legislation has moved to wipe it out.

Mr. Finn, former managing editor of the Corner Brook Western Star, was one of four men who quit their jobs in protest of their paper's handling of the labor strife in Newfoundland.

He said Mr. Smallwood, his workers and a dozen big businessmen control the wealth of Newfoundland and slice up the island's resources like pie among themselves.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Early morning temperatures dropped to the 60s over Southern Ontario. Cooler and less humid air covered northern sections of the province, and this air should advance eastward to southeastern Quebec by evening. A few isolated thundershowers are still expected today, mainly in the eastern portions of the province. Mainly fair and less humid weather is forecast for all areas Tuesday.

SALK ROBBERY WILL DISRUPT POLIO BATTLE

75,000 Doses Worth $50,000 Stolen

MONTREAL (CP) — Seventy-five thousand doses of Salk vaccine worth $50,000 were stolen by three armed bandits early today from the University of Montreal laboratory in suburban Laval des Rapides.

Dr. Lionel Forte, assistant director of the university's institute of microbiology and hygiene, said the vaccine was to be shipped today to the provincial health department in Quebec City for distribution in the province.

"The bandits were after the Salk vaccine," he said. "But I don't know what they'll do with it. It will be hard to sell."

The vaccine arrived last week from Connaught Laboratories in Toronto to help ease a shortage of the anti-polio shots in the province.

FORCED WAY IN

Three men, armed with revolvers and with their heads covered with nylon stockings, forced their way into the laboratory where Salk vaccine and other serums are manufactured.

They broke the lock on a large refrigerator filled with vaccine and escaped with the contents.

Dr. Forte said the vaccine, in cardboard boxes, could be transported in a private car.

The bandits overpowered nightwatchman Arpolis Beland while he was making his 3 a.m. check of the exterior of the laboratory.

"I told them there was no money in the building," Mr. Beland later told police. He quoted the bandits as replying: "We know that but money is not what we want."

Nikita Says Present World Situation 'Not Too Bad'

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Premier Khrushchev says the present world situation is "not too bad, rather it is even good."

The Communist party newspaper Pravda today printed his speech, which was made Sunday night in the village of Veshenskaya, 600 miles south of Moscow, to a meeting of collective farmers.

Khrushchev said he is going to the United States next month with "good intentions" and with the desire to contribute to relaxing international tensions.

"We are determined to take such steps as could help to melt the ice in the cold war," he said. "We like to hope that the United States government will be influenced by the same considerations."

"It is clear to every man with common sense that the improvement of relations between the Soviet Union and the United States would not only benefit the Soviet and American people but also the peoples of the whole world."

He said a letter he received from West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in reply to a Khrushchev letter on relations between the two German governments "on first reading produces a favorable impression."

The Adenauer letter, which was printed in today's Pravda, "is more restrained in tone, and in this respect greatly differs from the previous documents of the government of the Federal German Republic," Khrushchev said.

He said he would like West Germany to expound more fully "its proposals of the solution of such important questions as that of disarmament, the liquidation of the remnants of fear and the development of co-operation between our countries."

"In our opinion, provided the other side is willing, these questions are not insoluble," Khrushchev said. "They can be solved if the Western powers firmly desire a peaceful settlement of pressing international problems."

Adenauer's letter said controlled disarmament of both nuclear and conventional weapons should be the "primary aim of every statesman, no matter where he stands."

Farm Backing for New Party Asked by Douglas and Argue

WINNIPEG (CP) — A strong pitch for farm support for a new political party was made by two top CCF spokesmen Sunday at the last day of a four-day seminar sponsored jointly by the Canadian Labor Congress and CCF leadership.

Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan and Commons CCF Leader Hazen Argue pressed for farm backing in speeches before CLC executive vice-president Stanley Knowles issued a session-closing statement to the press.

Mr. Douglas said farmers and his CCF party should work together.

"Agriculture has had no organization and no bargaining power," he said. There is "an affinity of interest and an interdependence" between farmers and industrial workers.

"We have been deluged with insidious propaganda that their interests are diametrically opposed." This was "propaganda" to split the groups.

The premier of the only CCF provincial government in Canada also made a strong pitch for parity prices in his address, jumping on the federal government for its farm-prices policy.

"The farmers need something to make up their lack of purchasing power," the premier said. A stimulation would be the $300,000,000 "deficiency payment" on wheat sought by a prairie delegation.

"That sounds like a lot of money, but they've just spent $4,000,000,000 on a plane that's not going to get off the ground."

Mr. Argue also claimed that farmers have "a good deal to gain" from a hookup with labor.

DIES IN COMA

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A 15-year-old girl who had been in a coma more than three years died Sunday in Harrisburg state hospital. Doctors said Gloria Miller suffered from a rare degenerative disease of the central nervous system for which there is no cure.

Gang of Youths Fatally Stabs Two Teen-Agers

NEW YORK (AP) — Police said today two youths are being held and will be charged with murder in the fatal stabbing of two 16-year-old boys — the latest victims of New York city street violence.

At least 10 other youths also are in police custody. They will be held as material witnesses or charged with unlawful assembly, Chief of Detectives James B. Leggett said.

The victims were stabbed to death shortly after Saturday midnight when a gang of youths armed with knives attacked eight teen-agers sitting in a playground.

The leader of the attacking group, police were told, wore a black cloak, carried a cane and had large buckles on his shoes. Police said they recovered a black cloak and buckled shoes from one of the youths held.

Leggett said the fatal stabbings apparently did not represent organized gang action but were a personal matter growing out of an individual grievance. He did not explain further.

The two 16-year-old boys, Anthony Krsesinski and Robert Young, staggered into tenements across the street before they collapsed and died.

RUNS AFTER BITE

OWASSO, Okla. (AP)—A 27-year-old farm laborer ran a quarter of a mile Sunday with a water moccasin biting into his leg. Jesse Crippen said the poisonous snake struck him while he was fishing at a farm pond. Unable to get it loose, he ran to the home of relatives who pulled it off. He was reported in good condition in hospital.

Angler Splits Wooden Leg, Hurts Good One, Lost 22 Days in Bush

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Roy Chappel, 60, told from a hospital bed Sunday night how he spent three weeks roaming through rain-soaked bush country, splitting his wooden leg and injuring his good one, before he was found by an RCAF search party.

Chappel, rescued Sunday, went into the bush 50 miles east of here Aug. 7 to take a six-mile shortcut to Grizzly Lake where he intended to set up a fishing camp.

He reached the lake in eight days, instead of three days as he had planned. It was pouring rain and he was unable to do much work on the camp so he started back. He missed the trail on which he had come and was lost.

Peter Cordonier, owner of a sheep ranch from which Chappel started out, reported him missing. After RCMP ground parties met no success, the RCAF started searching from the air. Chappel said the planes flew over him several times but were unable to see him because of the dense bush.

On Saturday he was sighted by a search plane. A helicopter landed two miles away and an RCAF party led him to the plane and flew him here.

Chappel spoke cheerfully of his ordeal.

"I sat on this ridge and watched the rain pelt down and knew that I'd have to get out all by myself," he said. "I thought I would make it, but I didn't know when."

It rained on 17 of the 22 days he tramped through the muskeg and swamp.

He split his wooden leg and had to bind it together with wire. Then he lost his compass.

"When I got to the creek bank I slipped and skinned my good knee pretty bad. It hurt so much I couldn't move and was forced to stay in a little ridge above the creek for eight days."

Chappel finally was able to walk down the creek and on Saturday with his last bun eaten and only a half ration of potatoes left was spotted by air.

"I'm not going back there again," Chappel laughed. "I've had enough of the bush for a long while."

47 PERSONS DIE IN ACCIDENTS OVER WEEKEND

Ontario Leads Count With 14 Fatalities

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Only four provinces reported no violent deaths as 47 persons were killed in accidents over the weekend.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight (local time), Sunday, shows 27 persons died in traffic fatalities, 15 drowned and five others died from other causes.

Heat Wave Over, Cooler Weather Here to Stay

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's hot, sticky weather is over.

The weather bureau said today temperatures will be cooler and the humidity lower.

Tuesday, like today, is expected to be sunny and cloudy with temperatures in the comfortable non-humid 80s.

The cooler weather brought heavy fog to many points in southwestern Ontario. Visibility in the Toronto-Malton area early today was only three quarters of a mile.

At London visibility was zero for a short time.

Macmillan, Ike To Seek To Heal Rift With France

New Western Proposal For Disarming Planned

By RELMAN MORIN

LONDON (AP) — President Eisenhower returned to London amid cheers today from weekend talks with Prime Minister Macmillan that brought broad agreement on the strategy of future cold war negotiations with the Russians.

Qualified informants outlined results of the conference of the two leaders at Chequers, the prime minister's country estate.

They said Eisenhower and Macmillan displayed a resolve to do all they can to bring French president Charles de Gaulle back into full co-operation with the North Atlantic Alliance.

Eisenhower's coming exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was said to have been the most important single topic covered in the American-British exchanges.

NEW ARMS APPROACH

Other subjects covered—by the two men—sometimes with State Secretary Christian Herter and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd sitting in—included:

1. Plans for a new Western approach toward an East-West disarmament program. This approach was said to take into account an American idea that would make a cutoff of nuclear weapons production under tight controls a starting point of the program.

2. A possible compromise formula on key issues holding up an agreement in the big three Geneva conference on banning of nuclear weapons tests. No details were given.

3. The East-West deadlock over the future of Berlin and Germany. Eisenhower was said to have indicated that he will discuss this issue informally with Khrushchev in Washington next month.

4. U.S.-British defence matters and ways of strengthening NATO militarily. Again no details were given.

5. Eisenhower's ideas for a big new effort to help raise living standards in the have-not countries of the world. Britain already is pledged to co-operate with the United States along these lines. But the two leaders were said to have considered ways of broadening the basis of their efforts so other interested powers could join.

OFFSET RED AID

A main purpose would be to offset the Soviet Union's policy of providing what Western spokesmen regard as political aid to neutralist and anti-Western countries in the Middle East, Asia and Africa.

There was no indicationg whether Eisenhower and Macmillan in this context discussed the possibility of inviting the Soviet Union to join the Western powers in this sort of global aid program.

Most of these issues are expected to arise in one form or another during the Eisenhower talks with Khrushchev.

Eisenhower got another salute from Londoners today as he rode through the heart of the city to St. Paul's Cathedral.

Thousands massed around St. Paul's as Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan rolled up in an open car. They went to the cathedral for a solemn half-hour in the chapel Britain built in memory of 28,000 British-based American servicemen who lost their lives in the Second World War.

Appearing rested after a weekend of talks in the country with

Third Storm Hits Tobacco District Raising Total Loss to $3,500,000

DELHI, Ont. (CP)—Hail and driving rain Saturday tore for 10 minutes through Brant and Norfolk counties and ripped up an estimated $2,000,000 worth of area tobacco crops.

At least 30 farmers reported losses of 100 per cent and other losses ranged upwards from 40 per cent. Losses in this area south of Brantford now are estimated at $3,500,000 for three storms this month.

Many farmers had begun early harvesting to avoid tobacco blight when the sudden storm erupted Saturday afternoon. The strong winds and driving hail tore the tobacco to shreds and left naked stalks standing in the fields.

Insurance adjustors began working in the fields of most farmers today, estimating losses.

Richard d'Hondt, an area farmer, described the storm as the worst he had ever seen. It destroyed 31 acres of his crop.

The storm also knocked down trees and power lines.

Hard luck is plaguing farmers this year in an area where tobacco is the major crop.

A violent storm Aug. 9 this year caused about $1,000,000 damage and another Aug. 26 ripped up about $500,000 worth of tobacco.

Butane Storage Pit Catches Fire At Sarnia Plant

SARNIA (CP)—Flames rushed through an underground butane storage pit at the Sun Oil Company of Canada refinery here today but were extinguished before they could reach two nearby oil storage tanks.

About 100 firefighters had the outbreak under control within half an hour.

First reports, said two oil tanks also were destroyed. Company officials, however, said later the tanks, containing diesel fuel, did not burn although they were blacked and buckled by the heat.

NO ONE INJURED

There was no estimate of damage. The butane tank and its pumping unit were believed destroyed. There were no injuries.

The under ground tank held butane gas which is removed as needed by pumping in brine and forcing out the gas. Normally excess gas is removed by means of a flare stack and burned off externally.

At the height of the blaze smoke and flames shot 200 feet into the air and heat could be felt by motorists on highway 40 along the St. Clair River, less than 100 yards away.

The refinery employs about 80 workers.

Khrushchev May Bring Wife, Son on Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic sources say Russian Premier Nikita Khrusuchev will bring his wife and possibly his son along when he visits the the United States in September.

This opens the possibility that President Eisenhower will take his wife and son, John, to Russia when he returns Khrushchev's visit. Mrs. Eisenhower, however, has been reported not keen on going.

Khrushchev has four children by his first wife, who died in 1938. One son was killed on a combat flight in the Second World War. There are two married daughters, Nadeshda and Julia, and another son, Sergei.

Khrushchev's present wife speaks English quite well.

Eighty British Youths Flee Reform School

BEDFORD, England (Reuters) Police searching for youths who mutinied and broke out of a reform school here—more escaped Sunday night for the third straight night — today caught up with three of them watching President Eisenhower in London, 50 miles away.

The three were spotted in the crowd lining the sidewalks to watch Eisenhower drive past. They were among 80 boys, aged 15 to 19, who escaped in a mass walkout Sunday.

Police still were seeking 11, including another four who got away Sunday night. Most of the others were picked up in the neighborhood.

The first outbreak took place Saturday when about 90 boys smashed windows, ripped open their mattresses and then marched out of the school.

They were stopped on the way by Talcott Williams, an American writer who is living nearby with his English wife. Williams persuaded the boys to return to school with a list of complaints.

'Y' Preparing For Big Year

Belleville's YMCA is now prepared for the start of what will probably be its biggest year of activities for the family. The building has been readied and the locker rooms, gym, and swimming pool have a fresh coat of paint. New gravel and sand have been put into the water filters to ensure clean water to swim in.

All of last season's classes will be continued and a few new activities will be introduced. These include crafts and educational movies. For the boys there will be a special tumbling class for those who qualify, and a special noon-hour program is being conducted for out-of-town high school boys. For the girls a new intermediate class has been formed for those between 15 to 18 years of age, and an advanced swimmers class will be formed of those passing their five-star tests.

The boys' program, which will start on September 12th, will be supervised by Douglas Paton, the new physical director, assisted by Ron Poste and members of the boys' Leaders Corps. The girls' agenda, under the direction of Miss Kay Homan with the assistance of Carol Hickson and the Girls' Leader Corps, will start on September 14th. Youths', ladies' and senior men's classes will commence at a later date.

OSD Enrollment Largest in School History

The rapidly increasing school enrollments, general across the entire province, are also being reflected at the Ontario School of the Deaf here where the largest enrollment in the history of the school is expected for school reopening next week.

Mr. J. G. Demeza, OSD superintendent, stated today that an enrollment of 487 students has been accepted for school opening. This is about 45 students more than at the closing of classes last June.

At the same time an additional seven teachers will be on duty at the school, several of these being in training. Total of teachers at the school is 67.

Construction of the new junior school at the OSD which was completed last year has made the greater enrollment possible. Children who have passed their 5th birthday by September are eligible for enrollment at the school. General academic classes go to grade 8 and up to grade 10 in special instances. Secondary school vocational work is also taught at the big school.

Tying in with construction completed at the school last year, considerable paving and sidewalk work inter-connecting the old and new buildings is now in progress at the school.

All areas which were torn up during the construction program are being sodded or seeded, the front area along the highway is being filled where necessary and needed.

Heart Can Take Just So Much

Q. What is the meaning of "low activity tolerance"?

A. This may be another way of saying "diminished cardiac (heart) reserve." The normal heart pumps more than 10,000 quarts of blood through the body every day. This is done with ease and with energy or reserve to spare. When a person with a normal heart runs up a flight of stairs, the heart beats a little harder and faster but soon quiets down. A weak heart runs out of steam. Such a person might be said to have a "low activity tolerance." People with this sort of trouble should live within the capacity of their heart and never push themselves beyond the point of tolerance.

Formful Racing Seen at Meet At Fairgrounds

The race meet sponsored by the Driving Club on Saturday evening at the fairgrounds was an unqualified success and those responsible are to be congratulated on their efforts to bring harness racing back to this district. There was a good crowd on hand and with betting privileges afforded the boys laid it on the line for their favorites.

The racing was the best seen in this district for some time as the drivers vied with each other throughout every trip and the horses changed positions many times during the progress of the races. The two classes had divided winners so close was the racing. In Class "B" Lucky Rhumba Gratton and Don McKay were the heat winners while third and fourth places were scrambled so close were the contestants. Every race saw a drive through the stretch with the issue in doubt until the results were given. In class "C" Lee Mae S and Sunday Mae Grattan fought it out but ended up with exactly the same records.

Members of the Driving Club donated blankets and whips for special performances. Captain Kidd won the blanket donated by the Crystal Hotel for pacing the fastest heat in class "D", while Sunday Mae Gratton, owned and driven by B. Samons of Cobourg won the whip donated by Steve Garvin for the fastest mile in class "C" and Don McKay, driven by Ken Kerr won the whip again donated by Mr. Garvin for the fastest mile in Class "B".

The running race was won by Ron Urch of Belleville with Dennis Day second and the parades before each heat were led by Laverne Way of Bloomfield riding his Palomino. The results:

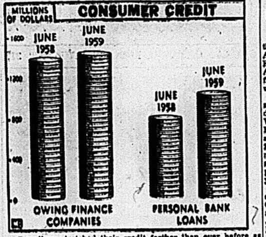
CRITIC DIES

BRIARCLIFF MANOR, N.Y. (AP)—John Corbin, 89, author and former editorial writer and drama critic for the New York Times, died Sunday after a long illness. Corbin, born in Chicago, wrote voluminously on drama, public affairs and education.

STRETCHING CREDIT



Canadians stretched their credit farther than ever before as the economic boom gathered steam at mid-summer.

A large part of the demand for consumer credit was supplied by the chartered banks, many of which were promoting new personal loan plans.

Latest bureau of statistics figures show that consumer debt to finance companies, small loan companies and department stores rose to $1,466,000,000 at June 30 from $1,411,000,000 at June 30, 1958.

Another $1,080,000,000 was owed to banks in personal loans, up sharply from $809,000,000 a year earlier. (CP Newsmap).

Public School Registrations Will Be Around 4,225 Mark

An all-time high in public school registrations is expected in the city next Tuesday when children troop back to school after the summer vacation period of two months-plus.

Total enrollment in the city public school system will be about 4,225 pupils, it was noted today by school administrator L. A. Kells. This is about 120 greater than the enrollment at the time of school closing in June.

The 120 increase in registrations does not present an entirely true picture, however, as close to 100 pupils from the township area, who continued on at schools in the annexed areas, will be returning to township schools. In all there will be over 200 first-year pupils.

Township pupils in the Avondale area will be going to Bayside School, while Thurlow township pupils who went to Bayview last year will be going to the new Douglas Atkins School on Elmwood Drive.

Within the city there will be a slight re-shuffling of school areas as students are registered at schools closer to their homes.

In the north there will be a division generally along North Front Street for pupils going to King George and Prince of Wales Schools.

In the east, all streets opening onto Herchimer Ave. and also Herchimer Ave. itself, will be taken out of the Bayside school with pupils to attend at Queen Elizabeth and at Sir Winston Churchill schools.

LITTLE SHIFT IN WEST

the west with pupils generally the west with pupils generally returning to the schools which they were attending at school closing.

The city schools system will have about 25 new teachers for school opening with many of the new teachers being just out of Teachers' College.

Miss Eleanor Wright will have charge of kindergarten classes at Avondale and Hillcrest schools. A second new teacher at Avondale will be Miss Shirley Holmes.

At King George School new teachers will be Miss Carol Reid, Miss Nancy Reynolds and Miss Marilyn Rutherford. At Prince Charles there will be two new teachers, Miss Jean Barber and Miss Grace Clarke, while at Prince of Wales, Mrs. Naomi Hoare will be the only new staff member.

At Queen Alexandra there will be seven new teachers, Miss Norma Farnsworth, Mrs. Lillian Cathrea, Mrs. Marilyn Graham, Miss Colleen Lowe, Mr. John Plumpton, Mrs. Naomi Swan and Mrs. Thelma Worsley.

At Queen Elizabeth the new staff members are Mrs. Mildred Armstrong, Miss Sandra Minaker and Miss Helen Spearman. There are also three new staff members at Queen Victoria, Miss Mary Creighton, Miss Margaret Dracup and Mrs. May Stewart. At Sir Winston Churchill the new teachers are Miss Mary Sato, Mrs. Elenor Sully and Miss Barbara Smith.

Man in River Just Trying To Beat Heat

He was merely trying to beat the heat!

That is the decision which city police made Saturday afternoon following a report that a man was lying in the Moira River just south of the footbridge.

When officers arrived on the scene no man was visible in the river and later police learned that he had got up from the river bed and walked north along the river.

Adenauer Urges Reds to Resume Talks on Arms

BONN (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has appealed to Soviet Premier Khrushchev to resume talks with the West on controlled disarmement involving both nuclear and conventional weapons.

In a personal letter to the Soviet leader made public Sunday, Adenauer advanced disarmament as an area in which East-West agreement might be reached. Such problems as Berlin and German reunification were pushed into the background.

Adenauer's letter replied to Khrushchev's Aug. 18 note in which he complained about West German rearmament and said that even if West Gemany raised the biggest army in Western Europe, it and its allies would not be as strong as the Soviet Union and its allies.

That factor is secondary, Adenauer replied.

The chancellor maintained that the decisive question for his country, the U.S.S.R. and almost every other country is the arms race and not the settlement of problems arising from the Second World War, such as Germany's former eastern territories now held by Poland and Russia.

Adenauer denied Khrushchev's charges that the West Germans generally, and Adenauer in particular, are set on regaining what Germany lost in the war and exacting revenge.

Adenauer also denied Khrushchev's charge that he hated either socialism or communism. But he said "people are not angels and saints who can behave without regard to their personal interests" and that he therefore believes that socialism should not be the final destination of national development.

Plastic Bag Suffocates Man

TORONTO (CP)—Frank Bannister, 32, of suburban Scarborough was found dead in his room in a downtown hotel Sunday.

He is thought to have suffocated on a plastic bag. Police said he probably threw the plastic laundry bag across the bed earlier and then forgot about it when he went to sleep.

Police Report Two Break-ins Over Weekend

Cigarets and tobbacco worth approximately $100, together with a quantity of chocolate bars and about $4 in pennies were taken from the College Food Market over the weekend after thieves forced the front door of the store.

The break-in was reported to police this morning by Mr. Bargman after arriving early at his store. The front door of the premises was forced with the use of a bar, police said.

A second break-in, this time at the Public Utilities' warehouse on Front Street, netted thieves only a small amount of silver. The hasp was broken from the door to gain entrance.

During the weekend two youths, Stanley W. O'Dell of Halifax and Cecil Clarke Lathan of Toronto, were returned to Rivere du Loup, Quebec, by Quebec provincial police, after city police stopped them with an allegedly stolen car. The two men were picked up by police Saturday morning for speeding and were held for investigation when neither a driver's licence nor ownership permit of the 1959 model auto they were driving could be produced.

A number of drunks were apprehended during the weekend, while police were also busy with traffic offenders.

Prof. Deutsch Makes Report On B.C. Strike

VANCOUVER (CP) — Professor John J. Deutsch, industrial commissioner seeking settlement of the eight-week-old strike of 25,000 British Columbia woodworkers, left by air for Toronto Sunday, apparently having completed his report for the provincial government.

Professor Deutsch, retiring head of the University of B.C. economics department who assumes a new post next month at Queen's University, had until today to report on the dispute.

He had declined to give any indication of the nature of proposals he might make.

Professor Deutsch had his final meeting Friday with representatives of the International Woodworkers of America (CLC). During the previous 11 days he had met frequently with union spokesmen and representatives of the 125 affected coastal logging firms.

It was believed he completed his report for Labor Minister Lyle Wicks Friday night and sent it to Victoria Saturday.

An IWA leader said Saturday the union "would never buy" a 20-cent increase over two years in the current $1.72 basic hourly wage, after it had been reported Professor Deutsch might propose such a settlement.

The union went on strike in support of demands for a 20-per-cent increase in a one-year contract but reduced this to 12 per cent during negotiations. The companies offered seven per cent over two years.

The strike is estimated to have cost $1,000,000 a day in lost production.

IN MEMORIAM

CLARK. — In loving memory of a dear grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Clark, who passed away August 31st, 1955.

What would we give her hand to clasp
Her patient face to see;
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some day we'll meet again,
Beyond the toil and strife;
And clasp each other's hands once more,
In heaven, that happy life.

—Ever remembered by grandson Oscar.

CLARK. — In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. Lillian Clark, who passed away August 31st, 1955.

Though her smile is gone forever,
And her hand we cannot touch;
Still we have so many memories,
Of the one we loved so much.
Her memory is our keepsake,
With which we'll never part;
God has her in His keeping,
We have her in our hearts.

—Always remembered by daughter Lenna and grandson Earl.

Parents Refuse To Give Daughter Chance to Live

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Charlene Butts, 19, has a tumor on the pituitary gland in the brain and physicians say she probably will be blind in two years and dead in four or five. She has lost 40 per cent of her sight.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butts of Oswego, Kan., have refused to consent to surgery for their daughter.

Lawyer Emil C. Anderson Jr. has petitioned the district court here on Miss Butts' behalf, requesting that she be declared an adult so she can give her consent for the operation.

There is no religious motive involved in her parents' stand, Charlene says.

She says a non-medical practitioner with a clinic in rural Oklahoma has convinced her father there is nothing wrong with her.

Deseronto Wins Fire Brigades' Annual Contest

TRENTON — The Deseronto Fire Department with a total of 26 points took the honors at the annual firemen's field day held on the Soccer Field at nearby Batawa. The Batawa fire department ran a close second with 24 points. Tweed firemen took third place with 15 points and the Trenton Department trailed with 11 points.

The bleachers at the park were filled when the contests got underway at about 2.30 p.m. but the hot sun drove many spectators away long before the games had ended. It was estimated that 500 people turned out to watch the firemen go through their paces.

The new combination aerial ladder and pumper truck from Trenton, operated by Captain Gerald Lewis of the Trenton Fire Department, gave picture enthusiasts a chance to take shots while it was in operation. Volunteer fireman Bob Mitts was on the end of the ladder while the Captain put it through several operations.

In the competitions the Deseronto firemen won five of the eight events and went home with all the trophies. Batawa firemen won the other three contests.

In the first event, the Equipment Race, in which the firemen are required to run 50 feet, change into their fire-fighting clothes and run another 50 yards to a finish line was won by Batawa, with Tweed second, Deseronto third and Trenton fourth.

Deseronto took first place in the 14-foot ladder race, Batawa came second, Tweed third and Trenton fourth. In this race one man was required to run 50 feet with the ladder, place it against a wall and climb to the top of it.

In the 24-foot extension ladder race Deseronto also took top spot with Trenton coming second Batawa third and Tweed fourth. Requirements for this race were the same, only five men were used instead of one.

The efficiency race also went to Deseronto with Tweed taking second, Batawa third and Trenton fourth. Here the firemen laid a 150-foot line of hose and shot a stream of water at a bullseye which raised a red flag when hit.

The replacement race, the same as above only the firemen had to remove a section of the hose and replace it with another and then hit the target a second time was also won by Deseronto with Batawa, Tweed and Trenton following in that order.

Batawa firemen took first spot in the hose cart race with Deseronto second, Trenton third and Tweed fourth. Batawa also won the Bucket Brigade race with Tweed taking second place, Trenton third and Deseronto fourth.

Batawa's win of these last two events tied the score at 22 points between them and Deseronto, and with only the tug-of-war event remaining.

In this event Trenton lost out to Trenton and Batawa pulled over Tweed to bring both top teams together for the deciding points.

The Deseronto team took about 2 minutes to pull over the Batawa boys and to put them in the lead by two points and be the big winners for the day.

The annual field day was sponsored by the Hastings-Prince Edward Mutual Aid and the Batawa Department was the host to the visiting firemen and their families.

Good Flow Shown In Tests of Well On Sidney Street

TRENTON — The Public Utilities Commission has been running "flow" tests over the weekend at the well hole on Sidney Street, it was revealed today by the manager of the Commission.

It was reported that tests have shown flows of 120 to 150 gallons per minute and although this is good it is hoped that future tests will run even higher. The only equipment available to test the flow is not large enough to give the full amount and the Commission is seeking a larger pump with which it can give a full and accurate test.

The well hole is almost directly across Sidney Street from the Gould sub-division and was discovered by accident last year. It is on town property.

If the well proves to have an abundance of water then the PUC will consider putting in a pumping station and sinking a bigger hole. Each pumping station will cost over $12,000 and at present the commission is seeking further prices in this line.

When the well was first discovered the Commission sent samples of water away to be tested and these had come back that the water from the Sidney satisfactory with the exception Street well was a little harder than water from other town wells.

It is expected that PUC chairman, Clifford Baker will call a special meeting concerning the recent tests of the new well.

QUIET WEEKEND

TRENTON — No accidents and no fire calls marred the weekend in Trenton when temperatures soared into the 90's and most people were content to stay at home and find what comfort they could in their own back yards, rather than to make the hot trip to beaches. Thunderstorms threatened but none came and the weather remained hot and humid until early Monday morning when cool air began to cover the district.

NEWSMAN INJURED

Ken Kerr, well-known Trenton newspaperman, was injured Saturday evening when he dived off a boat and struck his head on the anchor. He was taken to the Trenton Memorial Hospital and required two stitches to close the gash. The mishap occurred at Little Lake while Mr. Kerr was attending a staff gathering.

ON COURSE

Two Trenton firemen, Bob Haker and Mo Mitts, left yesterday afternoon for Gravenhurst and the Fire Marshal's College where they will attend a two-weeks course in fire fighting. Their expenses are paid by the provincial government, although the town of Trenton is required to put up the money and then is later repaid through the fire marshal's office. On their return, two other firemen, Elmer Stacey and Frank Coleman, will attend the course.

Reporters Call Press Centre For Talks 'The Hagertorium'

LONDON (AP)—British newspapers, hungry for news of what President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan have decided, today protested that "the Hagertorium" is feeding them on crumbs of gossip.

The Hagertorium is what reporters are calling 10 Carlton House Terrace. It is the press centre for the Eisenhower-Macmillan talks and the headquarters for James Hagerty, the president's spokesman.

A row flared up briefly Sunday between reporters and Hagerty and foreign office spokesman Peter Hope.

Today the row burst into print.

"Psst!" whispered a Daily Herald headline, "they ate grouse.

"Confidentially, Mr. Hagerty."

"Oh, positively Mr. Hope."

PILCHER REPORTES

Wrote The Herald's political correspondent, Hugh Pilcher:

"I can tell you (if you care) what Ike and Macmillan had for lunch. And for dinner. And what the weather was like when they made a trip to Oxford.

"But of the matters of world importance they are discussing at Chequers I can tell you—nothing.

"The frivolity of the briefings angered me so much that I protested bitterly at the one held yesterday."

Correspondents were "disgusted and bewildered," claimed the tabloid Daily Sketch.

Hagerty and Hope "were supposed to have told the world how the crucial talks were progressing.

"Instead they cracked weak jokes and spelled out the menus the two leaders were having for dinner."

Wrote John Knight of The Sketch: "No wonder British, American and German correspondents cut Hope and Hagerty short with an angry storm of protest."

Soberly, The Times headed its reports of the Ike - Macmillan talks:

"Few disclosures from Chequers."

"No hint of decisions."

Kept Promise After 30 Years Of Bullfighting

By MURRAY FROMSON

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP)—In 1929 Sidney Franklin's mother asked him to give up bullfighting. He agreed.

On Sunday he kept his promise.

He made his farewell appearance as a bullfighter—and it was an inglorious end to three decades as the best-known U.S. matador in the bullrings of Spain and Latin America.

One bull knocked the 56-year-old Franklin down in the ring at this border city south of San Diego, Calif. His foot was injured. Franklin couldn't kill his second bull. A Mexican bullfighter dispatched it.

Franklin took to bullfighting while studying art in Mexico. It started with a dare. Told no American had ever succeeded before, he said:

"If you've got guts, you can do anything."

His career brought him fame and fortune. Bullfighting experts regarded him as the only successful American matador in history.

Certainly, the novelty of an American, born of Russian Jewish parents in Brooklyn, mastering a Latin sport, caused as much of a stir as his bullfighting prowess.

Franklin's career began in earnest at Seville, Spain, where the Spaniards took the brash red-haired American to their hearts.

Once he killed six bulls in an afternoon. The excitement caused a bullfighter in the stands to die of a heart attack.

Franklin estimated he killed more than 2,000 bulls and earned several million dollars in his career.

The bullfighter from Brooklyn once recalled how doubtful he was when he entered the ring at Seville:

"I stood there and wondered. Should I take a taxi back to Madrid, or should I kill the bull before he kills me?

"'My decision is history.'"

Twenty Couples Wed in 1939 Attend Shrine

CAP DE LA MADELINE, Que. (CP)—Twenty couples renewed their marriage vows at the Shrine of Notre Dame du Cap Sunday, recalling the 1939 summer day they were wed in a mass 105-couple ceremony at a Montreal baseball park.

The celebrations also marked the 20th anniversary of the founding of La Igue Ouvriere Catholique (the Catholic works league), an organization that grew from the giant wedding.

The 20 couples—with 76 children—attended mass and a picnic before marching with other pilgrims to the famed shrine for the open-air ceremony.

It was their first gathering since the July day 20 years ago when 25,000 persons watched a bishop and 104 priests unite the 105 couples simultaeously on the ballpark's grass field.

At least 50 couples were expected to attend the reunion. But officials said threatening weather and the polio outbreak in the province reduced the number.

Roman Catholic clergymen gave the 105 couples extensive courses on matrimony before the mass wedding in 1939. The courses have been adopted by many agencies as a model for happy marriage.

AGING DWELLINGS

More than 500,000 houses in Canada are from 50 to 75 years old, and nearly one in 10 was built in the 1880s or earlier.

Two Boys Take Three Infants Sightseeing

TORONTO (CP)—Two young boys had police and their families searching a wide area Sunday when they took three infants on an eight-hour sightseeing tour.

Ross Hamill, 10, and Ronald Murphy, 8, were found a few blocks from home with baby carriages and wet diapers— and their wards safe and sound.

Ross set out with five-month-old Gary King; Ronald brought along his two younger brothers, David 2, and Randy, nine months. They walked to a park, took a dip in the wading pool and after the babies started to cry, fed them wading pool water in a baby bottle.

Mrs. Hamill found Ronald and David pushing Randy along a street in the carriage. A policeman in a cruiser spotted Ross with the King baby.

The boys said they had dropped the nine-month-old baby from the carriage, "but I don't think weh urt him because he didn't cry much."

Heading Toward the Summit?

Late last week the world was given an illuminating glimpse at the contrasting temperaments of President Dwight D. Eisenhower of the United States and Premier Nikita Khrushchev of the USSR.

Both men voiced the extent of their hopes for their forthcoming talks together.

The cautious Eisenhower hopes this meeting may "melt a little of the ice."

The ebullient Khrushchev predicts the meeting will be "a historical turning point" in the cold war.

Yet, though their phraseology differs so widely, both men may have much the same thing in mind. Eisenhower said that if Khrushchev comes up with some appealing proposals "that would be a tremendous achievement in itself." There is not so much difference between "a tremendous achievement" and " a historical turning point."

As for Khrushchev, he does not envision any overnight change in the political climate. He hopes that his meetings with Eisenhower may lead "from further estrangement to gradual rapprochement." What is that but "melting a little ice?"

In Bonn, President Eisenhower repeated his oft-made assertion that an East-West summit conference would be a mistake unless there is a "pretty good' assurance in advance that some progress can be made.

He evidently does not consider the comparatively brief talks which he will have with Khrushchev will constitute a "summit conference." It is possible, though, that they may serve Mr. Khrushchev's purpose just as well as any formal conference. He goes to these talks without giving any "pretty good" assurance in advance of what he will propose, unhampered by pre-conditions We might profitably ask ourselves why he so urgently desires a summit conference and why he has been so insistent, as evidenced by the futility of the foreign ministers' talks at Geneva, in avoiding any commitments prior to such a meeting.

It could be argued that he merely believes that problems are solved most easily when the men ultimately responsible for solutions meet together. But it seems likely that there is something more than this behind his stand and it is not difficult to discover a possible alternative explanation. Khrushchev may want to emerge as the savior of the world's peace, he may need, and need badly, the prestige which this pose would give him among his own people. If this be so then there is no mystery at all about his preference for the absence of pre-conditions. The existence of any prior agreements, of any "pretty good" assurance of some progress, would detract from his achievement.

Of course, the meeting of Eisenhower and Khrushchev in Washington cannot produce a formal agreement for ending, or even curbing, the cold war. But if it is prestige as a peacemaker that Khrushchev desires and needs, he could gain it just as easily during these informal talks with Eisenhower as at any formal summit conference.

Per Capita Tax Low Here

Belleville citizens who complain about the high level of municipal taxation will find little support for their contention that they are hard-done-by in the latest report of municipal statistics, issued by the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs.

Belleville's per capita tax levy was $79.82 in 1958, the third lowest among cities in the province. Only residents of North Bay, who paid $66.89 apiece, and of Owen Sound, who shelled out $77.01 each, fared better than Bellevillians. Highest per capita levy was Port Arthur's $115.39. The average for all Ontario cities was $95.51.

These figures, of course, do not tell all the story. We need to know what service citizens received for their money, wage levels and the proportion of wage earners in the total population before per capita tax figures provide a completely accurate picture. Nevertheless, it seems that Belleville citizens are luckier than many of them believed.

SYMPATHY

By EDGAR A. GUEST

I couldn't sympathize with him
Whose face was very long and sad.
He bade me know his tale of woe
But still I thought he should be glad.
The skies above him still were fair,
His cheeks were bronzed by summer's tan,
And yet he wailed because he failed
To profit by a cherished plan.

With him I could not sympathize
Who spoke of money he had lost,
Nor could I share the great despair
Of one whose hopes were touched by frost.
The song birds round about them sang,
They still were blest by friendships true,
And they could greet the morning sweet
With strength to build their dreams anew.

But I could sympathize with him
Whose grief was pitiful to see;
The sun was high, and fair the sky,
Yet dark I knew his world to be.
For he had lost the one he loved
Out of his life her soul had flown,
And I could share his deep despair;
For such a grief I, too, had known.

Son, Just You Wait Until You're a Papa

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I was lying prone on the beach, practising death, when some college kids who are staying at the cottage next to ours asked me if I cared to go water-skiing with them.

I opened one eye, shook my head, and returned to my coma. They left, with a pitying glance at my prostrate figure — probably calling me "Gramps" under their breaths.

What these youngsters fail to reckon with — until they themselves have children — are the rigors of parenthood. If they think that water-skiing calls for such a display of muscle and endurance ,they ought to try carting the children down to the beach for an afternoon.

Each day the load gets more massive and cumbersome. Into the station wagon this morning we loaded two rubber rafts, four pails and shovels, a wheelbarrow, three blankets, six towels, a thermos jug, a groaning picnic basket, changes of clothes, a beach ball, a dump truck, and whatever else Michael and Barbara could find to scrape up from the front porch.

The beach is only three minutes by car from our cottage, but it took me four trips from car to sand to unload the debris. When I had finished, the kids promptly ignored all the paraphernalia and made for some other children's blanket, where they happily played with the same toys we had carted down.

It was then that Daddy felt one of his regular heart attacks coming on, and I was in the midst of coming to terms with my Maker when the college boys invited me to water-ski.

Prior to that, in the morning, I had taken the children over to the stables to watch the horses, then down to Chief Oshkosh's Trading Post to sport around his tepee, then in to town to pick up some new crayons (they disappear at a rate of 12 colors an hour) and coloring books.

This column is simply a cry of protest at the contemptuous glances of the college set, who think my lack of energy on the beach and my rubber legs on the tennis court are doubtless due to some organic impairment brought on by advancing middle-age.

Wait until you have wee ones, I say to them, and then see how much vitality you have left for cavorting on the surf. I could water-ski for a whole week with a smaller expenditure of effort than getting the children to change from wet clothes to dry when they display that obstinacy that is so evidently inherited from their mother's side of the family.

Not that I'm complaining, you understand. It's wonderful here, the days are sunny, the nights are cool, the children are little peaches most of the time.

But until you've lugged a hundred pounds of equipment for a three-minute trip, don't be so scornful of the old men lying like exhausted porpoises on the sand. The day will soon come, oh, laughing boy, when you no longer trip down to the beach with nothing but a comb in your hip pocket and a towel flung carelessly over your shoulder.

Canadian PLACE NAMES

LAKE OF THE WOODS

Lake of the Woods has more islands than any other lake in the world (14,000 in number). It was first called "Lake Of The Islands" by the Indians, the Indian name being "Min-astic." The Indian name for wood was 'Mistic." The similarity of the words confounded the French explorers, whose knowledge of the languaeg was acquired conversationally, so they caused the name to be changed from "Lake Of The Islands" to "Lake Of The Woods."

Find Seaweed Like Oysters

Montreal Star

The Japanese delegation to the Ninth Annual Botanical Congress bring glad news about seaweed. Laminaria, they tell us, which tastes rather like an oyster, grows in profusion along our Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Apart from being delicious to eat — it comes in long flat leathery strips, they say — these plants have great commercial value .One of the by-products is used in sizing for clothes, to thicken ice cream, as a toothpaste base and in printer's ink.

This may be just what the Maritimes have been waiting for. Out go the fishing boats, just like the old days, in gay profusion and back they come at the end of the day laden with the harvest of the seas; seaweed and the odd fish. This they feed to the tourists, and for dessert they got seaweed hardened ice cream. After this, naturally enough, they need quite a bit of toothpaste — the seaweed variety — which they purchase at the local stores. Prosperity returns.

And we must not forget the seaweed printer's ink we used to write about it.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WHEN ARE WE EDUCATED?

I have a friend with whom it is a privilege to be, for he is widely read, has travelled much, takes an interest in the finer things of life, is also a New York banker, and I am amazed at his knowledge. I thought he might be a Harvard man so I asked one evening, as we sat before a log fire at my Nova Scotia island retreat, what college he attended. "I never went to college!" he replied.

That was a puzzler, but thousands of the Great never knew the inside of college halls. When are we educated, and where does education come from anyway? I have interviewed myself, and it is something like this: ' man is educated when he learns how to say no! And when. A friend once sent me a square card with this single word upon it. He told me to hang it in my office. That set me to thinking. You try it out!

Education starts with the heart and ends with the mind. All between is what we do with our life to make it worth while. College is just one of those beginnings. An education is something that we create. Others help us add a little color, here and there!

We never get through being educated. If we did we would stagnate. All incentive would be gone. Interests keep us all "on our toes" and full of enthusiasm and purpose. Education creates a wholesome desire for high attainment, full of courage and patience. This is where God steps in, for without Him all effort may fail.

If Everybody Was a Jones

Christian Science Monitor

Having listed a number of interesting corruptions of old names into sometime unrecognizable modern forms, a writer in a British paper remarks: "But how much duller life would be if all were called Jones".

This is a sly trick, this attaching of a debatable premise to the very end of an article, so that the reader lets it go at that without further inquiry. Just how much duller would life be if we were all called Jones?

Any duller than if we were all called Smith. which we very nearly are ?

What about the Joneses that so many people with other names are forever trying to keep up with? Surely not so dull a lot.

The last president of the Republic of Texas was a Jones, and there was John Paul, and an Inigo, and a Casey, not to mention an immortalized landlady — a Jones for every taste.

Would the world be duller if there were so many Joneses that some of them called it Jounes, as some Smiths say Smyth, or Smythe? So that Joneses would jeer at Jouneses, and Jounes look askance at Jones?

Would this summer season be any less gay if a certain Premier Jones were planning to make a call on a certain President Jones?

Or if to distinguish himself from his (he hoped) predecessor another transcurtain traveler preferred to be known as Vice-President Jones-Jones?

Or if Prime Minister Macjones was looking forward to a continuation in power after the next British elections?

Or if Nelson Jones' son was planning on including the Scandinavian Miss Jones in the "fellership" of Joneses?

We doubt it. Think how much more approachable, insouciant, and hence witty all members of human society would become when they could turn their attention to other matters than "What is that fellow's name?"

Paperbacks Respectable

New York Herald-Tribune

It wasn't too long ago that paperback books were the black sheep of the publishing field — thrillers and steamy romances whose heroes and heroines, judging by the gaudy covers, were seldom dressed in more than a wisp of clothing, or, if their specialty was crime rather than passion, were usually riddling somebody with a gun.

But now the paperback is respectable. There are 6,000 titles in print, and as many browsers know, they include a large number of superior books on every subject.

We were struck, for instance, by a list in the current issue of Natural History of 69 paperbacks that would interest readers of that lively journal. Just to read it is an adventure.

Population Quadruples

Saint John Telegraph-Journal

It is thought-provoking to reflect that within one human life span the population of Canada has multiplied four times.

The total will reach 18,000,000 sometime late in 1960, the Bureau of Statistics estimates.

The figure now stands at about 17,500,000 — an increase of 3,500,000 since 1951. Thus in the last eight years Canada has gained as much population as she did in the entire 40 years between 1871, when the total was 3,689,257, and 1911, when it was 7,206,643.

By the 1920's, schoolchildren were having the fact drummed into their memory that the population of the country had then attained the proud level of 9,000,000.

At the outbreak of World War II it was about 11,00,000.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

SOME ONE OR NO ONE

The great humorist Mark Twain once wrote. "We like a man to come right out and say what he thinks — if we agree with him."

Perhaps this is an even more timely piece of satire today than it was when Mark Twain wrote it. Today the pressure for conformity — to agree with the crowd, to stick to the party line, to be an organization man — is greater than it has ever been before. At the moment, our society seems to be one in which the typical, normal man gets along most easily. Employers, for example, are evidently seeking to hire people as much like those they already have as possible.

But history tells us what a foolish goal conformity is. The great names of the past are not those of conformers, but always just the opposite — men and women who have thought and acted in a radically different manner from their contemporaries: Moses, Soccrates, Jesus, Paul, Washington, Lincoln, to name a few.

God created us as unique individuals with different individual capacities. The pattern that is best for one person cannot be best for any other, for no two of us are exactly alike. Only through our development as individuals can we fulfill our varying potentialities. Conformity prevents this fulfilment.

To be someone is to be some one. To conform is to be no one.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

DOCTOR-PATIENT RELATIONSHIP SHOULD BE FRIENDLY

"Would you be so kind," a woman reader writes, "as to give me the names of doctors for me to make a choice . . ."

It wouldn't be particularly sensible for me to do so.

Why? Well, it would be mighty nice if I could know every reader personally. I'd like that — if there were 1,024 hours in a day, instead of only 24.

However, let's get to the matter of my recommending doctors. First of all, as I dare say you know ,this column appears in other cities as well as this one.

So — I can't know all of my readers personally and neither can I know all of the doctors in a number of cities. I certainly know my share of them, around the country as well as abroad. But trying to match up the right patient with the right doctor? I's too much for me!

I'll grant, of course, that where I have personal knowledge of a case, I sometimes say, "Have you considered going to So-and-So?" But even in my own circle of personal friends, I try to keep this at a minimum, unless some particular circumstances dictate.

And even so, I've had the experience of suggesting some particular physician ,only to learn later that the patient said, "Oh, I'm sure he's a fine doctor but we just didn't hit it off."

You might ask, "What do you expect readers to do when we want to seek out a doctor?"

I'll answer that.

First of all, if you have a family physician, or "medical adviser," as has been suggested by some thoughtful people who feel that "family physician" isn't an exact enough term, talk to him about special problems. Whether the issue is finding a surgeon, psychiatrist, eye specialist, plastic surgeon, dermatologist or what, your own doctor knows you and he also knows the specialists in your vicinity (or at a distance) in these fields.

Second, if you don't have a personal physician and want to choose a specialist, how do you do it? My advice is: Don't! I've seen so much waste that way. People decide they have some trouble or other, say stomach, and start hunting for "a stomach specialist."

It's been estimated that 85 per cent of our medical troubles are minor ones. Get a doctor for these; learn to know him; let him know you; confer with him if a specialist is required.

Third, you don't have a personal physician, but you want one.

One way is to choose a hospital which you know to be a good one. Then ask the hospital for the name of general physicians, connected with it, who are in your neighborhood. You thus acquire not only the services of the man you choose, but also — in event of necessity — the availability of others on that hospital's staff.

Or, if you prefer, and this is always sound, phone or write to your county medical society. You can ask for someone in your vicinity, or can say you prefer a physician who works with a certain hospitall.

That's my advice. Don't wait for a panicky pain in the night. Find a congenial doctor the first time you need your polio shot, or have some minor trouble. Then (assuming that you like him) stay with him. Or find another, until you are satisfied. Then stick. Don't shop.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What has happened when it is necessary to take gelatine because of weakness? — R. F. H."

I abbreviated your letter, of course — but the answer is this: Gelatine is high in protein. Some people slide into the habit of eating too much starch (crackers ,white bread, spaghetti, macaroni, etc.) and not enough meat, fish, cheese, eggs. So for them ,gelatine helps to some extent in making up for the lack of protein.

Z.P.: No, there is nothing you can take to "clear the bloodstream" of warts, because that isn't where warts come from. If so, you'd have the warts everywhere, you see!

Are you considering the removal of yor child's tonsils? If so, remember that nature provided them for a purpose, and this is explained in my pamphlet, "Don't Trifle With Tonsils." To receive your copy, write to me in care of The Chicago Sun Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5c in coin to cover handling.

Try to Cheat On Hail Size

Calgary Albertan

At least twice already this summer, storms have produced hail the size of golf balls.

Over the weekend there was a storm near Winnipeg, and the news service reported with great fanfare that some of the hailstones measured four inches in circumference. Four inches, mind you!

But Winnipeg is trying to pull a fast one. Four inches "in circumference" is nothing. A regulation-size golf ball is 5.28 inches in circumference. Winnipeg's hail would be small walnut size.

Let's everybody stick to diameters when talking about hail.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

On a secondary or township road that winds perilously amongst the rocks and cedar swamps to and from a rapidly expanding summer resort, there have been accidents every year, some of them serious, as the result of drivers, mostly young and full of holiday glee, driving far too fast around the bends and over the numerous rises.

This year, at the start of the holiday season, the township council, which consists almost entirely of ex-soldiers and airmen of the recent war, put up traffic signs of their own design and at their own expense.

"Speed 30 miles an hour. This is not a request. This is an order!"

They then employed three local men as constables, whether with or without other governmental sanction I have been unable to find out. These doughty ex-service men cracked down on all who exceeded thirty miles, even on the few straight stretches. A couple of indignant and well-heeled tourists tried to fight the convictions but became so entangled in the delays and confusions that only old soldiers know how to devise that they gave up in disgust.

There were only two accidents on the road this summer.

"Both", said the reeve, an ex-sergeant, "were the type of person who thinks speed limits are a request".

Two-Footed Whale

A sperm whale taken by Soviet whalers in the Behring Sea recently was found to have a pair of under-developed paw-like hind legs growing from the area of its stomach. The legs were found to contain bones. This strange whale provides further evidence for the scientists' belief that in the distant past, the whale's ancestors lived on land and resembled land mammals.

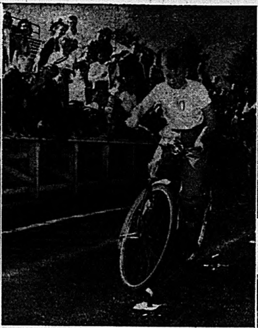
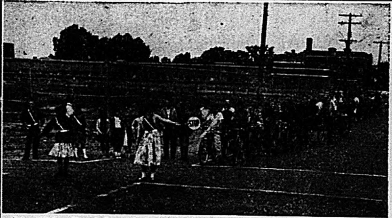
Bicycle Clubs Urge Canadians:

"Ride for your Life"

Safeguarding the lives of youngsters daily exposed to the hazards of traffic presents a serious challenge to all civic minded citizens. In many cities across Canada effective safety programs have been organized to teach young cyclists the safety rules of the road — which begin with a clear understanding of all traffic signs and regulations.

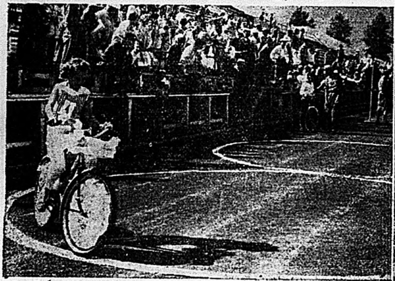


Today's cyclists will be tomorrow's drivers, and it is the business of bicycle training clubs to see that these young people acquire the safety habits which will stay with them into adulthood.



School Safety Patrols have chalked up an impressive record in the prevention of fatal accidents among school children. Surveys show that the dangerous age of bicycle riding is 16; most accidents occur in daylight between April and September. Highest number of accidents occur on Saturdays.

In Vancouver, B.C. city firemen make regular inspections of bicycles in school parking lots checking machines for mechanical fitness. Cyclists whose bikes are defective are given notes listing repairs needed.



In Alberta, "Pedal Pusher Clubs" are extremely active, teaching children how to ride safely and issuing "Skilled Rider" plates to those who successfully complete the training course. Among the battery of tests is riding the figure eight — a test of skill which measures the rider's ability to make smooth changes in balance while keeping bicycle tires on a 4-inch line.

Many Canadian cities now sponsor bicycle Roadeos. The young lad above tries his skill in navigating a 75 foot lane in less than 30 seconds without touching either white line.

National Film Board of Canada Photos

Once a youngster is convinced that traffic regulations are made to protect him, not just designed to restrict his activities, accidents become easier to prevent. Sponsored by service clubs and with the active cooperation of local police forces, bicycle safety campaigns are gaining in popularity and momentum across Canada.

MACMILLAN, IKE

both arms wide in answer to the cheers of the crowd.

BOTH ON TV TALK

He returned to the city for a Macmillan, Eisenhower spread round of appointments and an informal, televised report with Macmillan tonight on their talks about future relations between the West and Russia.

SUPPORT FRENCH POLICY

The American-British talks appeared to produce an understanding that Eisenhower will assure de Gaulle he can count on the support of his main allies over three cardinal issues of French policy.

On Algeria: Both the United States and Britain are ready to back de Gaulle's quest for a liberal settlement of the nationalist rebellion. Such a settlement, according to the informants, need not be based on immediate independence, but should provide for self-determination in the reasonably near future.

In practical terms, this would mean Britain, and probably the United States, would resist actively any United Nations intervention in Algeria.

On French ambitions to become a nuclear power: Eisenhower probably will be ready to go as far as U.S. laws allow him to increase the flow of nuclear weapon secrets to France.

NO NEW ORGANS

On de Gaulle's demand for a bigger voice in allied strategic planning and nuclear weapons control: Eisenhower is expected to assure de Gaulle that French views always have been, and will continue to be, examined with respect on issues as they arise. But he would resist setting up new organs of consultation inside NATO.

The United States would be ready to consider sharing with France the use and control of any U. S. defence installation on French soil. U. S. warplanes in France hitherto have been under NATO control.

Eisenhower flies to Paris Wednesday for a two-day stay. He is due to spend about 10 hours in conference with de Gaulle.

Londoners gave the president another "I like Ike" salute today as he rode through the heart of the city to St. Paul's Cathedral.

THOUSANDS OF FLAGS

Thousands of flags — the Stars and Stripes, the Union Jack and gaily colored pennons—rippled in the wind and some 5,000 or 6,000 people cheered Eisenhower as he arrived at the cathedral.

"Magnificent!" the president exclaimed as he entered the vast church.

Then, with Macmillan following, he walked to the American Chapel, silently studied the beautiful stained glass windows and bent low to examine the walnut and gilt railings. Police held back about 300 spectators who had entered the cathedral.

More cheers and shouts went up as Eisenhower and Macmillan walked slowly out of St. Paul's, got into the car and drove off to the residence of U.S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney.

The sound portion of the Eisenhower-Macmillan telecast will be relayed for live broadcast by American radio networks. Tapes of the program will be flown across the Atlantic for showing. The BBC and Europe's Eurovision network will carry the appearance to a potential audience of nearly 100,000,000 viewers in Western Europe.

"We don't know what they are going to say," said a BBC spokesman. "There is no script."

CHURCHILL RETURNS

Sir Winston Churchill flew back to London from a Riviera vacation to attend a formal dinner tonight given by Macmillan at 10 Downing Street and also another Tuesday night which Eisenhower is giving for a large group of his wartime associates.

During their weekend at Chequers, Eisenhower and Macmillan met with their foreign ministers for an hour Saturday night and for another hour Sunday before church.

The two leaders also talked alone several times, including during an unscheduled two - hour drive they made through the countryside to Oxford University Sunday afternoon.

The president and the prime minister attended Anglican services at the Church of St. Peter and St. Paul, a few miles from Chequers.

DISARM MARCHERS

MANILA (Reuters)—Police today disarmed some 300 knife-carrying members of a religious sect as they attempted to march through city streets to commemorate the "cry of Balintawak"—the start of an anti - American Philippine revolution in 1896. More than 150 policemen met the marchers at the south entrance to the city and confiscated their long bolo knives.

150,000 Kids Will Invade CNE Midway

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian National Exhibition's midway workers were up early today in preparation for the usual onslaught of small fry that overwhelms them on Children's Day.

This is the day the roller coaster works overtime, candy floss machines spin continuously and mountainous piles of hot dogs gets washed down with gallons of soft drinks.

Midway operator Patty Conklin expects more than 150,000 youngsters to invade his realm. He brought in eight new rides this year to cater to them.

50 DIFFERENT RIDES

The rides now total 50 — as many as can be accommodated under present conditions. Besides the old favorite, the roller coaster, the children this year can have a whirl on a toboggan-type trip through a dazzle of spectacular lighting, giggle through a fun house on moving platforms and a conveyor belt, try the Silly Lilly, an experimental ride from the U.S., or go on the Springer, a 60-year-old musical horse merry-go-round whose horses sway in a bucking motion instead of going up and down.

Apart from the midway attractions, there'll be band concerts to soothe tired parents, Shetland pony judging, piano competitions, a children's fashion parade and opening of Canada's Sports Hall of Fame and Hockey Hall of Fame.

Slightly cooler weather was expected.

Crowds at the exhibition were down by 10,000 in the first four days this year compared to the same period last year. A total of 310,500 persons attended Saturday. On Children's Day last year, the turnstiles admitted 168,500.

JUDGING RESULTS

At the horse show Saturday night, Baywood, the only mare entered, won the Geraldine Cakebread Challenge Trophy for open heavyweight hunters. Exhibited by Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Conron of London, Ont., the bay mare scored against seven geldings.

Long Lane Farm, Brantford, won the mounted police class with Kalarama Colonel, and also had the runner-up, Top Brass.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Gilligan, Niagara - on-the-Lake had the best entry in single harness ponies, 13.1 to 14.2 hands.

A blue persian male owned by Mrs. Hazel Hill of Toronto took the top award in the cat show Saturday for the third year. Cuddles, born in 1953, was judged best cat of all breeds.

SALK ROBBERY

They locked him in a cage containing 500 rhesus monkeys which are used in the production of the vaccine.

Mr. Beland said the appearance of the bandits was frightening.

"My heart began to beat wildly," he said. One of the bandits noticed his condition.

" 'Let's go easy, he might collapse in our hands' " Mr. Beland quoted one of the bandits as saying. "This man talked as though he knew medicine."

He said the bandits tried unsuccessfully to tear a doctor's white jacket into strips to tie him up. Then they tried to bind him to a chair with his own belt, but it proved to be too short. It was then they decided to put him in the cage with the monkeys.

Mr. Beland said one of the bandits returned regularly to the cage and threatened him with a blackjack. Finally about 4:30 the bandits left. The nightwatchman was unable to free himself until 6 a.m. He immediately called police.

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — A Peterborough teen-ager was still missing from her home today, 15 days after she told her family she was going to a theatre for an afternoon show.

Police believe Sharon Gallagher, 15, may be in the Trenton area, after an anonymous telehone call Saturday to Sharon's parents. The caller said that Sharon was seen hitch-hiking to Trenton Aug. 15.

Sharon's mother, Mrs. Philip Gallagher, said today that apart from her summer vacation periods at Presquile Point, Sharon was never away from home.

Membership Banquet to Be Held Saturday

BATAWA — On the Saturday night prior to Labor Day, visiting members of the Czechoslovak Association and Sokol teams at Batawa will be guests at a membership banquet that is to take place at the Queensway Hotel.

This will be followed by a general assembly ball in the Batawa Recreation Hall.

The cafeteria facilities there will remain in continuous operation in order to serve the visitors and in addition there will be refreshment stands at various points on the grounds for the convenience of those in attendance.

The attendance committee anticipates that many people will make the occasion a picnic weekend, planning to arrive in Batawa for the industrial fair on Saturday, and then staying over for the Sunday and Monday functions.

People from the entire area, who may be interested, are cordially invited to attend any or all the events.

Bowling Leagues Are Organizing

FRANKFORD — With the kind of weather people have been enjoying lately it is a bit hard to realize that this time last year Frankford Mixed Bowling League was organized for the season, and a week or so later the schedules were under way. Not many "toe warm" evenings either, if one recalls correctly.

Whether or not because of the weather, this year Division B at least will be getting away to a slower start.

The executive has announced that the nine o'clock league will commence bowling around the first of October. There are still a few vacancies on the roster so if anyone in the village would like to join the league please get in touch with either Len Reid, or Selbourne Sharpe by the 12th of September. Age or experience is not a factor, if you are interested in this healthy, clean competitive recreation ask any bowler how easy and how much fun they retain.

Division "A" is organizing Friday night and president Ray has asked to have this appeal broadcast. If you bowled last year and for any reason you wish to drop out this year, let president Ray or Wayne Arbuckle know about it before the teams are selected. Last year a number didn't make up their minds until after the lists were published and it caused a lot of unnecessary work for the executive.

THREE JETS COLLIDE

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Three Turkish air force jets collided over Ankara Sunday. Two crashed, killing their pilots. The third plane was slightly damaged. The planes were taking part in an air force ceremony.

AND THE COLD WIND BLEW — The cold wind blew down the river and caught Princess Margaret's mauve-colored, broad, pleated skirt as she stood outside Balmoral Castle in Scotland to greet a visitor, President Eisenhower. Beside her stood Queen Elizabeth II, in a powder blue suit. The Queen and the Princess made a completely unexpected appearance at the castle gates to greet the President.

Mr. and Mrs. Pava Laaneorg are shown following their recent marriage in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Roslin, Ontario. The bride is the former Miss Jacqueline Preston, daughter of Mrs. W. J. Preston, and the late Mr. Preston. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Karl (Ida) Laaneorg, of Toronto, and the late Mr. Laaneorg.

LAANEORG — PRESTON

ROSLIN — St. Paul's Anglican Church, Roslin, was the scene, on Saturday, August 15th at 3:00 p.m. of a very pretty summer wedding when the Rev. Dalton Woodward united in marriage, Jacqueline Preston, daughter of Mrs. W. J. Preston, Roslin and the late Mr. W. J. Preston, to Pava Laaneorg of Toronto, son of Mrs. Karl Laaneorg, and the late Mr. Karl Laaneorg.

Gladioli in mauve, yellow and white adorned the altar and white satin bows designated the guest pews.

Mrs. Arthur Bates, church organist, rendered the wedding music and accompanied the soloist Mrs. Earl Gray who sang, "I'll Walk Beside You," before the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. J. Robert Preston, the bride was radiantly lovely in her gown of white satin, lace and tulle, in floor length, embroidered with sequins and seed pearls. The sleeves were long and pointed at the wrist.

Her fingertip veil was held by a tiara of seed pearls and sequins and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Miss Shelia Preston, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore white-flocked nylon over yellow taffeta, headdress of white rosebuds, and carried a nosegay of yellow 'mums accented with mauve lace and ribbon streamers.

Miss Betty Tracey, Toronto, and Miss Helen Coutts, Toronto, as bridesmaids, were gowned alike in white flocked nylon over mauve taffeta. They carried nosegays of mauve 'mums accented with yellow and headbands of white rosebuds.

Mr. Karl Laaneorg, of Toronto, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man while Mr. Richard J. Preston, of Roslin, brother of the bride, and Mr. Fred Galbraith, Toronto, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Church Hall where the bride's mother received, attired in royal blue figured silk with corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore powder blue silk and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's table was lovely in its appointments of white damask; pink tapers in silver candlesticks, and centred by the traditional three-tiered wedding cake surrounded by tulle with red rosebuds and a miniature bridal party in white, mauve and yellow. The bridal bouquets added a further nuptial touch.

For travelling to Montreal, the Laurentians and Ottawa, the bride donned a powder blue linen suit and wore a corsage of pink roses. On their return Mr and Mrs. Laaneorg will reside in Toronto.

Out-of-town guests were present from Toronto; Stirling; Campbellford; Fort Erie; Jarvis; Belleville and Crookston.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower, at the home of the bridegroom's mother, in Toronto.

Record Intact, Son Christened On Scarborough

TORONTO — Lewis Cumming, a veteran of 22 years in the Royal Navy, yesterday kept the family record intact. His fourth child was christened by a Royal Navy chaplain.

Four-month-old Gordon Lewis was christened by Rev. P. E. H. Golding of Chatham Barracks, England, aboard HMS Scarborough, one of the NATO ships currently visiting Toronto.

The ceremony took place in the wardroom of the ship which was tied up at Pier 9 for public inspection yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Cumming said his four daughters, Frances, 12, Fiona, 11, Lorraine 6, and Alison, 5, had been christened by navy chaplains.

Although the practice of having children christened aboard ships is no longer encouraged, Mr. Cumming, who has been living in Toronto, on Chestnut Cr., for two years, was given special consideration in honor of the occasion of the visiting flotilla.

Several weeks ago, when he learned of the impending visit, Mr. Cumming wrote the senior chaplain at Chatham naval barracks, England, for permission.

Arrangements were made through HMCS York to have the ceremony performed.

Members of the ship's company witnessed the ceremony, along with the child's godparents, James Baptie, Stewart Grewar and Mrs. Ruth Stewart.

The engineer said he would not mind if his son chose a naval career.

"But not one like mine. I want him to go to naval school and get something on that cap. I started in the hard way and worked my way up to petty officer."

Melrose W.I. Holds Interesting Talk on Parent-Teacher Status

A most interesting meeting of the Melrose W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. G. McLaren with "Education" as the main theme.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. M. Lazier, 1st vice-president presided and after welcoming all and thanking the hostess she took charge of the business period. Correspondence included several 'thank-you' notes and notice from Miss Suave of a Short Course at Stirling, "Sew to save dollars and make sense", on September 29 nd 30. The Jr. course entitled, "Meat in the Menu", will be held on September 15 to 16 and leaders were to be chosen to attend. The date for the W.I. convention at Club Canara, in Belleville is October 8th and 9th. Some souvenir spoons are still available.

At this stage, Mrs. Vincent Pascoe substituted for the leader, Mrs. A. English, who was unavoidably absent and directed the following program: The motto — "A woman who takes an active part in a community is happier than one who does not" was capably given by Mrs. J. McLaren after which Mrs. F. Bush read a poem, "They" urging all to criticize themselves more than the other fellow.

A clever family skit was enacted by Mrs. T. Howard as father; Mrs. V. Pascoe as mother, Miss B. Weese as teen-age daughter, and Harold Pascoe as young son. The scene was at the supper-table with members seated and a general heated conversation ensued with mother frustrated with all the baking she had to do for the ten organizations to which she and other members of the family belonged. Outside commitments made life one big merry-go-round, but co-operation from everyone eased the situation and made life more pleasant.

Mrs. C. Weese followed with the topic, "Pros and Cons of Education". In a most explicit manner she outlined the three different courses which compose the new "set-up" at the high schools in Belleville this fall.

As school opening draws near it seemed most timely to ask a few questions, not to compare the old way with the new way as both filled the time in which they were practised, but rather to discuss some of the ways parents and teachers may work together for the best education of the children.

A general discussion followed based on several questions, a few of which were — What is the proper bed-time for a school-age child? Should there be homework? Should a parent confer with teacher?

Many teachers were present and gave their point of view from past experiences and parents voiced their opinions. It was generally agreed that parents should take a keen interest in their children's progress and co-opearte with the teacher in her school activities.

Mrs. C. Bates read a short poem, "Do It" after which Mrs. R. Badgley conducted a "Word" contest with Mrs. C. Weese as winner.

LITTLE GALS FROM 5 to HIGH SCHOOL AGE...

How does your daughter grow? With naturally curly hair? If so, we'll cut her hair in a style that will be trim and tantalizing. If not, we'll cut her hair to a perky length and and give her a baby soft permanent wave. No more putting it up every night or after every rain storm. This plan is not only helpful to you, but good for your child. Most little girls are coquettes at heart. We'll wager a child who looks as pretty as she can will be as smart as she can — and happier — in school.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Harold J. — I don't want to switch schools.

Mrs. F. J. — We want him to meet new boys and girls.

Harold J. — I am 15 and will soon go into my junior year in high school. My problem is that my family is moving in a few weeks and they want to transfer me to a new high school. I want to stay in the old one.

One reason I want to stay is I want to graduate with all my friends — the ones who started high school with me. The other reason is it is hard for me to make new friends. I have a habit of stuttering when I meet new people and I am afraid I'll start it at a new school.

It will take me nearly an hour to get from our new neighborhood to the old high school, but I don't mind that. My parents just don't understand.

Mrs. F. J. — We do understand Harold's problem only too well and that's why we want him to go to the new school.

His stuttering used to be very bad and many of the kids made fun of him. They even gave him an unpleasant nickname. Now he has conquered the stutter to a great extent, but the nickname sticks. However, he doesn't seem to mind it any more and gets along well with most of the boys.

We would like him to live down the nickname and get a fresh start. We want him to have confidence that he can meet new people. We are also concerned about the long trip he'd have to take, much of it through the worst neighborhood in our city.

The Council: This is, indeed a very difficult decision to make and the only thing we can be certain about is that Harold should not be forced or pressured too hard. He should arrive at the decision by himself after having given due thought to his parents' point of view.

Nearly all children experience some anxieties about starting in new schools and new neighborhoods. If the child has some special difficulty things are that much harder. Since Harold has gone a long way in helping himself out of his problem and has made a satisfactory adjustment in one school, it may be best not to rock the boat if it isn't necessary.

On the other hand, Harold should consider his parents' reasoning. The fact that he has won one part of his battle is a good sign. It could be that he is now ready for a new and harder challenge — meeting new people, making a fresh start. If he wins again his confidence will be boosted immeasurably.

It is natural for Harold to want to graduate with the boys and girls with whom he entered high school. Yet he may find other difficulties if he decides to stick to this course. Most of his schoolmates will live quite far from him and he may have a problem about entering social and other after-school activities with them. In his new neighborhood he may find boys and girls he likes better, yet the fact that he goes to a different high school will keep him from contacts with them.

Whichever decision he makes, Harold should remember that now that he is coming out of his childhood years, he will find other youngsters more understanding, less cruel than they were in the early years of childhood. He should be aware that only those who feel weak and uncertain themselves take note of the faults of others and mock them. He should train himself to ignore and avoid such individuals. He should seek the company of those who will respect him for his merits, and he'll find such civilized and mature individuals wherever he goes.

30 PASSENGERS KILLED

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP: THINKING OF OTHERS

Kindness, thoughtfulness, consideration for others — these are endearing and appealing qualities. As her memorable tribute to a woman's kindness, Elizabeth Barrett Browning wrote: "'Twas her thinking of others made you think of her."

WIDOW'S DAUGHTER AS HER ONLY ATTENDANT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I am a widow, and I am planning to marry for the second time. During my first marriage I have used as my signature (for example, in signing this letter to you) my first name, maiden surname, and married surname: Margaret Lee Foster. When I remarry, what is the correct way for me to sign my name?

2. In the very small wedding we are having, would it be correct for me to allow my 16-year-old daughter to be my only attendant?

3. For such a small wedding, should a gift be given to the best man and maid of honor?

4. If I wear a suit, should I carry a bouquet or wear a corsage? — M.

1. After your second marriage you of course drop your first husband's name entirely. Then your signature will be your first name, your maiden surname, and the surname of your second husband: Margaret Lee Clark. Your formal name will be: Mrs. Charles Clark.

2. Yes, I'm happy to say! It is correct, appropriate, and very charming procedure for you, a widow, to have your 16-year-old daughter as your only attendant. And I know how pleased and proud she will be!

3. It is not absolutely necessary, but I do advise that you give your daughter a charmingly personal gift as a treasured memento of the wedding, and for your bridegroom to give his best man a lasting gift for the occasion.

4. With a suit a corsage, on the small size, is more appropriate.

NECESSARY FOR HER TO PICK UP CUP WITH BOTH HANDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have quite a weakness in my right hand. Would it be proper for me to pick up a cup with both hands? — Reader

Please don't be at all bothered or self-conscious about the propriety, which really isn't important. The important thing is that by taking up the cup with both hands, you make yourself as comfortable and reassured as possible. (And if you're as charming as the letter you wrote me . . . and I'm sure you are . . . and as fine and valiant as your handwriting shows you are, I'm sure no one will notice your cup-procedure. Every good wish to you.)

Woman at 86 Paints in Oils, Helps on Farm

BEWDLEY, Ont. (CP)—An artist for more than 50 years, Mrs. Richard Morton, 86, is critical of painters who stress the abstract.

"Surrealists or 'modern' artists create anything and call it a picture to get it hung in a gallery," she said in an interview at her farm home here, 16 miles south of Peterborough.

"A real artist paints what he sees in nature. Although we do not all see things alike, I don't know who would see an eye growing on a tree as some of the modern painters portray in their works."

Mrs. Morton paints landscapes in oils, and never uses an easel. She stands up, placing her work on a table.

HELPS ON FARM

But she helps her son Clare with the farm work before she does her painting. She seldom uses a brush, preferring to apply paints with a small piece of coarse cloth tied to the end of a match-stick. And some of the painting is done with her fingers.

Her love for oils is based on the readiness with which mistakes in this medium can be corrected either by painting over the top of the error or else scraping it off. She says she does "a great deal" of scraping.

Mrs. Morton would not say anything about the number of her favorite landscapes she has sold. She preferred to talk about those she has given away to people who have admired her work.

Pancakes Muskoka Style

by Mary Moore

Adults need children to acquire an advance education.

For instance I did not know (amongst a million other things) that there was such a thing as a dehydrated maple syrup. "Sure" said my fifteen-year-old second cousin Bob. "You just add some lake water and boil it up and slurp it on your pancakes. The pancakes were dehydrated too." They had been on an outtrip from Y.M.C.A. Camp On-Da-Da-Waks on Golden Lake near Ottawa and he knows.

Dinner Menus

MONDAY

Pork Chops or Canned Sliced Pork Luncheon Meat; Baked on Spiced Applesauce; Hot Rolls; Corn on Cob; Peas in Tomato Jelly; Peach Cup Pudding with Peach Butterscotch Sauce; Coffee.

We had a six-quart basket of blueberries, and over the partition between our bedrooms, he and Paul asked me to make blueberry pancakes for breakfast, which I did this morning. "Some difference!" they both chorused.

Paul asked "Are these going to get in the paper?" Anything that makes such a hit is grist for my mill.

MUSKOKA BLUEBERRY PANCAKES:

2 eggs, yolks and whites separated, 1 1-4 cups sifted all-purpose flour or cake flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 cup fresh wheat germ (optional), 1 1-4 cups milk, 2 teaspoons sugar, 4 tablespoons cooking oil, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup washed and dried blueberries.

Sift flour, sugar, salt and baking powder together. Add wheat germ if used. Beat yolks add milk and oil and mix, then add blueberries. Stir in flour mixture until smooth. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Preheat electric fry-pan or electric table grill (at table) or heavy-frying pan at stove. None require greasing. Spoon large tablespoons batter including a fair portion of blueberries into hot frying-pan. We set the temperature of the electric fry-pan at 330 deg. Fahr. Fry until bottom is pale gold, then turn over. Serve with butter and maple syrup — preferably not dehydrated.

BUTTERMILK PANCAKES:

(I am including these because sour milk may be substituted for the butermilk. Regardless of how carefluly you refrigerate the milk, sometimes a quart will "turn" in this weather)

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon soda, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup buttermilk or sour milk, 1-4 cup melted shortening or butter or cooking oil.

Sift the sifted flour, with the salt, baking powder, sugar and soda twice. In another bowl beat the egg, stir in the milk and add all at once to the flour mixture then beat with a rotary beater or electric beater until smooth. Add shortening and beat to blend. To make large restaurant-size pancakes pour 1-4 cup of batter onto an ungreased griddle that is moderately hot (325 to 330 deg. Fahr. on an electrical appliance). Bake until golden on both sides. Lovely with butter and black currant jam or jelly.

Indonesian Says Western Women Are in Clover

VANCOUVER (CP)—Matrimonially speaking, Western women are in clover, says a slim Indonesian woman who is her country's press attache at the Indonesian embassy in Ottawa.

Miss C. T. Sudiati was here to arrange the Indonesian exhibit at the Pacific National Exhibition.

The big "cause" among her countrywomen is amendment of the marriage laws, she said in an interview.

"Since Indonesia's independence in 1945, women have had the vote and equal rights and opportunities.

"But, because the majority of the people there are Moslems they would not consider being one of several wives, "but then my fiancee wouldn't consider having more wives than me."

She was referring to a member of the Indonesian foreign office, whom she will marry when she returns to her homeland next fall.

A university graduate, she describes herself as one of the lucky ones because in the days before her country's independence there were few educated Indonesian girls.

She does not think of herself as a woman with a career. "It sounds so harsh and independent. I may be a poor housewife, but I am quite prepared to learn how to be a good one."

CHILDREN'S games in the form of small-sized packs of cards are fine time-passers on a train or plane trip. Do snap a couple of rubber bands around each box before you leave, though, to hold them closed. Then, should a box break or get lost, the bands will keep the cards together. Tuck some spare bands into your purse, too.

DAILY NEWSPAPERS BEST MEDIUM FOR BRAND REGISTRATION

Raybestos HOOKERS*

help solve brand problem at retail level for Raybestos

Brand registration is difficult to establish for products such as brake linings. Customers tend to accept whatever the service man has to offer.

Daily Newspaper advertising with full "Hooker"* support by dealers proved to be the answer for Raybestos.

"With well-prepared advertisements drawing attention to brakes and the need to keep them serviced, Raybestos has put across their own name as a quality brake lining and dealers tied in with accompanying "Hookers". Success is indicated by the sales record. Raybestos continues to maintain its position as Canada's largest selling brake lining."

Expect 30,000 Will See Game At Vancouver

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two important western football games tonight will be overshadowed by a halftime display in Vancouver as British Columbia Lions stage the biggest public spectacle seen in B.C. since Premier Bennett burned the bonds at Kelowna Aug. 1.

A crowd of 30,000 is expected at Empire Stadium for the game, a battle between Lions and Edmonton Eskimos, and the show.

A number goes with each ticket sold tonight. The lucky number will designate the holder as the 1,000,000th fan to attend a B.C. home game. It will entitle him to $10,000 in gifts.

Lions joined the Western Interprovincial Football Union in 1954 and have played to packed houses since then, though they have never made the playoffs.

GOOD GAME, TOO

The game is also a big attraction. Lions upset Esks 12-0 in their first meeting in Edmonton. Esks are out to avenge the loss, Lions to prove it was no fluke.

In tonight's other tilt, Calgary Stampeders meet Saskatchewan Roughriders at Calgary. Stamps are favored to whip the winless Riders and gain sole possession of first place.

Calgary and Winnipeg are in a first-place tie, each with three wins. Edmonton and B.C. are deadlocked for second with two victories each. Riders have four losses in four starts.

RIDERS SWAMPED

Winnipeg set two conference records in whipping Riders 61-8 Saturday. Quarterback Jim Van Pelt threw seven touchdown passes, one more than Indian Jack Jacobs's previous WIFU record. End Ernie Pitts caught five TD passes to crack the previous mark of four.

Fullbacks Charlie Shepard and Gerry James and halfbacks Henry Jansen and Ron Latourelle also scored TDs. Van Pelt converted six and James one.

Boston quarterback Don Allard, after taking over from Bob Brodhead, drove 58 yards in six plays for Riders' only touchdown.

Ti-Cats Name Tom Dublinski In Import List

HAMILTON (CP)—Coach Jim Trimble of the defending Big Four champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats pulled a surprise Sunday when he named Tom Dublinski, former Toronto quarterback, to the club's list of 12 imports.

The ex-Argonaut passer hasn't played a game so far this season in Big Four competition. Defensive back Ed Macon, who has played steady football in the three Ticat victories, was placed on the reserve roster.

The naming of Dublinski could mean that Trimble intends to use the ex-Utah and Detroit Lions pivot in Hamilton's Labor Day contest against Toronto.

Gene Littler Sinks Birdie To Win Tourney

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Gene Littler sank a six-foot putt for a birdie on the final hole Sunday to win the $35,000 Milwaukee open golf tournament with a 72-hole total of 265, 15 under par.

Littler, a 29-year-old pro from Singing Hills, Calif., sank the tricky downhill putt for a final round of three-under-par 67 and a one-stroke victory over the 6,355-yard Tripoli Golf Club layout.

In a tremendous windup, Bob Rosburg, Bo Wininger and Ted Kroll had to settle for a second-place tie with 266s.

Rosburg rimmed the cup with his try for a birdie from about 20 feet. The U.S. PGA champion started the day five strokes off the pace at an even 200 and had a 66 over the final 18 holes.

Littler picked up $5,300 for his fifth victory in 27 tournaments this year. He now has earnings of $41,239 and is the first to win five tournaments on the PGA tour since Cary Middlecoff did it in 1955.

Rosburg, Wininger and Kroll each collected $2,500 for their three-way deadlock.

Jerry Magee of Toronto was forced to withdraw after playing only seven holes in the final round after turning his ankle coming off the fourth tee.

Magee had shot 69-68-69-206.

Sonny Holloway Pitches, Bats Win; Bobcat Juveniles Oust Kingston

Sonny Holoway pitched and batted the Belleville Bobcat Juveniles to a 13-7 victory over Kingston at Collins Bay yesterday afternoon, thus sweeping their OASA uvenile 'A' series in consecutive games.

Holoway, after throwing no-hit ball for seven frames, wound up with a three - hitter, struck out 18 batters and had two home runs and a single in four trips to the plate.

Walks were troublesome and after Kingston's Tom Carty hit a bases-loaded double. in the ninth, Doug Ellis pitched to the final two batters, fanning one. Holoway gave up nine walks in all.

He slammed his first circuit blast with one mate on base in the second inning then opened up a 7-1 lead in the third with a three-ply job.

ZAKOS HOMERS

Paul Zakos also helped greatly in the slugging department with one home run, a double and single. Joe Robitaille had three hits with Dick Clapp and Pug Kellar getting two apiece. Bucky Ethier, Bob Duggan and Gary Duggan rounded out the attack.

Besides Carty's double the only other Kingston hits were one-baggers by Anderson and Osborne.

Clonal and Norris shared Kingston's pitching duties. They nipped four men on strikes and issued seven free passes.

The Bobcats held a big 13 - 2 lead at one point in the contest, having scored five in the sixth and another in the seventh. However walks and Kingston's three hits in the final two frames whittled down the margin. The losers' earlier runs were singletons in the second and sixth frames.

It is not known at the present time who the locals will meet in their next series.

Read Defeats Latta 6-1 for Series Lead

Read took a 2-1 lead in their four-of-seven South Hastings baseball league finals Saturday night by downing Latta 6-1 right on the losers' home diamond.

The clubs fought through three scoreless innings before Read plated five in the fourth. Each team scored once in the fifth and final frame.

Don Masters pitched a neat three-hitter on the winners' mound. He struck out four and walked three, in command all the way.

Lorne Cronkwright handled most of the Latta hurling, although Cam Buskard came in for a couple of men in the fourth, Cronkwright returned. They gave up eight hits, whiffed two and walked four.

Jerry Brennan paced Read at the plate with a double and single. Ken Brennan had a triple. Don Masters a double and Bax Hanley, Dick Walsh, Percy Milligan and Tom Callery singles.

Frank Ray rapped a two-bagger in a losing effort with Gary Gow and Doug Rollins picking up the other safeties.

The fourth game is slated for Read this evening at 6.30 with the fifth back in Latta Wednesday.

On the Tracks

NEW YORK (CP)—Dunce, a three-year-old son of Tom Fool, belied his name Saturday when he raced to a 3¼-length victory in the $155,625 American Derby at Arlington Park.

Dunce—who was just that in the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Belmont and Jersey Stakes earlier in the year—became the 10th horse to win both the Arlington Classic and the American Derby in the same year. His victory Saturday was worth $93,700 to Claiborne Farm and brought his total earnings to $244,570.

The 11-to-1 longshot Demobilize set the pace from the start and finished second. Little Tytus was third.

LAST AWAY

Dunce, last away, didn't make his move until the three-quarter-mile mark of the mile and a furlong event. His time was 1:49 3-5. The jockey was Louis Cook.

He returned $8.60, $6.20 and $3.40. Demobilize paid $8.80 and $3.80 while Little Tytus was $2.60.

At Saratoga Springs, another son of Tom Fool, Tompion, took the winner's share of the $114,475 Hopeful Stakes. With Willie Shoemaker in the saddle, Tompion overhauled the pace-setting Vital Force in the final one-sixteenth for a 1¼-length victory.

Tompion covered the 6½-furlongs in 1:17 2-5. Vital Force was second and Bourbon Prince, third.

FORT ERIE (CP) — Grey Monarch, ridden by Avelino Gomez, defeated Mahan by a head in the $30,000 Niagara Stakes at the Fort Erie Jockey Club Saturday. Martini II, which ran as an entry with Mahan, finished third, three lengths behind the leaders.

The magnificient race of one mile and three furlongs over the grass course marked the conclusion of Fort Erie's 42-day summer meeting. The horses now move immediately to Old Woodbine Park in Toronto where a 24-day meet opens today.

Gomez, Canada's leading jockey, rode one of his greatest races as he nipped Mahan and jockey John Heckman in the final strides.

There were nine starters despite heavy rains. Grey Monarch's time of 2:26 4-5 was nearly 10 seconds behind the course record. He is owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Taylor of Toronto. He won a purse of $16,850 and boosted his season's earnings to $54,259.

Harness Racing

HULL, Que. (CP) — Hi Acres Rudy, owned by Pastime Stables of Smiths Falls and driven by Walter Grant, came from sixth place at the three-quarter post to win by two lengths Saturday night in the feature invitation pace at Connaught Park. Montague Lass of Merrickville anl Tnias Joe of Petrolia were second and third.

Hi Acres Rudy's winning time was 2:08, just one second short of the track record.

In the second, a mile D pace, May Trust of Owen Sound with Gordon Deeling driving, won in 2:15 4-5.

Florida Girl Wins Title

WASHINGTON (AP)—Barbara McIntire, a Florida real estate saleswoman in her spare time, captured the U.S. women's amateur golf championship Saturday with a 4 and 3 victory over Joanne Goodwin.

Miss McIntire, 24, chippel herself to a 4-up lead with a birdie on the 26th of the scheduled 36-hold final at Congressional Country Club and halved her way to the title with pars the rest of the distance.

Booth TV's Win Series Opener Over Oshawa

Belleville Booth TV's came up with a hustling brand of ball to defeat Oshawa 7-5 in the Motor City Saturday afternoon in the opening game of their OASA Bantam "A" playdown series.

The second game will be played Wednesday at the CNRA Park.

Although Booth's were outhit 6-4, they made their hits pay off, aided by good base running, walks and errors to register the victory.

The four timely hits, all singles, went to Rick Denard, Bobby Boyle, D. Tomaso and Carl Boomhower. Two other runs crossed the plate on errors.

Al Mott toed the rubber for the winners, scattering six hits, whiffing half a dozen and walking four.

Gary Leaming went the route for Oshawa and while he gave up only the four singles he kept himself in trouble by walking nine. He struck out seven.

The teams split six runs down the middle in the initial frame. Belleville plated one in the third but Oshawa took a 5-4 lead in the fourth. Booth's won it with a brace of runs in the fifth and added another in the sixth.

Bob Pilkey led the losers at bat with a couple of one-baggers. Jarvis' double was the game's only extra-base hit. Dick Crozier, Garry Leaming and Bob McNanee had the other safeties.

Booth TV's 301 021 0—7 4 3
Oshawa 300 200 0—5 6 3

Chicago News Offers Criticism On Hospitality

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Daily News says "a lack of thorough, detailed planning was blamed for the apparent breakdown in some places of Chicago's Pan American hospitality."

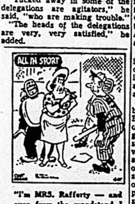
The story says this, plus the differences in Latin and North American cultures and customs, appears to account for bruised feelings and short tempers that have broken into the open.

Athletes have complained they aren't getting a chance to see Chicago, that food arrangements have been inadequate and that some hotel staffs have been rude.

To these charges Jack Reilly, director of the games and the Chicago mayor's chief aide, replied "ridiculous" anl "unfounded."

"Tucked away in some of the delegations are agitators," he said, "who are making trouble."

"The heads of the delegations are very, very satisfied," he added.



"I'm MRS. Rafferty — and even from the grandstand I could see you were out!"

Biologists Proving Their Worth

Not too long ago I attended a dinner given by one of the sportsmen's organizations and, having a rather important matter to bring before the meeting, I was seated at the speakers' table. Next to me was seated a member of the conservation commission. We fell to talking about income and expenditures of the commission.

"No doubt about it," said the commissioner, "we spend too much money on biologists. Take that same money and spend it on stocking fish and game and we'd be much better off. I been studyin' up onto it."

Quite naturally I took up the cudgels in defense of the biologists. In my book, those fellows are a hard-working, sincere, wholly dedicated and underpaid crew. They are doing a much-needed and valuable job and it goes against the grain to hear one of their employers voice such benighted sentiments. Fortunately the thumping of the toastmaster's gavel brought our discussion to a sudden end, before any blood was shed.

For a long time, conservation (what there was of it in the "good old days") was allowed to take care of itself. People who knew nothing of the risks of stocking imported species and plants were allowed to go their own sweet way in the matter of introductions. The result is that we have with us the German carp, the English sparrow, the starling, the water hyacinth, and the water chestnut, to name a few. How many millions of dollars these things have cost us nobody knows; how much damage to other forms of wildlife these imports have done is incalculable but extensive beyond realization. Had we had biologists back in those days, such things could not have happened.

A PRIME EXAMPLE

I was born and reared in a small town in central Pennsylvania. This state, as you know, is one of the top deer states of the nation. To give you some idea of what the biologists and game-management technicians have done for our deer herd, never until I was 22 years old did I so much as see a deer, alive or dead — this despite the fact that during my youth I roamed the fields, woods and mountains in the heart of the deer country.

Today, in an hour's drive, I can see 50 or 60 deer without leaving my car. This sort of thing holds good for the fishing. With wise stocking programs and management methods, today the fishing in our streams hereabouts (central Pennsylvania) is far better than it was when I was a boy. And who is responsible? Once again, the biologists.

Of course, we have too many instances today where refusal to consult and listen to the warnings of the biologists has done and is doing considerable damage.

The big dam builders — notably the Army Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation — are outstanding offenders in this regard. In theory, these people are supposed to consult the conservation technicians before going ahead with their projects. All too often, however, little or no consideration is given to the welfare of fish and wildlife in the completion of these projects. The results often are damaging in the extreme.

One of the outstanding instances, currently in progress, of this disregard of ecological advice, is the fire-ant eradication program instituted and conducted by the Department of Agriculture in some of the southern states, notably Alabama. The USDA simply goes ahead with its poison sprays and the result borders on chaos.

KILLS ANIMALS TOO

Repeated sprayings of superpotent insecticides no doubt have done much to discourage the fire ant. Also, they have killed birds, animals, reptiles, fish, crustaceans, domestic livestock and poultry. Sugar cane planters have taken severe losses through the depredations of the cane borers, largely because the natural enemies of the cane borer have been killed off by the fire-ant poisons.

Meanwhile, important sums of oney have been allocated by Congress to set up research bureaus which will investigate poison sprays and outline rules for their uses. USDA refuses to await the findings of this bureau. Thus, once again the biologists find themselves ignored, to the definite injury and loss of fish and wildlife and financial damage to many people.

In this enlightened day and age, there is, in our opinion, no place for haphazard methods. Science has advanced too far to justify such procedure. And the biologists are the men who are able and willing to warn us of mistakes, well in advance of our making them. All of us will be better off if we heed these warnings.

With all respect to the commissioner, the money we spen on the salaries of the scientists attached to our conservation commissions is money well and wisely spent.

Pinch Hitting

By Garry Alexander

It was quite a weekend for Belleville and District teams on the ball diamonds; lots of good ball; some queer happenings, some wins and some losses, some goats and some heroes.

All and all, the local teams fared pretty good. Here then is a brief resume with some of the hows, whys, whens and wheres answered.

UPSET IN SIGHT?

We hate to say we told you so, but, we told you so. Anything can happen when ball clubs take to the diamond. Records mean nothing and a reputation is just something you heard about last week.

But don't take my word. Ask the Bobcats. Sports Centre pulled the upset of the year Saturday night, 8-7 over the 'Cats. Walks told the tale as Bob Blaind's boys picked up only four hits off Green and Smrke, but 14 walks, count 'em, 14, led to eight big runs. Eight of the walks came in one inning.

Bobcats must now win two games in as many nights or they won't be seeing much of Peterborough come Wednesday or Thursday. Second game in this double "A" elimination series is slated for the CNRA tonight at six and if the 'Cats win that, they will likely go back at it again tomorrow night. The Petes are waiting for a Belleville representative to start their OASA playdowns.

Bobby Hull was absent Saturday night but Temple will probably have him there tonight to try and get that ball across the plate. He will be facing a determined crew. Now that Donnie Dolan's Commercial champs have tasted the victory wine, they could be hard to stop. This may be quite a series before it's over.

Al Adams, the old Bobcat himself, made things tough for his ex-mates for a while and by the time they did get to him, it was too late. Blaind will likely start Ken Kibblewhite tonight.

Don't forget tonight's tilt starts at six sharp. See you there.

JUNIORS WIN

Belleville Junior baseballers got the hitting from Gordie St. Louis and "Red" Kellar and the pitching from Larry Soden and Billy Latchford in their thrilling ten-inning 8-7 win over Peterborough Saturday.

These four were the chief cogs in the wheel but coach Cuffer Noakes stressed that it was a strong team effort by every man on the club that led to the victory. The boys looked real good and it is hoped they travel a long way down the playdown trail.

They will meet either Cornwall or Kingston in the next round. Cornwall had won the first game of the series 6-2 but we have heard no further scores nor when the winners of that series are to meet Belleville.

TOO MUCH JUDD

Word out of Peterborough has it that Ray Judd will be doing his pitching for one of the Toronto Beaches Fastball League teams next summer. Point Anne players are hoping such is the case.

Judd is just a little bit too much of a pitcher for the Ox-Pointers to handle in a three-game series. They may beat him once in a while, such as last Thursday night, but it will be an exception rather than a habit.

There is no getting around it, the speedster has a little too much of everything. The Pointers gave their all but with Ray's fantastic control, speed and a variety of pitches to cope with, the task was a rough one. Bill Shaw's boys have nothing to be ashamed of in the least. In this case you can hardly say they were beaten by a better team but rather by a better man.

Judd pitched 27 innings of ball in the series, gave up just nine hits, five in the game he lost, struck out 16, 24 and 20 for a total of 60 and walked only three men. It will take a great team to beat him.

Lakefield never accomplished much at the plate against Bobby Hunter and Al Carkner. But costly errors and a break here and there got them the few runs they needed throughout the series.

Good luck, Lakefield, here's hoping you go all the way.

TIMELY HITTING

Leo Culhan's Booth bantams may not exactly slug the ball all over the park but when they do hit, it's in the right spots. Frank Cris, who looked after their 7-5 win over Oshawa Saturday for this department, reports that the local youngsters only got four singles but they drove in runs with every hit. Walks and errors got them on and timely hits did the rest.

Seoond game is back here Wednesday afternoon at 6.15 At the CNRA Park when the boys will be going all out to wrap up the series. How about a little gate support for the kids? They deserve it.

TOP PERFORMANCE

Down Collins Bay way yesterday afternoon, Sonny Holoway put on a one-man pitching and hitting show to spark Bobcat Juveniles to their series win over Kingston.

Holoway pitched a three-hitter, had a no-hitter going into the eighth as a matter of fact, struck out 18 batters and drove in five runs with a pair of homers and a single. Walks caused him some trouble but his mates got him 13 runs and 15 hits to work on. It was enough.

Nice going boys. Bring on the next club.

And last, but not least, out Latta way, Donnie Masters hurled Read to their second titular-series win over Latta. That South Hastings set continues tonight at Read with the homesters leading the series two games to one.

Amazing Pirates Only 4 Games From Top Spot In NL

Elroy Face Posts 17th Win This Season Without Defeat; Sox Take Indians Twice

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

A little bit of luck and a lot of base hits have helped Elroy Face run up an amazing winning streak that now has reached 17 triumphs for 1959 and 22 without a defeat since May 31, 1958.

Face posted No. 17 of the season Sunday as the Pittsburgh Pirates came from behind to defeat Philadelphia Phillies 7-6 after winning the opener of the doubleheader 2-1. The twin triumph boosted the fourth-place Bucs to within four games of the front-running San Francisco Giants. Face needs two more victories to equal Rube Marquard's record of 19 in one season and Carl Hubbell's mark of 24 in two.

Los Angeles' second - place Dodgers climbed to within two games of San Francisco, coming from behind to nip the Giants 7-6. Chicago Cubs kept third-place Milwaukee three games off the pace, defeating the Braves 3-2. Cincinnati Redlegs toppd St. Louis Cardinals 6-4.

HANK STILL SLUGGING

Hank Aaron hit his 35th and 36th home runs of the season Saturday as Milwaukee defeated Chicago 11-4. All the Cubs' runs came on Ernie Banks grand slam homer. Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 11-1 and St. Louis downed Cincinnati 7-3 in other Saturday games. Los Angeles and San Francisco weren't scheduled.

Face was saved from defeat when the Pirates tallied twice in the bottom of the 10th after Ed Bouchee's homer off Elroy had given the Phils a temporary 6-5 lead.

Dick Stuart, who had hit a ninth-inning home run as a pinch hitter, broke up the game with a two-run double.

Bob Skinner's ninth - inning single drove in the winning run in the opener and gave Harvey Haddix his 11th victory.

WILLIE GOOFS

An error by Willie McCovey, rookie Giant first baseman, allowed the Dodgers to score the winning run in the bottom of the ninth. There were two out, bases full and a 3-2 count on Norm Larker. He hit the next pitch on the ground inside first base. McCovey bobbled it and Wally Moon trotted in from first with the winning run.

The Cubs tallied five times against Carl Willey in the eighth to overcome a 2-1 Milwaukee lead. Singles by Dale Long. Tony Taylor, Irv Noren, Al Dark and Sammy Taylor and a double by Jim Marshall, accounted for the runs that gave Glen Hobbie his 13th triumph.

The Reds snapped a 4-4 tie with two unearned runs in the eighth for their victory over St. Louis. An error by losing pitcher Bob Gibson was followed by Willie Jones' single, Ed Bailey's double and Eddie Kasko's sacrifice fly. Rookie Jay Hook went all the way for Cincinnati to post his fourth triumph.

Chicago's amazing "go - go" White Sox boasted their biggest lead of the season today — 5½ games — after having virtually shattered Cleveland's pennant hopes with a sweep of their vital four-game series.

Not content with having won the first two games on Friday and Saturday, Al Lopez' pennant-bound club humbled the Indians twice Sunday, 6-3 and 9-4 to give a Cleveland crowd of 68,586 little to cheer about.

Detroit Tigers took undisputed possession of third place, one game ahead of New York Yankees, by shutting out Kansas City Athletics 4-0 while Washington Senators defeated the Yankees 3-1. Boston Red Sox blanked Baltimore Orioles 3-0.

FIRST SHUTOUT

On Saturday, Dick Donovan, back in action after being out 25 days with a strained shoulder, held Indians to five singles to win 2-0 in his first shutout of the season.

Boston defeated Baltimore 4-1 as Jackie Jensen drove in three runs while rookie Jerry Casale held Orioles to four hits. Hank Bauer hit a two-run pinch homer in the eighth as the Yankees defeated Washington. 9-5.

In a night game Detroit scored seven runs in the second inning and coasted to a 9-3 victory over Kansas City.

A couple of former Indians, Early Wynn and Al Smith, and a pair of veteran relief aces, Gerry Staley and Turk Lown, were the key men in the White Sox' double triumph over Cleveland.

TIES RECORD

Wynn was credited with the first game victory, his eighth in nine decisions against his former mates since being traded two seasons ago. Although relieved in the eighth, he tied Detroit's Frank Lary for the league's most victories with 17. It was the 39-year-old righthander's 266th lifetime triumph, tieing him with Bob Feller and Eppa Rixey.

Don Mossi hurled a three-hit shutout for the Tigers and hit his first major league home run as he struck out eight Kansas City batters for his 12th victory. Bud Daley, in his third unsuccessful bid for his 16th victory, was charged with his ninth defeat.

Frank Sullivan pitched a four-hit shutout as Boston swept the three-game series with Baltimore. Gene Stephens homered for the Red Sox.

Rookie outfielder Bob Allison smashed his 29th home run and Jim Lemon drove in Washington's other two runs with a single to give Russ Kemmerer his eighth victory.

Sarnia Golden Bears Keep Perfect ORFU Record Intact

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sarnia Golden Bears kept their perfect record intact and London Lords moved into second place as all four Ontario Rugby Football Union senior teams met Saturday in their third game of the season.

The Bears kicked their winning single point with one second remaining in the game to edge Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen 14-13 at Sarnia.

The Lords at London coasted to an easy 30-20 victory over the winless Detroit Raiders, locking the visitors solidly in last place.

LAST-MINUTE TIE

Kitchener tied the score 13-13 with a touchdown in the last minute of play. Then Sarnia quarterback Hal Ledyard passed to Ernie White in the flat and he punted the ball into the end zone. It bounced off a Bear in touch in the end zone for the winning point.

Sarnia picked up only 12 first downs, while the Dutchmen collected 18. Ledyard threw 12 passes and completed six. Dutchie quarterback Bob Celeri tossed the ball 19 times and had 10 completions.

Dutchmen got their first touchdown early in the first quarter when Bill McCoy picked up a Sarnia fumble and ran 32 yards to score. Mike Norcia missed the convert attempt.

85-YARD RUN

In the second quarter Sarnia's Joe Reaves intercepted a pass and raced up the field 85 yards to score. White converted to put Sarnia ahead 7-6 at the half.

In the fourth quarter Sarnia marched from their 28-yard line to the K-W two, where coach Fran Rogel dove over the line to score.

Kitchener's drive which tied the score started on their 36-yard line. Terry Meyer completed the attack by scoring on a 20-yard run and pass play. Norcia kicked the tying convert.

The loss put Kitchener-Waterloo in third place, four points behind the league-leading Bears.

In the other game, import quarterback Jerry Thompkins led Lords to a 23-6 halftime lead, then let coach Al Bruno replace him frequently.

Thompkins hit for touchdowns on three of his passes. Two came in the second half when he threw a 17-yard strike to home-brew Don Beattie and a 32-yarder to import half Earl Kaiser. In the third quarter he reached import end Larry Aldrich with a 67-yard pass.

For the other London touchdown Bruno passed to Jim Greer, another import end.

27-ARD FIELD GOAL

In the first quarter, Bruno connected on a 27-yard field goal, but missed a second try which went for a single when Ed Mapp was rouged by Doug Johnston. Bruno kicked one convert as did Ted Koska.

Raiders got touchdowns in the second, third and fourth quarters. Howard Neeley broke loose on a 78-yard run to score first. Elbert Richmond dashed for 68 yards for the second. Then Bob Barrett, on the last play of the game, took a 16-yard pass in the end zone from Richmond and went over to score.

Mario Pisanelli, former Lord player, connected twice for converts.

Lords made 21 first downs, 15 passing, five rushing and one on penalties. Raiders had 20 first downs, six passing, 10 rushing and four by penalties. Lords made 405 yards through the air and 148 on the ground, while Raiders had 137 passing and 197 rushing.

Canada's Track and Field Athletes Garner Medals at Unusual Pace in Games

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO (CP)—United States track and field athletes have been shooting the works as officials predicted, but unaccustomed noises are being heard from Canada in the 24-country Pan American Games. The spiked-shoe troops have been winning medals at a rate faster than they've done for years.

The medals aren't gold—these are practically the sole possession of the Americans, who have taken 12 of the 14 at stake so far in track and field.

Nestling in the Canadian camp are one second-place silver medal and three third - place bronze, more than half the total captured in track-field at the 1958 British Empire Games, when seven were won.

KYLE THE STAR

The pin-up Canadian is Doug Kyle, 26-year-old Calgary geologist, winner of the bronze in the 5,000 metres Sunday to go with the silver he captured in the 10,000 metres 36 hours earlier.

They represent the first two-medal showing by a native-born Canadian runner since Vancouver's Bill Parnell won the gold in the mile and the bronze in the 800-metre at the 1950 British Empire Games in Auckland.

Kyle shattered the Pan American record in each of his runs and his 14:33 in the 5,000 lopped 21 seconds off the Canadian native record of 14.54.0.

Kyle finished 25 yards behind winner Bill Dellinger of the U.S. and second-place Osvaldo Suarez of Argentina, who won the 10,000 metres ahead of the Canadian Friday.

STULAC THIRD

Another Canadian bronze belongs to George Stulac in the decathlon. The Toronto high school teacher is the first Canadian ever to win a medal in an international meet in this gruelling two-day event.

Stulac, 26, scored a total of 5,989 points, just a shade short of the old Pan American record and better than his own Canadian decathlon record of 5,640.

David Edstrom of the United States set a record in winning the decathlon with 7,254 points compared with the old mark of 6.94 set by Rafer Johnson of the U.S. in 1955. Bill Mulkey of the U.S. was second.

FOIL TEAM THIRD

The men's fencing foil team—with members from Montreal, Toronto and London—pinked up another bronze and Canadians came up with fourth-, fifth- and sixth-place finishes in widespread weekend action.

Vancouver's Harry Jerome placed fifth in the 200 - metre semi-final—not good enough to qualify—while Gordon Thorlakson, Vancouver, and George Short, Saskatoon, were eliminated earlier in trial heats.

Stan Worsfold, Toronto, was sixth in the 800-metre final followed by Seigmar Ohlemann, Vancouver, in seventh place.

In the women's 100 metres, Valeria Jerome, Sally McCallum and Heather Campbell, all of Vancouver, placed fourth, fifth and sixth in the final dash.

Marie Depree, a Canadian army instructor stationed at Camp Borden, finished sixth in the women's discus final with a throw of 127 feet, six inches, far off the record-winning 161 feet, 9½ inches by Earlene Brown of the U.S.

Canada's men's basketball team clicked to a 68-49 victory over El Salvador Sunday night while a Toronto men's volleyball squad defeated Haiti, rallying from a loss to the Dominican Republic Saturday.

FOURTH IN SHOOTING

Garfield W. McMahon of Dartmouth, N.S., led a four - man Canadian team to fourth place in free pistol shooting, and captured the same slot for himself in individual honors. The U.S. won both divisions.

Canadian track officials, meanwhile, bristled with confidence. They pointed out there are another 18 events on the program before the sports winds up Wednesday. Lloyd Swindells, team manager, declared:

"We can still win three gold medals."

His choices are Vancouver's Pat Power in the women's 80-metre hurdles, with heats and semi-finals scheduled for today; Winnipeg's Jack Smyth in the hop, step and jump, and Hamilton's Gordon Dickson in the marathon Wednesday.

The games go into high gear today with swimming and boxing preliminaries.

Canadian swimmers were the big winners of the 1955 games in Mexico City, when the mer maids took four gold medals.

As competition resumed today, the U.S. had collected 18 gold medals, 12 of them in track and field. Ten games records had tumbled and there was no end to the onslaught in sight. Argentina, Cuba and Chile had each won a gold medal.

Belleville Juniors Oust Petes, St. Louis Leads 10-Inning Win

Belleville Lloyd's Cleaners eliminated Peterborough from the Ontario Baseball Association playdowns, sweeping their Junior "A" series in consecutive games with a ten-inning 8-7 victory in the Liftlock City Saturday night.

The Noakes-coached squad will likely meet the winners of a Cornwall-Kingston series in the next round.

Gordie St. Louis' fifth straight hit with two out in the 10th inning, his steal of second base and "Red" Kellar's third hit of the game, accounted for the deciding run in Saturday's seasaw battle.

Larry Soden, third Belleville pitcher, picked up the win with 3 2-3 innings of shutout ball. He came in with the bases loaded and already one run across the plate in the seventh frame, retired next two men and allowed just three hits over the remainder. He struck out five and passed none.

RELIEF HELP

St. Louis had started but needed relief help from Billy Latchford, who hurled well for three frames, in the third. Latchford ran into trouble after whiffing three, walking one and hitting two. St. Louis had two strikeout victims and three walks. The Petes had 11 hits over all.

Gatfield pitched 5 1-3 frames for Peterborough, allowing six runs on nine hits, fanning ten and passing two. Loser Foley permitted two runs on four safeties, whiffed five and walked none.

St. Louis led the locals at the plate with his five-for-five performance, including two triples. "Red" Kellar had a trio of base knocks and Larry Soden two. Moe Hunter, Billy Moxon and Glen Clarke had the others.

Rowe, DeNoble and Tetlock sparked the losers with a brace of hits apiece while Wade, McGarrity, Taylor and Driscoll had the others.

Wade's hit, a long triple, put the tying run on base with two out in the bottom of the 10th, Moe Hunter's fine running catch back of second base robbed Rowe and ended the exciting action.

TOOK EARLY LEAD

Belleville took an early 3-0 lead when Soden singled, Morris reached base on an error on his sacrifice bunt, St. Louis rapped a long triple and scored on Kellar's safety.

The Petes struck back for two in the bottom of the same inning. They chased St. Louis to the outfield in the third frame on a walk and two hits plus McGarrity's hit which scored four when lost in the outfield lights for a 6-3 lead.

The winners tied it in the sixth on a walk, singles by Clarke and St. Louis and Kellar's double. Latchford lost his control however and the Petes again took the lead 7-6 before Soden took over.

St. Louis' second triple and his daring race to the plate on Kellar's infield ground out tied the score in the eighth, setting the stage for the extra inning when the same two players came through again.

Lineups — Belleville: Kellar, Follwell, Hunter, Moxon, Soden, Morris, Latchford, Clarke, Mavety, St. Louis.

Peterborough: Byrne, Rowe, DeNoble, Tetlock, McGarrity Taylor, Driscoll, Connors, Mahoney, McCarty, Hill, Gatfield, Foley.

Mercurys Down Excelsiors 10-3 In First Game

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Getting off to a fast start here Saturday Peterborough Mercurys downed Brampton Excelsiors 10-3 to start their best-of-seven eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals.

Second game is in Brampton Tuesday.

Petes led 6-2 in the first period and 8-2 to end the second in a clean tilt, each side getting but one minor penalty.

Carl Brioux banged in three goals to lead the winners, Bob Curtis and Larry Ferguson scored two apiece, with singles by Bob Allan and Rock Batley.

For the losers, Al Caruso, Revis Bennett and Jack Madgett scored.

Dixie Walker, Leafs' Manager, Throws in Towel

TORONTO (CP) — Manager Dixie Walker of Toronto Maple Leafs threw in the towel Sunday and flew back to his Alabama home after what he described as "the worst year I've ever had in baseball—as a player, coach or manager."

Walker announced his resignation just a week before the end of the International League season, a dismal one for the last-place Leafs and a nightmare for their manager.

THOUGHT HE JOKED

His move threw club officials into a tizzy. General Manager Rudie Schaffer at first thought Walker was joking.

But the 48-year-old former big leaguer from Birmingham, who led Leafs to a pennant in his first year here in 1957 and second place last season, put his feelings this way:

"I've decided it's time to go home. I'm not leaving anyone in the lurch. The team has nowhere to go."

The season ends here Sunday, and Leafs aren't given much of a chance in climbing out of the cellar they've inhabited most of the year.

BEATS AXE BY WEEK

Walker said earlier this month that he didn't expect to be offered a contract renewal at the end of the season. His decision to quit and beat the axe by a week or so apparently came during Sunday's doubleheader against Montreal Royals.

He disappeared from his third-base coaching box and telephoned his wife in Birmingham He later said she had agreed he should resign.

Walker entered the International League as manager of Rochester Red Wings in 1955 That season and the next, his club knocked Leafs out of the league playoffs, although finishing lower in the end-of-season standings.

So Leaf owner Jack Kent Cooke bought him over, and despite conflict with some of Leafs' older players, Walker led them to a pennant and steered them to second place in his second season. Leafs wereb eaten in the playoffs both times. This year the dissension increased and the Leafs crashed.

Coach Lou Kahn will be acting manager for the balance of the season.

Toronto Leafs Sure to Finish In Last Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs, apparently destined to be the 1959 International League cellar dwellers, begin the final week of the season under a new manager.

Coach Lou Kahn took over after Dixie Walker, manager since 1957, resigned following his team's doubleheader split with Montreal. The Leafs dropped the opener 4-3 and took the second game 1-0.

The split kept them in the cellar, 18½ games behind league-leading Buffalo and four games behind seventh-place Miami.

TITLE NEARLY CLINCHED

The Bisons reduced their magic number to two with an 11-1, 8-2 doubleheader sweep of Rochester, while Columbus edged into second place, a half game ahead of Havana Sugar Kings, with a 2-0 victory.

Richmond edged Miami 2-1 in 10 innings on Jim Pisoni's home run.

Mike Brumley's home run in the top of the ninth got Montreal's first - game victory after Bob Lennon's 28th in the eighth tied matters. Rene Valdes (10-8) won and Frank Funk (5-9) lost. Jim King and Joe Altobelli homered for Toronto. Larry Raines' solo homer on the first Montreal pitch in the second game gave Pat Scantlebury (12-4) the win. Paul Lapalme (5-5) lost.

BISONS HOMER-HAPPY

Frank Herrera had four hits in the doubleheader, including a pair of home runs for Buffalo. Joe Taylor hit two in the opener and Bob Morgan one as Dallas Green (9-5) won over Howie Nunn (7-8). Ken Lehman (13-8) took the second game, also homering in besting Cal Browning (13-10).

Joe Gibbon won his 15th game on a four-hitter over Havana. Columbus scored single runs in the second and fourth innings off loser Ted Wieand (15-11).

John Anderson (11-9) was the victim of Pisoni's homer while Johnny James (9-6) got the victory in relief.

Quinte Trap And Gun Club

Lakefield Ousts Point Anne As Judd Bests Hunter 3-1

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Game to the end but outclassed by Mormon ace Ray Judd, the Point Anne Cementmen bowed out of the OASA Intermediate "A" playdowns before nearly 2,000 fans in Peterborough Saturday night, dropping the deciding game of the series with Lakefield by a 3-1 score.

Actually the game was not the best for playdown ball, with all the game's runs unearned, but it was exciting and kept the packed stands in an appreciative mood despite the presence of a slight rainfall off and on throughout the proceedings.

Lakefield won the game with a brace of runs in the third frame. Point Anne cut the margin in half in the fifth but the homesters closed the scoring with an insurance marker in the seventh.

Meanwhile Ray Judd stopped Bill Shaw's battling clan on three hits, two bunt singles and a lazy double just over the infield. He struck out 20, bringing his total for the three-game series to 60. He did not walk a man, registering the first 14 putouts on strikes. Two of the fanned Cementmen reached first base, one on a dropped third strike and another on the same move plus an interference call against catcher John Judd.

GALLANT LOSER

Bobby Hunter toiled gallantly on the Ox-Point hilltop, touched for six hits over the route, half of which were infield singles. He nipped ten via third strikes, issuing five walks and got better as the game progressed.

Hunter also gathered two-thirds of his club's hits, beating out a bunt and driving in his club's only run with a two-bagger. Chuck Kingston claimed the only other safety off Judd.

Point Anne turned back Lakefield in the first two frames before Hunter settled away. A base hit and error put two on in the first while a pair of walks and a double filled the sacks in the second. On both occasions the runners were left on base as Batchelor and Kingston speared line drives.

It was different in the third. Glen Pagett led off with a bunt single and took second on a passed ball. Hunter fanned the next two but Mackness drew a free pass. Ben Jones singled sharply to left field, both runners scoring when Goyer had trouble fielding the ball and then threw badly to the infield. Hunter got his third strikeout of the inning to end that.

The Cementmen had missed a great chance in their half of the same frame when Kingston and Hunter led off with bunt singles and advanced on a wild pitch. Judd fanned Carr, Hull and Jones to leave them stranded.

CUT MARGIN IN HALF

Judd had just whiffed Soule for his 14 strikeout victim in the fifth when a dropped throw at first base gave Kingston life. He took second on a passed ball and raced home when Hunter dumped a double just over third base. Catcher John Judd threw an elbow at Kingston as he crossed the plate which almost started a small scale war. But umpires Jack Hobbs and Ab Barnes of Oshawa, who handled an excellent game, soon had matters under control.

Point Anne had only one runner after that, Kingston again in the seventh when Judd dropped his third strike and interfered as the batter took off for first base. He died there.

Hunter fanned the first two batters in the seventh but walked Red Wasson who later scored when Hull's force-out throw got away from Batchelor and went into the outfield, the losers' fifth miscue.

Ben Jones with a double and single was best at the plate for Lakefield. Glen Pagett had two singles while Ray Judd and Neil Thompson had infield hits.

Lakefield will meet the winner of a Kingston-Ottawa series in their next round.

Walks Epidemic Costly to Bobcats Drop Opener to Sports Centre 8-7

Bob Temple's Bobcats literally "Ring-around-Rosie'd" their way out of initial victory in their best-of-three tilts with the Sports Centre at the CNRA Park Saturday night. The score was 8-7.

The game was the first of the brief series to decide a city representative in the upcoming OASA Intermediate "AA" playdowns. The second tilt is slated for the CNRA Park tonight starting six o'clock.

The Sports Centre were the "Queens of the May" with two Bobcat hurlers whirling the Maypole. They issued no less than 14 walks, eight of them clustered in the sixth innings when the Centre sent six runners across the plate, sufficient, it eventually proved, to win the game.

Bobby Green and Lou Smrke were the Cats' "strolling players". Green started and seemed headed for a fine performance. He allowed but two hits for four innings then started having difficulty locating the plate. He gave up three walks and Al. Adams' single for two runs in the fifth. Then began the "Ring Around Rosy".

Green forced St. Denis to pop out and walked the next two batters. Derushie singled, driving in two, then Green promptly walked the next pair to face him. That was all for Bobby. Temple signalled Smrke to take over.

But the plate looked just as small if not smaller to Lou than it did to Green. He proceeded to walk four batters in a row and by the time the side was retired, six runs had crossed the plate. Smrke settled down and held the Centre to a lone hit from there in.

Al. Adams held the Cats to one hit for five innings but in the sixth, Hughes' triple, Smrke's double, Faulkner's single and two walks were good for four runs, and Day taking over the mound.

He retired the side and set the Cats down in the seventh but ran into trouble in the eighth innings. Four walks, a single and a wild pitch were good for three runs for the Cats but they failed to do anything in the ninth after Kibblewhite took over the mound chore.

Faulkner with two, Brown, Smrke, Hughes and Green hit safely for the Bobcats with F. Murray with a double, Adams, Derushie, and Calnan connecting for the Centre.

The teams —

Sports Centre — Wright, F. Murray, D. Murray, St. Dennis, Brooks, Baker, Derushie, Calnan, Adams, Day Kibblewhite.

Bobcats — Crawford, Brown, Faulkner, Hayden, Cousins, Lamirande, Smrke, Hughes, Green.

The score:

Sports Centre 000 026 000—8 4 1
Bobcats 000 004 030—7 6 1

Adams, Day(6) Kibblewhite (8) and F. Murray.

Green, Smrke (6) and Cousins.

DETROIT (AP) — Maverick, which lost the Harmsworth Trophy to Canada's Miss Supertest III two days before, won the 14th Silver Cup speedboat race on the Detroit River Saturday, although she was beaten in the final heat by Miss U.S. I of Detroit.

Maverick, out of Lake Mead, Nev., won with 1,100 points established with two firsts and a second in the three heats she ran. Miss U.S. I was second with 969 points.

Miss Detroit was third with 825. Maverick's average speed of 102.086 m.p.h. was tops for the three heats of 15 miles each that all finalists were required to run.

Miss Supertest III was not a competitor.

The Other Day

Ken Pinder

We got to talking about Chain Reaction, and it came out that the first thing most people think about when chain reaction is mentioned is atomic energy, which is, of course, the ultimate in chain reaction. The simplest chain reaction is the one set in motion by each one of our own actions in life. We hadn't thought of it that way before, but when you stop to think about it, there just isn't any one thing we do as individuals that doesn't set up some kind of chain reaction. It's almost frightening to think about the long chain of bad events that can start from just one bad action.

So, for our part, we strongly renew our resolution to try to start only the best kind of chain reactions, and we hope our business actions reach out to each one of you with the best kind of effects.

Hamilton Tops Ottawa 34-10, Still Unbeaten

HAMILTON (CP)—It's only the start of the season but Hamilton Tiger-Cat fans are already getting the "Grey Cup itch"—a malady in which the fingers begin tingling for the smooth feel of a pair of Grey Cup game tickets.

It became quite pronounced Saturday when Ticats knocked over Ottawa Rough Riders 34-10 for their third Big Four Football Union win in as many starts.

Ticats, rated by observers as the powerhouse club of the Big Four again this season, already own victories over Montreal Alouettes and Toronto Argonauts. Montreal is in second place with two wins, Toronto has one and Ottawa is winless in its three tries.

INTERCEPTIONS COUNT

Five intercepted passes and recovery of a fumble gave Hamilton all the breaks it needed to trample Ottawa. The Ticats' pass defence put on a display that stunned the Ottawa attack and scored major yardage gains.

Ottawa held a 3-0 lead going into the second quarter when Hamilton struck for three touchdowns and built up a 20-3 lead for the half-time pause. In the later stages Hamilton coach Jim Trimble sent a flock of his Canadian bench - warmers into the game, including quarterback Bobby Dawson.

Duane Wood, 185-pound halfback from Oklahoma State University, was a standout performer in the Ticat lineup. The 22-year - old newcomer ran 25 yards for a touchdown after a lateral from Eddie Bell; intercepted two passes which he ran back for 47 yards and rolled up 24 yards in two carries from the line of scrimmage.

EVEN STATISTICALLY

Ottawa had a fine game statistically, rolling up 144 yards on the ground to Hamilton's 142 and 175 yards passing to Hamilton's 124. But quarter Frank Tripucka, who completed 12 of 24 passes, couldn't keep a concentrated attack going against the tight Hamilton defence.

Fullback Gerry McDougall scored two second-quarter touchdowns for the rampaging Ticats on a one-yard plunge and a 26-yard run in which he slammed into the right side of the Ottawa line and shook off three tacklers to cross the line standing up.

Billy Reynolds and Paul Dekker supplied the other Hamilton touchdowns while Steve Oneschuk clicked on four of his five convert attempts.

Ottawa's Mack Yoho kicked a field goal to open the scoring. The other Ottawa points came in the third quarter when Canadian Russ Jackson, who replaced Tripucka at quarter, tossed an eight-yard touchdown pass to Bobby Simpson. Yoho kicked the convert.

Darkness Delays Davis Cup Finish, Teams Meet Today

By ED CORRIGAN

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—America's Barry MacKay tackles left-handed Australian Neale Fraser today in a continuation of their final singles battle to decide where the Davis Cup will reside for the next year.

Darkness halted their match Sunday after two sets. Fraser had won the first, 8-6 and MacKay the second, 6-3. This was the first time in the history of the challenge round that the deciding battle has been forced into an extra day, according to tennis historians.

Alex Olmedo had put the U.S. back in the running for the cup with a 9-7, 4-6, 10-8, 12-10 victory over Rod Laver in the opening singles match.

"The delay doesn't mean a thing to me," said MacKay.

"Couldn't mean less," observed Fraser.

PREDICTS WIN

"We'll win it," chirped the U.S. captain, 71-year-old Perry Jones, an incurable optimist. He never can see his team losing a match.

"I don't think it will make any difference to either of the boys," he agreed. "But I'll tell you one thing—MacKay won't be missing those high volleys today."

Barry was having trouble with Fraser's volleys and only the fact that he knocked Neale back on his haunches with his cannonball service enabled him to win the second set.

Australian captain Harry Hopman is certain Fraser will win.

"Neale can't possibly serve any worse than he did in those first two sets against Barry. If he improves, as I know he will, then he'll win the match."

LAVER LACKED FINISH

As for Olmedo, he was both good and bad. Young Laver, a red-haired lefty, had the Peruvian Olmedo on the ropes time and again but permitted him to wiggle off. Laver had two set points in the first set, five more before he was able to win the second set, three in the third and one in the fourth.

"With another year of experience, Rod would have won the match," mused Hopman. "But Alex got the points when he needed them and that's what an experienced player will do. Still, he wasn't at his best."

"I've seen Alex better," Jones said. "But he has redeemed himself."

Olmedo was licked by Fraser opening day and he and Earl Buchholz dropped the doubles to Fraser and Roy Emerson Saturday.

"I was a bum Friday and a hero yesterday," commented Olmedo.

Olmedo certainly was an improved player over his form of the first two days. But what Hopman said was true. A player with more experience than Laver would have beaten Olmedo.

NOT UP TO 1958

Olmedo showed flashes of brilliance, and was more agile around the court. But for every brilliant shot he made, he flubbed an easy one. He definitely was not the Olmedo who almost single-handedly brought the cup back from Australia last year, then went on to win at Wimbledon.

Laver was much improved over the past summer, but seemed very tired at the end.

Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson had sent Australia into a 2-1 lead in the challenge round Saturday with a fantastically easy 7-5, 7-5, 6-4 victory over Olmedo and Buchholz.

The match was delayed for an hour and 20 minutes by a violent thunderstorm in the 12th game of the second set. But the respite didn't hinder the Australians or help the Americans. Fraser and Emerson merely picked up where they left off and raced through the third set, breaking Olmedo's service in the first game.

Olmedo had trouble throughout returning service and that was a big factor in the Australian success.

The Guards, Super Elite Units of British Army, Will Come in for Some Trimming

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — In Britain's welfare state, these days may be the twilight of the Guards.

The Guards are the super-elite units of the British army.

Critics call them a private army officered by aristocrats.

They say birth, influence and a fat bank account — plus character, courage and all the qualifications of a first-class soldier —determine whether a young man can become a guards officer.

Guardsmen unquestionably occupy unique positions. They guard the royal household. Two regiments form the monarch's escort.

CHANGES COMING

But with the government's new plan to modernize and democratize the army, the Guards may come in for sweeping changes. Already there is talk of new recruiting programs for the ranks.

Guardsmen — past and present — privately admit that changes are inevitable. Already things are happening. The army's streamlining calls for both the Coldstream and Grenadier guards to be reduced by one battalion.

It will take place slowly, perhaps, but when it does it will mean the passing of an exceptional body of soldiers with close ties to the monarchy.

The kings and queens know many guardsmen by their first names. They meet them socially. Guardsmen often marry the relatives of royalty.

The late King George VI once said to the Earl of Airlie when he saw him for the first time in his new lieutenant-colonel's uniform and insignia of rank in the Scots Guards:

"Joe, you've got your pips on wrong."

NOT KICKED AROUND

They are subject exclusively to the command of their own officers. The war office doesn't kick them around.

Throughout British history, no military units have been more consistently heroic than the Guards. Their rolls of honor are filled with citations for valor on the battlefield and courage beyond the call of duty.

Yet, the Guards are definitely officered by peers and aristocrats, most of them with money, or with fathers who have plenty of it.

In nearly every case they have attended Eton and Oxford or Cambridge. A young man with a state grammar school education and a Cockney accent wouldn't stand a chance of being a Guards officer.

The guardsmen are the debs delight. They are in great demand for dances and for all of England's great social functions. By the dozens they attend such set events as the Royal Ascot races and the Henley regatta.

GUARDS LIST

Tchnically, the Guards are:

The Life Guards.

The Royal Horse Guards.

These two plush units form the household cavalry.

The foot guards are:

The Coldstream.

The Scots Guards.

The Irish Guards.

The Welsh Guards.

The Grenadiers and the Coldstream consist of three battalions each. The Scots have two. The Irish and the Welsh one each.

The superest of the supers are the Life Guards, in their scarlet tunics with blue collars and cuffs, and the Royal Horse Guards with their blue tunics and scarlet collars and cuffs.

They also wear metal breastplates and have shiny helmets with horsehair plumes.

MONEY AN ESSENTIAL

Money is essential in the Guards.

"Chaps in the household cavalry buy their own horses, old boy," explains a Grenadier. "And they usually have polo ponies, too."

Guardsmen have to entertain.

"You're considered rather odd if you don't," says a Welsh guardsman.

They need good clothes when off duty. This means:

Two dinner jackets and one set of white tie and tails.

Several lounge suits, dark and conservative. And that absolute must—a derby.

The off-duty guardsman must own rakish sports suits for the country, a black tightly furled umbrella and several walking sticks.

NO AUTOMATICS

He must have a shotgun, double-barrelled, a hand-made job. Only a cad would use a pump gun; a bounder an automatic.

Selection boards choose the officer material in Britain. The central manpower board at the war office sends the young men to the regiments of their choice.

But not so with the Guards

"In the case of the Brigade of Guards," says a war office spokesman, "all applications for commissions must be made to the regiment concerned. It's just one of those things."

WAY THINGS HAPPEN

What happens is this:

Dad, usually an old Etonian, titled and rich, invites the colonel of the regiment to his club, castle or mansion and then, over a glass of splendid port pops the question:

"How about taking the boy, eh what?"

The boy has to go through a long and arduous training, and they are never allowed to mix—with "the others."

In this day of Britain's rapidly fading class distinctions, it would appear that the Guards, as constituted now, are doomed.

Going to Fight Hollywood's Mania for Beauty, Youth

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Should all movie stars be beautiful?

Ben Bard doesn't think so. For that and other reasons, he has left 20th Century-Fox after three years of scouting and seasoning young talent. He goes back to his career of coaching hopeful actors privately.

His reasons for leaving the studio?

"It is something I have been fighting since I was a young man," he explained. The object of his battle: Hollywood's mania for beauty and youth.

VALUABLE TALENT

"Who is to determine who is good looking?" Bard asked. "Certainly Spencer Tracy doesn't look like Rock Hudson or Tony Curtis. Yet he's a great actor whose talent is valuable to the screen.

"Does age preclude performers from becoming movie stars? Then what about Lionel Barrymore, who was around for a good many years? Or, Marie Dressler, who was certainly a great actress?"

The drama coach said he was frustrated time and again by having the studio turn down talent.

"I had Edd (Kookie) Byrnes at the studio two or three times," he recalled. "He's a nice-looking boy, but no competitor to Robert Taylor or Clark Gable. So he was not signed.

RATED THIRD

"But Warners took him and gave his personality a chance to shine through. He was given third rating on 77 Sunset Strip, but the public made him a star by recognizing the charm of his personality."

Even such stars as Pat Boone and Elvis Presley would not have become film names, he said, if they hadn't scored in the music world first. Reason: They're not pretty enough.

Bard said his other source of frustration was the chain of command at the studio.

"It wasn't that way at first," he said. "But later it got to be that every executive in the studio had a say. Four or five of them could say yes but if one said no, it meant that a kid wouldn't get a break.

"With so many men analyzing, somebody has to go wrong. In going wrong, young people are hurt. I was frustrated, and I left so I could have a greater opportunity to help kids."

NEHRU RULES OUT

Next week Nehru will see Prime Minister Jigme Dorji of Bhutan and Prime Minister N.K. Rustomji of Sikkim, tiny protectorates between India and Tibet. Nehru warned Peking last week his government will defend both protectorates from any aggression.

The Dalai Lama is reported planning to ask Nehru to confer emigre government status on his entourage. Nehru has refused so far to take such a step for fear of offending Peking.

SITUATION WORSENS

In his statement, the Dalai Lama said the situation in Tibet had become "immeasurably darker" since he fled to India last March.

His statement did not ask the UN to take any specific action.

The Tibetan leader probably could get his appeal considered by having some UN member file it on his behalf.

Some UN diplomats expressed belief that the Chinese are stirring up trouble on the Indian border and in Laos to prevent Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to President Eisenhower from producing any improvement in relations.

These officials think the Chinese incursions into Indian territory will cause Eisenhower to ask sharp questions of Khrushchev.

The Belgrade Theatre opened at Coventry, England, in 1958, owes its name to the fact that Yugoslavia made a gift of timber for its construction.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Tuesday, September 1, 1959

Aries (March 21 to April 19) You are not thinking too accurately today and could easily be too extravagant in search of pleasure. Also, usually dependable confidants are not at their best, either. Hence, tend to business religiously. P.M. have fun cheaply.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Situations at home may seem quite a nuisance now, but they require your own particular and wise attention, so give all your thought and time to their proper adjustment. Think clearly and act in a positive manner. Be just.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) During A.M. you are puzzled whether to concentrate on indoor obligations or be out in the world of affairs. Sit down a few moments and plan your day wisely so that you can attend to the most important matters in both spheres.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Rather than be off on some tangent which will be very expensive for you, listen to the ideas and suggestions of others, in which you will find the secret of success. P.M. have fun economically. Set up a wiser budget.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) You feel so upset about family matters right now that you would be tempted to make some radical changes that would be most unfortunate and lose you the love and peace that are so vital to your life. Take it easy and be kind.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Since you are inwardly frustrated, you could make some very serious errors in judgment or act unwisely. Think things out intelligently instead and your problems can prove to be stepping stones to greater success.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't decide on that important money matter now — await a better time. Spend hours with good pals who see far into the future and arrive at some understanding that will be mutually profitable.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Better refrain from angling so much with those who have power over your affairs today or you might lose out on some very important benefits. Stick scrupulously to all laws and bylaws that concern you. Be adroit.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) During A.M. you are apt to want to fly away from your obligations out of sheer unhappiness. Stand your ground firmly instead and latter part of day is then fine and you can get fine results from own endeavors.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Do not fall for that idea or scheme which an acquaintance proffers this A.M. It might mean ruination for you. Remain loyal to good friend of long standing and work along with him or her. Be smart.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Associates and strangers are being too forceful now. Give an ear to their ideas, but use your own judgment and follow own specialized talents. Don't jeopardize any proven friendships. Be strong.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) While you may be tempted simply to put surroundings in better order to spend time with friends, this is a day for looking into your paper, other sources for ideas that will pay big dividends in the future. Be progressive.

If your child is born today . . The charming little child born today will inherit a caviar taste and the will to satisfy it at any cost. However, your duty is to early teach that gracious living must first be earned for real enjoyment. And since your child is clever, the energies will be directed in the right channels, the thinking will be positive, and success is assured. Give finest education possible.

Early Returns Show Gains for Outgoing Govt.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (Reuters) — Early returns today in the South Viet Nam general election showed gains for the National Revolution Movement, the main party in the outgoing government.

Many National Revolution candidates were elected in the southern and central provinces though only three were returned in Saigon itself, where an average 85 per cent of the electorate voted.

The remaining six Saigon seats were taken by independents, of whom Phang Quang-Dan, leader of the Free Democratic Party, topped the votes.

No incidents were reported during the polling by about 7,000,000 voters either in Saigon or in the provinces.

A total of 460 candidates were contesting the 123 seats in the National Assembly.

It Takes A TOTAL Selling Medium To Push A Sales Curve UP! . . .

Today's market for almost anything you can name is rich, responsive, rewarding . . . BUT highly competitive! To keep sales mounting under such conditions calls for a TOTAL selling effort. In particular, it calls for the use of the TOTAL selling medium, the newspaper.

No other medium covers the advertiser's TOTAL market so thoroughly . . . no other medium delivers his message with such powerful selling impact as the newspaper. Most shoppers check the ads in their newspaper, last thing before setting forth to buy. This gives the newspaper advertiser the opportunity to put in that all-important last word for himself, the word that pays off so handsomely in SALES.

Shopping Starts In The Pages Of This Newspaper, Which Makes It The Best Place To Start Selling

THE TOTAL SELLING MEDIUM IS THE DAILY NEWSPAPER

Reconstruction of Grim Hours That Changed Face of Globe 20 Years Ago Again Given

Twenty years ago, in the momentous period from 5:11 a.m. Sept. 1 to 11:15 a.m., Sept. 3, the world first teetered on the brink, then plunged into the Second World War. Here's a reconstruction of these grim hours which changed the face of the globe.

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Staff Writer

It had been a full year of crisis and tension.

First it was Munich and the surrender of the Sudetenland. Then it was Prague and the betrayal of Czechoslovakia. Then an obscure place called Memel in Lithuania. Now it was Danzig and the Polish Corridor. Where would it end?

It had been a great year for Adolf Hitler, Fuehrer of a bristling, belligerent Third Reich.

It had been a year of appeasement, too. A year which Munich was the cynic's word for "peace in our time." A year when the Western powers stood by while Hitler first threatened, then swallowed, the Sudetens, the Czechs, the Slovaks, and Memel. The cycle was beginning again with Poland. When would it end?

Now it was Friday, Sept. 1, 1939.

5:11 a.m.:

Grey lines of German soldiers stood in the hot dawn to hear the order of the day. This day, it was from Hitler himself. It spoke of border violations by the Poles. It spoke of meeting "force with force from now on."

"The German army," Hitler exhorted ominously, "will conduct a fight for honor and the right to the life of the resurrected German people with firm determination. Long live our people and our Reich!"

5:20 a.m.:

Blue dawn crept into the small Polish coastal town of Puck. With it came the black bombers, swastikas flaunting. Then came the bombs. Little Puck was the first.

5:45 a.m.:

Five German armies, equipped with fighting tools and strategies the world had never seen, slammed across the Polish border. Objective: Total destruction of Poland's half - mobilized forces and an end to a "local" war before Britain and France could interfere.

It was not unexpected, yet it somehow came as a surprise. It was a thing to be dreaded, yet to some it came as a relief. The chancelleries of the world absorbed the news slowly. It was not yet a world war. Perhaps . . .

8 a.m.:

Albert Forster, the Nazi chief of state in Danzig, proclaimed the free city in reunion with the Reich. Gunfire rattled among the city's gabled houses. The red, white and black swastika flag went up over the headquarters of the League of Nations commission.

9:30 a.m.:

The first bombers appeared over Warsaw. They dropped their bombs. Warsaw was more curious than frightened. Communiques conflicted. "Military objectives," said the Germans. "Women and children," claimed the Poles.

10:10 a.m.:

Hitler ascended the Reichstag podium in Berlin's Kroll opera house. He was dressed in a simple grey uniform. He looked tired and tense, but everyone agreed he was at his oratorical best.

He promised victory: "I am going to see to it that peace reigns on our eastern border as it does on other frontiers. Germany is ready to fight even a 10-year war for its rights and the final peace of Europe."

He threw a seductive hint to the Western powers: "We want nothing from the Western powers. We have formally declared we have no claims against them. Our west wall (of fortifications) is also our west border."

11 a.m.:

Like men drugged, countries still at peace went about doing little things to prepare for the war that seemed all but inevitable. Barrage balloons sprouted over Paris. London subway stations closed for conversion into air raid shelters.

MORE

Still, some men clung to hope. Benito Mussolini, the Italian dictator, had a "solution": Surrender Danzig to the Reich; place the corridor under neutral control. France accepted in principle. Britain, in effect, turned it down. Hitler said nothing.

11:30 a.m.:

The British cabinet met, adjourned and said nothing. It was known that Poland had invoked its week-old mutual assistance pact with Britain. Would Britain back away from its solemn treaty in order to avert a general war?

3 p.m.:

The Polish army reeled under battle blows it did not fully understand. Planes rained bombs on its front and its rear. Small, tough, armored units bolted through gaps in the lines to spread destruction behind the front. It was a new type of warfare: "Blitzkrieg" — lightning war.

6:04 p.m.:

Sir Neville Chamberlain, tall, spare, ever formal in his black suit and winged collar, rose to address the House of Commons. Munich and all it stood for was nearly a year behind the gaunt prime minister.

At times, in a low tired voice, he seemed on the verge of declaring war. But the declaration did not come. In stately prose, Chamberlain extended Hitler one more chance: Withdraw from Poland and negotiate or else.

"If the reply to this last warning is unfavorable — and I do not suggest that it is likely to be otherwise — His Majesty's ambassador is instructed to ask for his passport. In that case, we are ready. Final steps have been taken in accordance with prearranged plans."

Chamberlain still held to a slender hope.

8 p.m.:

London began to evacuate its children. Youngsters crowded the city's railroad stations. Each carried a gas mask, a bag of clothing, a sack of sweets. Each wore a tag bearing his name. Loudspeakers boomed in the darkened stations. The children were strangely quiet.

12:01 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 2:

France mobilized its full manpower.

9 a.m.:

Rumors, nourished in hope, flew wildly. In Berlin they were saying: Britain and France have backed down. It's another Munich; another Czechoslovakia.

3 p.m.:

Edouard Daladier, premier of France and another Munich veteran, addressed the Chamber of deputies. He spoke of France's pledge to Poland. He spoke of honor.

"At the price of our honor we would only buy a precarious peace, which would be revocable and, when we have to fight tomorrow, after having lost . . . the esteem of our allies and other nations, we would only be a wretched nation, sold to defeat and slavery."

7:30 p.m.:

Chamberlain spoke again in the Commons — a war - minded Commons. Hitler had not replied to the British ultimatum. Could it be, Chamberlain said, "that the delay is caused by consideration of the proposals put forward by the Italian government?"

The Commons received the speech in silence. Labor member Arthur Greenwood puts its feeling into words.

"There may be some reason why instant action was not taken," he said. "But I wonder how long we are prepared to vacillate at time when Britain and all Britain stands for in civilization is in peril."

9 a.m., Sunday, Sept. 3:

Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambassador in Berlin, handed a final ultimatum to Paul Schmitt of the German foreign office. Schmitt relayed it to Hitler, in conference with Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop. The fuehrer sank into a chair. He stared straight ahead for a long moment.

"What are we going to do?" he asked Von Ribbentrop.

10 a.m.:

The British Broadcasting Corporation had an announcement. The prime minister would broadcast to the people at 11:15 a.m. A hushed crowd assembled on Downing Street. Sunlight sparkled on the Thames. Big Ben tolled.

Suddenly, 11:15 a.m:

"I am speaking to you from the cabinet room at 10 Downing Street." The prime minister's voice was weary. At times, he faltered. But there was no mistaking the import of his words. The deadline had been 11 a.m. Had there been a German reply?

"I have to tell you now," said the prime minister dully, "that no such undertaking has been received and that consequently this country is at war with Germny.

"Now, may God bless you all. . ."

And, almost as Chamberlain finished speaking, there came the wail of an air raid siren, signalling the advent of a long darkness.

Bond Market Reacts Sharply, To Latest Move

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The short-term bond market, after a brief period of uncertainty, reacted sharply to the previous week's unusual Bank of Canada bill tender and moved up strongly last week.

Some of the shorter issues moved up as much as 40 cents, and yields changed from well over six per cent to five per cent. The sharp reversal was somewhat artificial as chartered banks were caught in a treasury bill squeeze.

Two weeks ago, the banks didn't bid on as many treasury bills as usual so they could meet their cash requirements. A week ago they failed to win as many bills as they had maturing and consequently their cash reserves grew rapidly to well over the eight-per-cent requirement while their secondary reserves, or treasury bills, slipped lower.

This forced them to become larger buyers of outstanding bills last week. Dealer inventories were also extremely low and shortages caused some scrambling for short bonds. Last week's average of 5.33 per cent on $95,000,000 only 91-day bills was a reduction of .71 per cent over the previous week and the largest change in a week for 4½ years.
